

God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally

Chapter 13

Chapter 13

Sarah could not wait to enter the broadcast room.

She had long wanted to see her precious daughter.

The rest of the people were also staring at the curtain, wanting to see Pearl first.

However, when they entered the broadcast room, what they saw was the scene of Brielle kicking Pearl, who was lying on the ground with a swollen face, away!

The comments in the live broadcast room were all praising Brielle's good performance.

There were even a lot of people who said that the beating was too light and let her beat Pearl and Jordan to death!

"Ah! Pearl! My precious daughter!" Sarah was so angry that her eyes were red and she screamed.

She glared at Brielle, her whole body trembling.

"Brielle, this bastard, how can she bully Pearl like this? Pearl was beaten so badly by her..."

Roman's face was also very ugly. "Although I asked her to sign the contract and asked her to find trouble with Pearl in the period to set off Pearl, she can't be so ruthless! Pearl's face is swollen by her beating, how can Pearl be in the mirror?"

Robert clenched his fists and gnashed his teeth. "In my opinion, she did it on purpose and deliberately disfigured Pearl. That way, she would become the most beautiful female star in our party. Everyone is looking at her. She is so scheming!"

"Contact that bastard immediately and tell her to restrain herself a little. If she dares to bully Pearl like this again, I will not let her go when she comes back!" Brooks' face was livid.

"I'll call!" Sarah took out her phone angrily and dialed Brielle's number.

The next second, she said angrily, "That little bitch blocked my number and hasn't released it yet!"

Only then did everyone remember that when Brielle sold the shares last time, she had blocked the phone number of their entire family.

Brooks asked the housekeeper to bring his phone over and used the housekeeper's phone to call Brielle.

However, there was a prompt on the phone, saying that the other party had turned off her phone and could not be connected.

Brooks frowned and looked at the butler. "You also called that bastard and was blacklisted by her?"

The butler lowered his head and his body could not stop trembling. His voice trembled as he said, "No... I didn't call Miss Callow, and my phone wasn't blacklisted. It was... it was because..."

Brooks shouted angrily, "Hurry up, don't hem and haw!"

The butler braced himself and said, "It's because the program team took away the guest's mobile phone. Miss Callow's mobile phone is not with her, and all the guest's mobile phones are not with them."

The housekeeper was not as busy as Galley family, because that variety show was very popular, and he would watch the live broadcast when he was free.

He was very clear about what had happened in the live broadcast.

However, he did not dare to tell Galley family because he was afraid of being affected by their anger.

The rest of the people should have the same mentality as him. They were afraid of being accidentally injured, so they did

Robert frowned. "Mom, you won't sympathize with Brielle, will you? Look at how Brielle beat up Pearl and third brother. She is a madman, not worthy of sympathy!"

Sarah only felt her throat was dry, and she could not say a word for a long time.

She wanted her sons to take care of Pearl more.

Because in front of them. Pearl had always been gentle and kind, and was easily bullied.

When Brielle came back, she always made Pearl secretly shed tears.

Pearl was raised by her and she doted on the child for so many years. Even if they were not related by blood, she still doted on the child she raised.

Therefore, in order to protect Pearl, she asked her three sons to take care of Pearl more.

But she did not expect that Pearl had that face behind her back. She actually fanned the flames in front of Jordan, and for her own benefit, she encouraged Jordan to target Brielle.

After stealing Brielle's things, she took all the good things by herself. She didn't even consider anyone else. She didn't even consider Jordan. She naturally enjoyed the things that everyone stole together.

This was completely different from the Pearl she saw....

Brooks was silent for a long time and said, "I believe that Pearl has a kind heart. She suddenly fell into that kind of circle and suffered a pain that she had never suffered in her life. She was forced to lose her mind and her temperament changed greatly. We shouldn't blame her, nor should we misunderstand her. If she knew that we misunderstood her, how sad would she be?"

Sarah paused and said guiltily, "Hubby, you're right. Pearl has suffered so much and has been tortured to the point that her temperament has changed greatly. I actually still suspect her character. I really deserve to die..."

Sarah wiped her tears and looked at Roman. "Contact the public relations team and help Pearl maintain her reputation. There are so many people scolding Pearl. If she sees it, she will not be able to stand it."

"Yes, I will do it even without you telling me. I will continue to contact the program team." Roman nodded.

Robert frowned and said unhappily, "Big brother, didn't your entertainment company also invest in that program? Don't you know the program team's plan?"

Roman said with a gloomy face, "A few days before the program started, the program team suddenly pushed my investment. They said that there was a big boss who wanted to invest three times the amount alone. The money that the other investors invested was paid by the big boss and returned double the amount."

"It doesn't matter whether we invest or not if they didn't kick Pearl out of the program team. Moreover, it's double the investment, so I didn't pester him."

Robert said angrily, "What kind of heartless bastard made this program? He even set a trap on the contract. It's useless to call the police!"

Galley family didn't want to eat anymore. They stared at the big screen with gloomy faces.

At this time, on the big screen, the camera was aimed at Brielle, Pearl and the others, and there was only a small window.

Their precious Pearl became Brielle's foil.

Their eyes were full of anger and ruthlessness.

Brielle, this bitch!

Achoo..."

Brielle ate the grilled fish and suddenly couldn't help but sneeze. The fish she had just eaten was directly sprayed out.

Then she sneezed several times.

She wiped her nose with her arm and frowned. She muttered to herself, "Who is secretly scolding me behind my back?"

"Are those idiots trying to get me into trouble again?"

Brielle sneered.

Come on, come on.

Today, she had already been angered by those wild monkeys. They took the initiative to send themselves to her to be her punching bag. She would not be polite!

Unfortunately, until she finished her meal, those people did not come back.

Brielle sat on the spot and rested for a while. It was not until the sky was almost dark that she took her flashlight to the river, to take a bath.

She took off her jacket and pants, wore a vest and boxer shorts, and directly jumped into the river.

After soaking in the water for a while, she put on soap and washed it seriously.

[Aoo, it's the most favorite part of a gentleman like me again. Sister E's skin is whiter than the moonlight in the sky, slurp...]

[Ah, Sister E's figure is too great!]

[According to the rules of track and field horse racing, such a high-class Sister E should match the lowly me. Sister E, come home with me!]

[Oh my god, Sis E, I love you!]

[First of all, I am not a les. I do not have any illusions about Sister E. After all, I am not a les. But whether I should say it or not, Sister E is really beautiful and has a good figure. I am really not a les. It is true that she is very beautiful. I also said that I do not like female because Sister E is really beautiful. I am not a les. The moment I saw Sister E, my heart itched. It would be even better if Sister E could hold hands with me and kiss my lips to sleep. After all, I was not a les.]

[Sister E, just wait. I'll book a plane ticket immediately. I'll go to Thailand and make a big one for you.]

[Fainted by les...]