

God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally

Chapter 101

Chapter 101

In the viewing room.

“Hahahaha, Brielle has finally fallen!”

“I thought she was really powerful. Under the effects of the medicine, she couldn’t last more than a minute.”

John’s face was full of joy, and his face was wrinkled into a ball as he walked around excitedly.

The bearded man also revealed a happy smile. “Hahaha, I can finally avenge for Fukuyu and Deadic. I can also make use of her to make money. After she became a prisoner, Oscus’ face was once again stepped on by Widi. It was really a three–shot deal!”

Toofucker laughed. “I already said that no matter how powerful Brielle is, she will lose in the end.”

“In front of us, she is just an ant. We can do whatever we want to her!”

John said proudly, “Humph, Widi has been slapped so many times by her. This time, I will make her pay enough!”

“After completing the bounty task on her body, I will torture her properly!”

In Oscus’ live broadcast room.

[What’s going on? Why did Sister E faint?]

[Tana, Lov, and those tigers all fainted. It’s definitely abnormal!]

[How could there be such a large cigarette in Forest? Could it be that someone poisoned in the smoke?]

[There must be poison in the smoke. The smoke is spreading so much that Sister E can’t hide in the forest at all. Too despicable!]

[Widi’s live broadcast has always been closed. It must be that bastard Jebl’s doing. This is too much. Widi likes to do this kind. of despicable means. If he can’t compare with others, he will start to use shameless means!]

[Brielle’s fans are too devilish. There is no evidence now. Why do you think it is Widi’s doing? Maybe the forest was set on fire and it happened to burn poisonous plants. Don’t slander others without evidence when you see that Brielle is in danger. This is too bad of a good impression.]

[That’s right. It must be an accident. Jebl doesn’t have poison. How can he deliberately burn poison to frame Brielle? Brielle’s fans have some brains, ok? Don’t be brainless to protect your owner!]

In the forest.

When Jebl saw that the big white tiger and Brielle had both fainted, he walked over from afar.

He walked in front of Brielle and looked down at Brielle who had fallen to the ground. He sneered, “Brielle, aren’t you very powerful? Aren’t you still unable to be arrogant now?”

“I will pay you back for the humiliation you have done to me in the past few days!”

“Your good days have come to an end. Now it’s your turn to be unlucky!”

The audience in Oscus’ live broadcast room was about to explode with anger when they saw this scene.

[I said it must be Widi’s doing. Just now, someone refuted and spoke up for Widi! What else is there to talk about now? The evidence is conclusive!]

All the people and animals have fainted. Only Jebl is still fine. Moreover, he seems to have been watching Sister E in the dark. When he saw that Sister E was unconscious, he came out. I don’t believe he didn’t do anything!]

Where are the dogs that spoke up for Widi? What else do you have to say now? I suspect that they are traitors. I suggest that the police investigate their IP and investigate their ancestors for three generations!]

[I am so angry. How can they be like this! This is too bad!]

[Ah, quickly go away. Don’t touch Sister E!]

[This doesn’t mean anything. No one saw Jebl poison and everyone was unconscious. Only Jebl is fine. It can only mean that his physical fitness is good. This is not the point for you to convict him.]

[That’s right. The constitution of people can not be compared. Brielle and the others are unconscious, and Jebl is still fine. It can only mean that the physical fitness of Brielle and the others can not compare to Jebl. In the end, it is because Jebl is stronger!]

Even at this time, some people still felt that it was not Widi’s doing, not Jebl’s fault. Jebl’s physical fitness was just better than Brielle’s, so he did not faint from the poison.

The broadcast room was noisy.

At this time, in the forest, after Jebl finished talking, he impatiently squatted down and stretched out his hand to Brielle.

He wanted to take off the clothes of this hateful Oscus woman first and make the boss behind the scenes happy.

However, just as his hand was about to touch Brielle, who was supposed to be poisoned and unconscious, suddenly opened her eyes.

The moment she opened her eyes, her hand quickly grabbed Jebl’s wrist. Then, she flipped over and turned Jebl’s hand behind him.

“Ah...!”

JebL was pressed to the ground with his face facing the ground and a mouthful of grass in his mouth.

His extended right hand was pulled back by Brielle.

With a “kacha” sound, Brielle actually dislocated his arm.

A huge pain hit him, making him scream again and again, and his face was flushed red.

“I finally caught you. You really know how to run. If you don’t take the initiative to come to my door, it will take me some time to catch you.” The corners of Brielle’s lips curled up as she joked.

JebL widened his eyes in shock.

Was Brielle deliberately pretending to faint to lure him over and then taking the opportunity to kill him?

JebL did not have the time to think so much. What he needed to do now was to break free from her restraints and ensure his safety.

He endured the pain and wanted to break free.

However, Brielle quickly kicked his head.

He only felt dizzy and lost his direction. He also lost consciousness for a short period of time.

When he regained his clarity of mind, he found that he had been tied up.

He looked around, but did not find Brielle.

But he saw that there was no smoke coming from the direction he was burning.

The smoke in the forest began to dissipate.

After a while, Brielle walked over from the direction where the smoke came from.

She was still holding a few weapons in her hand.

Upon closer inspection, it was actually the weapons of the five people beside him. They were all picked up by her.

She went to extinguish the fire and buried it together with the soil to prevent the smoke from spreading and affecting more animals.

and took away their weapons.

The five people who followed JebL were also unconscious. Brielle tied them up and took away

JebL was so angry that his face was twisted and his whole body was trembling. He glared at Brielle with eyes that were about to split open.

“Others are unconscious, why aren’t you unconscious”

Brielle asked, “Why am I in a coma?”

“Because the smoke...” JebL subconsciously wanted to say that the smoke was poisonous.

However, the drone beside Brielle was still broadcasting. He could only hold back his words.

Brielle said with a forced smile, “Because you poisoned the fire and let the poison spread into the forest through the smoke. Do you want to poison me?”

JebL gritted his teeth and said, “Don’t talk nonsense. I don’t have poison on me. How can I poison you?”

SEND GIFT