

Mine – The Alpha's Possession by Kylie

Chapter 29

CHAPTER 29

When I left school, I didn't know where I was going. I didn't want to go home. And I definitely wasn't going back to school after that. And I knew that the woods were out of the question because he'd already have the patrols watching out for

So, I headed to the last place that I could think of. It was on the other side of town and when I got to the beaten down old cabin, I found the key in the usual hiding spot that hadn't changed in over a year and I let myself in.

No one lived in the cabin, and it wasn't in the woods either. But it was right on the edge of town. I would have been really surprised if anyone saw me in there.

It was starting to get cold around this time of year too. I was pissed that I couldn't have the fireplace going, but I put my bag down and I looked around the cabin. It didn't look like anyone had been here in a really long time. So, I dusted off the couch and I grabbed one of the many books on the bookshelf and I sat down on the couch with it.

My phone was blowing up from everyone who knew that I had a phone, so I eventually turned it off. I just announced to the whole school that the Alpha was my mate. I knew that there were going to be questions after questions, and honestly, I couldn't answer any of them.

I didn't know what our mate pairing was right now. I didn't know if I was the Luna of this pack because I didn't know if he was going to keep me as his mate. And these were questions that I was desperately trying to avoid.

To be honest, I already felt rejected. He might as well just do it and put me out of my misery. It can't be any worse than what it already is right now. I was feeling absolutely miserable since I found out that he was my mate and I couldn't even touch him. Girls are meant to be excited about finding their mates. So, why the hell did it have to be so hard on me. Was this some sort of test that the Moon Goddess was putting me through. And if so, why? What the hell did I do to deserve this? I didn't think I was that much of a brat to deserve something like this. Not to have my mate bond being screwed around like this.

I was more determined now than ever to get the hell out of here. I had to get away from Jackson. If he wasn't going to choose me as a mate then I needed to leave. I couldn't stay here in this misery anymore. It really was hurting me. It felt like torture. To see him every day and not touch him. Especially after having already slept with him. I know exactly what I am missing out on. And I hated that even more. That he knew I was his mate and he slept with me before I was meant to know about it. He just didn't know that I did know I was his mate. And the whole time he was still planning on rejecting me.

How the hell could I have been so stupid. I'm usually smarter than that. But I guess when it comes to guys, I'm just a typical teenage girl. I stop thinking altogether. That was my problem.

I'd been in the cabin for a couple of hours when I heard footsteps coming up the stairs and onto the veranda. It didn't scare me at all, because I knew that they could only belong to one person. And as soon as the door opened, I knew that I was right.

"Hi Edward." I say and he came in and shut the door.

"A lot of people are out looking for you." He says coming over and sitting on the chair across from me.

"This place is pretty dusty. Haven't you been here since I left?" I asked changing the subject.

"No. I didn't want to bring anyone else to this place. It's our place. No one else's."

He says.

"I guess so. What would Hannah think?" I asked.

"She's already pissed off with me. She knows that we've been talking behind her back." He says rubbing her face.

"I haven't been doing anything behind her back. You've been seeking me out." I say.

"Yeah. Because after I saw you when you came back, I thought I made a mistake by getting with Hannah and that you were the one that I wanted to be with." He says looking at me and I closed my eyes and started shaking my head.

"Can you please not add to my drama right now? I've an Alpha who is crazy and my mate. Jackson let the head warrior of the Richmond pack join this pack and he's now living in the packhouse, where I live, and we had a thing going while I was away. And now you're saying this shit to me, it's way too much for me to handle right now." I say staring straight at him.

"You're faced with three guys that want you?" He asked.

"I'm faced with three guys that I've slept with." I say pinching the bridge of my nose.

"Holy crap. You have slept with the Alpha?" He asked.

"It was before my 18th but it was after the rumours were going around that we were sleeping together. So, at the time of the rumours, they were just rumours. We weren't hooking up yet." I explain.

Holy crap. No wonder you're a fucking mess right now. And what about Alpha Jackson rejecting you. What was that all about?" He asked.

"Jackson has been telling me that he was going to reject his mate when he found her. He just didn't know that I already knew that I was his mate. And it was before he slept with me. But even after we slept together, he said that he was still going to reject his mate. Which kind of killed me a little inside. And I've been in a bitchy mood ever since my 18th because

I've felt that pull to him. I want him. I want to touch him. I want to be with him.

But he says that he's going to reject me. So, I've been avoiding him. Except for days like today when I abused him in front of everyone." I explained staring off into the distance.

"Why the hell have you been keeping all of this to yourself?" Edward asked leaning forward on his chair.

"You know me. I'm more of a fixer at school then a complainer. I'm the one that everyone comes to when they have a problem. But I don't really have anyone at school that I can go to who can fix my problems. If people have problems with bullies, then I go bash the bullies. There's no problem there. But there is definitely not anyone at school that could help me with this." I say.

"I know. This is pretty intense." He says.

"Yeah. Just a bit." I say looking back down

at my book.

"Are you just planning on hiding out here for the rest of your life?" He asked looking around at the old dilapidated dusty cabin.

"Not my whole life. But until I figure out what the hell I am going to do. He's trying to stop me from leaving the pack. Which means he doesn't want me to go. But he won't accept me either. Have you ever heard of a guy mind fucking his mate like this before?" I asked looking up at him. And I could see the real concern in his voice. He was really worried about me. I was certain of that.

"No. I've never heard of that before. And it's not fair that it's happening to you.

You deserve so much better than him."

Edward says.

"Thanks. I just wish he realized that too."

I say trying to control the tears that were threatening to come out.

"Taylor. It's alright to cry, you know. This is really messy with your emotions.

He should know that. He should be feeling the same way but he obviously doesn't give a shit." Edward sound almost angry. And Edward doesn't get angry at anything.

Well, it took a lot to get Edward angry at anything. But he was clearly getting angry right now, but this wasn't his fault. And he couldn't go at Jackson the way he normally would protect someone. Alpha Jackson will kill him on the spot. We both knew that. Jackson has his reputation for a reason. I'm the only one that he's ever bent the rules for, and we all know why that is. But he would definitely kill

Edward.

"It's fine Edward. I can handle myself.

You know that. By the way, how the teacher that I punched?" I asked curiously.

"Broken nose and eye socket. But she's a werewolf. She's already healing." He says smirking at me.

"I really hate the collateral damage in war. She just happened to be the one today." I say.

"Yeah. But you definitely got his attention with that." Edward says.

"Yeah. Him and the rest of the damn school." I scoffed

laughing.

a Edward started

"It was a classic Taylor Stevenson move

though. I wouldn't have expected anything less." He laughed out.

"Too bad it won't get me kicked out of school." I say.

"You punched a teacher. How do you know that you didn't get kicked out of school?" He asked.

"I told you. He's doing everything he can to keep my here. There's no way in hell he will let them kick me out of school." I

say.

"Good point." He says.

All of a sudden the door to the cabin was kicked open and Jackson walked inside. Edward jumped up from his chair and Jackson examined the room and saw Edward there and his eyes instantly turned black.

"Don't you fucking dare." I growled at Jackson as I got up from the couch..

"You're in a cabin with an unmated male.

"Jackson said through gritted teeth.

"Why the fuck do you even care?" I snapped at him.

"You're mine. No one else's." He declared. And before I had a chance to say anything the whole cabin was lit up with a really bright light that made up all shield our eyes until it died down. And then I lowered my arm and I saw Jackson and Edward standing there in shock.

"Layla. What are you doing here?" I asked completely unfazed that she was here.

"Protecting you. It's my job. Remember.

She says.