

Chapter III

Although the big white tiger was the king of the forest, it was so big that it had no natural enemies.

But that was only limited to land.

After the crocodile landed, it was no match for the big white tiger.

However, in the water, there were so many crocodiles that it was difficult for the big white tiger to take advantage of.

It was already fortunate that it was able to come ashore alive.

"Are you stupid? There are so many crocodiles in the wide river, and you dare to go down?"

"What are you doing here? Isn't it good to stay in the forest?"

The big white tiger sat in front of Brielle like a child who had done something wrong. It lowered its head and hummed softly, as if it was acting spoiled.

"Silly tiger."

Brielle lightly hit its head.

The big white tiger moved its head closer, as if wanting her to hit it a few more times.

Brielle pushed its head away and sat back on the ground. She said lightly, "Since you want to follow me, then it's up to you. But I don't have any medicine to treat you right now, so you can just wait for your injuries to heal naturally."

The desert is not like the forest either. There is less food here, and there is no water source. If you are hungry and thirsty, I don't have anything to give you."

"In a few days, I will also leave here. I will not be responsible for sending you back."

The big white tiger snorted again, feeling wronged.

Brielle ignored it.

The big white tiger walked behind her and laid down. It touched her with its big claws and snorted a few more times.

Brielle glanced at it.

The big white tiger lay on its side and revealed its belly that was not stained with blood. It seemed to invite her to lie down.

Brielle moved over and leaned into its arms.

The big white tiger grinned and wagged its tail a few times.

During the day in the desert, the temperature could reach more than forty degrees, but the temperature at night could be lower than ten degrees. It was still a little cold. It was a good thing to have a furry thing to warm up.

Brielle wanted Tana and Lov to come over, but the big white tiger strongly opposed it.

Even if she hit it, it wouldn't work.

After the big white tiger was beaten, it grunted in grievance, but it turned around and bared its teeth to warn Tana and Lov.

Tana took the initiative to say, "Brielle, don't make things difficult for it. Animals will only acknowledge and submit to people or animals who have defeated themselves. We can't beat it. In its eyes, we are lower level than it. It is normal for it not to let us get close to it."

Lov also said, "Yes, don't force it. It is still injured. Don't treat it like this. We are strong and can hold on."

Brielle saw them say this and did not say anything else.

[My God, I didn't expect the big white tiger to come to find Sister E on its own. This is too loyal, so touched]]

[The cute tiger is injured. Heartbreaking!]

[I don't know if it is a good thing or a bad thing for it to be so loyal to Sister E. What should it do after the competition ends, and Sister E leaves? Sister E can't take it away. It still has to return to the forest on its own and swim across the river again. It will cross the river again with its injuries. I wonder if it can come ashore alive...]

[Sister E, bring big white tiger home. I agree with this marriage!]

[Haha, so funny!]

[Don't be too outrageous. Last time, you think Sister E and the monkey a match. This time, you think Sister E and the big white tiger a couple. Can't you give Sister E a person?]

[Hahahahaha, I'm dying of laughter. Do you really like Sister E?]

The next day, just as the sky brightened, Brielle and the others woke up.

They ate a few fruits and began their journey.

The big white tiger did not eat anything.

Only the tigers that were raised by human would eat every day. Wild tigers basically ate once a week. If there was a shortage of food, they could starve for a longer time.

Now that the big white tiger was thrown into the wild, it should adapt to the living habits of wild tigers.

The big white tiger lay down in front of Brielle several times, wanting to let Brielle ride on its back, but Brielle ignored it.

The big white tiger was very depressed.

After trying for more than ten times, it angrily ran to Brielle and shaved the sand.

The sand flew up and blinded Brielle.

The big white tiger was scared as soon as it finished digging the sand and immediately ran away.

"Are you itching for a beating if I don't hit you? Stop right there! I will teach you a lesson!"

Brielle chased after it.

However, the sand in the desert was soft and it was very difficult to run.

Brielle ran for a while and accidentally fell to the ground.

The big white tiger stopped and seemed to be a little worried. It wanted to run back to see her.

But Brielle suddenly crawled on her dark limbs and quickly crawled toward it.

The terrible memory was awakened in an instant.

The big white tiger squeaked in fear and immediately turned to run.

The upright ape was so scary, it had to run away quickly!

But in the desert, the big white tiger did not run fast, and after Brielle changed to crawling, her speed became much faster.

Not long after, Brielle caught up with the big white tiger.

She jumped onto the back of the big white tiger and swung her fist at it.

The big white tiger was beaten to the point of constantly screaming. It sounded like it was wronged, but Brielle was merciless.

After beating it for more than ten minutes, Brielle finally jumped down from its back.

The big white tiger's face was swollen from the beating, but it was not angry.

It took the initiative to provoke the upright ape, but she did not kill it. After beating it for so long, it did not cause much damage. She must be reluctant to hit it, but she had to establish her prestige as a king, so she pretended to beat it.

She was too good to it."

The tiger was happy.

The big white tiger rubbed its head against Brielle, then happily jumped away.

Brielle looked at the back of the big white tiger in confusion.

"Did it become stupid? I hit it, why is it still happy?"

Brielle shook her head and continued on her way.

They never stopped. They passed through the desert before dark and arrived at the foot of the mountain.

This mountain was very steep and was not suitable for climbing at night.

They rested at the foot of the mountain for a night.

After dawn the next day, Brielle finally saw the full view of the mountain.

It was very high.

It was very steep.

This steep level could be used as a natural rock climbing training ground.

However, there were no rock climbing tools here, so they needed to climb up with bare hands.

Tana said, "I am already very satisfied to be able to reach here. I will not climb up. With my current strength, I can not climb up."

Lov also said, "I don't have the strength to climb up. These two days, I have been gritting my teeth and coming over. If I climb this mountain again, I am afraid I will fall down before I can even climb halfway."

Brielle nodded. "Okay, then wait for me at the foot of the mountain. After I finish the competition, the helicopter will pick us up. We will leave together."

Tana and Lov nodded.

"Be careful. This mountain is nearly a thousand meters long. If you accidentally fall down, you will die."

Brielle said, "I will be careful."

She ate some fruit and drank some water. Then she fed the rest of the water to the big white tiger.

"Be honest and don't hurt people."

The big white tiger cried out a few times.

Brielle took it as a yes.

Brielle removed all the things on his body and began to climb.

At this time, in the viewing room, John was so angry that his eyes were red, and his eyes were bloodshot.

Ever since Brielle crossed the river easily and the online live broadcast was reopened, he had been very angry. He was so angry that he did not sleep these two days.

The matter of the live broadcast had not been solved, and he could not send people to stop Brielle from going to the top.

"A bunch of trash. It has been so many days. Why can't the live broadcast be closed? Didn't they send people to hire hackers? Why can't they solve such a simple problem?"

The people below were all pale.

They felt that they could no longer reverse the outcome.

Brielle had already begun to climb the mountain. No matter how slow she was, she could reach the top in a day.

At that time, everyone in the world would see that Brielle had successfully reached the top, and they would have no chance to change the result.

"The other side said that hackers could not enter the internal system. The other party has more powerful hackers, and they have been changing the login data."

"It's over, it's all over. If Brielle wins, I will lose all my money..."

"We are so well-prepared. Why can't we win even with poison and hot weapons?"

"What is her background? We are all famous rich people on the list of all the countries in the world. Even if she is here to take revenge, how can she defeat us?"

"Who... Who is helping Brielle?"

The viewing room was dead silent.

Everyone's mood was very heavy.

Some people even broke down and cried, tearing their hair as they cried.

"Why is it like this? Didn't you say that Jebel would definitely win? Didn't you say that everything was under control? Why did everything end up out of control? Now that Brielle is going to win, everything is over. The foundation set up by my family for several generations is going to be lost!"

"John, you promised that we would win, so I agreed to be the banker. Now I am going to be killed by you!"

"If our money is not enough to compensate, our lives will be taken away. John, it was all your fault. You promised me that we would win, but why did it become like this?"

"I want to leave... I want to leave now. Before Brielle and the guarantee bureau come to find me, I want to take my family and money to hide!"

One of them shouted as he stood up and ran out in panic.

The rest of the people also stood up and ran around.

They also thought about it and quickly took their family and the money they could take away to hide.

They did not want to lose all their money and even their lives.

The international guarantee bank they had invited to be their guarantor had an unfathomable power behind it and was extremely cruel.

They didn't know what kind of cooperation they had with the mainstream countries in Europe and America. Even if their violent execution was spread, they had never been affected.

"All of you come back. I didn't let you go. You are not allowed to go!" John shouted at their backs.

But this time, no one stopped. They ran very fast, afraid that if they ran too slow, they would suffer.

John was so angry that his entire body was trembling. His face was alternating between green and red. "You actually don't listen to me. I won't let you off!"

However, no matter how much John threatened them, those people did not return.

Soon, they disappeared.

In the room, only John remained.

John clenched her fists and stared at Brielle's figure on the screen with bloodshot eyes.

Brielle had already started to climb the mountain.

Her speed was not fast, but it was very steady.

She was not in a hurry even though it was close to 90 degrees. She steadily climbed up.

John pursed his lips and his clenched fists began to tremble. He could not help but feel flustered in his heart.

He could no longer stop Brielle from winning.

The outcome could no longer be reversed. If he did not leave, he would only die when Brielle came knocking on his door.

No, it was a fate worse than death!

Run.

He had to run!
