God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally Chapter 107

When John found out that Cozi and Toofucker had sneaked away, he was so angry that he smashed everything in the observation room. He looked at the remaining people angrily and threatened them. "If you dare to run away, I will kill you directly!"

Chapter 107

Those people quickly promised that they would not run.

But they were all very regretful.

Why didn't they leave earlier?

If they left with the first batch of people, they wouldn't have to stay here in fear.

At this time, the helicopter they sent had already flown above the forest.

then subdue her.

The helicopter flew to an empty space not far from Brielle. Nine armed personnel jumped off the helicopter with parachutes on their backs.

Because there were too many trees in the forest, they could not see Brielle in the sky, so they could only find a place to land and

Because they were not far away, when the helicopter flew nearby, Brielle heard the sound. She sat on the back of the big white tiger and ordered the big white tiger to carry her in a certain direction.

Although Brielle did not directly hit their vital points, she hit their wrists and ankles. The tendons in their hands and feet were broken and they had no ability to fight back.

"They really think highly of me and prepared so many guns to deal with me."

was over. No one could help him out.

Brielle walked up to them and found guns from them.

"Unfortunately, their brains are not good. Do they think I am deaf? You landed so close to me as if I could not hear."

It was

They originally thought that if they sent people with firearms to deal with Brielle, they would definitely win.

John and the remaining five people all had ugly expressions on their faces.

"What's the difference between this and giving Brielle equipment"

"Are those people idiots? Why are they landing so close to Brielle? Don't they know to land further away" happening again."

can win!"

#

9

4

9

In the forest.

The big white tiger ran wildly in the forest.

of the forest, ready to land.

But this was also the only choice.

They had enough time to slowly approach her.

her.

even landed.

those people.

abnormality.

the pilot return.

4

4

At this time.

"Young Master

Brielle made another bonfire and slowly baked it next to her.

After it was cooked, the three of them took turns to eat.

guns were all taken by Brielle!"

The others did not look good either.

"Her good luck is coming to an end!"

The other five people breathed a sigh of relief.

"Fock!"

In the viewing room.

John was so angry that his face turned green and red.

find them." "Now that things have happened, it is useless to be angry. Send someone else."

"It's good now. They were discovered by Brielle in the process of landing. Before they landed, they were crippled by Brielle. The John took a deep breath, suppressed his anger, and arranged it again.

2

It was impossible for Brielle to escape from the fifty armed men.

#

9

* 4

However, the big white tiger was big and had a big appetite. It took two hours to barely make itself full.

At this time, the armed personnel sent by John were already on a helicopter, circling between several mountains on the edge

That position was especially far away from Brielle. Even if they traveled day and night, it would take two days to get close to

Only by being so far away could they prevent Brielle from hearing any movements, and avoid being killed by Brielle before they

John said that if before they landed, they needed to keep themself safe. Even if it was a little further away or a little slower, it would be fine. Anyway, Brielle wanted to torture Jebl. Before she killed Jebl, she would not change her position.

motionless. Because the sniper rifle had a silencer installed, the people on the top did not notice that the people who jumped out were dead, and some people jumped down one after another.

It was only when some people discovered that those people did not adjust the direction of the parachute that they discovered the

Those who did not jump did not dare to continue jumping down. They immediately closed the helicopter door and planned to let

Those people did not even have time to scream before they hung straight on the parachute, and then they become

4

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom!

They didn't understand why there were snipers and bazookas in the mountains.

In a tranditional courtyard, a young man was sitting by the pavilion. He threw the fish food into the lake one by one. He watched

More than a dozen rocket launchersshot upwards at the same time and accurately hit the helicopter hovering in the air.

A man in a deacon uniform walked over and said softly, "The problem with the young lady has been solved. Do you need to send someone to bring the young lady back?"

The man said lightly, "No, wait for her to have a good time and start the live broadcast again."

the hundreds of koi in the lake fight for the fish food. The corners of his mouth curled up.

When she got close to the empty space, she saw several figures with parachutes falling down. Brielle did not say anything and immediately took the crossbow bolts that she had seized from Jebl and shot them. Her archery was very accurate. Even if they were floating in the air, she would accurately shoot every arrow at them. Those people were floating in the air and could not take out their guns to fight back. They were unilaterally suppressed by Brielle. When they landed, they fell to the ground and could not move.

Five MP5 submachine guns, two AK74M rifles, and two P99 pistols. Brielle looked at the guns and smiled.

This group of people were still wearing anti-bullet vests and anti-bullet helmets on their heads. Brielle pulled out three sets and sat on the back of the big white tiger with the pile of guns in her arms.

When Jebl saw that Brielle had returned safely, the glimmer of hope that had been ignited in his eyes instantly shattered.

Unexpectedly, before they even landed, they were all controlled by Brielle.

"Brielle has a weapon in her hand. Send more people over. When landing, stay away from Brielle to prevent such things from "This time, I will directly arrange for fifty people to go, and all of them are experienced combat teams. I don't believe that Brielle

"They thought that if they got closer, they would be able to find Brielle quickly and forget that Brielle would take the initiative to

W

There were a lot of prey in the forest and it was easy to catch prey.

No matter how powerful Brielle was, the fifty men could shoot at the same time and beat Brielle into a sieve.

After putting down the weapons and equipment, Brielle rode on the big white tiger and took it to hunt.

After it was full, Brielle asked it to hunt a sika deer and took it back to treat her and Tana as lunch.

Jebl was very moved and kept crying.

After Brielle had eaten her fill, she did not forget to help Jebl with his roasted flesh and feed it to him.

After the helicopter had chosen a position, they began to prepare to land. However, while they were parachuting, in a different place on the nearby mountain, countless sniper rifles were firing bullets at However...

None of the five helicopters were spared from the explosion and they all fell.