

Chapter 352 The Result Of The DNA Test

"What's the matter?" Jaylen asked.

"I heard that your 'big show' will be spread on the Internet. I think many people in Azmar know who you are, so I suggest you deal with it as soon as possible."

"What?!" Jaylen cried. He was so angry that his eyes almost popped out of their sockets. "Isaac really is an evil man. He even wants to ruin my reputation!"

"Stop complaining and think how to solve it," Camila replied indifferently.

Her words seemed to have calmed him down. He took a deep breath and said, "Then I have to go back as soon as possible."

Camila agreed and nodded. "You can go back first. I might follow suit."

"You're going back too?" Jaylen's heart started to race as cold sweat began to bead on his forehead. "Why? Is it because of Isaac?"

Camila shook her head. "No, there's a meeting. Three people in our hospital have to attend the meeting, and I'm one of them. But really, the main reason why I want to go back is to see Laura."

At the same time, she also wanted to see Joe and Rowena.

Jaylen exhaled a sigh of relief. "It's good that you're not going back because of Isaac. If there's anything you need, don't hesitate to contact me."

"Okay."

Meanwhile, Isaac was at home when the result of the DNA test finally came out.

It turned out that the body that they had collected the sample from wasn't related to Rowena at all!

For a long time, Isaac kept staring at it.

Alick also caught a glimpse of the result when he brought it to Isaac.

He was too curious that he couldn't help himself.

"It's very unlikely that the test result is wrong. We've tested it several times, and the results are all the same." No matter how hard he thought about it, Alick couldn't figure it out. "Is it possible that there's no blood relationship between Camila and Rowena? Are you sure that she's her biological daughter?" he asked.

Isaac glanced at him coldly, which made Alick shudder.

"Perhaps..." Isaac let his words hang in the air before saying, "That corpse isn't her at all."

Isaac thought long and hard about the implications.

If this were true, she might still be alive!

As soon as this thought crossed his mind, he became excited.

She was still alive.

She must be alive.

Seeing the grin on Isaac's face, Alick asked warily, "If the one who died is not Camila, then where is she? Where has she been?"

Alick wanted to say that there was no reason for Camila to hide, but Isaac knew that she had a reason.

She must've thought that he didn't love her.

"Find out every person who was involved in her surgery," Isaac ordered coldly.

He wanted to know the identity of the people who had helped her secretly.

His men rescued Camila and sent her to the hospital.

They couldn't have betrayed him.

If that were the case, then it must be someone from the hospital.

There should be few people who could help her.

His first suspect was Josiah.

Not only did he have the ability to help her, but he also had a good relationship with Camila. It was very likely that he would help her.

Besides, the other doctors were all sent by Alick.

As for Josiah, he went there without invitation.

It hadn't been long since Josiah retired. The retirement life didn't suit him, and he grew uneasy the longer he didn't have to work.

His wife accompanied him every day, and they would often go to walks outside. Gradually, he began to get used to the feeling.

In order to kill time, he also raised a bird.

While he was on his way home from a walk, his phone rang.

He picked up his phone and answered the call.

"I may be coming back soon. Let's meet by then." The voice belonged to Camila.

Hearing her voice, Josiah felt delighted. "Why are you coming back this time?"

"There's going to be a meeting there, and the hospital has asked me to attend it."

"We haven't seen each other in a long time. I'm fine, by the way. How are you?" Josiah asked.

When he learned that Camila was coming back, his heart swelled in joy.

Isaac would definitely not doubt him.

"I'm already an attending doctor," Camila said proudly.

"Really?" Josiah couldn't hide the surprise in his voice. He couldn't believe that she would be an attending doctor so soon.

He knew that she was a talented doctor, but he never expected that she would be able to achieve that feat at such a young age.

After all, only a select few could attain the status of an attending doctor so soon.

All of a sudden, the doorbell rang.

Josiah's wife went to open the door.

Meanwhile, Josiah remained seated on the sofa as he continued talking with Camila. "Then you must come to my home for dinner when you return. You have always been my most promising disciple. It turns out I wasn't wrong when I saw the potential in you. I knew you would succeed."

As he said this, he couldn't help but smile.

A proud feeling burgeoned in his heart.

"Who are you talking to?"

Out of nowhere, a deep and cold voice sounded from above him.

That voice...

The moment Josiah looked up, his eyes widened in shock.
