

Mission To Remarry Chapter 725

Chapter 725 Why Did You Not Pick Us Up

“What’s wrong?”

Noticing the grim look on her face, Jack frowned and inquired.

However, Roxanne just waved at him before throwing Jessica a glance.

Did Jessica do this on purpose? Why did she choose such a strong wine for dinner?

Nevertheless, when Roxanne didn’t notice anything amiss after drinking it, she wondered if she had been overthinking what was going on.

After downing two glasses of wine, the three of them fell into another awkward silence.

After all, the reason they were gathered was just to hear Jessica’s apology.

Cognizant of the tension, Jessica exchanged pleasantries briefly before getting up to take her leave.

Once she was gone, Jack turned toward Roxanne. “Are you hungry? Do you want to eat someplace else?”

them barely ate and wondered what sort of wine had Jessica ordered. Although she only had a small glass, the after-effects were her head with a frown. "It's fine. I should head back earlier anyway, as

Jack didn't insist and got up to the stairs upon leaving the restaurant,

and turned around to catch

Roxanne murmured before retracting her

a

they got into the car one after the other, Jack—who didn't drink—decided to drive Roxanne home

the way home, a black sedan followed them from a safe

attention entirely focused on Roxanne, Jack didn't notice

them less than ten minutes

me for not inviting you in," Roxanne explained in gave her a casual nod. "You should hurry back in. As for Archie and Benny's presents, I'll hand them over

smile, Roxanne

saw her go back in that Jack drove leisurely