

Chapter 336 You Are So Stupid

Slowly, Alick's eyes widened.

His expression grew more ferocious as his face turned even redder from rage.

"Annis, are you still a woman?!" he cried.

Meanwhile, Annis was just sitting on the chair, leisurely eating her snack. She pouted at him and said, "What are you yelling at? I just took off your clothes! You still have underwear, right? Of course, if you don't cooperate with me later, I'll consider cutting it off and leave you naked!"

Her words rendered Alick's mouth agape.

What the hell was she doing?!

"Let go of me now!" Alick yelled and gritted his teeth as he seethed in rage.

Despite the scary expression on his face, Annis was unfazed. She just let Alick simmer in his anger.

She widened her eyes and blinked innocently at him. "I've tied you up. If I don't let you go, you'll starve to death here. Despite that, you still have the nerve to order me around? How dare you! Are you still drunk?"

Alick was at a loss for words.

As much as he didn't want to admit it, he found himself in a very embarrassing situation.

He took a deep breath and swallowed his anger. Then, he forced himself to smile and say, "Annis, I'm your half-brother's good friend, right? Why don't you let me go?"

Annis perked up and replied, "Okay!"

Upon hearing this, Alick's face lit up. "Then untie the rope on my body quickly!" he urged.

Annis stood up and walked over. She stood beside the bed and stared at his supine body. "But first tell me where my mother's cemetery is."

Alick blinked repeatedly at her helplessly. After a while, he answered, "I don't know."

"No way!" Annis cried, shaking her head in disbelief. "You're Isaac's henchman. How could you not know that? Don't lie to me, okay? I can see right through you!"

Alick pressed his lips and looked away.

How come she was so smart?

"If you really want to know, then you have to ask your half-brother directly. I don't have the answer to your question!" Alick knew that he couldn't say anything even if she threatened to strangle or kill him.

"If that's the case, then there's nothing I can do for you." Annis sighed and shrugged her shoulders helplessly. Then, she raised her hand and patted his head a few times. Out of the blue, the door was pushed open, and three tall and strong-looking men entered the room. They all had menacing tattoos all over their bodies.

From the looks of it, they all came from Faymoor.

They had rough, savage-looking expressions on their faces.

In an instant, Alick felt something was wrong. Despite that, he maintained his cool composure. "Annis, what are you doing?" he asked.

"These three are my friends! They like handsome men, especially those from Azmar. I'm sure that if I give you to them, they'll love you very much!"

As she spoke, she made sure to emphasize the words "love you very much", highlighting their underlying meaning.

Alick swallowed hard.

Even though this little girl had an innocent face, she had a demented mind.

Secretly, he clenched his fists in anger while maintaining the calm look on his face.

"Let these people out. I'm telling you," Alick responded.

In response, Annis snickered and winked at the three men. After that, the three men promptly left the room.

"Let go of me. I'll take you there myself," Alick told her.

With a smile, Annis replied, "Actually, you just need to tell me the address. I can go there myself. I don't need you to accompany me. If you have told me earlier, I wouldn't have kidnapped you in the first place!"

She was such a simpleton that she easily believed Alick's words. After a while, she untied the rope for him.

Alick took a deep breath and said, "Well, the address is in Heinz..."

As soon as the rope around his wrists began to loosen, he took the opportunity to break free.

Once Alick was completely free, Annis blinked at him and put on an innocent face. "I've untied you. Now, tell me."

"No way!" Alick cried and scoffed in disdain.

As she heard those words from Alick, Annis came to her senses. "So you were lying to me this entire time?"

"Yeah, you're so stupid. Of course I lied to you!" Alick began putting on his clothes as he continued with his lecture. "You're just a little girl. Stop associating yourself with different kinds of people. Look at the people that you just brought in. Do you know what they are?"

Annis was so angry that she puffed her cheeks and widened her eyes so much they almost popped out of their sockets. "Alick, I'll fight you with all I've got!"

As she said that, she pounced on him, but Alick was prepared. He turned his body sideways, causing Annis to trip over and fall unto the bed.

Then, she grabbed the quilt and let out an embarrassed cry. "Ah!"

After putting on his pants, Alick glanced at her and said, "Annis, you're still too young to fight with me."

Annis could do nothing but gnash her teeth.

With a smug expression, Alick opened the door.

However, as soon as he saw the people standing at the door, he cowered
