

Ex-husband Loves Me Again (Miral)

Chapter 42: You Were Spoiled (1)

"It's getting late.You should go and get some rest."

Theo didn't acknowledge Venice's apology.

He didn't say if he would forgive her, nor did he say he wouldn't forgive her.

Venice could only grit her teeth and turn to open the car door to get off the car.

After Danica left the Daltons, she took a taxi to Celestie's residence.

When she left, Kris was still at her home.She didn't know if he had already left.

Celestie opened the door for her.

Her face was covered with a white facial sheet mask, and an opened bottle of red wine was waiting for Danica.

After taking a bath and changing into the clean pajamas that Celestie had prepared for her, Danica sat on the carpet, drinking wine and rehashing everything that happened tonight to Celestie.

After listening to Danica, Celestie took off the sheet mask on her face and clapped her hands.

"This is so amazing!"

"To hell with that scheming Venice bitch!"

Celestie had seen too many incidents where Danica was secretly bullied by Venice, and now that the tables had turned, Celestie could not help but feel extremely relieved.

Danica took a sip of wine and nodded.

"It was indeed very satisfying."

Back then, when Danica found out that Theo and Venice had an ambiguous relationship, she went paranoid.

She just knew that Venice must have been very hysterical today.

In the past, Venice's mockery of her left her in despair and heartache.

Venice must be feeling the same now.

Celestie excitedly suggested, "Why don't you take advantage of this opportunity to get close to Theo just to piss Venice off? Then you can seduce Theo just so you can kick him off to the curb.This is your opportunity to take revenge for his stupidity when you were still both married."

Danica was left speechless by Celestie's words.

Then she swirled the red wine on the flute in her hand and replied, "Why? They didn't do anything to me that was extremely damaging."

"Theo does not love me anymore, and it's not like he did not tell me about his lack of feelings for me before.I was stubborn for so many years.I was the one who was trying to live a fairytale life that should not have existed in the first place.I was too naive and stupid.I thought that I could make him love me"

Danica's words made Celestie's eyes turn red and misty.

Celestie knew all the anguish and grief that Danica had endured in her marriage.She came over and hugged Danica lovingly.

Danica did not feel too sad as she accepted her friend's hug.She then clinked their glasses together and said, "So, the connection between him and I ended when we divorced.Whether I was naive or stupid, it is all in the past"

After Danica made her toast, she raised her glass and drank all the wine in it.

In the past, she had never understood Theo's decision and had hated him for it.

But now that she had enough time to think about everything that had happened between them, she realized that Theo was not at fault.

There was Nothing wrong with not being able to love a person.

The two best friends drank in comfortable silence for a while before Celestie asked, "What's with Theo today? Out of nowhere, he asked you to discuss the script?"

Danica shrugged and said, "Who knows?"

Celestie snorted and replied, "He couldn't have seen the news about Kris, right? Maybe he was afraid that you and Kris would develop some kind of intimate relationship in the middle of the night, so he found an excuse to get you out of your place"

Danica furrowed her brows in skepticism and said, "How is that even possible?"

"What is there to be afraid of? He should be eager for me to marry someone else now.Then he won't have to be afraid that I will come after him again" Danica added.

"He asked me to discuss the script.It was most likely that he was deliberately torturing me.He hates me and does not want to see me happy.Danica finally analyzed Theo's thoughts seriously.

Theo used to treat her badly.

She felt that he hated her very much.

Even if they were no longer married now, he still hated her, so he came up with this idea to hurt her.

Celestie was worried for her friend.

"Then what are you going to do in the future? Your TV series has just started."

The day's events were catching up to Danica.

She was getting tired.

"Maybe I shouldn't have picked up this historical TV series from the beginning.I shouldn't have interacted with him at all."