

God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally

Chapter 100

Chapter 100

"Jeb! let's take a break. Even if I have adrenaline, I am still very tired after running for one night. The blisters on my feet are all broken."

"Yes, I am also very tired. My knees feel like they are going to be scrapped."

"We have walked so far. Brielle will definitely not be able to catch up with us. Let's take a break..."

Those people were exhausted and directly sat on the ground.

Jeb! said. "We can't rest yet. Let's go chop bamboo to make a bamboo raft. We can only rest after crossing the river and reaching the other side."

"Brielle has a big white tiger. If she chases with the big white tiger, she will catch up in a few hours."

"Do you want to fall into the hands of Brielle and let her treat you like Fukuyu?"

They did not know what happened to Fukuyu, but they had seen the scene of Brielle hitting a certain part of Fukuyu with their own eyes.

They instantly perked up and stood up.

The people Jeb! brought had gotten their weapons.

The boomerang, axe, long handle double-edged axe, long sword, and long whip were all in their hands.

Axe and long sword could be used to cut.

The bamboo forest was not far from the river.

Jeb! took them there and arranged for them to cut the bamboo while he sat to the side to rest.

After cutting the bamboo, some people were responsible for fixing the bamboo into a suitable length while some were responsible for collecting tree vines in the forest to tie the bamboo.

With their experience, it took them two hours to complete the bamboo raft that could carry six of them at the same time.

Just as Jeb! was about to command them to push the bamboo raft into the river, the director's voice came from his headphones.

"Jeb!, don't go yet. Go back to the forest. The bounty mission has not been completed. Don't cross the river yet."

Jeb! frowned and his face was very ugly.

The director had been watching the live broadcast. Didn't he know that he couldn't beat Brielle?

How was he going to complete the bounty mission?

If he went back to look for Brielle now, he would undoubtedly be seeking his own death.

The director seemed to read his thoughts and hurriedly said, "This is what the bosses want."

"They asked you to go back, and they will naturally arrange everything for you."

"You are now a long distance away from Brielle. She can't catch up with you in a day. You can rest first."

"Later, I will send a helicopter to send you supplies and medicine. The medicine can make her faint. When she wakes up, she will be weak and unable to use her strength, let alone attack you."

The tigers by her side will also faint. When the time comes, you can take the opportunity to get rid of them."

Jeb! was overjoyed.

After such a long time, the bosses finally thought of taking medicine directly.

But...

He couldn't hurt Brielle, let alone get close to her. Even if he had medicine, he couldn't use it.

The director said, "The medicine I prepared for you this time can be burned in the fire. As long as she smells the smoke, she will be drugged."

"Make the smoke area a little wider. She can't avoid it."

"I will send the antidote with you. As long as you take the antidote in advance, you will not be affected."

Jeb! was excited.

He didn't expect the director to be so thoughtful.

In this way, Brielle would definitely fall for it and become a plaything in his hands.

He could finally take revenge!

He could also complete those bounty missions.

He would earn a lot of money.

"Hahaha, Brielle, you can't beat me!" Jeb! laughed excitedly.

When the people who were moving the bamboo raft heard him suddenly laugh, they all thought that he was stimulated and became mentally abnormal.

Someone asked with concern. "Jeb!, are you okay?"

Jeb! restrained his smile and said to them, "Don't move the bamboo raft first. We won't cross the river first. Let's rest and wait for supplies. Then we will return to the forest to find Brielle."

Everyone looked at each other and frowned.

"Jeb!, have you forgotten the consequences of us looking for Brielle yesterday?"

"Yes, we are not Brielle's match at all. If we look for her again, we will be courting death. Let's cross the river first."

Jeb! said harshly, "I said to go back and find her. Naturally, I have full confidence to subdue her!"

Someone said, "You said the same thing yesterday."

Jeb!'s face darkened. He looked at the person with a gloomy expression. "You look down on me?"

"No... No... I don't mean to look down on you. In my eyes, you are the best. It is that Brielle is too cunning!"

"Brielle is so cunning. Even if you are stronger than her, you can't beat her!"

Jeb! snorted and said, "This time I have a secret weapon. No matter how cunning she is, she can't escape from my palm!"

Those few people did not quite believe it.

Yesterday, Jeb! was also so confident.

Chapter 100

But in the end, he was still frightened by Brielle and ran away.

After running for a whole day and night, he did not dare to stop.

Too cowardly.

Jeb! said. "Either you listen to me obediently, or I will kill you right now. Choose one!"

They could only listen to Jeb! and lay down to rest.

After three hours, the helicopter circled around to send the supplies.

In the bag of supplies this time, other than the dry rations, there was also the hot pot and rice.

Jeb! took the lead to look through the package, found the knockout medicine and antidote that the director had given him, and put it away.

There was also a lighter inside, which was for him to light up.

He also put it away.

After putting away the things, he asked the five people to take out the food.

After they ate, they continued to sleep.

Until the next morning, they woke up.

They ate their dry rations and walked into the forest.

After walking for a while, Jeb! heard a voice in his headphones again.

"Jeb!, Brielle is now less than two kilometers away from you. You can start a fire now and put the knockout powder into the fire. The medicine will spread with the smoke in the forest. When she gets close, she will be drugged!"

Jeb! stopped and asked the five people to pick up the branches. Then, he lit the fire and threw the medicine bag into the fire while they were not paying attention. Then, he secretly took the antidote.

He deliberately found some fresh leaves and branches to put on the fire so that they could release more smoke. Then, he let the five people wave the branches to let the smoke spread faster.

At this time, Brielle and the others were getting closer and closer.

They smelled the smoke from a distance and also saw the smoke coming over.

"Why is there such a big smoke?" Tana frowned in confusion.

Lov said, "Should we stop and observe first? We can't even see the road clearly with such a big smoke. If there is an ambush in front of us, it will be difficult for us to avoid it."

Before Brielle could answer, Tana and Lov shook their heads and their bodies swayed a few times before falling to the ground.

"What's going on? My head is so dizzy and I don't have any strength on my body..."

As soon as she finished speaking, Tana and Lov lost consciousness and fainted on the ground.

"Roar!"

The big white tiger roared anxiously, its two front paws moving restlessly.

The other two tigers behind them had also fainted.

The big white tiger turned and left, wanting to stay further away from the smoke. This smoke made it very uncomfortable.

But not long after, it also fell to the ground.

Brielle rolled down from the back of the big white tiger. She also closed her eyes and lay motionless on the ground.
