

Read Novel Mission To Remarry Chapter 2036

Mission To Remarry Chapter 2036-“What do you mean by that, Roxanne?” Orchid scowled.

Suddenly, she noticed Lucian and was startled. “This is...”

After all, Lucian had a presence that no one could ignore.

Even though Orchid often attended high-class events and thus had witnessed plenty of prominent figures before, she still couldn't help but marvel at his elegance.

When she saw Lucian standing so close next to Roxanne, her heart was filled with disbelief.

“He's my husband, Lucian Farwell,” replied Roxanne plainly.

Orchid's eyes were filled with shock. So, the news I heard in Dartan is true! Roxanne did remarry her ex-husband. I also heard her ex was a mogul, but I didn't expect him to be this handsome.

Envy flooded her heart as usual. Why is Roxanne constantly blessed by fate? In terms of medical skills, she's better than me. Among Mr. Lambert's three students, only she learned the fastest and understood the most. Even he praised her for surpassing him in acupuncture! When it comes to research and development of techniques, she's always one step quicker than everyone else. Each time she attempted something risky, it would pay off fabulously for her! Now, I learned that she has a husband that anyone would be jealous of. How infuriating!

“Greetings, Mr. Farwell! I'm Roxanne's senior, Orchid Downey.” Politely, Orchid stretched her hand toward him to shake his.

However, Lucian nodded coldly and reluctantly. “Nice to meet you, Ms. Downey.”

It was evident he didn't like her much.

Awkwardness flashed past her face before she turned to Roxanne with knitted eyebrows and questioned, “What's going on with this situation today? You have some explaining to do.”

It was taboo for a chief to disobey the company's orders with their employees, regardless of what company they belonged to.

Upon sensing Orchid's intention to corner her, Roxanne changed her demeanor and replied slowly, "I'm sorry, but you didn't tell me you were coming. So, it wasn't the research institute staff member's fault for not recognizing you all. Besides, you would've tried to investigate the information immediately. An act like that would've caused an uproar in other companies!"

A gloomy expression was set on Orchid's countenance. I can't believe she's arguing with me, even though she's usually obedient!

Then she spoke confidently. "The company and our mentor sent me to conduct this surprise investigation. Therefore, you obviously wouldn't have been notified of this beforehand. Please announce to everyone that my team will helm the research institute from now on!" Mr. Lambert has always been Roxanne's weakness. She should obey me now that I've brought him up.

However, she was incorrect in her assessment again.

Roxanne turned to Lucian, saw the look of encouragement in his eyes, and replied, "I'm sorry, Orchid, but I can't execute the company's order. There are still many things that haven't been discussed clearly yet. I won't hand over the research institute until then."

Disbelief colored Orchid's countenance.

She gritted her teeth and questioned, "Are you planning to ignore Mr. Lambert's order?"

Firmly, Roxanne responded, "Perhaps. We should discuss this in more detail. If we can satisfy both parties, I'll cooperate."

Read Novel Mission To Remarry Chapter 2037

Mission To Remarry Chapter 2037-Even though it has only been a year since we met each other, I can tell Roxanne has undergone massive changes. Did she become courageous because she renewed her relationship with her ex? Also, I should've thought about Farwell Group when she mentioned her husband's name was Lucian Farwell. Now I remember who he is. He's currently the number one businessman in the country. Even though he never showed up on the ranking of the wealthiest men in the country, everyone knew the throne belonged to him. Even major corporations and bigwigs in Epea had to respect him. I'm equally shocked and envious of Roxanne. How can she be this lucky? She doesn't deserve it! I refuse to yield to her! Stifling her rage, Orchid demanded firmly, "I don't think there's much to discuss. If you truly plan to oppose Mr. Lambert's arrangement, then there's nothing else I can say. Leave this place with your people now!"

She thought that would be enough to scare Roxanne away.

Instead, Roxanne replied calmly. "I'm not the only person involved in this matter. Thus, I will hold my ground until the end. If you don't want to have any discussions, then that's for the best. Please leave now. I won't send you out." I'm not doing this just for myself. I need to consider Colby's, Old Mr. Lomax's, and others' futures, too. If I hand over the research institute to Orchid, she'll remove anyone who opposes her.

Orchid's expression froze when she heard that.

Gritting her teeth, she squeezed her words out in a frigid tone. "It seems like you no longer respect Mr. Lambert."

"I'll explain the situation to him." Roxanne then ignored Orchid, turned to Colby and Peregrine, and nodded.

Basically, she was telling them to return to the research institute and pay no mind to the visitors.

It was Orchid's turn to suffer.

Originally, she planned to rid of the existing managerial team. She didn't expect to face such fierce resistance. If I give up now, I'll embarrass myself! I can't help but regret not accepting Roxanne's proposal. I should've listened to what conditions she had. If they weren't too extreme, I could've agreed to them.

From the corner of her eye, she saw Lucian smirking at her, making her panic even more. Roxanne played me like a fiddle! If I return like this, no one in the company will listen to me anymore!

Swallowing her pride, Orchid requested, "Roxanne, wait. Perhaps we should discuss this. It's my fault for being rash."

After taking a few steps away, Roxanne turned and faced Orchid composedly. "Is that so? In that case, please come to my office, Orchid. We'll discuss things there."

Then she approached Peregrine. "Old Mr. Lomax, please ask everyone to return to their stations and continue their good work. I'll definitely negotiate an outcome that everyone will find acceptable."

While Peregrine was put at ease by her promise, he still couldn't help but remind, "This research institute is your sweat and blood, Roxanne. You should think more for yourself. We never worry that there'll be a crisis. After all, the reward from Flora Verba Group is enough. Every technician is grateful for you from the bottom of their hearts."

Feeling touched, Roxanne nodded.

Peregrine then led everyone back to their posts while Roxanne took Orchid to her office.

Suddenly, Colby grabbed Lucian's arm and informed, "Ms. Jarvis asked me to take care of something earlier, Mr. Farwell. I need to handle it now, and I hope you can help."

Without waiting for an explanation, Lucian nodded swiftly

Read Novel Mission To Remarry Chapter 2038

Mission To Remarry Chapter 2038-Boiling hot water and preparing the coffee bean, Roxanne went through the actions leisurely after sitting in her office.

Nobody else followed them into the room as Orchid sat opposite her. As the two ladies took their seats, they watched each other as frostiness appeared in Orchid's eyes.

"Roxanne, tell me your conditions. What do you want me to do for you to give the research institute to me? You're married into a wealthy family now. You don't need to work so hard on your career, so let's hope your conditions won't piss me off!"

Roxanne kept quiet, as if she didn't hear Orchid's words at all.

Feeling agitated, Orchid fumed, “Why? Are you fooling around with me? Don’t forget that it was me who helped you when you were in Epea. Without my help, you would have to sleep on the street and beg for food!”

Roxanne stopped cleaning the coffee cup. She looked at Orchid and nodded. “I’ll always remember the kindness you’ve shown me. That’s why I didn’t hesitate to give you the other research institute. And I don’t think I’ll have to repeat the great profits that research institute brought to GK Group.”

Orchid was stunned. She couldn’t find the words to retort. Just like Roxanne had stated, the research institute that she gave to Orchid previously had marketed much new medicine. These medicines contributed to nearly one-third of the profits earned by GK Group.

“So?” Orchid asked.

“Nothing. Since you mentioned the kindness you had shown me, I told you what I did to express my gratitude in return. Even if what I did wasn’t much, at least I didn’t wrong you!” Roxanne answered calmly.

The water reached boiling point, emitting a whistling sound. Roxanne used the water to make espresso. Soon, a delicious coffee scent filled the room.

She filled the cup to eighty percent full before motioning for Orchid to take it. “Orchid, have some coffee first.”

The woman hesitated for a moment before reaching out to take the coffee cup.

/ can’t read Roxanne at all. When did this calm and relaxed manner others start showing itself?

Obviously, Roxanne didn’t tell Orchid that Lucian taught her current behavior. Whether it was a business deal or a negotiation, drinking coffee calmly before the opponent would give them immense pressure indirectly.

“Let’s be straightforward! What do you want? Give me a number. How much grant funds do you want? How many benefits are you trying to seek for your staff?” Orchid urged anxiously, unable to withstand the pressure anymore.

Roxanne knew it was time to make her next move. She spoke slowly. “Yes, the research institute belongs to GK Group. But then, we’ve patented so many products up until now. We couldn't return them just like that. After all, you should know that I rarely touch the funds given to me by GK Group since the day the research institute was founded."

"What do you mean? Are you saying you want to make these patented formulas yours?" Orchid immediately put the coffee cup on the table, nearly jumping out of her seat.

Then, her expression, which had just eased up moments ago, flashed with anger. "No way. I'll never agree to that. These patented formulas are precious to GK Group. Why don't you be straight with me? How much money do you need?"

Roxanne didn't react, ignoring Orchid's outburst.

Instead, she stated, "All right. Here's my requirement. We have thirteen patented products. We can only transfer four of them to GK Group directly. The fate of the rest has to be decided by the high-level management of the research institute, and we have to find a way to enter a cooperation-sharing model with GK Group."

Orchid thought her ears were playing tricks on her. It took her a few seconds to understand what Roxanne was saying. Instantly, anger filled her as she jumped up from the seat. "No way! I'll never say yes to that condition. This is not a discussion. You are merely trying to extort me!"

Read Novel Mission To Remarry Chapter 2039

Mission To Remarry Chapter 2039-Roxanne sneered when she heard the word "extort."

The technical personnel and I spent countless days and nights, not eating or sleeping, to achieve those results. What does she mean that I'm trying to extort her?

Even though she was disappointed by Orchid's reaction, Roxanne knew how the latter reacted was only average and nothing to be surprised about.

"Orchid, please give it some consideration. That's the best option I can think of. I won't back down even if you ask Mr. Lambert to advise me."

With that, Roxanne continued drinking her coffee in a relaxed manner.

“Listen here, Roxanne. I’ll never agree with the suggestion you gave. Never! If you insist on being stubborn, then go on. After all, if we follow the procedure strictly, all of you will have to leave the research institute sooner or later!” Orchid’s tone was vicious, hoping her remarks would change Roxanne’s mind.

However, no matter what she said, Roxanne was calm and unbothered. Roxanne’s reaction hurt Orchid’s pride significantly, causing her to lose her rationality slowly.

Just then, Lucian called out from outside the door, “Darling, I’m back!”

Orchid seethed with rage, jealous of how a successful businessman like Lucian would treat Roxanne with so much tenderness.

Lucian walked in, his eyes shifting from the frustrated Orchid to the calm Roxanne, knowing that the negotiation might have fallen through. He smiled at Roxanne. “I’ve dealt with everything.”

Roxanne nodded, getting Lucian’s hidden message.

Then, she said to Orchid faintly, “Orchid, you are right. If we follow the procedure, the research institute belongs to GK Group. Okay. I’ve thought it through. I’ll hand the research institute to you after this.”

Orchid thought she was hallucinating. She stared at Roxanne warily, questioning, “What tricks do you have... up your sleeves?”

“Tricks? You’re the master in that. You always plant a whole team in the research institute in the most surprising way! If Old Mr. Lomax and the rest cooperated with you this time, you would have taken over those patented formulas!” A smirk appeared on Roxanne’s face.

/ have nothing to fear now that Lucian has settled everything for me.

“What’s the matter? You tried to convince me to hand over the research institute with multiple reasons just now. Now that I want to hand it over, you’re hesitating?”

Orchid had her doubts. But she nodded her head after a few moments of pondering. “All right! I was only waiting for you to say yes. Anyways, I don’t believe there’s any way you could mess with me!

After they settled things with Orchid, Roxanne and Lucian strolled out from the general manager's office leisurely.

Colby was waiting for them at the research institute's entrance. Facing Roxanne, he reported, "As instructed by you, I've temporarily transferred the nine patented formulas to a company arranged by Mr. Farwell. The seal is still with me. Do I need to return it to them?"

Roxanne felt relieved upon hearing Colby's remarks. Using the time difference as an advantage, Roxanne stalled for time by asking to negotiate with Orchid. That way, Lucian and Colby would have enough time to transfer the patents.

She knew all too well that she had nothing to discuss or negotiate with the money-minded Orchid ultimately.

"It's not a big deal to return them the seal and the research institute because we can purchase those scientific research equipment any time! Colby, please inform Old Mr. Lomax that he should play along with everything Orchid says and get all the benefits he should get. Then, they can resign individually and head to work at the research institute owned by Flora Verba Group!"

Colby nodded his head, turning around and walking into the research institute.

A smile crept into Lucian's face when he witnessed how swift and decisive Roxanne was when dealing with Orchid and GK Group.

I would do the same thing, too, if I were in her shoes.

"Your business skills are getting better and better, Darling!" Lucian caressed Roxanne's head with his huge hand.

Roxanne smiled happily. "Of course! I've been learning all this while!"

Read Novel Mission To Remarry Chapter 2040

Mission To Remarry Chapter 2040-Meanwhile, at the manager's office, Orchid was deep in thought. Suddenly, she thought of some crucial details, panicking.

The woman immediately got her subordinates to delve into the research institute's patented formulas. In the end, the result came back. There were only four patented formulas left.

Moreover, these four patented formulas had been given to authorized patent agents, a way Roxanne had used to earn enough cash flow.

“D*mn it! This means I got myself a pretty much useless research institute!” A furious Orchid scolded her subordinates loudly. “What a bunch of losers!”

I’ve should have gotten our hands on the patented formulas right away! Now it’s all gone!

These so-called high-level management teams were simply a group of losers to her now.

She trembled angrily while her subordinates remained silent, not daring to talk back.

At that precise moment, Colby knocked on the door.

The door was actually ajar. He had witnessed everything that went down in the room because he stood outside, unwilling to interrupt, for he wanted to see more of their despair.

But then, he decided to get things done. Colby walked over to Orchid respectfully, “Ms. Downey, this is the resignation letter of the research institute’s person-in-charge, Ms. Jarvis, and here’s my resignation letter. I’m honored to work with GK Group before this. However, due to some health concerns, I can no longer work competently in my position, so I hope you will approve my resignation!” Colby announced his high-sounding justification for leaving the company.

Orchid’s gaze shifted to the two resignation letters, gritting her teeth. She was so angered that her heart thumped wildly.

“Very well. I approved your resignation!” She peered at Colby with disgust, waving her hands to dismiss him.

Colby was not ignorant enough to linger. He put the company seal in front of Orchid before leaving.

“Roxanne, you’re quite something! It looks like I was foolish enough to believe you!”

Colby closed the door as he stepped out of the room. Unfortunately, Orchid's raging, thunderous words boomed through the door that one could even hear her from far away.

It was dusk when the newly-resigned Colby arrived at the Flora Verba Group CEO's office to apply for his new job.

During that period, James listened to Colby recounting everything that went down earlier. He couldn't help but cheer for Roxanne's tactic of pulling the rug from underneath Orchid and attacking her where she least expected.

"That's why I can only work for you from today onward. Please take good care of me, Mr. Lann!"

Colby returned to Flora Verba Group first to prepare for the reopening of the research institute by the company. That way, when Peregrine showed up for work with the rest of the technical personnel, they would have a familiar face to turn to.

"Please don't be so courteous with me, Colby. You're an exceptionally talented man with excellent technical skills and fantastic business operation ability! I would have given you this position even if I didn't owe Roxanne anything, to begin with!" James said seriously. After all, he had a family business to inherit.

"I'll follow your arrangements, Mr. Lann." Colby smiled.

"Okay. Here's the deal. You are the vice president of Flora Verba Group from today onward! You will need to help me out, okay? Don't just focus on the matters related to the research institute only!" Thrilled, James took the chance to share his burden with Colby.

His announcement took Colby by surprise. Colby had never expected himself to be given such a high position. He thought he would only be a supervisor after creating the research department.

"Hmm... Mr. Lann, do you want to think this through? Or maybe you should inform Ms. Jarvis first?" Colby was flattered beyond words.

James shook his head, waving his hands dismissively. "Even though she is the chairman, I have the right to decide. It's a yes from me, so don't refuse anymore, okay? Flora Verba Group will have our independent research institute soon. Once the news gets released, our company shares will go off the charts!”