

Chapter 206 Being Betrayed

"I'm sorry," Alick apologized.

When he looked up, he realized that the person in front of him was Camila. Immediately, he straightened his body and greeted her. "Nice to meet you, Mrs. Camila Johnston."

Meanwhile, Camila narrowed her eyes at the man.

She had no idea who he was!

How did he know her?

Not only that, he also called her by her first name.

Based on his appearance, he seemed older than her.

"And you are?" she asked.

"My name is Alick Bates. I've been abroad for a long time and I just came back," Alick introduced himself.

The reason why Isaac had asked him to come back was because many people didn't know him.

When Isaac had set up Mercury Corp in Clouland, he assigned Alick to be in charge of it.

He was more qualified than Willie, which meant his skills and abilities were far more superior than Willie's.

Otherwise, Isaac would've never let him work in the head office.

"I just had a talk with Mr. Johnston and was about to leave," Alick added, unsure whether Camila had understood what he meant.

Camila guessed that Alick was working for Isaac and they talked about something that had to do with the business of the company. However, she didn't know him at all.

Chapter 206 Being Betrayed

+120 Points at most

So, she smiled at him and said, "I see. You can go back to your work."

Alick nodded at her before heading out.

Not long after Alick left, Audrey received an email.

She thought it was a document related to the company, but when she opened it, she saw that it was a video of Gunter fooling around with another woman.

Although Audrey couldn't see the woman's face, she could clearly see her naked body as well as Gunter's face.

Since Audrey and Gunter had been sleeping on the same bed for many years already, she knew his body structure like the back of her hand.

Thus, she instantly recognized that that body belonged to Gunter.

When Audrey saw this, she was so consumed by rage that she found it hard to breathe. She clutched her chest and collapsed to the floor.

Thankfully, there was a servant nearby who was able to send her to the hospital.

As soon as Audrey woke up, she hurried back home.

Meanwhile, Gunter was feeling guilty about everything that had happened. So, to make up for Audrey, he had specially bought her a diamond necklace.

When he saw Audrey return, he flashed a wide grin and said, "Come here! I bought a gift especially for you."

Audrey clenched her fists. She couldn't stop her body from trembling.

Chapter 206 Being Betrayed

 +120 Points at most

She was aware that men were fickle creatures. They would easily abandon the old for the new. However, after so many years of being together, she thought that Gunter was different. She thought he would never betray her.

She thought even though she didn't make a lot of effort to maintain his feelings for her, he would still love her.

After all, they had been together for more than half their life!

But who knew that their relationship would end up like this?!

Just thinking about it made her feel so disgusted.

For Audrey, having an affair was the vilest thing a husband being could ever do.

She truly believed this in her heart.

Meanwhile, Gunter, who was still holding the delicate gift box, noticed that Audrey's face was a bit pale. He approached her and asked with concern, "Are you okay? You don't look well. Do you want to go to the hospital—"

A crisp slap reverberated across the room before he could finish his words. Audrey's palm stung as she stared daggers at Gunter.

Then, she slapped him again!

This one was louder and more powerful than the last.

Gunter couldn't process what was happening. "Audrey, what are you doing?!" he snapped at her as his cheeks burned in pain.

He was a man.

How could he allow a woman to slap him in the face?!

After all, a man's face was his dignity and lifeline!

Audrey scowled at him. "Are you going to deny it in front of me?"

As soon as Gunter heard this, a pang of guilt swelled in his heart. "What nonsense are you talking about? What did I do? Look! I bought this diamond necklace just for you—"

"You fooled around with another woman, and now, you're giving me a gift?! Are you doing this to make up for cheating on me?!" There was so much vitriol behind her words. Even though Audrey was a tough woman, she still burst into tears. Her heart was hurting and reeling from the betrayal. "I did everything for this family, for your son, and for you. And this is how you choose to repay me?! By betraying me?!" she roared.

Aurora grabbed his collar and wrapped it around her fist. There was a crazed look in her eyes. Right now, she didn't care about her image. She just wanted to know the truth straight from Gunter's mouth. "How can you betray me like this?"

When Gunter realized that his affair with Fidelia had been exposed, he didn't panic.

He played it cool and said, "I was just playing—"

"Playing?!" Audrey's face turned even paler. "Are you saying that I can play with a man, too?!"

Gunter's expression turned cold. "Don't go too far. You slapped me but I didn't fight back. How can you hit a man's face like that?!"

As soon as she heard this, Audrey felt her heart break in half. She could no longer stop the tears from streaming down her face.

She was the one who had gone too far?

The audacity of this man!

Audrey's heart was filled with so much hatred that all she could think about was stabbing Gunter to death.

Meanwhile, Gunter's patience was running out. Audrey's ferocious face made her look even uglier!

He didn't feel sorry for her when he saw her cry. In fact, he felt disgusted.

"You're no longer a little girl. Stop crying! Aren't you afraid that Travis might see you like this?!" Gunter wasn't in the mood to coax her. Besides, he knew it wouldn't work anyway. The best he could do was leave her alone and let her process this news by herself. "Don't worry. I still want you and this family. I'll come back when I've had enough fun."

As soon as Audrey heard this, a sneer formed on her face.

What did he mean?

Did he think that she was just going to forget about this and move on? How absurd!

"Aren't you afraid that Travis might find out? You're so shameless! What will your son think of you once he learns what you've done?!"

Gunter wasn't worried about this. After all, Travis was already aware about it.

"He knows," he admitted.

"What... What did you say?" Audrey couldn't breathe. She felt like her heart was being crushed as she clutched her chest in pain. She couldn't believe that Travis knew about it but didn't tell her.

Was she betrayed both by her husband and her son?

Instantly, her face turned ghastly pale. The air wouldn't enter her lungs. She began hyperventilating before passing out once again.

Seeing her reaction, Gunter was annoyed. He had been a good husband to her his entire life! What was wrong if he had another woman? Why was Audrey acting like this?

Of course, when Audrey needed help, he picked her up and sent her to the hospital. They had spent half of their life with each other, so he owed her this at the very least.

When he walked out of the door, he met Travis who had just returned.

Travis saw Audrey unconscious in Gunter's arm and asked, "What's wrong with my mother?"

"She's gone crazy," Gunter answered sourly.

"No." Travis knew that Audrey wouldn't pick a fight with Gunter for no reason.

He also noticed the palm prints on Gunter's face.

"Has my mother found out?" he asked.

Gunter snorted and didn't say anything. Instead, he just walked past him like he wasn't there.

Even though Travis felt livid, he knew that the safety of his mother was more important.

So, with the car key in his hand, he ran straight to the car and said, "Let's take my car."

After they arrived at the hospital, Audrey woke up.

Then, she underwent an examination, where it was discovered that she collapsed due to excessive anger. The doctor told her that anger wasn't good for her heart, and that she should learn how to better manage her emotions.

But how could Audrey not be angry?

How could she stand it?

"Mom..."

"You know it?" Audrey interrupted Travis. Her eyes looked frigid.

Travis sank his head in shame. "Yes... I know."

Once again, Audrey's face turned pale. She pointed at Travis with a trembling finger and said, "You didn't tell me. Do you also think that what your father did is right?"

"No!" Travis quickly answered. Then, he explained, "I ran into them in the mall. The only reason why I didn't tell you was because I knew you would be angry. It's not because I think my father is right. How could I think that? It's so obvious that he's the one in the wrong."

When she heard his explanation, Audrey felt a bit better. At least her son was on her side. However, as soon as she thought of Gunter bringing that bitch to the mall, her anger flared again. No matter how hard she tried to remain calm, her rage always took over her.

"You ran into them in the mall?" Then, Audrey turned her sharp eyes to Gunter. "What did you buy her?"

Gunter glared at his son and blamed him for speaking out of turn.

"Nothing..."

"Tell me!" Audrey shouted as she threw a pillow at him.

As soon Gunter felt the pillow hit his face, his expression turned gloomy. "Well, if you really want to know, then I'll tell you everything. I took her to many places and bought her a lot of things. I've spent an enormous amount of money on her! She's young, beautiful, and considerate. She's much better than you in all aspects! Are you satisfied?!"

"You, you..."

Audrey felt her chest tighten as her heart began to fill with anger once again.

Chapter 207 Have A Good Rest

Travis said to Audrey, "Mom, dad made a mistake. He will change."

Despite his comforting words, Audrey didn't feel any better. She would never be able to forgive Gunter even if he broke up with that woman and cut ties with her.

Audrey was a proud woman, who couldn't tolerate such a scandal that involved her marriage. However, since it had already taken place, there was nothing she could do.

She took a deep breath to calm herself down. Then, she asked, "Tell me, Gunter. Who is that woman?"

She had to know the woman who defeated her. What kind of woman had the nerve to steal her husband!

Seeing that Audrey didn't seem to be giving up anytime soon, Gunter was helpless.

Thankfully, his phone in his pants pocket rang, distracting both Audrey and Travis.

Both the mother and the son looked at the ringing phone and then at Gunter at the same time.

Feeling uncomfortable under their intense gazes, Gunter fidgeted slightly and averted his eyes from theirs.

He felt like he had committed a serious crime that could sentence him to death. But the situation didn't seem that serious. He just fooled around with a woman, and that was pretty normal for many big shots.

"With my social status, is it a big deal for me to find a woman?"

After saying that, Gunter turned around and walked out of the room.

Audrey was speechless upon hearing his response. All sorts of emotions surged up inside her, making her feel like screaming.

Travis was also furious. They were in the middle of talking, but Gunter left them without hesitation!

Who was it that made Gunter become heartless toward his own family? Travis wanted to follow his father and cursed, but he couldn't leave.

He was afraid that Audrey would faint because of anger. "Mom, don't worry. I'm on your side," said Travis, holding his mother's hands in his.

Audrey showed a weak smile at him and held his hands back tightly. Now that her husband had abandoned her for another woman, Travis was her only hope.

With her hands still in Travis', she said, "You must run the company well so that I can rely on you. Only in this way can I get even with your father, and I don't have to be so aggrieved. He really broke my heart. It hurts so much!"

"I know," said Travis softly. The sorrow he felt for his mother was greater than the anger he felt for his father. He didn't want to see his mother like that at all.

After leaving the ward, Gunter went straight to the stairway, where he could answer the call without letting anyone hear him.

"Didn't I tell you not to call me if it wasn't an emergency?" said Gunter. There was a hint of anger in his tone. He was, in fact, upset because of Audrey.

On the other end of the line, Fidelia whispered in a soft voice, "I just want to tell you something. I'm pregnant. I know you have a family and that you won't want this child. I'm going to the hospital to have an abortion. Don't worry about me. I'm still young and will recover soon..."

"What?!" Gunter interrupted her. His voice boomed in the stairway. For a moment, he thought he had heard it wrong. So, he asked her again, "You are pregnant?"

Before Fidelia could say anything, he continued, "Who said I don't want the baby? Who allowed you to abort it? No matter how young you are, abortion is harmful to your health. Don't go to the hospital. Wait for me. I'll come and see you."

Fidelia whispered, "Okay."

After hanging up the phone, Gunter walked back to the ward. But he didn't stop at where Audrey was and continued heading toward the entrance. He directly left his wife and son to see Fidelia.

From inside the ward, Audrey caught the sight of a figure passing by. She knew who it was and clenched her hands into tight fists.

Once again, she felt her heart break into tiny pieces. But she didn't cry and simply said, "Travis, go and find out who that woman is. I want all the information about her."

Travis nodded. "I will ask someone to..."

"Now!" Audrey lost control and growled at Travis.

Gunter was obviously seduced by that woman. She must be quite cunning to have him fall into her trap.

Audrey couldn't wait to know who that woman was. That was why she urged Travis to collect as much information as possible before he could say anything more.

Looking at his mother's desperate state, Travis was left with no option other than doing what she wanted right away.

He was quite an efficient son, and within a few minutes, he had found out everything about Gunter and Fidelia.

Travis had met Fidelia once. Ever since he realized that his father was having an affair behind Audrey's back, he had been paying extra attention on Fidelia. So, it wasn't hard for him to do some digging up.

Travis then gave Fidelia's information along with her photo to his mother. Audrey immediately caught the sight of a young beautiful girl, and her eyes widened.

Travis saw his mother's strange reaction and asked, "Mom, do you know this girl?"

Getting out of her daze, Audrey sneered, "I know her more than you think, Travis."

"What do you mean?" Travis was confused.

But Audrey didn't tell him in detail. She got out of her bed while saying, "I want to see her."

Travis didn't object and immediately followed suit. After all, he knew there was nothing that could stop his mother.

Travis was exhausted. As the only son of the family, he had too much on his plate. There were a lot of things he had to deal with at his company, and now, that cheating thing happened at home. Because of that, he felt helpless and ashamed.

Travis took Audrey to the place where Gunter and Fidelia had their rendezvous. Audrey looked up at the place and pursed her lips.

Audrey couldn't keep her temper in check. Fidelia was Gunter's mistress, and it seemed he was completely smitten by her. He even arranged a place in a high-end community for her.

Of course, that would make Audrey clench her teeth hard.

Meanwhile, Gunter went to the hospital with Fidelia for a pregnancy examination. The doctor told them that Fidelia really was carrying a baby in her womb.

When Gunter heard the news, he was over the moon. The truth was that he had never felt content with having a son only and wanted a daughter since long ago.

Unfortunately, Audrey was unwilling. She said her figure would be out of shape if she had a second child. She even said firmly that Travis was enough to inherit their properties.

With that, Gunter finally gave up. After a long time, he had even thought that he was incapable of having another child at his age.

But now that Fidelia was pregnant with his baby, he couldn't help but be overjoyed. How many people at his age could have their own children? With a child, his life would be active, and he would feel like he had returned to his youthful years.

His life in the past years was like a pool of stagnant water because of Audrey, who liked to control every aspect of his life.

However, Fidelia gave him a sense of burning passion. He didn't feel bored whenever he was with her. Fidelia would also act coquettishly and rely on him. That enabled him to regain his dignity as a man.

At that moment, Gunter came back to their secret place with Fidelia in his arms, and they ran into Audrey at the door.

Audrey was itching to rush over and slap Fidelia again and again. But she didn't and calmed her mind.

Besides, it was useless to slap Fidelia. In the end, Gunter would only find faults with her and coax his young mistress.

Only when Gunter found out how disgusting Fidelia was would he abandon that shameless woman.

"Gunter, I can tolerate you fooling around. We are old enough, and divorce will make us a laughingstock for others, after all. But do you know what kind of woman you are keeping? If you keep such a dirty woman like her by your side, you will not only put shame on yourself but also on the Johnston family..."

Gunter was in high spirits. So, he didn't want to hear Audrey badmouthing Fidelia.

He said indifferently, "Why don't you stay at home? Fidelia isn't

Chapter 207 Have A Good Rest

+120 Points at most

messing with you. Why do you have to slander her? Dirty? She is very pure, very clean, okay?"

After he finished speaking, he glared at Audrey.

Knowing that Gunter was on her side, Fidelia secretly showed a smug look before she leaned into his arms like a frightened kitten. "I'm scared, Gunter."

Gunter held her tightly and said, "Don't worry. I'm here."

Seeing everything, Audrey was at a loss for words. How could they be so disgusting?

Audrey held onto her last bit of propriety for a while. But after witnessing the two acting so lovey-dovey, she couldn't contain her manners anymore. "Fidelia, tell me, are you dirty?" Audrey sneered.

It was difficult for people to do something right when they were not calm. Right now, Audrey was the perfect example of it.

It was obvious that Gunter was on the side of Fidelia and didn't even bother to care about Audrey. But Audrey was still blaming Fidelia.

If Audrey were calm, she would have seen that Fidelia was very smart. Fidelia wasn't like before. She had changed into a more cruel version. However, Audrey was blinded by her anger and couldn't even see through Fidelia.

"Don't sling mud at me. Gunter knows what kind of person I am." Fidelia snuggled up more into Gunter's embrace. In Gunter's eyes, she seemed weak and timid. On the other hand, Audrey could see a defiant look in Fidelia's eyes.

Fidelia, of course, knew better than anyone else how she lost her virginity. At that moment, she was happy to settle old scores!

After all, Willie had taken her to the hospital for a surgery to cosmetically repair her vagina. Gunter even thought it was her first time having sex that night. He was, in fact, a victim of this Chapter 207 Have A Good Rest  +120 Points at most game, thinking that Audrey was slandering Fidelia.

Indeed, Audrey's words only disgusted him. However, Fidelia, who seemed fragile and lovely, made him want to protect her. So, he couldn't help glaring daggers at his own wife.

Having never suffered such a loss, Audrey roared in anger, "Fidelia, can you swear?!"

Fidelia was not afraid of her at all. She now had the support of Gunter and she was indeed pregnant, so what was there to be scared of? Gunter would spoil her more than his old wife.

"Why should I swear?" Fidelia pretended to be innocent.

However, this worked on Gunter!

He yelled, "All of you get out of here! Don't disturb Fidelia from now on. The doctor said that she should have a good rest with the baby in her belly."