

Mission To Remarry Chapter 795

Roxanne's car was nowhere in sight by the time Lucian drove out of her house. With a frown on his face, Lucian pulled over by the side of the road and gave Cayden a call.

Cayden was about to give Lucian a call as well, so he quickly answered the phone when it rang. "Hello, Mr. Farwell."

"Find out where Herbscape Group will be signing the contract with Damaris Group," Lucian ordered coldly. I can't believe I let her get away! I will not allow her to spend time alone with Jack without my supervision!

Cayden replied, "Mr. Elias wants to have a meal with you at the Twin Petal Hotel. He tried calling you, but you weren't answering your phone. So..."

The look in Lucian's eyes turned gloomy when he heard that. I think I know why Dad wants to see me. He probably wants to talk me into marrying Aubree. I just sent her over to their place yesterday, and now Mom sends Dad here to lecture me. That woman sure knows how to gain their favor!

him I already have plans for tonight," Lucian replied after giving it some thought. "Got it." Cayden hung up the phone and began looking up where Herbscape Group called Lucian back as soon as possible. "Herbscape Group and Damaris Group frowned after hearing that. "No, I'll head over right." Lucian then hung up the phone and drove straight to Twin Petal Hotel. Meanwhile, Roxanne's car slowly came to a halt to regain her composure before getting out of the car and walking up to them.

Jack replied with a casual smile. The three of them chatted away as they rode the elevator and headed over with three gentlemen dressed in suits. "Hello, Mr. Damaris, Mr.

After going through the contract one final time to make sure everything was correct, Jack, Roxanne, and Larry signed their names

she saw Jack chatting with the representatives from Herbscape Group. It reminded her of what Lucian
