

God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally Chapter 140

God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally Chapter 140

Chapter 140

I just went to check it out. Oliver really was the college entrance examination champion back then. His results have always been excellent. His family background is ordinary, but he often won awards and used scholarships to subsidize his family. I don't believe that such a person with excellent grades can do immoral things. I

[Hehe, when Brielle participated in Extreme Survival, I told that she was mentally distorted, had violent tendencies, and had a problem with her character. I suggested that the police arrest her after she returned and prevent her from hurting innocent people. But at that time, a group of brainless fans came to scold me until I didn't dare to speak. Now, it proves that my judgment is correct, right? She has already started to hurt innocent people!]

[At that time, I also suggested that the police shoot Brielle but I was chased and scolded by the brainless fans. Now that I see her turn over her image, I am really happy. I hope the police won't let her go!]

[Oliver is so outstanding. He will definitely become a pillar of our country in the future. The contributions he can make in the future will be much higher than that of an actor. First, police must punish Brielle severely. You must not chill the heart of a future pillar!]

[That's right. We support to punish Brielle severely. Our country has lost a lot of outstanding talents. We must not let the outstanding people be disappointed in our country's laws because of this matter and then run to make contributions to foreign countries.]

[If something happens to Oliver's mother, Brielle should be buried with her!]

The public opinion on the Internet began to turn upside down.

The voices of praise for Brielle completely disappeared. Those who believed in Brielle and maintained neutrality no longer dared to speak, afraid of being scolded the moment they opened their mouths.

They could only wait for the official notice of the police.

Many of Brielle's fans believed that Brielle would not wrongly accuse innocent people.

In the past, Brielle had been defamed so many times, but in the end, she could always reverse the situation.

Therefore, this time, they also believed in Brielle!

They all held their breath and kept watch over the official account of the capital's police, waiting for them to release the notice.

This matter caused such a big public opinion. No matter what the result was, the government would definitely release the notice. Otherwise, it would be difficult to quell public opinion, and the police would also be questioned.

The police station.

After Brielle and the others were brought to the police station, the two parties involved were separated and recorded their statements.

Brielle's words did not change. She still said with certainty that she saw Oliver secretly take photos of the girl's skirt, so she took off his pants and lifted him up to let others see him.

Oliver still insisted that he had not taken a photo.

However, when the police asked him to check his photo album, he firmly opposed it, saying that it was his privacy. Before he could be convicted, no one could violate his privacy. He also contacted the lawyer on the spot.

His refusal to let people check his photo album had already made the police suspicious, but without evidence to convict the other party, they could not check the other party's phone.

The matter was in a stalemate.

When the police interrogated him, Oliver refused to cooperate.

The next day at noon, just as the police were considering whether they should let him go first, Fleo suddenly handed over some evidence to the police.

After the police officer checked, his face suddenly changed. He immediately reported to the cops and quickly set up an investigation team to conduct in-depth investigation on the evidence submitted. He also summoned Oliver's girlfriend, Bk University's more than a dozen students and the school head.

Fleo applied to take Brielle out for dinner, and the police did not stop him. Because Brielle did not make a big mistake, she also left an address. It was not difficult to find her.

When Oliver saw that Brielle could leave, he also wanted to leave, but he was stopped by the police. He even sent someone to watch him and prevent him from escaping.

Oliver was furious and asked angrily, "I am the victim. Why can Brielle, the criminal, leave, but I can't? Did you accept her bribe?"

The police officer snapped, "Please pay attention to your words. If you slander the police, you can be sentenced!"

"Someone has submitted the evidence of your crime. We are in urgent investigation. Once verified, we will officially arrest you and sue you in court!"

"If you have the truth of the crime, it is best to explain it yourself now. At that time, you can be punished lightly!"

Oliver's expression changed instantly, and his eyes began to panic.

But soon, he recovered and said loudly, "Don't try to trick me. I won't fall for it. I have never done anything that violates the crime. As the victim, you have locked me up for so long. Now you let go of the person who hurt me and continue to lock me up. You obviously took advantage of Brielle. When I get out, I will definitely expose you and sue you!"

The policeman shook his head and said, "You have the right to sue us, but now you don't take the initiative to confess the truth of the crime, and you still want to quibble and slander our police. After we investigate it, what awaits you will be severe punishment!"

The police officer did not say anything more. After getting someone to watch him, he left the interrogation room.

On the other side, Brielle, Fleo and Kayden left the police station and drove to a nearby restaurant to eat.

Before the food was served, Brielle looked at Fleo and asked curiously, "What evidence did you submit to the police?"

Fleo smiled and said, "Last night, after you said that person followed the girl to take photos, I asked Paul and the others to investigate. Generally, people who took the risk to take photos outside are all profitable. They will send videos or pictures to some websites and let others pay to watch them. Or someone pays the money to make a theme, and he will take the order. and do it according to the theme."

"Paul and the others investigated the whole night and found something useful."

"That Oliver, he has benefited from taking photos for three years. The profit is tens of millions, and there are many victims.

"In addition to taking photos, there are also other criminal acts. If there are no accidents, he will spend his whole life in prison."

Brielle's eyes showed a trace of surprise. "My goodness, he has committed a lot of crimes."

Fleo smiled and said, "Sister, you are really amazing. She caught a criminal with a casual grab and I will reward you with a big chicken leg

At this time, the food had already been served, and Fleo casually picked up a big chicken leg for Brielle.

“Little brat, don’t use this kind of coaxing tone to talk to me.” Brielle knocked his head.

Fleo: “Didn’t you use the usual coaxing tone to talk to me?”

Brielle: “I am older than you, so I can naturally use it.”

Fleo: “You are only two months older than me.”

Brielle: “Two months older than you. You will be my younger brother for the rest of your life.”

Fleo snorted and did not argue with her anymore.

The scene of Brielle eating outside was quickly posted on the Internet.

From last night until now, the Internet had been discussing the matter of Brielle taking off other’s pants and making rumor of famous university students secretly taking photos in the night market. Everywhere was scolding Brielle.

Once this video was released, there were even more curses on the Internet.

What did the police do? Brielle took off other’s pants and even created a rumor. Does she not need to be punished for ruining other’s reputation? She was released so quickly?
]

[Conspiracy! There must be a conspiracy! Ask the top to investigate the Police Department severely!]

[How could she be released so quickly? I thought she would be detained for a few days. I underestimated Brielle’s background. I lost confidence in Oscus’ law...]

[It’s too chilling. The victim hasn’t been released yet, but the victim has already swaggered out of the city.]

[How can we trust the country and the law?]

[Brielle, go to hell. If I were nearby, I would definitely help the people get rid of you!]