

Chapter 758

The graceful figure that appeared in front of Henry was Helen Han.

At this time, Helen was covered in dirt. Obviously, the opponent's gunfire had a big impact on her. There were many small holes on her clothes, which had been torn by the grenade.

"I've moved Radiant Island here." Henry answered Helen's question casually. He didn't want to hide anything from her.

"Moved the island?" Helen opened her eyes wide with an unbelievable look. Although she had never personally been to Radiant Island, she had heard people talk about the island. How could the island floating on the sea be moved like this?

Another bomb came from a distance and exploded 20 metres away beside Henry.

Henry quickly pulled Helen aside and hid to one side, condensing a Qi wall to counteract the impact of the bomb.

Henry took a look and saw that the impact of battle could not be felt at the place they were for the time being. He asked doubtfully, "Why is the Sharp Knife here? And why are you fighting with someone?"

Helen took a deep breath and explained, "There is a rumour outside that Radiant Island was sunk to the bottom of the sea by the Recluse Association and that the Emperor of Hell had been detained for nine years. The seven Kings of Radiant island were all killed in the Shen area. Moreover, the Chinese government set the rules that the underground forces could not show their strength beyond C-level in front of ordinary people. The warlords couldn't sit still when they heard the news."

As soon as Henry heard this, he immediately understood.

In the past, Radiant Island had been very powerful. It had led over ten mercenary armies, numbering at least a few tens of thousands of people. Every single one of them was a big shot in Africa.

This kind of big shots was ambitious. Previously, they had to admit defeat because of the power of Radiant Island. But now, when they heard that something had happened to Radiant Island, they all showed their true colours.

"Not far from here, there's Golden City. It's where your island is located, isn't it?" Han Helen asked.

"Yes." Henry nodded.

Golden City was a gathering place specially built by Henry for the poor people. It had been safe and sound in the territory of the warlords.

The reason why Golden City was called like this was that there was a gold mine in the city that was bought by Felix's Family. Most of the people living in the city lived from mining and trade. This city could be said to be built by Henry himself. The major and other important people in the city were all Henry's old friends.

Helen said, "After the fall of your island, all the warlords of the army rioted and wanted to take the gold mine as their own. Now they are fighting fiercely. There are a lot of Chinese people in the city. Our mission this time is to evacuate them safely."

Hearing this, Henry's eyes suddenly condensed, and his gaze was deep. He looked at the direction of Golden City like an eagle. "I underestimated these people's ambition. The news regarding the fall of Radiant Island has only been spread for more than a month, and they just couldn't wait!"

During the time when Henry and Helen talked, the gunfire in the jungle became softer and softer, and soon it stopped.

The smell of burnt trees and gunpowder mixed together, filling the air.

Many trees had already been burnt, and the fire was so strong that it couldn't be extinguished. No one cared about the fire in the jungle and they just let it burn.

In the war between warlords, even human life was just a number. Who would care whether the wooden forest would be destroyed or not?

Henry picked up the phone, called Wade and asked him to send someone to put out the fire.

No matter what, this place would be converted into the place of Radiant Island in the future. There was only touch of green on the edge of this island, so it couldn't be destroyed like this.

"Captain Han, where are you?" A whisper came from not far away.

Helen took out a flashlight from her waist and flashed four times. Soon, six people ran over in big steps. There were four men and two women. Among them, there was a middle-aged man in his forties. The other three men and two women were young, who were no more than 25 years old.

Six people lowered their bodies and came over. When they saw that there was still a person standing next to Helen, they were all stunned for a moment, and then stared at Henry with hostility.

"Who are you? Let Captain Han go!"

Obviously, these 6 people regarded Henry as their enemy.

"This is a friend of mine." Helen explained in a hurry.

After hearing Helen's explanation, everyone was relieved. The middle-aged man walked forward. When he saw Henry's face, he rushed to

Henry's back and said, "Hello, I'm Baron Qi. The captain of this operation, Helen is the vice-captain, and we belong to the third team of the Sharp Knife."

Henry also reached out. "I am Syl Zhang, a mercenary."

Henry casually made up a name. In his current situation, he could not casually expose his identity. There were many people who knew the name of the Emperor of Hell, but very few people had ever seen the Emperor of Hell himself.

Upon hearing Henry's casual name, Helen's body couldn't help but tremble. The name Syl must be the shortened version of name Sylvia.

"Young brother Zhang, your name sounds a little feminine," said Baron.

"Captain Qi, it's just you guys. Where is Milo Wood?" Helen looked at the people behind Baron and found that there was no one else except Baron and the other five people.

Baron and the other five people looked back and forth and then bitterly said, "The gunfire of the enemies was so fierce that we all ran. Milo was caught, and they wanted to use him as bait to force us..."

"These b*stards!" Helen gently hit the tree next to her with a hammer, and her face was full of anger.

Henry said, "Captain Qi, do you know something about a Chinese woman named Xenia Ren?"

"You're talking about the major of Golden City?" asked Captain Qi.

"Yes." Henry hurriedly asked, "How is she?"

Helen was surprised to find that when Henry mentioned this woman, his face was a little nervous. This was the first time that Helen had seen such an expression on Henry's face. This was not a fake expression, but a natural one. It could be seen that he cared very much about that woman in his heart.

"Do you know her?" Baron asked back instead of directly answering Henry's question.

Henry shook his head. "I'm not very familiar with her. It's just that she saved my life when I was on a mission."

Baron looked at Henry suspiciously for a while and then said, "She's the major of Golden City and also a member of Radiant Island. These warlords immediately went for her. We don't know whether she's still alive or not."

"B*stards!" Henry clenched his fists tightly, his eyes filled with killing intent. A few seconds later, he raised his head and shouted, "Captain Qi, I've been to Golden City twice. I can help you guys to save your comrades."

Chapter 759

Baron and others all looked at Henry in confusion.

Henry took a deep breath and said, "I'll take you into the city. You help me save Xenia. She saved my life. I can't watch her fall into the hands of those warlords. They are a group of ruthless and greedy people."

The six soldiers looked back and forth, and then nodded at Henry. "No problem."

Henry secretly sent a message to Wade, saying that he would leave for a few days. Then he followed the Sharp Knife and walked toward Golden City.

Along the way, Henry was silent, listening to Baron and others making plans. Henry found that in addition to Baron who had some experience, other young men and women were all rookies, who were extremely inexperienced.

"I want to say that Golden City is just called a city. In fact, it's just an ordinary gathering place. It's surrounded by barbed wire. We don't need to go in through the front door. We can easily find a place to enter." A young man named Garry Chen said.

"Yes, I think so too. These mercenaries are of average quality. As long as we hide well, they won't be able to find us," Queenie Cheng said. "We were just caught off-guard by them. This time, we have to get back at them!"

The young men and women all believed in their words and looked like they did not care about the mercenaries at all.

Henry heard this and shook his head secretly. He had heard too many rookie comments like this. Every one of them was full of confidence before the action. They only thought of what they could think and could do. They could not figure out the mentality of the enemy at all. China always had a saying about such rookie comments, which was called an empty talk.

"Young man Syl, what do you think?" Baron looked at Henry.

Henry smiled and said, "I'm afraid this won't work."

"Won't work?" Hearing this, Garry looked a little dissatisfied. He was the most elite member of the team at that time. After many rounds of selection and getting into the Sharp Knife, he could be said to be a one-in-a-million talent. This kind of talent naturally had his own pride. In the past, Garry was the commander-in-chief of all operations. After coming to the Sharp Knife, he obeyed the orders of the veteran members. But now a mercenary who was about the same age as him questioned him, which made Garry very unhappy.

Queenie also had a look of dissatisfaction on her face.

"You tell me, why it won't work?" Garry said to Henry.

Henry shrugged his shoulders and shrugged indifferently. "Look, we're partners, after all. You have your own plans. Just forget about why I said."

Henry, who had been in the society for so many years, the last thing he did not want to do was to argue with a person who knew nothing and was very arrogant. There would not be any conclusion and he would just get angry and annoyed. The best and most direct way was to let the reality slap this man, and he would know that he was wrong.

Henry admitted that people like Garry were of good quality in all aspects, but what they lacked was experience.

Coincidentally, in this world, those who had the ability were not necessarily better than those who had the experience. Especially in Africa, where warlords ruled. In order to survive, people could only rely 20% on their abilities, and 80% on their experience. No matter how capable they were, they couldn't resist the machine gun shooting at their head.

Garry heard that Henry's tone was submissive, and then he snorted with satisfaction and continued to make his plan.

In the eyes of Garry, Queenie and other young people, Garry's plan was perfect, but in the eyes of experienced people, it was full of loopholes. This kind of plan was heard by Baron, who was the captain of the team, of course, but he did not say a word. Obviously, he wanted these young people to gain more experience.

They sat in the dense forest, and it took them about 15 minutes to make a plan. Then, they walked slowly toward the direction of Golden City.

Golden City was not far away from here. As soon as they came out of the jungle, they could see a long glimpse of wire net and the wire net was connected to electricity.

Inside the wire fence was Golden City. It just looked like the county town. However, there were potholes on the road, and there were no tall buildings. The four-story building was the highest in Golden City.

The area of Golden City covered about 600 square kilometres.

Henry and the other eight people hid in the jungle and could see that there were many residents, who were as thin as firewood, sitting on the road of Golden City. Each of them was dirty.

One after another, military jeeps passed by one after another on the road. There were machine guns on the back of each jeep. The 20 millimetres calibre bullets could easily pierce through the three-centimetre thick armour. If one's body was shot by these bullets, half of his body would be blasted apart.

The mercenaries on the jeep whistled with a cigarette between their lips and kept saying some vulgar words to the girls on the roadside.

Facing these vulgar words said by the mercenaries, the women on the roadside were not angry at all. Instead, they waved at these mercenaries with their seductive eyes and pointed to the house behind them repeatedly. The meaning was obvious.

"Brother Syl, did you find anything interesting?" Baron looked at it for a while and asked Henry.

Henry narrowed his eyes and said, "In this city, there are no less than three big warlords' forces and more small mercenary teams. The whole city has been divided into three areas."

Baron nodded in agreement and then said to Garry and other young people, "Listen carefully and learn to observe. This is very important to you. Remember that younger brother Syl is a mercenary and you should learn from his experience."

"Understood." Garry responded. Although he said so, he secretly curled his lips in disdain. In his eyes, mercenaries were just a group of low-class people. How could they be compared to the elite?

After observing for a while, Garry waved his hand and took off his coat. Queenie and the other two, like Garry, took off their coat, turned it inside out and put it on again. This side of the coat was like a night suit and it could help them hide very well in the night.

Baron and Helen were still lying on their stomachs, ready to support Garry and the other four people at any time.

After Garry and the other four people changed, they slowly approached the wire net. One of them took out a special pair of pincers. This pair of pincers could not be affected by electricity, but at the same time could easily cut the wire net.

The five of them had already chosen a place where there was no one, and they went there to cut the wire.

"Captain Qi, are you so sure about the five of them?" Henry asked, hiding behind a tree.

"Their strength is not too weak. Even if they can't beat the mercenaries, they can still run. After all, there is a jungle behind us and they have an advantage. Moreover, war is about killing people. These young people are too arrogant. We have to teach them a lesson." Baron said.