

God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally

Chapter 60

“Have you been beaten silly?”

Brielle saw that Kayden was lying motionless and his eyes were a little silly. He couldn’t help but frown.

She didn’t hit his head either. How could he be stu pid?

Kayden returned to his senses and grabbed her ankle awkwardly.

He removed her foot from his chest and sat up calmly.

He said seriously, “I am not stu pid. If you don’t believe me, you can test me.”

Brielle: “What is the solution to the black hole information paradox?”

Kayden: “...”

Brielle: “Looks like you are stu pid.”

Kayden didn’t know whether to laugh or cry.

He sat on the ground and looked at Brielle. He asked curiously, “Why are your skills so powerful? I have always been very confident in my skills. I didn’t expect that I couldn’t beat you.”

Brielle said, “Whichever aspect you focus on, you will grow strong and healthy.”

“My hobby is to practice martial arts. I spend a lot of time every day to practice, so my physical strength and martial arts will naturally be better.”

“Your focus is on business, so your business level is high.”

“You can use your spare time to practice to this extent. It is already a surprise of your talent.”

Kayden shook his head and sighed. “I’m still far from you.”

Brielle smiled. “You can’t be too greedy. You’re not the darling of the G od. You can’t expect to be first in every aspect.”

“Although I am strong, I do not know how to do business. Even if I have learned other things, I am not particularly outstanding.”

The G od is very fair. Whichever aspect you invest the most, you will be stronger.”

“I did not expect you to be so young, but you can see it clearly.” Kayden also smiled.

“When I was your age, I always dreamed of becoming an all-rounder.”

“Don’t make it seem like you’re much older than me.” Brielle glanced at him.

Kayden sighed.

Six years old.

Much older.

Brielle said, “Leave after you rest. Don’t disturb my practice.”

Kayden said, “It’s hard to improve by yourself. I’ll take you to a place where you can practice real combat.”

Brielle’s eyes lit up. “What are you waiting for? Lead the way!”

Chapter 60

Kayden drove the car and brought Brielle to an underground martial arts club.

As they walked inside, Kayden introduced them to her. “This is a place specially trained for the players who play black games. There are people from all walks of life. There are boxers, retired soldiers, and some folk experts.”

“By the way, there was another Olympic Muay Thai champion who joined last month.”

“They are all short of money, and they can’t find a place to make money, so they came to play the black game.”

“As long as they have the ability, they can millions of thousand dollars in one night. Once they come in, very few people are willing to leave.”

“But the risk factor is also very high. This is not like the performance game on TV.”

People often die in the arena here.”

Brielle nodded.

She and her brother had seen this kind of place for the black race.

Those who went to watch that kind of game were basically rich people.

They would invest in players.

Those who did not invest would bet on which one would win.

For them, this was the same as racing horses, fighting chickens, and other sports.

Even if the contestants were not beaten to death on the stage, if they lost, the people who invested in him and the people who placed bets on him would also vent their anger on him because they lost money.

Kayden continued, “You can choose some people who haven’t competed recently, or you can use their venue to train alone.”

“Don’t look for the people who are going to the arena tonight. I’m afraid you will beat them up.”

Brielle blinked and asked curiously, “Can I go on stage to fight?”

“Yes, yes. If a female player goes on stage, the audience will be very excited and the organizers will support you very much. You can sign up temporarily.”

“But it will be very miserable if you lose on the arena.”

“Because this is an irregular black competition, and the rules are not very friendly.”

The one who loses will be humiliated very badly.”

“It is light to strip naked and humiliate. I have seen people who lose forced to drink the urine of the winner.”

“There’s also...”

“Of course it’s not the kind of exploded matter that you think it is. It’s something that the audience threw on the stage to explode.”

Brielle said, “Then why don’t I just not lose?”

She could train and win money, which made it hard for her not to be moved.

Kayden frowned.

Brielle looked at him coldly. “Do you think I can’t beat those people?”

Chapter 60

Kayden shook his head. “Under normal circumstances, there should be no problem, but... this is a black competition. Forbidden medicines are allowed.”

“After they use the forbidden medicine, their physical strength will increase and their patience will become very strong. They won’t even feel pain.”

“The organizers do not limit the amount of medicine used. As long as the participant is not afraid of death, he can inject as much as he wants.”

Brielle said. “I’m not afraid. Help me sign up.”

“By the way, I don’t want to go on stage with my true face. Help me prepare another mask.”

Kayden wanted to persuade her, but seeing her determined look, he did not say anything in the end.

Brielle wore a mask and went to the training ground of the underground martial arts club.

There were many professional props here that could be used for training.

When she arrived, many people were training, and there was the unpleasant smell of sweat everywhere.

What surprised Brielle was that there were tigers, black bears, and other beasts in the field.

Those beasts were all locked in separate rooms.

When Kayden saw Brielle look over, he kindly explained, “The underground arena competition will occasionally hold a human beast competition.”

“But it has not been opened for nearly six months. No one dares to fight with the beasts.”

“The previous champion with ten consecutive championships started the Human-Beast Race Competition with confidence. He challenged the white tiger, but he was eaten to the point that not even his bones were left.”

The Human-Beast Race official gave 1.4 million dollars a guaranteed bonus, but with the bets placed by the audience, the reward for one match could at least exceed 14 million, which was very tempting.”

“How do you know so much?” Brielle looked at Kayden.

Kayden smiled and said truthfully, “When I went to participate in Extreme Survival, I didn’t get a bonus. After I came back, I always thought of ways to make money to start a business. I was accidentally dragged here to play for two years and earned the entrepreneurial fund.”

Brielle raised her eyebrows.

No wonder he was a businessman and had such good skills.

THE

Being able to stay in such a place for two years was enough to prove that his strength was not ordinary.

Brielle didn’t ask any more questions. She jumped onto a stage and began to train.

Kayden went to find the boss and helped Brielle register.

Of course, the name of the registration was made up.

There was no need to use her real name in a black match. He just needed to get a cool title.

Nine o’clock in the evening.

The competition officially began.

Brielle followed Kayden to the back of the arena to sit and prepare.

17:58 Tue, 22 Aug

Chapter 60

At this time, the host called out another player.

It was a muscular man who was 1.8 meters tall and weighed 120 kilograms.

The muscles on his body were dry and hard, and the blood vessels were clearly visible. He felt that his strength was almost. unable to wrap up.

This man’s name was Black Panther, and he had already achieved six consecutive championships.

In the past six months, he had been able to knock out all the challengers and defend the arena.

As soon as he entered the arena, there was another round of cheers and shouts.

“Monkey King is in trouble. Black Panther likes to strip his opponent naked after winning and carry his opponent to humiliate his opponent...”

“Oh, Black Panther, you can do it. Today, you have to strip off all your opponents!”

“Just thinking about it makes me excited. The Monkey King has such a good figure. Of course, everyone will watch it together!”

The host said, “Now is the time to bet. The bet will end in ten minutes. The competition officially begins!”

Everyone began to place their bets.

Almost everyone bet that Black Panther would win.

Not a single person bet on Monkey King.

In the last minute, someone bet that 14 million dollars bet on Monkey King to win.

Everyone couldn’t help but laugh at him. “Which boss has so much money to do charity like this?”

“The Monkey King can’t be a match for Black Panther.”

“There are too many fools with much money.”

Kayden sat in the audience and listened to others’ evaluation of him. His lips curled up.

He had confidence in Brielle.

He was going to make a lot of money tonight.

Because Kayden had made a big bet, the rest of the people also began to add bets in order to get more.

Tonight’s bet amount had actually exceeded the highest record in history!

When the bet was over, the referee announced the start of the match.

Black Panther raised his chin and looked at Brielle with contempt and disdain in his eyes.

“You are no match for me. If I attack you, I only need to use 10 of my strength and you will be cri ppled by me.”

I am a friendly person to women. As long as you kneel down and admit defeat and crawl under my cro tch, I won’t do anything to you. I will let you walk down the stage completely!”

After that, he opened his legs and waited for Brielle to crawl under his cro tch.
