

Chapter 937

For an elite like Henry, even if one or two men approached him while he was caught up in an intense battle, he would be able to sense them immediately.

Yet just now, with so many people appearing at the same time, Henry did not notice them until they actually appeared? For a skilled elite like Henry, this was absolutely impossible.

Wade looked at Future and said, "Future, tell me honestly, did you find out anything on Boss in the laboratory back then on the island?"

Future subconsciously recalled the red cyclone on Henry's abdomen. She opened her mouth but shook her head and said nothing.

"Fine, then." Future sighed helplessly, then looked towards Felix. "Is that guy in the capital right now? Let him take a look at our Boss."

"Yes." Felix nodded. "At that time, Boss asked for him to return. I reckon Boss had already noticed something off with himself at that time. However, he didn't say anything about it recently, so we never mentioned it again."

"Let's go. This isn't a place to chat." Peze said, "Felix, you have a property here, right? Let's go to your place to discuss this and have that person come immediately."

Rainer and the young man watched Wade and his friends leave. They felt as though they had lost every ounce of their dignity, they had called so many men over, but not only did they fail to take Henry down, they were even beaten up badly by a single man.

There were so many people watching, including those young ladies who were dressed glamorously. Rainer was so embarrassed that whatever parts of his skin that was still exposed flushed bright red.

The young man who got kicked flying by Henry clambered up from the ground and ran away without even looking back.

"What the f*ck are you looking at? Keep looking and I'll dig your eyes out!" Rainer cursed loudly, thinking that he would be able to regain his dignity in this manner. However, all he received were the sounds of others whispering to one another.

Rainer clenched his fist and left the nightclub with his head lowered, just like the young man did earlier.

Rainer dialed a number after he had left the nightclub.

"Please find this out for me. Have the members of the Lins made their way to the capital?"

"Young Master, the Lins had arrived at the capital at 10 o'clock tonight."

"Okay." Rainer hung up, his eyes were filled with hatred. "Lins, do you think that I don't know what you all are up to? You've come to the capital to find a business partner, haven't you? I'd like to see who you can find, when I am here! And that Henry, I'll make him pay!"

In the capital, there was a place where luxurious cars were seen everywhere at night. Cars that were priced at a couple of millions were no different than taxis here; nobody would pay attention to them. Those luxurious cars that were valued at tens of millions of Yuan were the ones that the people favoured.

There had never been a shortage of handsome men and beautiful women on this street, as well as rich people. This was the capital's most prosperous street at night.

In the biggest bar on this street, Henry and others were seated in the largest private room. Just for this room alone, one would have to spend at least over than 100,000 yuan, and the people who really intended to spend time in it paid far more than that amount.

At that moment, Henry and others were sitting in that room. There were no other ladies besides Future and Moon Goddess. those pretty waitresses just waited outside the door, not daring to enter.

If it were in the past, these waitresses would have already pushed their available drinks to them. However, they did not dare to do so today because they saw the usually mysterious big boss. They remained standing respectfully at the door of the box with a tray in their hands. They were waiting to be called to enter from the inside at any time. The waitresses at the door dared not imagine the status of the people within the room!

Those famous rich young men of the men were most influential, but even then they could only invite the boss to touch glasses, but at that moment, the boss looked like a lowly simpleton!

In the private room, there were a total of eleven people.

They were Henry, the Nine Elites of Radiant Island, and a man with whitening hair. Although his hair was white, he still looked very energetic.

They raised their glasses several times, enjoying their drinks very much. The incident that had just happened in the nightclub was selectively forgotten by them.

"Boss, you must chug twelve of these today! You can't go back on your word!" Sea God pointed at the twelve wine glasses on the table in front of him. If the ordinary drank them, they would probably be getting severely drunk and go unconscious.

Plus, those 12 glasses posed a challenge even for Henry, who had mastered Qi before. He might have a hard time for the whole night after chugging them all. Back then, Henry got seriously drunk and tanked after just chugging two bottles of fake wine.

Now that they had mastered Qi, they had undergone incredible changes physically compared to the past. Still, chugging these 12 glasses of alcohol still did not feel good, although it would not cause them to get drunk.

"Yes, Boss, do it. I'll get you 12 more!" said Alex excitedly.

"Bannock, come here." Moon Goddess put down the wine glass in her hand and called out to the man with graying hair.

Bannock had the typical face of a man from Yan Xia. His skin had a yellow tone and he was dressed in clothing similar to a Taoist robe. When he heard Moon Goddess call for him, he walked to the side.

"Moon Goddess." Bannock greeted Moon Goddess.

The Moon Goddess looked at Henry, who was drinking with the Sea God, and then asked, "What did Boss say when he asked you to come back that time?"

Bannock shook his head. "It wasn't My Lord who called me back personally. It was my disciple who did so. He told me that something was wrong with My Lord's psyche. My Lord also requested for some psychological treatment and counseling from my disciple."

"What was the result?" Future asked as she walked over from the side.

Bannock shook his head and said, "My disciple said that a great amount of violent emotions are hidden within My Lord's subconsciousness. If something causes My Lord to be unhappy, it'll cause his heart to surge with violent emotions. This may also have something to do with what had happened at that incident back then. At that time, My Lord's friend had been imprisoned."

Moon Goddess nodded. "We'll let you hypnotise the boss later. How confident are you?"

Bannock looked in the direction of Henry and said while shaking his head, "I can't guarantee success. My Lord had undergone intensive psychological training, so hypnotizing him will be extremely difficult. I can only give it a try. You've got to let him drink a few more glasses."

"Okay." Moon Goddess nodded. She then turned around and walked to Henry. She pushed Alex, who was going to compete with Henry, aside and challenged him, "Come on, boss, it's you and me, let's go!"

"Oh my god, if the believers find out that the Moon Goddess drinks, won't they all go crazy?" Alex stared at the Moon Goddess as if he had seen a ghost.

"Why? You looking down on women?" Moon Goddess raised her eyebrows.

"Women drinking, I am really..." Before he could finish, he was interrupted by someone else.

Red Hair sat by the side and said with a smile, "Alex, you still had not learnt how to kill when Moon Goddess dominated alcohol parties. Just sit and watch."

His expression changed suddenly, then he bowed low to Moon Goddess and said, "I'm sorry."

Chapter 938

At that moment, Henry drank to his heart's content. When Moon Goddess challenged him to a drinking contest, he took her on very naturally.

Everyone was drinking at the table.

Future hung around the private room. Looking around here and there, checking out every corner of the room.

"What are you looking at? Go have fun together. It's not easy for everyone to be gathered here together." A voice suddenly sounded from behind.

The sudden voice made Future jump with fright. She spun around quickly, and saw Wade standing behind her.

With a somewhat awkward expression, she said, "You idiot, you scared me!"

Wade looked at Future with a weird expression. He always felt that there was something off with Future. This kind of feeling had started from the incident at the nightclub, but Wade could not tell what was off about her.

"Idiot, what are you looking at?" Future raised her fists and threw a fake punch at Wade's face, then rolled her eyes at him and said, "Let's go join in the drinking. You're here to avoid the alcohol, aren't you?"

"What is it you are trying to hide?" Wade asked as he tried searching for clues.

"I hid a man, okay?" She took a step forward and grabbed Wade by the collar. "Come on, let's drink."

Wade had not finished searching around before he was pulled along forcefully by Future to join Henry for drinks.

The nine elites of Radiant Island had come together. Henry drank to his heart's content, welcoming all who joined in. Soon enough, he displayed signs of drunkenness.

Moon Goddess was blushing too. She looked like an angel from heaven that had been dragged down to the mortal world by the devil, Henry.

When Future saw that Henry was almost completely drunk, she gestured to Bannock, who was right next to her.

Bannock nodded knowingly and went forward to pour more wine for Henry with respect. While pouring the wine, Bannock knocked on the wine bottle three times. He seemed to tap on it very casually, but it gave people quite a wondrous feeling, as if there was a special rhythm hidden in the three taps.

Henry's slightly drunken eyes became even more blurred after the three taps sounded.

Seeing this, Future and Moon Goddess waved their hands to the other members. Before they had gathered here, they all had already known what would be done that day. All of them nodded, and quietly left the room one after another.

Bannock was still in the process of pouring wine into the glass that was in front of Henry. His method of pouring wine was very unique, he did not fill one cup after another, instead he filled some in one cup, then filled some in another, every cup was filled differently. In the process of pouring wine, the wine bottle would touch the glass from time to time. Because every glass had a different amount of wine, the glasses would emit different tones.

Future was the last to leave the room. Before leaving, she turned on some gentle music then slowly closed the door.

During the process, Henry stared only at the glass on his table, his gaze unflinching. It was obvious that he had been hypnotized.

Generally speaking, if Bannock had wanted to hypnotise Henry, it would have been impossible, but that day was different. Henry took no precautions whatsoever when he was around Wade and the others. With the help of huge doses of alcohol and the cooperation of Future and his friends, he was able to do some shallow hypnosis.

Wade and the others stood outside the room. The beautiful ladies who had been standing at the door of the private room stood by the side, their heads were bowed low, not daring to look up, but they kept scanning Wade and the others curiously through the corner of their eyes, trying to guess their identities.

"Go look at something else!" Alex glared at the waiting girls and said in a cold voice.

He did not show any mercy to them at all.

The waiting girls quickly retracted their necks and withdrew their eyes.

When he was around the people he was close with, some would think that Alex was the funny guy, and even act a bit stupid. However, in the eyes of outsiders, the nickname "bloody machete" was not a name that was self-proclaimed.

Felix waved at the owner of the shop and said, "Okay, you can go now. Remember, no matter what happens, don't look towards us. Do you understand?"

"Got it!" The owner of the shop replied respectfully. He was a well-known figure in the world of business in the capital, but at that moment, he acted very humbly because he knew very well that there were countless people like him who did not amount to anything when faced with them.

The boss left with the group of waiting girls.

Wade and others stood at the door of the room, waiting anxiously. They all wanted to know what had happened to Henry. According to the current situation, Henry had quite an issue psychologically.

Standing a little further away, Future took out her mobile phone and kept swiping her finger on the screen, her shapely eyebrows tightened.

Time went on. Being unable to see what was going on inside, anxious expressions gradually formed on their faces.

Suddenly, Future who had been staring at the mobile phone let out a cry, "This is bad!"

Just as she let out a cry, a loud bang sounded in the room.

"Save me!" Bannock's panicky voice called from inside the room.

Their expressions immediately changed. They kicked open the door immediately and rushed into the room.

The moment they entered the room, they saw that Bannock had already fallen into a corner. As for Henry, he was staring at Bannock with murderous intent, not showing any reaction when faced with Wade and the others, who burst into the room.

The tea tables in the room had been smashed to pieces.

"Future, sedatives!" roared Wade. At the same time, Sea God, Red Hair, and Alex sprung towards Henry and grabbed him by his hands.

"F*ck off!" Henry yelled in a low voice and raised his hands forcefully. His action looked effortless, but the force of it nearly shook them off.

"Quick!" Wade's face full of anxiety as he urged Future once more.

Future quickly handed over the drug. Just like she did earlier in the nightclub, Wade grabbed the drug and pierced into Henry's neck with its stainless steel tip.

Wade injected the full dose of sedatives into Henry's neck.

"No, he's not responding to it!" Alex said between gritted teeth.

"Give me another!" Wade stretched out his hand once more.

"In Boss' current state, this kind of sedative has is no longer effective against him. Use this. " Future handed over another shot of medication.

Wade did not ask any questions and proceeded to stab at Henry's neck.

When the drug had been injected completely, the facial expressions of Alex and the others relaxed a little.

"It's working. Boss' strength is getting weaker."

Wade also saw that Henry's face had gradually returned to normal. From a murderous expression to gentleness, then to fatigue, and gradually, Henry closed his eyes and fell forward.

Wade was quick to support Henry, stopping Henry from falling onto the ground.

Chapter 939

Seeing that the medicine was effective, Future was greatly relieved.

Wade helped Henry lie down on the sofa nearby.

The rest look at one another, each seeing the worry in each other's eyes.

Wade looked up, Henry had obviously fallen asleep.

Wade asked, "Future, what was the drug you just used?"

"A powerful anaesthetic, with a dose enough to paralyse an elephant. The boss should be able to a rest well for tonight." Future took the syringe from Wade's hand and reloaded it.

It took a dose of anaesthetic enough to paralyse an elephant to calm Henry down. That was how strong Henry's body was.

Upon hearing this, Wade was shocked. "You had this prepared all this while?"

Instead of answering him, Future looked at Bannock and said, "Let's first find out what happened. What happened just now?"

At that moment, Bannock had already gotten up from the ground. Still obviously shaken, he looked towards the broken tea table, inhaled deeply, then slowly calmed his pounding heart and said, "My lords, I'm sure you are all aware that hypnosis is just a special way to guide the subject into his or her subconscious to find the subject's psychological defect."

While Bannock talked, his fingers still trembled uncontrollably. He had obviously not recovered from the fright earlier, which was understandable. Anyone who had faced the King of the City of Hell in his violent state would be badly frightened. Bannock was still considered to have been quite rational. He yelled for help at a very crucial moment. Otherwise, there was no saying how he would have ended up.

"Go on." Wade and the others listened on.

Bannock nodded. "Lord S has a far more powerful psychological defence than ordinary people. Even under the anaesthetic effect of alcohol, I'm unable to guide the Lord's subconscious emotions. All the questions I had asked were ignored by My Lord. So all I could only try to do was bring out My Lord's violent emotions that lay at the depths of his heart."

"You are playing with fire!" Future suddenly shouted a little too excitedly, "You went to bring out the violent emotions that lay at the depths of boss' heart! Do you know what he had gone through all these years? How could you possibly bear the violent emotions that have been accumulated at the depths of his heart?"

"I understand that it was a very dangerous thing to do." Bannock slowly regained his composure. "But I had no other choice. My disciple told me that my lord had been deliberately restraining all those emotions in his heart, but just now I discovered that he was beginning to lose control of his emotions. While I was pouring the wine, I purposely poured the wine in a messy and disorganised fashion. At that moment, My lord displayed agitation. Next, I lowered the volume of music and purposely said some sensitive words, such as..."

As he spoke of this, Bannock deliberately looked to Future.

"It's alright, go ahead." Wade gestured for Bannock to continue.

Only then did Bannock dare to say, "I mentioned Lord Cesia, the fall of Radiant Island, and some new incidents that had just happened overseas. All these would cause Lord's emotions to fluctuate, but what lead to the eruption in his emotions were neither of those."

"What was it then?" Everyone listened on attentively. They understood that what Bannock was going to say next would be what Henry had been hiding in the depths of his heart, or perhaps, it could be Henry's nightmare.

Bannock said two words, "A clan."

When they heard that, Future and others were shocked. They all had a strong experience with the strength of clans.

They had personally experienced the mightiness of the Xiao Clan, Su Clan, and Zhu Clan. The immense pressure that the clans brought upon them had forced Wade to almost go berserk. If Henry had not turned up at the battle of the Zhu Clan that day, it would have been hard to say who would have won.

Most importantly, the strength of those three clans were the weakest among all the other clans. Above them existed too many powerful clans. Although they did not show off their strengths at that time, no one could be sure when another clan would rise.

Bannock continued, "When I said the word 'clan', My Lord's emotions did not react with a sudden burst. These words were like a switch of a gate, My Lord was a completely different person with just a light touch of this switch. This situation of his..."

Bannock's word came to a halt, not speaking any further.

"What is it?" Wade asked anxiously.

Bannock shook his head and said, "I'm sorry, I still can't tell. If you really want to find out more about My Lord's situation, I'm afraid only that fortune-teller in Section Nine would be able to find out."

Wade's expression hardened. He yelled at Bannock, "You can't tell? What do you mean you can't tell? This fortune-teller and you..."

"Alright, if he can't tell, so be it. You can't possibly force Bannock to find something if he couldn't, right?" Peze rolled his eyes at Wade, then saying to Bannock. "Thank you for your efforts today. Felix has arranged everything for you. You should leave tonight, there are some foreign matters that require your attention. Don't come back for the time-being."

"Thank you Lord Peze." Bannock cupped his fists at Peze. He then bowed to Wade and the others. "My Lords, I'll make my leave for now."

Saying that, Bannock turned and left.

"Why didn't you let me ask him? He obviously saw something!" Wade looked at Peze in confusion.

"He wouldn't say anything no matter how hard you asked." Valentin spoke before Peze could say anything. "It was obvious that he found something, but he couldn't say it. Ask yourself, Wade, in Boss' current state, had Bannock told us what he had discovered, would you let him go alive?"

Hearing this, Wade was stunned. He opened his mouth but nothing came out. Indeed, it was just as Valentin said. Had Bannock really discovered something today, he really might have stopped Bannock from leaving. What had happened that day gave him a reason to not kill Bannock.

Felix looked to Future. "Future, tell us what you've been hiding from all of us. From the moment we met our boss in the nightclub, you started acting strangely. Back then while we were drinking, you set up some equipment in the room, didn't you? You were always responsible for Boss's health in the past, you should be the one who knows best about his condition. It is obvious that the current situation is no longer something that you and Boss could easily control. Tell us about it and we'll all think of something together."

Future's pretty face paled. She glanced around and saw that everyone was looking at her. She inhaled deeply and said, "Let's all sit down first. This story has to start around a few months ago."

Taking the lead, Future walked to the sofa and sat down. She took a glance at Henry, who was lying on the sofa unconsciously, then said, "Back then, Boss brought the Spiritual Stone to me for the first time. At that time, we had no idea what energy lay within the Spiritual Stone, so Boss used himself as a test subject."
