

God, the Real Miss Hated Everyone Equally

Chapter 97

Chapter 97

Xiu

Three arrows were shot out in a row.

They were all aimed at Brielle.

Jeb1 had an excited smile on his face.

Although these three arrows were not aimed at Brielle's vital points, as long as they were shot, Brielle would lose her fighting strength and could only be humiliated by him!

Behind him, Deadie was also very excited.

Brielle had caused them to escape for a night and suffered such a great humiliation. This time, they could finally get back!

However, just as he felt that victory was in his grasp, the big white tiger carried Brielle and quickly jumped to the side.

The three arrows brushed past Brielle and hit the tree behind her.

Jeb1 was so angry that he wanted to continue to attack.

But at this moment, several tigers rushed out from different directions, roaring fiercely and rushing towards them.

If Jeb1 continued to attack Brielle, he would not be able to avoid the attacks of these tigers.

He could only retreat quickly.

When he retreated, he inevitably revealed himself from behind the tree.

Brielle took advantage of this opportunity to draw her bow and shoot at him.

Jeb1 also reacted quickly. Without hesitation, he reached out and pulled Deadie in front of him.

"Ah —"

Deadie was shot in the shoulder by an arrow and screamed in pain.

Jeb1 pushed him away and took the opportunity to retreat and escape.

The speed of those tigers was very fast.

In the blink of an eye, it was right in front of him. He bit Deadie's leg and dragged him to the ground.

"Jeb1, save me..." Deadie shouted in horror.

However, Jeb1 was too busy to care about himself and had no time to care about him at all.

Seeing that a tiger was about to pounce on him, he immediately took the crossbow and shot it at the tiger.

"WhooshTwo arrows were shot into the tiger's body.

Because the distance was too close, the arrows entered in tiger's body more than half.

The tiger howled in pain and its huge body fell to the ground.

At the same time Jeb1 shot an arrow at the tiger, Brielle pulled the bow back and shot another arrow at him.

The arrow hit Jeb1.

But the arrow did not enter Jeb1's body.

The arrow hit Jeb1 and fell to the ground.

Brielle narrowed her eyes and did not waste any more arrows.

Jeb1 and the others all ran away.

Only Deadie was shot by an arrow and his leg was bitten by the tiger. He could not escape even if he wanted to.

Brielle patted the big white tiger and motioned it to move forward..

She did not immediately pay attention to Deadie. Instead, she went to check on the tiger that had been shot.

The tiger lay on its side on the ground, gasping for breath.

The two arrows had been inserted diagonally from its right shoulder blade.

Brielle reached out and touched it.

It did not hurt the internal organs.

However, this kind of arrow had a reverse hook on the arrowhead, so it was not easy to take it out.

If it was pulled out forcefully, the skin would split open, and if it was not careful, the blood vessels would be broken. resulting in a great loss of blood and death.

If it was surgery, there was no anesthetic in the wild, no sterilized environment, and even no scalpels.

However, if she didn't help the tiger take out these two arrows, as the tiger moved, the arrows would sink deeper and deeper, eventually injuring the internal organs, and it would still die.

Brielle looked up at Deadie.

The katana that Fukuyu gave Jeb1 was now on Deadie.

Because Jeb1 had gotten the crossbow and was covered with arrows, there was no place to put the katana, so he gave the katana to Deadie.

Brielle walked over and took the katana.

After thinking for a moment, she made a decision in her heart.

If she didn't take this arrow out of the tiger's body, it would definitely die. But if she helped take the arrow out, it may also die. After all, there was no scalpel to be used. Using the tools in hand, the wound would be very large, and there would also be risks.

However, she had no other choice but to take this risk.

Brielle first went to the forest to find some herbs and mash them.

Then, she asked Lov to bring over the rope that they had taken away before and tie up the injured tiger.

Then, she asked the big white tiger to come over and hold down the little tiger so that it could not struggle.

The big white tiger sat on the ground, one paw pressing down on the tiger's head and one paw pressing down on its butt.

Brielle used the katana to scrape off the fur on the tiger's body where it had been hit.

Then, she took out the medical kit that she had picked up yesterday.

Chapter 97

She found a small bottle of iodine from it and briefly sterilized the wound and katana.

That little bit of iodine was only enough to disinfectthe tip of the knife.

Then Brielle cut open the wound and checked the route of the arrow into the body to see if it was next to the blood vessels.

The little tiger cried out in pain and kept struggling, but it was firmly pressed by the big white tiger and could not move at all.

Brielle checked it and found that it could not hurt the blood vessels, so she quickly pulled the arrow out.

When the arrow was pulled out, there was some minced flesh on the arrowhead.

The stitching had already been used on Fukuyu yesterday, so there was no way to stitchup the tiger's wound.

Brielle pressed the wound for a while and then wiped the herbs.

After dealing with all this, Brielle said to the big white tiger, "Tell it to lie down and don't move for the next three days. Don't move violently for the next seven days. Otherwise, the wound will split open and if no one help it deal with the wound. It will die."

"Leave two companions to guard it. They are responsible for feeding and protecting it."

The big white tiger began to call out to his little brother.

[I'm stunned. Under such conditions, Sister E dared to perform surgery on the tiger. She is really bold and skilled...]

[The little animals in the wilderness are so pitiful. Even if they are injured, they don't have anesthetics to help them. The little monkey from last time and the tiger this time, even I feel pained looking at it... However, there is one thing to say. Sister E's heart is really strong. The tiger cries out heart-wrenching and she doesn't even frown.]

[No one found it strange. Why did Jeb1 have a crossbow? Before the program started, the program team had said that except for the players who obtained the weapon at the beginning, the rest could only enter the forest empty-handed. However, there were no crossbow arrows among the weapons at that time.]

[It's shady! It's definitely shady!]

[Isn't this show too disgusting? It actually secretly gave Jeb1 weapons, and even gave such a strong repeating crossbow. How are the other players going to play?]

[[I suspect that the program team deliberately targeted Sister E and secretly gave Jeb1 that weapon!]

[Just now, Sister E clearly shot Jeb1, but the arrow could not penetrate his body. He is obviously wearing a bulletproof vest. There must be a conspiracy!]

[There are some people who think too much of a conspiracy theory. Don't think so badly of the program team. Moreover, 1 studied abroad in Widi and felt that Widian is good and kind. The air here is sweet and fragrant. I believe that Jeb1 will definitely not do anything dirty. That crossbow may have been picked up by him in the forest.]

[Brielle really makes me speechless. She found a group of animals to help her and finally made the tiger hurt. If the tiger died, it was all her fault...]

[That's right. Her own strength is not good. She can only rely on her talent of communicating with animals to cheat. She let animals help her and hurt the animals so badly! If she is not strong enough, don't participate the program. She is really a harmful monster!]

In the forest.

After dealing with the tiger, Brielle walked in front of Deadie.

Deadie was so scared that he stumbled backward.

"You... Don't come over. I give up the competition..."

"Bang!"

Brielle kicked him in the face and interrupted him.

"Ah...!"

Deadie spat out a mouthful of blood and several teeth popped out of his mouth.

"What did you say? I didn't hear you clearly." Brielle said with a smile.

AFUR AIM