

Mistaken Marriage, Unexpected Love

Chapter 104

Chapter 104 Retribution

"Let me go, Isaac!" Camila struggled to get out of his hold. But Isaac ignored her pleas and efforts. Instead, he wrapped her soft hand in his palm and brought his head down to grab her lips in a kiss.

If this had happened in the past, she would have definitely resisted. She was surprised by her own self when she stayed quiet and let him go on

She even closed her eyes and leaned in to the kiss. ' She had never felt this way before. As he touched her, she could feel something hot coursing through her body-- pleasure

His kiss was soft and demanding at the same time

It was difficult to pull away even if she wanted to

This was the first time Camila was giving in so easily.

Naturally, Isaac was greedy and wanted more than just a kiss

He devoured her lips with passion and tried to make her his own slowly

His finger tips fluttered against her collarbone and the next second, his hand was under her clothes, touching her skin. That desperate move however, was what brought Camila back to her senses. She jumped back away from him and pushed him slightly. "No..."

His eyes were still glazed over with passion as he looked at her. "You enjoyed it, didn't you?"

"No, I didn't!" She swallowed nervously

"Really?" Isaac went closer to her. He reached out and wiped the remnants of saliva that hung on her lips in a sensual manner

"Get out!" Camila's eyes wandered around, as if she felt ashamed of what she had done just now

How could she kiss him back so willingly?

Now she felt angry at her own self

Upon second thought, she thought she couldn't blame herself for this

She jutted her chin stubbornly at him and said more firmly,

"Don't get too close to me, and don't you dare try to seduce me again!"

She pinned the blame on Isaac. He had flirted with her, making her lose control

He looked at her and smiled charmingly

Camila swallowed again and tried to keep herself in check.

That little smile of his could have her falling all over again.

How could the man

have the most beautiful smile she had ever seen?

She looked away quickly before that smile could pull her in again. He definitely did that to seduce her again

Suddenly, a knock from outside interrupted them. "Sir, someone is looking for Madam downstairs." It was Glenda

"Who's it?" he asked

"He said he's her brother."

Camila frowned. "Aldrin?"

Aldrin had escaped after the hit and run, but luckily, no one was seriously hurt. Besides, Marvin had paid a lot of money to bail him out, so he only stayed in jail for two months

Isaac looked at Camila carefully. "Do you want to see him? If you don't, I'll ask them to send him away."

"I don't want to see him." Camila nodded with certainty

She didn't know much about her half-brother, nor did she have any connections with him

Besides, she hated his mother, Trudy. As a result, she had no reason to like him

So there was no point meeting him

"Send him away," Isaac said to Glenda

"Yes, sir," she answered and went back downstairs

Suddenly, thoughts of Marvin flooded her mind

He looked sick and emaciated that day. It was obvious that he wasn't doing well

She didn't know what was going on with him, and honestly, she didn't have to

After all, she hated him!

He used her!

She also hated him for cheating on her mother

Despite all these reasons, she was still a little worried about his health

He was still her family after all

Seeing the worried look on her face, Isaac said cautiously,
"I can bring him in if you want to see him."

"No, I don't." She shook her head

She wasn't sad because of Aldrin

Not long after, Glenda came back up and said from outside the door. "He has refused to leave. We drove him, but he came back and insisted that he wouldn't leave until he saw his sister."

Isaac strode to the door and opened it, ready to send Aldrin away on his own

"Let me just see him." Camila's soft voice stopped him

She wondered why Aldrin was so intent on seeing her

Seeing her struggling to stand up, Isaac went over and held her up

She still felt very uncomfortable with his touch, but she had no choice at the moment

She put her arms on his shoulders and held on

After they were both seated downstairs, Aldrin was brought in

"Camila," he called out affectionately once in the room

Expressionless and cold, she asked, "You asked to see me. Why?"

"You are a doctor, so you have to know many medical experts. Help me, please. Dad is seriously ill. If he isn't operated... He might die soon."

Aldrin broke into a sob

In that moment, the bright and jolly boy was gone

To be honest, Camila was a little shocked by this news. Although she had her suspicions, the confirmation shocked her

"What did the doctor say? What does he have?" she asked in a low voice

"Malignant brain cancer. They say it has already transferred to the lungs," Aldrin answered Camila's eyes went slightly wide. "What?"

"If you have connections, please, help find a good doctor for dad. Give him a chance to fight and make it," he repeated anxiously

However, Camila knew better. Advanced malignant tumours were nearly impossible to cure

Even if her father had the surgery, no matter how good the doctor was, his chances of recovery were rather slim

When she didn't say anything, Aldrin added, "What are you thinking about? Don't you want to save our father?"

"Go back first." Camila was still in shock. She needed time to process the news

However, Aldrin thought she was refusing to help out because she hated her father. With that thought, he lost it

"Yes, he forced you to marry a man you didn't love, but don't forget that he raised you. Now that he is sick and might die soon, are you really going to turn your back away from him? How can you be so cruel?"

"Turn my back away? Who do you think I am? God? He has advanced cancer! No one can help him!" she retorted just as heatedly Aldrin wasn't listening to her though. "You are heartless! If you don't save him, you'll go to hell!"

"Then let it be so! I don't care!"

"I'm angry and surprised by how heartless you can be. You wouldn't even have been here if it wasn't for our father. You ungrateful woman..."

Isaac frowned. Did this boy really think he would let him insult and scold his wife in front of him?

Isaac snorted and asked the servants to kick Aldrin out

Camila watched on in silence and didn't stop him

Aldrin was dragged out of the room cursing and struggling

As soon as he left, her cold facade seemed to collapse

She was a mess

No matter how much she hated Marvin, her heart ached after hearing that he was seriously ill

She did know an expert in this field. She took a few deep breaths to calm down and picked up the phone. She dialled a number, but no one picked up, so she let it go for now

"Do you need my help?" Isaac asked

"No," she said with a small shake of her head

Maybe it was better to visit this surgeon in person

She didn't want to bother Isaac with it though

He pursed his lips as he stared at her and said, "If you need my help then, just let me know, okay?"

Camila looked at him

She couldn't deny that she was moved by how much he seemed to care

He was so gentle. Who wouldn't fall for him? ™

She also had feelings for him, so she was scared that if they kept this up, she wouldn't escape him

She then lowered her head and said, "Thank you."

"You're welcome," he answered

It was strange how they suddenly became polite to each other

Somehow, the atmosphere between them wasn't as tense as before

They seemed to get along much better. 2

The next day, Glenda and the driver helped Camila into the car

She had to buy some gifts for the expert if she had to visit him, so she went to the shopping mall first

Fortunately, she now had a lot of money after selling the painting. She had to buy some valuable gifts that would show how sincere she was

She had heard that this expert loved drinking tea. She was going to buy a tea set. She chose a set of purple sand teapot which was very unique in shape. It was quite expensive too

"Pack them for me and swipe this credit card," she said to the saleslady, handing over the card Isaac gave her

The saleslady took the card respectfully

While waiting for her things and card, Camila asked, "How much is left in it?"

The woman looked at her in confusion and answered, "This card has no spending limit. You can buy anything you want." @

Camila was frozen for a moment in shock. What? That had to be wrong

"What did you just say? You mean... You mean I can get...

Anything I want?" @

--- The new chapters will update daily ---