

God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally

Chapter 50

Chapter 50

Brielle joked, "Now, Isn't there a lot of money in your pocket?"

"If I die and can't participate in the competition, how much will you lose?"

The man was silent for a long time before he said, "I can't make a decision. I'll discuss it with someone first. I'll contact you after 1 have an answer.

Brielle said, "I'll give you one and a half hours."

The man was flustered and exasperated. "How can we make it in half an hour?"

Brielle said, "That's your problem. You can solve it yourselves."

"If I don't get an answer in half an hour, I'll die for you to see."

The longer the time the more dangerous it got, they could dispatch people to assail her.

For example, forcibly kidnapping her.

or threatened her to participate.

Although those perverts were mainly concentrated abroad, they had connections and could bribe people here to kidnap her.

Therefore, she could not give them too much time to prepare.

The man roared angrily, "That is your own life. Do you think you can threaten me?"

"I'm telling you, don't try to threaten us. You don't have the right to fight us!"

"You better be obedient, or you will be the one who suffers!"

"Shut your shitty mouth. Why are you barking at your own God?" Brielle was annoyed.

"If you dare to yell at me again, I will kill your whole family before I die!"

"Don't think that just because I said a few good words to you, you can bully me like a soft persimmon!"

"You piece of shit, the powerful are the people behind you. Why are you so arrogant as a messenger?"

"Come and talk to me after you think it through!"

After that, she hung up the phone.

Then, she bent down and crawled on the ground.

She crawled from upstairs to downstairs, out of the villa, and into the garden.

"Brielle, you." Kayden came from the front. When he saw her posture, his face was shocked. He ran over and spoke.

But before he could finish his words, Brielle rolled on the ground and kicked Kayden.

Then she ran wildly on the grass, left hook, right hook, roundhouse kick, crossed the hurdle, pulled out a tree, and inserted it again into the pit.

Kayden, "..."

Wasn't she normal yesterday?

Why was it like this again today?

Who provoked her again?

He discovered a pattern. Only when Brielle was extremely agitated and impatient would she go crazy and release her emotions.

For example, in the forest, after being provoked by the monkey.

Also, at the press conference, when she was stopped and could not leave.

What about today?

Why was this?

At this time. Brielle was lying on the ground again and continued to crawl in darkness.

She crawled forward.

Backwards.

Sideways.

Kayden hesitated momentarily before crawling over to her on the ground.

He actually caught up to Brielle and crawled to her side.

It seemed that his talent was not bad!

"Brielle, who came to provoke you again?" Kayden asked as he crawled.

Brielle did not answer.

She crawled around, stood up, and clapped her hands.

"Already over?" There was some disappointment in Kayden's eyes, and he could only stand up as well.

Brielle said calmly, "I am training my body."

"Yes, I was training my body with you too just now." Kayden coughed lightly."

Brielle did not speak and walked back to the villa.

Kayden followed behind her.

"What are you doing here?" Brielle asked without looking back.

Kayden said, "Last night, you said that Extreme Survival's people have their eyes on you. I was worried about your safety, so I came to take a look."

Brielle, "Don't worry about me. I know what I'm doing."

Just as she finished speaking, the phone she had left in the villa rang.

Kayden consciously went to help her pick up the phone and handed it to her.

Brielle took the phone and answered the call.

The director's voice came through the phone again. "Ms. Brielle, I have contacted the investors. They all agree with your request. Who do you want to join? Tell me the list and I will arrange it immediately!"

Brielle sat on the sofa and collapsed on it. She said faintly, "The wind on the rooftop is so strong..."

"Please calm down, Ms. Brielle. Please don't jump!" The man suddenly stopped breathing.

"We have agreed to your request. Don't die!"

He had also seen Brielle's live variety show.

Brielle was a madman.

She could do anything!

So after hearing Brielle's words, he immediately became nervous, afraid that Brielle would really commit suicide.

If he messed up the matter, the group of investors would not let him go!

"Ms. Brielle, I apologize for my attitude just now. I'm sorry. I was too reckless and said something that made you unhappy."

"I will pay attention to my attitude in the future. Please forgive me and don't be impulsive. Don't joke about your life!"

Brielle, "Don't be so nervous. I'm a very easy person to talk to..."

The director heaved a sigh of relief.

Brielle said, "As long as you use scissors to cut your tongue in the middle, I will forgive your rudeness just now."

The director screamed in disbelief, "You... What did you say? Madman! You are a madman! I won't listen to you!"

Brielle said indifferently, "Oh, then I will jump."

"Don't jump!" The director shouted anxiously.

Brielle sighed, "You can't even do such a simple request. This makes it very difficult for me."

The director said in a quavering voice, "I only uttered a few words to you. Even if I was in the wrong, I shouldn't be penalized so severely!"

Through the phone, one could hear the fear in his voice.

Brielle, "Forget it, I'd better die. No one cares about my request."

The director was angry and scared.

"Is there no room for negotiation?" He was still making his final struggle.

"Yes," Brielle said with a smile. "I will die and your whole family will be buried with me."

The director took a breath and suddenly realized something. He asked in a trembling voice, "Who exactly are you? Why are you so clear about the forces behind the scenes?"

He was indeed just a messenger.

A chess piece without human rights.

If he messed up the matter, the forces behind the scenes would not hesitate to kill him to vent their anger, and his family would not be able to escape.

Brielle knew this, which was why she dared to threaten him with suicide!

The director could not help but clench his fists. Suddenly, he felt a chill down his spine.

Brielle laughed, "How could I know? I am just used to being arrogant."

Director, ...

Brielle said, "I'll give you three seconds to consider. Accept my conditions and send me a video call. I'll watch you cut it."

"Otherwise, don't delay me from jumping off the building."

The director gritted his teeth.

He had no choice!

Knowing he had to choose between cutting off his tongue or killing his entire family, he was clear on his decision.

Right now, he was filled with regret.

Why was he so arrogant towards Brielle in the beginning?

This time, he met an unreasonable madman, and the one who suffered was himself!

The director quickly sent a video call.

Brielle picked up but blocked the camera on her side.

A middle-aged foreign man with blond hair and blue eyes appeared on the screen.

He stared fiercely at the screen.

Although he had no choice but to submit, his heart was filled with resentment, and he glared resentfully at Brielle hoping it could kill her.

Brielle picked up an apple from the table, leaned on the sofa, and took a bite, waiting for his performance.

The director took a deep breath and picked up a pair of scissors.

Then, he pulled out his tongue, closed his eyes, and ruthlessly cut off his tongue from the middle.

"AHHH!!!!!"

With a scissors, blood spurted out.

The director knelt on the ground in pain, and the scissors fell to the ground.

He covered his mouth and rolled on the ground in pain.

Brielle opened the camera and said while chewing an apple, "I was just joking and you actually cut it, huh?"

The director looked at the phone screen with red eyes. Seeing that Brielle was not on the rooftop but was sitting on the sofa eating an apple, he was so angry that he almost fainted.

"You... you..."

He pointed at the screen, but he was in so much pain that he could not speak.

Brielle said with a forced smile, "You are really an obedient dog. You will listen to anyone who orders you."

"Since you are so obedient, I agree to your invitation."

"I will send you the list later."

After that, she decisively hung up the video.

"Why did you agree?" Kayden frowned. "You know that there is danger and you have been put on a bounty. You still want to go? Aren't you looking for death?"

He said earnestly, "Brielle, I know that you are not an ordinary girl. You are very capable."

"But the people who participated in that festival are not ordinary people too."

"Moreover, the rules inside are not transparent, and there are no bottom lines."

The public only saw eighteen seasons."

"The public is aware that the player with the most severe injury hails from our place, the retired soldier, but there are even more serious cases..."

Brielle turned her head to look at him and said nothing.

Kayden hesitated for a moment and finally made up his mind. His voice was gloomy. "I'll tell you the truth. I actually went to participate in 'Extreme Survival' too, but the season I participated in was not broadcasted on the Internet. The traces on the Internet were wiped clean, and now there is no trace of it."

"That season can be described as hell on earth..."

Brielle listened quietly without interruption, her expression unchanged.

She was a perfect listener.

After Kayden adjusted his mood, he continued,

"When I was sixteen, I went to take part in 'Extreme Survival'. At that time, some countries had two participants due to a change in the rules, and our area also sent two people there."

"Other than me, there is also a fifteen year old girl."

"That girl is very beautiful and very powerful."

"From the very beginning, she has always been the best. She has always been the best in any event. No one can compare to her."

"Even if the players from other countries want to gang up on her like before, it is useless."

"I originally thought that she would be the champion of that season."

"However, something like a nightmare happened..."

SEND GIFT

CO