

Ex-husband Loves Me Again (Miral)

Chapter 30: With Elite Men Around

Manuel knew the reason, but he didn't tell Theo about it, and he actually did it on purpose.He wanted to see how Theo would react, and if he would even care for his ex-wife.

Theo just stared at Manuel deeply after the latter answered his question.

He didn't believe that Manuel didn't know what happened to Danica, so he observed his moves.

Theo believed that as Danica's boss, it was impossible for Manuel not to know what happened to his employee.

Manuel wouldn't have told everyone about it in the first place if he really didn't know everything that happened.

Theo knew Manuel was just lying.

'He knew the truth, but he purposely hid it from me!' a part of his mind told him.

It wasn't only women who have great instincts, but men as well.Theo felt that Manuel had deep feelings for Danica.It was very obvious by way he treated her.

Manuel was an important figure in the entertainment industry.

When he was young, he debuted as a singer.

Later, he became an actor.

From working on a TV series to a movie, he went all the way and became one of the best actors.

With the passage of time, he also became famous, and he already won all kinds of awards.

These years, Manuel stopped acting and started a business with his friends, which was now the Shaw Stewarts Films.

When Manuel was still in his twenties, he had a girlfriend with whom he had open their relationship.

But later, because their personalities were not compatible, they broke up.

Over the years, there have been several rumors that Manuel had been dating other actresses in the entertainment industry, but now he is already single.

Just recently, a young actor named Kris, who had just turned twenty years old, seemed to be interested in Danica.

Then this time, a forty-year-old former great actor, Manuel, who was Danica's boss, seemed to be interested in her as well.

Just the thought that a lot of men were interested in his ex-wife, the thirty-two-year-old Theo, couldn't help but tighten his jaw in anger.

'So, she has a lot of admirers now, huh?' " Theo shook his head in disbelief.

Theo was in a bad mood throughout the meeting.

He was even more pissed when he suddenly thought of Danica and her men, which he didn't understand why he felt that.

Manuel, on the other hand, just continued his presentation as if nothing had happened, and as if he was not aware of Theo's cold gaze.

Although Theo was in a bad mood, he still ended up being amazed by the script that Danica had written, which he hadn't expected.

Danica's work was really great, and she surpassed his expectations.

In fact, before coming to this meeting, Theo had already believed that the outline of the script would not pass his preference, but he was just shocked that it turned out to be so amazing.

At first, he didn't pay much attention to Manuel's presentation because he was really in a bad mood, but now, all his attention was on the story.

Theo listened to Manuel attentively as he presented the plot of the story written by Danica.

He was so immersed to every word written in the script.

He even had an impulse to start the production right away.

With his many years of experience in the entertainment business industry and his judgment on film and movie projects in recent years, he was sure that this drama would be a big hit.

Now, he realized that Manuel was right.

The way Danica wrote a story was indeed very touching.Her ideas were very impressive and interesting.She was completely different from the Danica he knew before.

They were married for three years, but he didn't even know she was this talented.

After the meeting, Theo immediately went to Manuel's office, completely forgetting that he still had Venice with him.

He just stood up quickly and left her on the spot where they were seated.

His mind was only filled with everything about Danica.

Venice was left hanging in the conference room by Theo.

She was smiling to everyone, but deep inside, she was burning with anger.

She wasn't stupid to know where Theo went and why he suddenly forgot her existence.

As soon as Theo entered Manuel's office, he got straight to the point and asked, "What happened to her?"

He looked at Manuel firmly, and his tone was very serious.

However, Manuel just avoided his gaze and calmly drank a glass of water as if he was deliberately trying to piss Theo off.

"I thought you came here to discuss the script with me, Mr.Dalton? " he said after a little while.

This time, Theo had totally lost his patience.

He was already pissed from the start of the meeting, but he tried to control himself and forget it for the meantime because the story got his attention.

Now that the meeting was over, and Manuel still didn't answer him, he couldn't hold his patience anymore.

"What do you think you're doing, Manuel?"

Thea frankly asked him, and his eyes were now piercing through him.

Manuel just glanced at him, then took a pen, wrote a string of numbers on the paper and handed it to him, "That's her phone number.You want to know what exactly happened to her, right? Then it's better if you ask her personally, Mr.Dalton."

Based on Theo's expression, Manuel realized that Theo definitely didn't know that today was the anniversary of Danica's mother's death.

He was married to Danica for three years, but he didn't even know about such an important day in his ex-wife's life.

It only proved how much of a jerk he was as a husband for neglecting his wife back then.

'What a jerk!' Manuel sneered silently.

'You hurt Danica so much before, and now you're suddenly concerned about her? Huh! What happened to you, Theo? Did you finally realized how worthy she was now?' he thought disgustedly as he looked at Theo.

'Did you really think Danica would still care about your concern? Well then, good luck to you!' Manuel laughed sarcastically in his mind.
