

Chapter 1335

As Henry slashed the Qi sword, purple light glowed around it. The purple Qi sword flew toward Andrew and Hebor.

Andrew and Hebor weren't going to fight Henry. They evaded the moment Henry's slashed his sword. The purple Qi flew toward the towers, and one chain was cut off.

The breaking of the chain brought a sense of relief to Henry. He was tempted to cut another.

It was eight o'clock in the evening.

In a noodle restaurant in the capital.

Gardiner was sitting by the window, eating a bowl of noodle soup. With every bite he took, he looked out the window to check up his Rolls-Royce. Gardiner looked at his Rolls-Royce as if he was looking at his lover.

Gardiner's cell phone on the table suddenly rang. He received an encrypted message. Gardiner took a look at the message and stood up immediately. He left his unfinished bowl of noodle and his beloved car behind and left on foot.

Ten minutes later, Gardiner appeared in an underground base.

"Boss, you came." It was the doctor who cured Henry after the battle of Emperor's Mausoleum.

"What's going on?" Gardiner asked, frowning.

There were more than a dozen computer monitors in front of the doctor. He took a deep breath and said, "Boss, what I will tell you may be a little hard to understand, but it is all real. I found out that there are three different types of Qi tangling inside of Henry. One of which is the Qi Henry practiced, and another one is the sword Qi from the inheritance of Western Xia, which is trying to eat away Henry. But they are both normal types of Qi. However, there is another red Qi. It isn't like anything I've ever seen, and it is very aggressive. The red Qi lurks around and strengthens itself, while the other Qis fighting against each other. I studied Henry's genes and found out that the red Qi has consciousness."

Gardiner asked in concern, "Do you mean that Henry has DID, and his other personality also practices Qi?" 1

The doctor nodded and said, "This is one of the speculations. As for the other one, you should ask the fortune-teller."

"Boss," An old man with a white beard appeared behind Gardiner. He wore a white Taoist robe and held a banner, which said fortune-telling.

"Do you have anything to report?" Gardiner looked at the fortune-teller and asked. He was the fortune-teller of Section Nine someone had told Henry about.

The fortune-teller replied, "I read his birth chart and got numerous different results. I have never seen anything like it during my years of experience of fortune-telling. I suspect that Henry has encountered the Evil Spirit..."

"What on earth is the Evil Spirit?" Gardiner asked in a serious tone of voice.

"I don't know," The fortune-teller shook his head, "According to fortune-telling, a person has three souls and seven spirits, but we can't see or touch them. It is only because of how our physical body functions. Just like air, our lives depend on it, but no one can see or shape it. As the saying goes, it exists if you believe in it. It doesn't exist if you don't believe in it. So the time the non-believers believe is the time they actually see something."

Gardiner pondered for a while and asked, "Do you mean the spiritual creatures?"

"Whatever you call it," The fortune-teller said, "You don't need to reach Spirit-controlling Realm to be able to control spirits. A powerful spirit can control other stuff too. My guessing is that there is a spirit hiding inside of Henry."

Gardiner's face was getting gloomier. He decided to call Henry, but the phone call couldn't get through.

"Hurry up!" Gardiner shouted, "Check Henry's whereabouts?"

At the same time, in Mount Kunlun of Yan Xia.

This area was called the forbidden zone of life. No life could walk out of this area alive. So no one knew what was there in Mount Kunlun. This place was a mystery.

At this moment, the turbulent airflow swept over Mount Kunlun.

"I didn't think after the death of the old man, there are still people who want to fight me," A huge creature said while looking at the people standing in front of him. The creature had the torso of a rhinoceros, the head of a tiger, and a pair of wings. It also talked like a human being. The creature was an experimental monster of Alvin League.

Twenty-five people were standing in front of the creature. Among them were Dougal, Gervais, Silas, and Erin.

Silas's sword was covered in the creature's blood.

Dougal smiled, "Even an Evil Spirit like yourself can live forever. Why can't we?"

"When the spirit transcends the limitations of the physical body, you can live forever," The creature said disdainfully, "I just wanted to go back. Why do you chase after me?"

Dougal shook his head, "If you're willing to give up this physical body and go back to the Spirit Suppressing Stone, we can let you go. But you can't return to the civilization of the earth's core. Once the civilization of the earth's core is exposed, the whole world will undergo huge changes."

"So what?" The creature asked, "The earth's core and its crust belong to the same planet. Hundreds of years ago, people who lived on different continents didn't know the existence of each other. The movement between the core and the crust is an inevitable phenomenon. Why do you have to stop the inevitable and call yourselves saviors?"

Gervais shook his head. He summoned a white staff and said. "The civilizations between earth's core and crust are totally different matters. Once civilization of the earth's core is revealed, there will be disasters on earth's crust."

"Haha," The monster laughed, "Survival of the fittest is the law of the jungle. The earth is just a planet but not a greenhouse. It shouldn't be used as a shelter for the weak. Anyway, human beings still have their fighting chance, but they have to earn it."

"Nuclear energy should be hidden from human beings," Dougal shook his head, "Once a nuclear weapon explodes in the earth's core, it destroys not only human beings. When that day comes, you can't return to the earth's core or stay on the crust."

"Are you really so afraid of letting the civilization of the earth's core know about the existence of the earth's crust?" The creature suddenly stood up and asked, "Can you stop it from happening? You can stop me. But there is going to be another powerful spiritual creature waking up."

Suddenly, a strange smile appeared on the creature's tiger-like face.

Dougal and Gervais's faces dropped at the same time. They looked at each other and said at the same time.

"Loulan!"

Chapter 1336

Underneath the Loulan desert and in front of the gate of the ancient city.

Henry cut off one chain and felt relieved.

"Well, I see you are enjoying it. Continue then. You'll feel even better once all the chains are gone. Are you looking for your wife? Your wife will come back to you once you destroy this place. Hurry up!"

Andrew's voice kept ringing in Henry's ears.

"Noisy!" Henry roared and threw a palm. The Qi from Henry's palm darted toward Andrew.

Unable to dodge in time, Andrew was hit by Henry. Andrew flew tens of meters away and fell on the ground, spitting blood.

Although Andrew had reached the Divine Realm, it was achieved through Alvin League's gene technology. So his strength had no match to the other Divine Realm masters who achieved the stage by themselves. Moreover, Alvin League's gene technology had used all Andrew's potentials, rendering him unable to advance his Qi in the future.

Andrew wiped off the blood from the corners of his mouth. He stood up and said, "Henry, if you want to kill me, come. If you don't kill me today, I will catch your wife and make her regret being alive. You know, something is more painful than death for a woman."

"You must die!" Henry said. Then countless purple Qi swords formed behind Henry. The swords flew toward Andrew at the same time.

"Haha! Come and kill me!" Andrew roared and then rushed into the ancient city.

"Henry, I will tear off your wife's limbs and bury her in the ground. I'll cut a small slit on her forehead and peep on it every day. Even thinking about it makes me happy!" Hebor laughed coldly. He also rushed into the ancient city of Loulan.

"Don't worry. You'll die as well," Henry put his palms together and slashed out more purple Qi swords. Following Andrew and Hebor, all the Qi swords flew into the ancient city.

Henry was practicing World Destruction Technique and Divine Will. At this moment, he felt an unbearable feeling of rage. After being agitated by Andrew and Hebor, Henry had lost control of himself. He had to kill both of them.

The purple swords flew around the ancient city of Loulan in rage. The chains were cut off one by one, and even some of the towers were destroyed.

Seeing the collapse of the towers, Andrew was happy. His task was to make Henry destroy the Spirit Suppressing Towers!

With every tower destroyed, Henry felt more excited. He had become escalated.

"Henry, is that all you can do? If so, I guess your wife and I will have a great time together. Haha!" Andrew laughed out loud.

"Talking sh*t won't bring you any good," Henry laughed with disdain. A purple Qi tiger rushed out from behind Henry. It roared.

The tiger opened its bloody mouth and rushed toward Andrew.

When Henry first reached Divine Realm, by using Divine Will, Henry killed Deadwood Old with one strike. If Henry was determined to kill Andrew, Andrew wouldn't last long. If they were in an open area, Andrew would have died.

"How are we doing?" Seeing the purple Qi tiger, Andrew shouted.

"Almost there," Hebor answered, gritting his teeth. Hebor was having a hard time dealing with Henry's attack. He could only use the advantage of the surroundings to evade. But Hebor had been seriously injured. There was a huge cut on his back, which almost killed him.

As Hebor spoke, he heard a loud noise. The tower behind him collapsed.

"There!" Hebor roared excitedly, "Alvin!"

"Coming!" Alvin and Sloane came to the gate of the ancient city. Alvin was holding a stone tray. It was the object that Nadeen bought in the auction and was stolen by Alvin League.

Alvin threw the stone tray with all his might, and the stone tray was suspended in mid-air. All the Spirit Suppressing Towers started to glow red light, and the red light beamed toward the stone tray.

At the same time, the red Qi emitted from Henry's body.

The overwhelming purple Qi swords and the purple Qi tiger all disappeared in an instant.

"What?" Henry was surprised to find that he couldn't control himself anymore.

"Henry, sometimes I am really wondering why you can have all the luck.

But I have to say it's also our luck. If it weren't for you, our plan wouldn't work out so smoothly," Sloane, standing next to Alvin, said contently, "How could it be that you were selected as the vessel for Heretic God? What a great honor! With the greatest power in your body, you don't even know. How sad! But today, you will witness it all!"

The red Qi from Henry's body grew stronger as if something was sucking the Qi out of Henry's body. At this moment, Henry felt like there were thousands of needles stabbing his head, making his head ached.

"Sloane, where's the carrier?" Andrew shouted.

"Don't worry. It's here," Sloane sneered. She waved her hand, and her Qi lifted a three meters tall human figure. The figure flew toward the stone tray.

"This body has the perfect genes. It should be able to contain the spirit of Heretic God." Sloane's gaze became infatuated. The way she looked at the body as if she was staring at a priceless treasure.

The red Qi kept coming out of Henry. He felt as if it was pulled out of his body, but the Qi stuck onto him and wouldn't let go.

Henry could hear a voice in his head saying, "Let go. Let go..."

"Henry, give up your resistance. Or, I'll kill this old thing!" Sloane pulled a person over from the gate. She formed a Qi blade and laid it against the person's neck. The person was Peze.

"You!" Henry was surprised.

"Give up. Or else!" Alvin said and laughed coldly.

Henry took a deep breath and gave up his resistance.

The red Qi suddenly became volatile. It rushed toward the stone tray. After absorbing all the red Qi from Henry's body, the stone tray transferred it to the floating body.

"The Devil's fragments within the inheritances have been collected after the breaking of the spells. After the opening of the inheritance of Loulan, all the Devil's fragments mixed together, which enables Heretic God to control a basic biological body. Sloane Reynolds is here to welcome the arrival of Heretic God!" Sloane raised her voice and knelt on the ground. 13