

God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally

Chapter 94

Chapter 94

"Brielle is definitely Monkey King! That's why Master Tiger ran away when it saw Brielle who kicked its anus and crushed its dick. Otherwise, it wouldn't be able to explain Master Tiger's reaction!"

"Ah, is Brielle poisonous?"

"She is a dream destroying master!"

"When she participated in 'Wilderness Survival', I was attracted by her beauty and character at first. I searched all her materials overnight. Phone's screen was replaced with her beautiful photos, treating her as a goddess. I thought that after the program ended. I would find an opportunity to get to know her. However, the next day, she suddenly crawled all over the forest to chase after the monkeys, destroying my fantasy of the goddess on the spot."

"After all, I just fell in love with her, so I didn't feel too bad. I also have the goddess of racing, God J. I switched phone's screen back to God J overnight.

"As a result, in a few days, it was actually revealed that God J was Brielle!"

"The second dream was shattered."

"I was depressed and wanted to go to the underground martial arts club to see the competition to adjust my mood. Then I saw Monkey King. I was instantly attracted by her strong demeanor and silently regarded her as a new goddess. During this time, I went to the underground martial arts club every day to see her."

"In the end, Monkey King is actually Brielle as well"

"Brielle, are you poisoned?"

Not just him.

Tonight, over a hundred mansions all let out the same roar and exclamations.

This big white tiger was too easy to recognize.

Combined with the big white tiger's attitude towards Brielle, coupled with the fact that Brielle's figure was very similar to Monkey King's, some of her actions were also similar to Monkey King's... like crawling.

Therefore, those who had watched the match quickly guessed that Brielle was the Monkey King who shocked the entire audience that night.

"Brielle, quickly tell me, how many identities do you have that no one knows? Tell me quickly, I will give up the dreams that I should give up, so as not to break my dreams again in the future."

"Brielle, it's not enough for you to destroy God J. Now, you have ruined Monkey King. You are too vicious!"

"Brielle, I beg you. In the future, just walk on two legs, okay? As long as you pay attention to your image, I can continue to treat you as a goddess..."

"Why is a female star so good at fighting? I don't understand, I don't understand at all!"

Brielle had no idea how many young men in love were collectively "lovelorn".

The big white tiger did not know that it made many people who once respected it feel speechless.

At this time, in the forest, the big white tiger rested for a while and felt that its teeth did not hurt so much. It eagerly went to pick up a branch and threw it in front of Brielle.

This time, it learned to be clear and picked up a branch that was slightly thicker than an upright ape's arm. This way, would not have to be torn to the teeth.

Chapter 94

The other two little tigers still wanted to play, but they were mercilessly sent flying.

The love and worship in the female tiger's eyes gradually disappeared.

Now it seemed that its genes were not very good.

While Brielle was playing with the big white tiger, Lov and Tana had already roasted the deer meat.

"Brielle, it's time to eat. Lov called out.

He was already numb to the way Brielle and the big white tiger interacted.

Brielle threw the branch out and said to the big white tiger, "You can play by yourself."

The big white tiger lay on the ground, bored.

When Brielle finished eating, it immediately ran to her with a branch in its mouth.

"I just finished eating and wanted me to exercise. Do you want me to have a stomachache?" Brielle slapped it.

"Sit behind me and let me lean on you."

The big white tiger grunted twice and reluctantly sat down.

Brielle treated it as a chair and leaned on it. She reached out and touched its head.

The big white tiger subconsciously pushed her hand away.

How could a mere upright ape touch a tiger's head?

Only after it was pushed away did it feel a little comfortable.

It was not sure and then it tried it again.

However, Brielle only touched it with her hand, and after it was pushed away, she did not continue to touch it.

The big white tiger glanced at her hand and then used his head to put her hand on his head.

As a king, he had to fight for what he liked. Only then would he have the demeanor of a king.

Brielle paused and turned to look at the big white tiger.

Facing its fierce and expectant eyes, Brielle smiled and scratched its head.

The big white tiger turned its head and let her touch its head in all directions.

The female tiger at the side looked at the big white tiger indifferently, but the gaze she looked at Brielle with gradually became worship.

She could suppress such a terrifying big white tiger and play it in the palm of her hand, proving that she was stronger than the big white tiger.

What a good gene...

Brielle stroked the big white tiger while looking at the starry night sky.

When she was almost done digesting it, she planned to lie down on the big white tiger and sleep.

The big white tiger was soft and more comfortable than lying on the ground to sleep.

But at this moment, the female tiger suddenly ran in front of her with an underage wild boar in its mouth.

It placed the wild boar in front of Brielle, then turned around and faced her with its buttocks sticking out.

Brielle: "..."

It was courting her?

She knew that some beasts would send prey to the other party when they were courting. Generally, when they accepted prey, they accepted the other party's courtship request.

However, it was usually given to females by males, and only a few females would take the initiative to pursue males.

However, those all happened on animals.

But she was a human!

And she was a real female!

Don't be too outrageous!

It was one thing to make love to someone from a different species, but to actually cross gender?

[Hahaha, so interesting! That female tiger actually courted Sister E. I could have laughed for the rest of my life at Sister E's speechless and dumbfounded expression!]

[Hahahahaha, how am I supposed to sleep when I see such a funny scene in the middle of the night? I am full of energy from laughing!]

[This is too outrageous. How did this little female tiger change its target from a big white tiger to Sister E? What kind of play did it play in its heart? It suddenly ran to Sister E to make love and burned my brain...]

[Why does this little female tiger not look very smart? I originally thought that the big white tiger was stupid enough, but now there is an even more silly one. Even the species and gender of the target are confused. Hahahaha.]

[Could it be that it saw that the big white tiger was trained by Sister E like a kitten and thought that Sister E was stronger than the big white tiger, so it changed the target of the love to Sister E?]

[Hahahahaha, does Sister E carry a BUFF that drops animals intelligence? When animals get close to her, their IQ will drop?]

[I think so. The group of monkeys from last time were very smart. Sister E taught them to find herbs, and they could remember it and send gifts to Sister E. I think that the tiger's IQ was low to begin with. Plus, after being hit head by Sister E so many times, it became even more stupid.]

[Hahahahaha Sister E, hurry up and go! Don't hurt the little female tiger's heart!]
