Chapter 361 I Must Win Him Back (the whole chapter)

“Heh, I didn’t think the two of us would sit together and smoke.” Jingyan sneered.

“Why did she suddenly leave?” asked Jinyi.

“That’s how she is. She often doesn’t say anything and then leaves.” Jingyan said.

After a long time, Jinyi stood up when he made sure no one was inside. “I can’t wait like this. I’m going to call the police. If she’s in danger, what will she do?”

The thought of such a possibility made him reluctant to stay longer. He gave Jingyan a quick glance, sighed and then walked into the elevator.

Jingyan was still sitting there. His eyes were moist. Then he covered his eyes with his hands and choked up a little. He thought it was a gift from God that he met her again, but he didn’t expect her to leave.

.....

Yiyao got off the plane. The fiery sun baked the earth. She felt a wave of heat coming on.

She shielded her face with her hand and squinted at her surroundings. There were many tall coconut trees and people with stalls hawking under the trees. Yiyao touched her pockets and pulled out everything in it, only to find some change.

“Madam, how much is a coconut?” Yiyao asked a woman.

The woman looked up, saw her and instantly understood her dilemma. “No matter how much you pay, I can sell it to you.”

Yiyao counted the money in her hand. She only had five yuan, and then she handed all of them to the woman selling coconuts, “Can I use this money to buy a coconut?”

The woman quickly waved her hand. “This is too much. A coconut only costs three yuan.”

Yiyao was relieved. She only had her bank card with her, and she didn’t see a place to get money around “Here, give you this.” The woman picked the biggest one and handed it to her.

"This is too big." Yiyao said.

The woman selling coconuts smiled at her gently. "Your wallet was stolen, wasn't it?" She asked.

Yiyao shook her head, and then she chatted with the woman.

The woman told her that although this place was a tourist destination, some parts of it were not as nice as she thought. Knowing that Yiyao was planning to stay here for a long time, she immediately said enthusiastically, "If you haven't found a place to stay, you can stay at my house. You can call me Mrs. Li"

"Mrs. Li. Thank you. I'm Yiyao. You're so kind." said she. Before she could refuse her, Mrs. Li already took her hand.

As she walked into an alley with Mrs. Li, Yiyao was a little worried that she would be abducted if she followed a stranger.

"Miss, my house is a not so good. I hope you don't mind." Mrs. Li stopped under an iron gate and turned her head to Yiyao and smiled.

"I think it's quite nice." Yiyao said.

She used to serve in the army, so she had been to many places with tough conditions, and this place was remote but it was neat.

She was planning to live here for a long time. The savings on the card would support her for a few years. She didn't know how she was going to support her child when he was born. And she may go deaf soon, and by then maybe no job would be willing to give her.

Yiyao followed Mrs. Li into the house. It was a large yard with a row of tiled houses.

"It's very nice." Yiyao exclaimed.

Mrs. Li was happy to hear her say that about her home. "You live in this room."

"Thank you." Yiyao followed behind her and was very satisfied with the room she was about to move into.

She toured around and found that she didn't see anyone else except Mrs. Li. Yiyao couldn't help but be curious, "Do you live alone here?"

"My husband died early, and my son went out to make a living. He doesn't come home once every few years, so I'm the only one here." She said and then sighed.

When Yiyao heard her say that, she understood that he had asked the wrong thing, “I am sorry.”

“It’s okay. It’s all in the past.” The woman said. “I feel lonely living alone in such an empty house, so when I heard you wanted to stay for a long time, I let you stay with me. You pack up first, and then we’ll go out to buy some daily necessities.”

Yiyao nodded, and then Mrs. Li closed the door for her, leaving Yiyao standing in this house.

A few hours ago she was in the capital city, but now she was in a place thousands of miles away from Jingyan. She didn’t know if he was looking for her now, or if he had already given up on her.

Yiyao felt that she herself was selfish. It was clear that she had chosen to leave, but she was expecting him to remember her.

Yiyao briefly freshened up, then opened the door and walked out. Mrs. Li was in the yard picking out coconuts.

“How can you tell if a coconut is good or bad?” Yiyao also came over and sat next to the woman.

“Just pick out the ones with wormholes.” Mrs. Li explained to her while nimbly picking out the coconut.

“But it feels like you can’t make much money with this. One is only three yuan.”

“Now is the peak of the tourist season, there will be a lot of people to buy coconuts, so the price is a little higher. Now one is seven or eight yuan.”

“Seven or eight yuan!” Yiyao repeated. “Then why did you sell it to me at a price of three yuan?”

Mrs. Li realized that she had said the wrong thing and hastily covered her mouth.

“Mrs. Li, thank you.” Yiyao hugged her from behind. In a strange city, there were strangers who were willing to be kind to her, so she felt touched.

Mrs. Li moved a little and reached out to gently stroke the top of Yiyao’s head, “Since you live here now, I will treat you as my daughter.”

Yiyao was touched and nodded.

.....

Jingyan came home, smelling like an ashtray. His family did not all sit on the sofa waiting for him this time. Chuxue ate a lollipop and stared at him as he finished changing his shoes.

“Where are the others?” Jingyan rubbed his temples tiredly, his voice hoarse.

“Mom and Dad are gone. They said there’s nothing interesting to stay here and they let you go back early after you finish your business.” Chuxue said.

Jingyan frowned, “Why don’t you go?”

“I rarely come here. I certainly want to have a good time before I leave.”

Jingyan walked straight towards his bedroom. All he wanted to do now was to take a shower.

Chuxue looked at him and asked, “Brother, what’s wrong?”

“Nothing, leave me alone.” Jingyan did not want to say more. He walked straight ahead, but Chuxue was stubborn. Just as he moved one step, Chuxue followed him.

Finally, Jingyan compromised and stopped to look at her, “What the hell do you want?”

“Brother, you must have something to hide from me!”

“What can you do if I hide it from you?” Jingyan said.

Chuxue stomped her feet and pouted. “Brother, you’ve changed. You” she stammered.

Smelling such a strong smell of smoke on him, she had already guessed what had happened to him.

Jingyan didn’t say anything and continued walking to his room. She turned a deaf ear to her words, walked into his room, and closed the door with a bang.

The room was empty and dark. Jingyan did not turn on the light, fumbled to the bed and lit a cigarette.

The next morning, when Jingyan pushed open the bedroom door, Chuxue suddenly jumped in front of him.

“What do you want?” Jingyan took a step back and kept a distance from her.

Chuxue said with a smile, "Brother, Yuqi has found a vacation resort. Will you send me there?"

"I can send you there, but don't force me to come with you."

Jingyan went to the water fountain and got a glass of water. He had smoked too much last night, and his throat was already too dry to speak.

"Brother, look at you, you look so tired. You'd better go out with us." Chuxue said.

"Is that resort expensive?" Jingyan asked, raising an eyebrow. "Otherwise you wouldn't have had to invite me to go with you."

"It's slightly expensive."

Chuxue didn't need to say anything, he already knew. In the past, she just invited him to go on a trip. If he didn't go, she never forced him. Today she must have some other reason for asking him to go to the resort, either she didn't have enough money or her parents didn't allow her to go. Since her mom and dad left, there was no doubt that she was short of money.

Jingyan went back to the study to get her a check and handed it to Chuxue, "Fill out the money you need."

"Thank you, brother!" Chuxue jumped up with the check. Then she quickly said, "Brother, just come with us!"

Jingyan was sad when he came back yesterday, so Chuxue guessed he must have quarreled with Yiyao again. She wanted her brother to go out and relax.

Jingyan looked straight at her. "Do you really want me to go with you?"

Chuxue nodded in a hurry.

"Fine, I hope you don't regret it." Jingyan took another glass of water, and then turned away.

He walked to the door and stopped. "I'm going to change clothes. You tell Yuqi to drive here to pick us up."

.....

Half an hour later, Yuqi's car pulled up in front of the villa. Chuxue got in first and sat in the back seat.

Jingyan saw a well-dressed woman sitting on the passenger side. From the conversation with Yuqi, he knew that the woman was a movie star he was chasing. Her name was Xiyue.

He didn't ask much about this woman. He just opened the back door and sat in. Before he had a chance to close the door, there was a person hugging his arm.

"Jingyan."

He turned his head and saw Ziyang Duan giggling at him. Then his gaze went to Chuxue.

Chuxue hurriedly waved her hand, pointed at Yuqi who was driving, and said, "It wasn't me. He arranged it all."

Yuqi looked through the rearview mirror and saw Jingyan looking at him coldly.

He tried not to look at Jingyan, chatting happily with Xiyue next to him. Occasionally glancing at the rearview mirror, he was still shocked by Jingyan's gaze at him.

Arriving at his destination, Yuqi hurriedly removed his seat belt. He got out of the car and briefly escaped Jingyan's gaze.

As soon as the five of them got out of the car, Jingyan walked over to Yuqi, "Come with me for a moment. I need talk to you alone."

Yuqi obediently followed behind Jingyan. Ziyang saw this and also wanted to follow, but Yuqi's eyes signaled her not to follow over.

"Jingyan, what's up?" Yuqi scratched his head and deliberately pretended not to know his intention. He made up his mind that no matter how Jingyan asked, he would not admit that he had arranged for Ziyang to come to the resort with them.

Jingyan looked at him for a while before saying. "Don't pretend to be silly. I know you know why I need to talk you alone."

"I I don't know." Yuqi stammered.

"Is that so?" Jingyan was still looking at him and smiling coldly.

"Brother, it's really not my fault. She had to follow us here. It's not very polite of me to let her off, is it?" Yuqi explained.

"Then how did she know about your plan?" Jingyan asked casually. He didn't know that Chuxue had leaked their travel plan.

Jingyan took his silence as a tacit acknowledgement that he had leaked his travel plans to Ziyang. Then he turned his head and walked away.

“Arrange her to stay away from me, or you will pay for all the spending this time.”
Jingyan warned.

Yuqi thought he was coming to have fun for a few days, so he didn't bring much money at all. And after a wedding, he had very little money left. He was just hoping that Jingyan would share some of the expenses for him. However, it wasn't easy for him to keep Ziyang away from Jingyan.

When Xiyue saw Yuqi standing still, she went over and pulled his sleeve, “Everyone has left. Why don't you go over?”

Yuqi was still silent. Xiyue tugged him and shook him again before she asked, “What's wrong? They're all gone.”

Yuqi held back his sadness and smiled at her, “I didn't have breakfast, so I'm a little hungry.”

Then the five of them went into the resort together. This place was on the seaside and it was decorated with a European style. As soon as they entered, a dozen servants came out to greet them.

“Welcome, I am the butler here. This way please, masters.” The butler greeted them first and did a standard ninety-degree bow.

Jingyan, Chuxue and Yuqi had seen such servants before, so they weren't too surprised. Ziyang and Xiyue, on the other hand, was a little surprised. Xiyue hurriedly took Yuqi's arm and walked in.

Ziyang quickly followed them. She wanted to take Jingyan's arm, but he avoided her all the way. She was afraid he would reject her unmercifully here, so she didn't keep pestering him.

There were only four rooms in the villa, two on the first floor and two on the second.

“I want the one on the second floor by the stairs.”

“I want the one on the first floor by the door.”

Chuxue and Yuqi quickly chose the rooms they wanted to live in.

Chuxue chose the second floor simply to see the sea, while Yuqi chose the second floor because it was convenient to come back from his date with Xiyue at night.

Jingyan slowly spoke after them. "I'll take the other room on the second floor."

"I want to share a room with Jingyan." Ziyang said immediately.

Suddenly, the lively discussion about picking their rooms that had just been going on immediately quieted down when they heard her words.

Chuxue and Yuqi's faces darkened.

Ziyang knew that Jingyan did not want to talk to her now, but still wanted to stay with him, which made it difficult for Yuqi. He had already been warned by Jingyan.

"Xiyue will stay with me in one room." Yuqi hurriedly said. "Ziyang, you just ..."

Jingyan frowned and glanced at Yuqi faintly.

Yuqi coughed loudly twice, and then said, "There is still a vacant room on the first floor. Ziyang, you go live there."

"No, I want to share a room with Jingyan." Ziyang said.

"I mean" Yuqi said.

"Either you live downstairs, or I'll go." Jingyan interrupted Yuqi.

"Jingyan..." Ziyang didn't expect him to say this in front of so many people. She didn't know what to do for a moment. "Why can't he reject me gently? Why is he so cold to me now? Is it all because of Yiyao Duan?" she thought.

Jingyan saw that she did not speak. Then he turned around and walked toward the villa door. Ziyang hurriedly pulled his sleeve, "Jingyan, please do not go. I'll live downstairs."

Jingyan turned around, pulled his hand out of her hand, and went straight upstairs.

Yuqi gave Ziyang a deep look and gave her a word of advice, "Yiyao is back. You'd better not pester Jingyan anymore."

After saying that, he took Xiyue and went into his room. Ziyang stood alone in the living room with her hand clenched tightly.

"Why does everyone care about Yiyao? I hate her." she thought.

She stared at the door of Jingyan's room upstairs.

"I must win him back." She murmured.

Chapter 362 An Unexpected Reencounter (the whole chapter)

They agreed to gather in the living room in two hours. Then several people went to their respective rooms, and then changed their clothes.

Yuqi, Chuxue, Ziying and Xiyue waited in the living room early, but they didn't see Jingyan.

"I'll go find my brother." Chuxue stood up from her chair.

"I'll go with you." Ziying also stood up.

Yuqi and Chuxue hurriedly stopped her.

"Thanks, but there's no need to bother you." Chuxue hurriedly said. Then she immediately ran towards the stairway.

The door of Jingyan's room was tightly closed. Chuxue stood at the door, but did not dare to knock. She looked back downstairs and saw that Yuqi was winking at her.

She sighed and knocked three times quickly.

Then she leaned on the door and listened carefully. There was no sound inside. She was curious and increased the force of knocking. Seeing that there was still no movement inside, she raised her voice and shouted, "Brother, are you in there?"

"What?"

Chuxue breathed a sigh of relief. She thought he had left.

"Yuqi has prepared a beach party this afternoon. Why don't you come and join us?"

"Thanks, but I don't want to go." He said casually.

"Brother, I've told them you'll go. If you don't go, they will definitely laugh at me." Yuqi also went upstairs and said

Chuxue remembered something and looked downstairs. When she was seeing Ziying still standing downstairs, she was relieved.

Yuqi gave a look to Chuxue, who immediately understood and quickly said, "Yeah, you're also bored staying in your room alone, aren't you?"

Jingyan didn't say anything more.

They waited for a while, knowing that Jingyan would not come out again, and they prepared to walk towards the stairway.

Suddenly, the door lock turned. Yuqi and Chuxue turned back in unison to see Jingyan standing in the doorway, dressed casually.

He walked straight past them and saw that they didn't move, "Aren't you going?"

They hurried to follow Jingyan's pace. Both of them looked at each other. They didn't know why he suddenly changed his mind.

This time Ziyang did not follow Jingyan. She knew that if she kept following him, she would definitely be hated by him. She had to change her ways so that Jingyan would gradually accept her.

It was now dusk. It was no longer that hot. When they reached the beach, there were already many young people there. When they saw Jingyan, they all gathered around him.

.....

When Yiyao was picking out coconuts, there was a knock on the courtyard door.

"Mrs. Li, are you home?" A man called out.

Mrs. Li put down the coconut in her hand and went to open the door.

After the door opened, Yiyao took a curious look towards the door. A middle-aged man looked anxious.

"What's wrong?" Mrs. Li frowned.

The middle-aged man stomped his foot. "Someone wants a lot of coconuts. I've been doing good business these days, so the coconuts are almost sold out. Just now I broke my foot again. He is an important customer of mine. I've delivered coconuts to him a few times before, but now...."

"Don't be anxious. Earning money is important, but you better take care of yourself." Mrs. Li said. "Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Do you have any coconut left? I am wondering if you could all help me deliver a cart of coconuts to the beach."

Mrs. Li nodded. She turned sideways so he could see the coconuts behind her, "I just picked out the coconuts."

"Thank you so much. I'm very, very grateful to you."

When the man left, Mrs. Li got busy. Pulling this cart of coconuts was very heavy. She was old. This was very strenuous for her.

There was a threshold when leaving the yard. Mrs. Li tried several times, but she did not succeed in pulling the cart over the threshold. Seeing the cart fall backwards, Yiyao hurriedly helped hold the cart from behind.

After leaving the courtyard, Mrs. Li turned around and saw that Yiyao's hand had not yet been removed from the cart.

Yiyao walked from the rear of the cart to the front and held the handle of the cart on one side, "Mrs. Li, let's go together to deliver the coconuts."

In fact, she can pull this cart all by herself. But she was pregnant, and the doctor told her to take care of her body.

Even if she did not use her full strength, Mrs. Li was also very surprised by her strength.

They slowly pulled the cart along the road. The location of the North Sea was not far from them, but it was quite a struggle to pull the several hundred pounds of cart forward.

The middle-aged man didn't tell them the exact address. He only said that these coconuts were ordered by the group of people who were having a party by the beach.

Yiyao stopped the cart and rubbed her sore arm. "Mrs. Li, take a break. I'll go find the group of people who are having a party."

"Thank you, then." Mrs. Li patted her shoulder and sat on the beach to catch her breath. She was indeed getting older. She used to be tired when pulling the cart, but she didn't feel breathless like she did now.

Yiyao kept walking along the road and gradually saw a few white tents in the distance. There were several rows of long tables filled with wine and pastries. Several people were chatting, holding glasses of wine.

Yiyao roughly determined that this was the location of the delivery and turned around to go back to Mrs. Li.

.....

"Brother, do you want to drink champagne?" asked Yuqi.

Jingyan took the champagne and was about to drink it when he caught a glimpse of a familiar woman's back. So he hurriedly put down the glass in his hand and quickly chased after her.

He did not think he would meet Yiyao here, but he was not willing to let go of any opportunity to find her.

Yiyao was about to turn the corner when suddenly she saw Jingyan in the rear view mirror of the car on the side of the road.

She hurriedly quickened her pace. Seeing a forest ahead, Yiyao rushed in.

Jingyan followed her, but after turning the corner, he didn't see Yiyao. He stood in the same place for a long time, and then walked towards a woman selling coconuts in the distance.

"Excuse me, have you seen a young woman passing by here?" asked he.

Mrs. Li was wiping her sweat with her handkerchief and looked up at the sound of his voice, "No. I don't see anyone."

Jingyan looked at Mrs. Li for a long time before bowing politely, "Thank you. I'm sorry to bother you then."

Jingyan was still hesitant. Before leaving he glanced at Mrs. Li again. He saw her nod at him with a smile, and then he left with a big stride.

In the woods, Yiyao hid behind a tree. Seeing Jingyan and Mrs. Li chatting for a few moments before turning away, she walked out of the woods.

"Why did you get out of the woods?" Mrs. Li turned her head and saw Yiyao coming out of the woods.

"Mrs. Li, I have found the person who ordered the coconut." Yiyao didn't know how to answer and pointed to the direction she was just looking at to change the subject.

Mrs. Li heard that she had found the delivery place and really did not ask her again. "Let's rest a while and then we'll set off."

Yiyao nodded her head. She couldn't just go to that party like this, or she would definitely be recognized by Jingyan.

She looked around and saw banana trees planted along the road. Then she went over and twisted the green banana and applied its sap to her face.

“Mrs. Li, it’s cold at night. This shawl is for you.” She said.

“Thank you, but I don’t need it. You are so thin. You’d better wear it yourself.” Mrs. Li said.

“I’m okay.” If she didn’t take off the shawl, she would definitely attract Jingyan’s attention.

Mrs. Li took the shawl and hesitated for a moment and then asked, “Tell me honestly, are you hiding from someone?”

“No.” said Yiyao immediately.

But Mrs. Li did not believe it. Seeing her unwillingness to say, she did not continue to ask.

Then she and Mrs. Li pulled the cart and slowly walked towards the place where the party was held. The closer she got to there, the faster her heart beat.

“You wait here. I’ll ask who ordered them.” said Mrs. Li.

Yiyao nodded and then sat down on the beach. She had a hat that just covered most of her face.

“Why are you sitting here?”

Yiyao heard a voice and turned her head to see Ziyang holding a tall glass and looking at her.

“I’m sorry.” Yiyao stood up and apologized. She stood up too quickly, so her body hit the coconut cart. Then several coconuts fell out of the cart.

Yiyao hurriedly bent down to pick up the coconuts. Just as her hands touched the coconut, Ziyang said with disgust, “You’re going to pick up a coconut with such dirty hands?”

“What’s wrong?” She turned her head in confusion and put the coconut in her hand on the cart. Immediately, her five fingerprints were left on the coconut.

“You ……” Ziyang pointed at her and said with some anger. “Now the coconuts are covered in dirt. My hands will get dirty when I touch them.”

“It won’t. The dirt won’t get on your hands.” said Yiyao.

Ziyang felt incredulous and pointed at her not knowing what to say.

Yiyao gave her a look, and then picked up all the coconuts on the beach.

Her action made Ziyang even more furious, "We're not buying this coconut."

Yiyao's gaze immediately became sharp and coldly threatened, "According to the buyer's request, we have already shipped the coconuts. Do you think you can stop buying it?"

"Of course, I'm the buyer. I can decide it."

Yiyao clenched her fingers. The joints of her fingers cracked, which scared Ziyang back a few steps. "You what do you want to do?"

"One more chance, buy or not?" asked Yiyao.

Ziyang took a step back.

The noise here had attracted most of the attention. Seeing Jingyan come over, Yiyao hurriedly bowed his head and lowered the brim of her hat. Ziyang immediately became condescending.

"Are you afraid now?" Ziyang tilted her head proudly and said to Yiyao.

"What's going on?" Mrs. Li asked worriedly.

Yiyao patted the back of Mrs. Li's hand and said, "I'm fine. Is the coconut sent here?"

"We're not buying it." Ziyang interrupted them loudly. At this time Jingyan and Yuqi also walked up to them.

"What's happened?" Jingyan asked.

Hearing Jingyan's voice, Yiyao didn't dare to look up. She did not answer back. In the eyes of the crowd, they thought she didn't speak because she was in the wrong.

"Jingyan, you're here." Ziyang took his arm and said. "This woman touched the coconut with her dirty hands. The mud is all over the coconut."

Jingyan frowned. "You can choose not to eat the dirty ones. What's there to argue about?"

"But there's always someone who will" Before she finished, she looked up just in time to see Jingyan's cold eyes. She hurriedly said, "Yeah, you're right."

Then she turned her head to Yiyao and said, "We'll buy all these coconuts. You guys can go now."

“Wait.” Yiyao was about to turn around when he heard Jingyan’s voice.

Yiyao stopped and asked in a hoarse voice, “Is something wrong, sir?”

“Turn around.” Jingyan ordered.

She was nervous. She thought he had recognized her and had to turn around.

“You dropped your stuff.” Jingyan said.

Yiyao was still in a bit of a trance. She looked carefully at the beach but didn’t find anything. She hesitated for a while and then asked, “I didn’t drop my stuff on the beach.”

“Why don’t you dare to look at me? Am I that scary?” Jingyan asked.

Yiyao didn’t know why he would ask that. She flattered, “Sir, you are a good person. Of course you are not scary.”

“Then why don’t you dare to look at me?” Jingyan could feel her deliberately lowering the brim of her hat.

Yiyao couldn’t answer for a moment. Sensing her nervousness, Mrs. Li explained for her, “Sir, my daughter was born with a defect on her face. She is afraid of scaring you guys. That’s why she wears a hat.”

“Is that so?” Jingyan asked. He did not believe the woman’s words.

“Then why don’t you take off your hat and show us how scary you really are?” said Jingyan.

Yiyao’s heart was beating rapidly. There were no wounds on her face, so she would definitely be recognized by Jingyan when she took off her hat.

Mrs. Li also didn’t expect Jingyan to be so persistent.

“Sir, my daughter is shy.” Mrs. Li said. “Please don’t give her a hard time.”

Jingyan frowned, “I’m not trying to embarrass her. I just think she’s a bit like a friend of mine.”

“My daughter has been living here with me. She has not had the opportunity to make friends with a noble person like you.”

Jingyan thought she had a point. Yiyao would not come to this small seaside town to be a farm girl.

He waved his hand and turned around. "You guys can go now. I'll buy this cart of coconuts."

Mrs. Li thanked him and took the money Yuqi handed her.

Yiyao breathed a sigh of relief and was ready to unload the coconuts from the cart. Jingyan stopped her. "No need for you to unload them."

He looked around and said to the group, "Go get them yourselves."

Hearing Jingyan's words, they picked out their coconuts. Ziyang took a look at Yiyao, who was now on the side, and went to pick out two as well, then quickly followed Jingyan.

"Jingyan, I took one for you."

"I don't like coconuts."

.....

The cart was soon left with only a few coconuts that had been soiled by Yiyao. Yuqi and Xiyue hesitated and did not go to take them.

"Sir!" Mrs. Li stopped Yuqi, who was leaving. Yuqi stopped and looked at Mrs. Li.

"We took your money. These coconuts are all yours."

"We don't want these." Yuqi said, and then he took a few steps with his arm around Xiyue's waist, only to find someone tugging on the hem of his clothes.

"You" Yuqi was angry. He turned his head to reprimand the person, but fell silent after seeing the person.

Xiyue followed his sight and looked over. By now Yiyao had taken off her hat and raised her head.

Her face had liquid stuck to it, making people feel nauseous. But Yuqi kept staring at her. Xiyue shook him a few times, "Yuqi"

"You go over first. I have something to take care of." Yuqi said to her.

"Then come over early. I'll wait for you!" Xiyue said reluctantly. She turned back and looked at Yiyao sulkily. Looking at the disgusting things on her face, she turned her head to hold back her nausea.

Yuqi glanced at Mrs. Li, and then looked at Jingyan who had already left.

“Yiyao, why are you here? Why don’t you want Jingyan to know that you are here?”

Yiyao froze and suddenly remembered that except for Jingyan, they all still didn’t know that she had left him.

“Yuqi, please don’t tell Jingyan that you’ve seen me.”

“Why? He must miss you a lot.” Yuqi turned around once more and saw Jingyan already standing at the dining table. He took a glanced at them.

Yiyao turned his head in a hurry. “Anyway, don’t tell him you saw me or I might leave the city.”

Yuqi didn’t know exactly why, but seeing how determined Yiyao was, he nodded to her.

Yiyao placed the remaining few coconuts on the table nearest to her, and then slowly left with Mrs. Li.

Yiyao couldn’t help but turn around. She saw Ziyong come up to Jingyan and say something in his ear. Then Jingyan laughed.

“Even without me, he is still having a good time. He is always surrounded by women.” she thought.

“Are you okay?” Mrs. Li asked worriedly.

“I’m fine.” Yiyao said.

“If you really love him, you should go back to him.” Mrs. Li stared at Yiyao and said. “I can see that you still love that young man very much.”

“I’m with him,” Yiyao said and suddenly choked up when she realized what she was going to say later.

She took a long time to slow down before continuing. “There’s no way we’ll ever be together.”

Mrs. Li sighed. She really didn’t know what young people were thinking. Two people loved each other, but why can’t they be together?

.....

Jingyan put the straw into a coconut with dirt on the skin. He took a sip, and couldn’t help but frown.

“What did you say to the coconut seller just now?” When Yuqi came back, Jingyan asked him casually.

Yuqi laughed. “I see this coconut is very good, so I asked her to send some to our villa in a few days.”

“Aren’t there coconuts in the villa?” Jingyan asked suspiciously.

“Yeah. That woman is very old and has to come out to sell coconuts. I think she may be living in poverty, so I want to help her.”

Jingyan thought he had a point. The woman was dressed in a very dirty way. She didn’t look like a rich person.

Chapter 363 He Finally Found Her (the whole chapter)

Yiyao Duan felt dizzy on her way and the cart handle also slipped from her hand. She felt a buzzing in her ears and then fainted on the road.

Mrs. Li saw her faint and anxiously walked towards her. She asked for help from cars driving by on the side of the road, but no one would stop to help them.

Mrs. Li did not have a cell phone and searched Yiyao’s pockets for it, but she did not find her cell phone either.

She was so anxious that she ran to stand in the middle of the road with her arms spread wide to intercept the passing cars.

.....

Jingyan picked up Yiyao’s cell phone at the intersection. He knew that the woman in the hat he had just seen was Yiyao. So he ran back to the villa quickly to find a car.

“Brother, where are you going?” Yuqi also ran back after him. Seeing Jingyan get into the driver’s seat, he immediately stopped in front of the car.

“Get out of the way!” Jingyan didn’t explain and said angrily. He didn’t hesitate to step on the gas.

Yuqi hurriedly avoided the car. When he looked back, the car had already driven away from the place quickly.

The road by the sea was wide and flat. Jingyan drove fast all the way. Midway he saw an old woman and a young woman pulling a cart down the road. Then he braked sharply and blocked in front of them.

“Yiyao?” He called out.

The woman looked up in shock, saw Jingyan’s handsome face, and hastily lowered her head, “Sir, you’ve got the wrong person.”

Jingyan was disappointed. He didn’t realize that in his anxiety he had mistaken someone else for Yiyao. He said sorry to her, and then turned back to the car.

He lit a cigarette, started the car, and continued driving forward in search of Yiyao. At a sharp turn, he clearly saw a woman lying on the ground. Another aged woman was anxiously pleading for help, but no one stopped to help them. Then Jingyan stopped the car next to them.

Opening the car door, he saw Mrs. Li’s tear-stained face. He ran quickly to the one lying on the ground. Although her face was covered with mud, he recognized her at once.

“What happened to her?” Jingyan picked up Yiyao while asking Mrs. Li who was following him.

Mrs. Li wiped her tears. “I don’t know. She fainted while she was walking. Maybe pulling the cart made her too tired.”

Then he put Yiyao in the back of the car. Mrs. Li also followed him into the car.

He drove the car so fast that Mrs. Li only felt dizzy. By the time she reacted, they had arrived at the hospital.

Jingyan hugged Yiyao and ran inside the hospital.

“Doctor, what’s wrong with her?” He asked eagerly.

Then Yiyao was taken to the ward. A doctor was notified and hurriedly came. He told the nurse to push her into the emergency room for examination.

After a short while, the doctor came out of the ward. He frowned. “She is pregnant and she is a little weak. It may be due to this that she fainted.”

“She’s pregnant?” Jingyan was shocked. “She already has a child. But why hasn’t she told me?” he thought.

“Her uterine wall is thin and she’s malnourished. She might have a miscarriage.”

“What do you say?” Jingyan stared at him grimly. “No matter what you do, you can’t make her miscarry.”

“I’ll try my best.” The doctor said. Then he went into the emergency room with some nurses.

Mrs. Li also arrived at that moment. Seeing Jingyan sitting there sad, she knew that Yiyao’s situation was not good and she stood aside crying.

Jingya waited outside the door for a long time before the door of the emergency room opened. Then the hospital bed was pushed out from inside by the nurse.

He heard the movement and got up in a hurry. He went to the bed and asked the doctor anxiously, “How is she?”

“She’s out of danger now. Her baby is saved.” The doctor let out a long breath.

“When will she wake up?”

“She’ll wake up soon. You don’t have to worry too much about her.” The doctor said.

Jingyan finally breathed a sigh of relief after hearing him.

Then the nurse pushed Yiyao’s hospital bed back to the ward.

In the ward, Jingyan reached out to touch Yiyao’s forehead. Her sleeping face made his heart soften. He blamed her for leaving without saying goodbye before. Now he just wanted her to wake up quickly.

“Yiyao, if you do not wake up. I’m going to k!ss you.” Jingyan tenderly whispered in her ear.

Yiyao did not respond to him, but he was not discouraged and continued, “I mean it.”

Then he lowered his head to give her a k!ss on her forehead.

If he hadn’t gotten her permission to k!ss her, she would have been too shy to let him k!ss her, but now she was lying quietly on the hospital bed.

Jingyan lowered his head in disappointment. His eyes were moist.

In fact, Yiyao had regained consciousness. But his voice was so small that she couldn’t hear what he was saying. It was not until he k!ssed her forehead that she knew there was someone next to her. Slowly Yiyao opened her eyes.

“Yiyao, you’re finally awake. How do you feel?” Jingyan eagerly shook her hand.

Yiyao tried her best to make a sound. “How is my baby?” Her voice was low.

She couldn’t hear her own voice. She didn’t even know if she had made a vocal tone.

“The baby is fine.” Jingyan said in a hurry. His voice was very low, so Yiyao did not fully hear him. She felt that her hearing had become even worse than before due to this fainting.

She felt her ears and then her belly. She was slightly relieved when she felt that her belly was not painful.

Mrs. Li heard the conversation in the ward and rushed in. Seeing Yiyao wake up and her face was pale, she cried again.

“Yiyao, are you feeling better?” Mrs. Li stepped forward and held her hand. “It’s all my fault. I shouldn’t have let you pull the cart with me.”

Yiyao didn’t respond to what she said. She opened her mouth, but no sound came out.

“What’s wrong?” Mrs. Li looked at her with tears running down the corners of her eyes.

She didn’t know why Yiyao didn’t react at all to her words. She looked at Jingyan in confusion. Jingyan also thought she was strange, as if she couldn’t hear what others were saying. Then he ran to ask the doctor, but the doctor couldn’t understand what was wrong with her. Finally the doctor suggested that she should have a full body checkup.

Soon the results came back and the doctor told him that she had some hearing problems. She was going to lose her hearing.

Jingyan was frozen. He didn’t want to believe the doctor’s words. They had only been separated for a few months, but when they saw each other again, she was going deaf.

“Her hearing in one ear has deteriorated, and the hearing in the other ear is gradually getting worse.”

Jingyan was blaming himself. “How can we cure her hearing?”

“You can take her to the best ear hospital. Maybe their newly developed hearing aids can help her.”

“Will that make her hearing better?”

“There are too many uncertainties in her condition, so I’m not sure if her hearing will get better, but at least it will help her hear what we say.”

The doctor finished speaking and then left the ward. He was more afraid of the uncertainty of Yiyao’s emotions than the uncertainty of her condition.

Mrs. Li blamed herself when she learned that something was wrong with Yiyao’s hearing. She believed that Yiyao’s hearing damage was caused by helping her pull the cart. She rubbed Yiyao’s head and took her into her arms, “I’m sorry.”

Yiyao was touched. She had only known Mrs. Li for only a few days and Mrs. Li was treated like her own daughter.

After staying in the hospital for a few days, Jingyan and Yiyao said goodbye to Mrs. Li. He had to take her to the best hospital for her ears to help her recover her hearing.

Mrs. Li held Yiyao’s hand. “Take care of yourself and remember to visit me later. I will miss you.”

Yiyao cried very sadly. She wanted to say something, but in the end she only nodded her head.

Jingyan looked at his wristwatch. It was already ten o’clock. He made an appointment to meet with the doctor there at 2:00 p.m. Then he hurriedly took Yiyao and left the hospital.

Yiyao followed Jingyan to the car. From the window, she saw Mrs. Li, who was far away from her, waving goodbye to them.

The corners of her eyes were moist. Jingyan patted the back of her hand with his other hand. “When you get better, we will come back to see Mrs. Li.”

After saying that, he remembered that Yiyao couldn’t hear what he said clearly. He let out a helpless sigh.

Soon they arrived at the airport. During the few hours of waiting for the plane, Yiyao was silent. Jingyan kept trying to talk to her, but she always ignored him.

When boarding the plane, Jingyan held Yiyao’s hand tightly for fear of losing her again.

Yiyao knew how worried he was about her, but she chose to ignore him. Before she met him at the beach party, she might have been touched by his care. However, at the beach party, she saw him interacting intimately with Ziyang Duan, which made her a little disappointed in Jingyan.

The plane kept moving forward smoothly. Suddenly, the plane lurched halfway, shaking them awake.

Jingyan opened his eyes, turned to Yiyao and said, "Don't be nervous. It's okay."

But Yiyao's hands were trembling uncontrollably.

Jingyan took her into his arms, his hand gently patting her back. He did not speak. He knew that whatever he said now, she could not hear him and would only make her more upset

The plane was again deflected at this time, and Yiyao finally couldn't help but shake a little. Her hands tightly wrapped around the waist of Jingyan.

"Yiyao, don't be afraid." Jingyan patted her back and comforted her.

Soon, Yiyao felt the fuselage swoop down. She closed her eyes and thought, "Is this the end of my life?"

The roar of the plane stopped and Yiyao did not feel any pain in her body. She felt strange.

"Yiyao, Yiyao?" Jingyan called her name.

Yiyao slowly opened her eyes and met Jingyan's gaze.

"Time to get off the plane." Jingyan laughed.

Yiyao froze. She actually heard him. Then she asked in a hoarse voice, "Are we in heaven yet?"

Jingyan didn't expect her to speak. When he understood what she meant, he laughed.

"We have landed safely."

Yiyao was bewildered until someone came. "Sir, the plane has reached its destination. Have a good trip."

Jingyan nodded, then unbuckled Yiyao's seat belt for her. "Let's get off the plane!"

Jingyan took her hand and they walked out of the first class cabin.

When she stepped on the ground, Yiyao still had a sense of unreality. If Jingyan had not held her, she might have fallen to the ground.

Seeing so many unfamiliar faces in front of her, Yiyao felt a little uneasy. Since her hearing had become worse, she was always afraid of the way people looked at her. No matter how kind they were, she thought they were laughing at her.

She took a step back and broke away from Jingyan's arm, but didn't pay attention to her feet. A stone tripped her to the ground.

Yiyao looked up sharply and saw that there were already many people coming towards her. She couldn't hear what they were saying and thought they were laughing at her.

"Yiyao!" Jingyan called her name.

She did not respond to him.

Jingyan saw her dull gaze and picked her up by her waist.

"Get out of the way." He shouted at the person next to him as if he had lost his mind.

The people around him wanted to help him, but when they heard his rant, they gave him a way out.

Someone was kind and helped him stop a cab. Jingyan thanked him and got into the car with Yiyao in his arms.

The driver was about to ask him where he was going when Jingyan told the driver his destination in fluent English.

Chapter 364 I Want to Be with You Forever (the whole chapter)

The taxi sped along the road, but Jingyan Ye still kept urging the driver to drive faster. Now Yiyao Duan's condition was stabilized, but she hadn't said anything, so he still worried about her.

When they arrived at the hospital, Jingyan held Yiyao to walk in without saying a word. As they had a doctor's appointment, they didn't need to wait in the long line like others.

In the office sat an old man with a bushy beard. When he looked up and saw Jingyan push the door open and enter, there was a slight smile at the corners of his mouth.

"Hello!" The old man said in broken Chinese.

Jingyan is accustomed to this scene. He helped Yiyao sit on the stool and said, "Louis, look at her ears first."

Louis stared doubtfully at Yiyao for a moment before he nodded and held out his hand to give a sign to let Yiyao come closer to him.

Louis looked at her ears intently for a moment, wearing grave facial expressions. "Her ears, which are already very badly injured, have just been stimulated and it will be very difficult to cure them completely." Louis said.

Jingyan thought of Yiyao's condition at the airport and said, "She could hear me a moment ago, but now she can't. Why is it happen?"

"Stimulation of the outside world may restore some bodily functions. She have been frightened twice, so that her hearing is almost completely closed." Louis said.

"So how do you cure her?" Jingyan asked.

Louis shrugged and said, "I don't know."

"But with our new hearing aid, she should be able to hear some voice, but you have to talk to her by yelling." Louis said.

Jingyan took a look at the confused Yiyao and said, "Let's try it out first."

Louis nodded politely at Jingyan and left the office alone. As Yiyao didn't know what they talked, she looked at Jingyan worriedly.

Jingyan smoothed Yiyao's hair and said to himself, "I will make you well, Yiyao..."

Yiyao nodded but she didn't really understand what Jingyan said. She had prepared for the worst for her illness, but she was worried about her unborn baby...

"Will I not even hear the baby cry when it is born? Will I have no way to accompany the baby to learn to talk?" Yiyao thought.

After they looked at each other for a moment, Louis came in with a box. Then both Jingyan and Yiyao turned their attention to Louis.

Louis didn't speak. He opened the box in their presence, and a small, transparent machine appeared in his hand.

"Try it on her." Louis said.

Jingyan took the hearing aid and carefully put it on for Yiyao. "Can you hear me?" Jingyan asked.

There was a quiver in Jingyan's voice, mixed with nervousness that he didn't even recognize.

Even though Yiyao wore the hearing aid, she couldn't hear anything. Yiyao looked into Jingyan's expectant eyes and shook her head blankly.

Jingyan lowered his head in frustration. "Sure enough, it still doesn't work. How could this be?" Jingyan thought.

Louis waved his hands and said, "That's not the way to talk to her. You must speak loud! The hearing aid just helps her get a little hearing back. You have to speak a little louder for her to really hear you."

Jingyan nodded his head and said louder, "Yiyao!"

Yiyao only felt there was a tiny voice around her ears calling her and she nodded slightly. When she looked up, she saw Jingyan smiling excitedly at her.

When Yiyao came to her sense, she was in Jingyan's thick arms. She moved her fingers and finally reached out and patted Jingyan on the back.

The man in front of her, for her sake, had to endure sadness. After experiencing desperation for several times, Yiyao finally got back a bit of hearing.

Yiyao felt the clothes on her shoulders wet. She could find no words to comfort Jingyan. At that moment, Jingyan didn't want anyone to know about his vulnerability.

It took a long time for Jingyan to calm down. Louis stopped reading the document and looked up at Jingyan, saying, "The hearing aid will only improve her condition for a while. She needs an operation as soon as possible."

"No!" Yiyao waved her hands in horror and said.

"If I have the operation now, will it affect the baby in my tummy? My body is weak, and will the child be fine if I have the operation?" Yiyao thought.

Jingyan knew Yiyao's concerns and asked Louis, "Does she have to have the operation as soon as possible? Can the operation be delayed for some time? Maybe a year later..."

"One year later?" Louis shook his head and said, "No, No ! Waiting another year will make her worse, and the operation will only make her in a more dangerous condition."

Jingyan looked at Yiyao vacillatingly. He saw that she was shaking her head at him and her lips were pressed.

"Yiyao, are you tired?" Jingyan said.

After hearing that, Yiyao was stunned, because she didn't expect Jingyan to give in so soon. After most of a day's flight and the scare, Yiyao was really a little tired, so Yiyao nodded at Jingyan honestly.

"Let me take you to rest." Jingyan said with great force and a sincere facial expression. Jingyan looked at Yiyao to make her let her guard down.

Then Yiyao nodded and said, "OK."

Jingyan breathed a sigh of relief and helped Yiyao to her feet. When they reached the door, Jingyan looked back at Louis.

Louis understood what Jingyan meant. He gave a reassuring smile to Jingyan and looked down at the documents.

They didn't go very far. There happened to be a vacant ward next to Louis's office. Jingyan took Yiyao into the ward.

Pressing the quilt beside Yiyao, Jingyan whispered in her ear in a voice full of magnetism, "Just sleep for a while. I'll go to buy something for you to eat."

Yiyao nodded and closed her eyes obediently. Then Yiyao's even breathing hit Jingyan on the back of his hand.

Jingyan touched Yiyao's forehead tentatively. Seeing no response from her, he took his hands off and turned to leave.

At the moment when the door of the ward was closed, Yiyao opened her eyes. She got out of bed quickly and opened the door.

The view of Jingyan's back went far gradually and he finally entered the elevator.

Seeing Jingyan don't cheat her, Yiyao felt relieved and closed the door, and then she went back to the bed.

Unbeknownst to Yiyao, the elevator opened again the moment she closed the door of the ward. Jingyan stepped out of the elevator calmly.

When Jingyan went out, he was aware that there was a slight movement on the bed. As Yiyao's ears were not sensitive, she thought she had concealed her movement well enough.

Jingyan knew what Yiyao thought and he walked into the elevator on purpose. After Yiyao confirmed he went into the elevator and was relieved, Jingyan returned by the way he came.

Jingyan shook his head helplessly. It's like they're in a spy movie. They played tricks on each other to hide something from each other.

Jingyan went back to Louis's office and locked the door behind him.

Louis looked up and saw Jingyan look nervous. "Don't worry. My office is well insulated. Besides, her ears are not very sensitive." Louis said.

After hearing that, Jingyan was relieved to return to his seat. "Louis, I want to ask you a question." Jingyan said.

"Go ahead." Louis looked that he was all ears and said.

Louis had expected Jingyan to come back and ask him, so when Louis saw Jingyan turned his head, Louis nodded at Jingyan understandingly, and he stayed in the office waiting for Jingyan.

"Is the operation risky?" Jingyan asked.

Louis crossed his fingers and faced Jingyan. "There are risks in any operation, and we are trusted because we minimize the risk." Louis said.

"Yiyao is pregnant." Jingyan said uncertainly.

"This has been mentioned in the information you sent me before. But the wall of her womb is too thin and it's not good for her to bear a child." Louis said.

Louis was hesitant when he saw the data. It must be a miracle to conceive a child with Yiyao's constitution. But there is a risk that the baby will grow out of shape because of Yiyao's womb. Louis didn't tell Jingyan that the baby might be deformed.

"What?" Jingyan looked at Louis in surprise and said.

No one told Jingyan that.

"I mean, she's very weak now, and the baby will take her nutrients and make her weaker and worse." Louis said.

Louis found an excuse that he thought is reasonable.

However, Jingyan was hesitant.

Jingyan is the baby's father, and of course he was reluctant to give up the child. But if Jingyan had to choose between the child and Yiyao, he would choose Yiyao without hesitation.

"What do you think about it?" Louis raised his eyebrows and said.

Jingyan said nothing.

Louis fell silent. His beard quivered with his breath, and he looked very lovely.

"If she has to wait until the baby is born, she might miss the best time for treatment." Louis said.

Louis didn't say it directly, he just gave Jingyan a choice. Louis knew Jingyan had a plan in his mind, but for a moment Jingyan dared not face it.

"I'll think about it again." Jingyan said.

Then Jingyan stood up and Louis stopped him. "If she doesn't have the operation within five months, her chances of recovery are almost gone." Louis said.

Jingyan nodded in silent. He trudged out the door. Although he was still straight, perhaps he did not notice that his footsteps were in disorder.

Louis shook his head and sighed. Nothing in this world has the best of both worlds. Once given a choice, the outcome is bound to be bloody cruel.

Jingyan walked alone in the street. His brain was in a mess. "Why is it that I am always given such tricky choices that I have to choose one every time?" Jingyan thought.

"Sweet dumplings! Delicious sweet dumplings!"

Suddenly, a few friendly words of Chinese came to Jingyan's ears. He looked up and wondered how could there be the Chinese vendor's hawking in the foreign street.

A cart moved slowly toward Jingyan, followed by a girl in thin clothes. After seeing that, Jingyan was more curious.

Jingyan walked up to the girl and asked, "How much are the sweet dumplings?"

"Ten yuan." The girl said.

The little girl looked up, wondering what kind of person has such a beautiful voice. After seeing the appearance of Jingyan, she froze in place.

She has never seen a man with such perfect features in real life. She prefers Chinese looks, even though all the foreigners are handsome with high nose bridge and big eyes.

After seeing the girl is stunned, Jingyan couldn't help frown, saying, "Give me a bowl of sweet dumplings."

"Oh... OK." The girl said.

The girl filled a bowl of sweet dumplings quickly and said, "Sir, here you are."

Jingyan took the bowl of sweet dumplings over and gave the girl ten yuan. He was about to leave when two or three black people appeared out of nowhere and surrounded the cart.

"What do you want to do?" The girl said. The girl was afraid, but she did not beg for mercy.

As the girl spoke Chinese, the black people couldn't understand what she was saying. The black people just surrounded her with smile on their faces and ignored Jingyan.

The girl backed away timidly. She looked up at Jingyan piteously, hoping he could help her

But Jingyan didn't want to get involved in this trouble. He just wanted to take the sweet dumplings back and let Yiyao have a taste.

The black people, one covering the mouth of the girl and others yanking the girl at her arms, subdued the girl quickly.

The girl struggled and bit the hand of the black man who covered her mouth. The black man felt the pain on his hand and let go of the girl.

"Help!" The girl shouted.

After hearing that, Jingyan, who was walking, was stunned. When he came to his senses, he saw a black man swearing and raising his hand to slap the little girl.

Jingyan frowned. He can put up with women being abused behind his back, but when he sees it with his eyes, he can't just stand by.

He walked back to the cart carrying the sweet dumplings. Under the gaze of the several black men, he put down the sweet dumplings.

Jingyan asked the black men in fluent English what they were going to do, but the black men mistook that for provocation. Glancing at each other, the black men abandoned the siege of the girl and walked up to Jingyan instead.

“What are you doing here?” Asked a black man who understands Chinese.

Jingyan laughed and said, “What am I doing here? I am here to buy sweet dumplings.” Then Jingyan waved the packed sweet dumplings at them.

The black man who understands Chinese still thought Jingyan was trying to pick a fight. He snorted and beckoned other black men to go closer to Jingyan.

Jingyan stepped back half a step. He asked the black man who understands Chinese, “Why are you bullying this girl?”

The black man thought Jingyan was frightened. He didn’t want to fight with Jingyan and said casually, “We haven’t touched a woman in a long time. Bro, how about you joining us?”

Jingyan frowned and saw the girl hiding behind the cart. She was staring at him with her pitiful eyes.

“I can promise you that.” Jingyan said.

Then Jingyan said after a few minutes of silence, “But I have to be the first one to do that.”

When the black men heard what Jingyan said, they knew Jingyan’s guard was down. They looked at Jingyan understandingly and smiled, saying, “OK. It’s up to you.”

Jingyan just sat by until the girl kept looking at him for help.

After the black men who understands Chinese explained what Jingyan said to his companions, they walked away from Jingyan and continued to pin the girl down.

“No! Help me!” The girl said. The girl placed all her hopes on Jingyan, but Jingyan turned to leave with a straight face.

The burning flame in the eyes of the girl was extinguished in an instant. She dropped to the ground with her eyes looking dully ahead.

After hearing that hysterical cries of the girl, Jingyan couldn’t stand it anymore. He ran back and punched the nearest black man.

The black man was angry and asked, “What on earth do you want to do?”

“I just don’t like what you do.” Jingyan shrugged and said. Then Jingyan hit the black man again when he wasn’t looking.

At that moment, the two black men who have a short fuse couldn't stand it and surrounded Jingyan.

The two men looked at each other and simultaneously punched Jingyan.

Jingyan dodged their punches. He stepped back to avoid being struck by their fists and picked up a man by his side and put him in front of him.

The black men were dazzled by Jingyan's movements. They have great strength, but their brains don't function well. They just thought that Jingyan would be attacked by their punches or hit the one who hits him.

They did not expect that Jingyan would pull out the one people around him. Jingyan was not hurt at all.

"You.." The black man said. He was too angry to speak a complete sentence. Pointing to Jingyan, he spoke a few words in English to his companions. Then the black men braced themselves up.

After the black man saying a few more words to his companions, all the black men began to revenge.

Seeing no one pay attention to her, the girl ducked and began dialing 911.

Jingyan dealt with two black men. He caught them by one of their arms in each hand. Then the two black men looked at each other and turned to hold Jingyan's arms with both their hands.

Jingyan struggled for a moment and was about to lift his foot to kick the nearest black man away, but he felt a cool wind behind him. Turning around, Jingyan saw another black man approaching him with a broken beer bottle.

"Be careful!" The girl said. Her heart was in her throat and she fixed her eyes on Jingyan.

Jingyan hands were under control and he could not get out of the way, and the bottle was coming straight at his head.

Jingyan knew his situation clearly, so he stood where he was. When the bottle was only a fist away from him, he turned his head abruptly and moved with all his might to the left.

When the bottle dropped, the glass fragments sunk into Jingyan's arm, and blood trickled out in an instant.

When the black man saw he don't hit Jingyan on the head, he pulled out the bottle and wanted to hit him again. But he heard the siren in the distance and dropped the bottle immediately.

The rest of the black men also saw the situation and fled. Jingyan lost so much blood that he fell in a pool of blood as soon as the two black men let go of his arms.

"Sir? Sir?" The girl who sells sweet dumplings said. She hurried over to support Jingyan, but she could not hold him by her strength.

Jingyan barely managed to get to his feet and everything round him looked blurred. He vaguely saw the crowd around him and then he was carried to the hospital bed.

"Sweet dumplings...Yiyao..." Jingyan said.

Jingyan kept thinking about that Yiyao had not eaten yet. "What should Yiyao do if I am sent to the hospital like this?" Jingyan thought.

"Sweet dumplings? When you get well, I will send them to you every day." The girl said.

As Jingyan's voice was blurry, the girl only heard Jingyan say sweet dumplings. The girl was moved and she promised Jingyan that.

Jingyan shook his head, because the girl misunderstood him. But his dizziness was terrible, and though he tried to resist drowsiness, he could think of nothing and he fell into a coma.

.....

When Yiyao woke up, Jingyan didn't sit by her side as she expected. Her heart beat fast and she had an uneasy feeling.

Finally Yiyao lost patience and went out to look for Jingyan. As soon as she was in the street, there was a strong smell of blood

She looked around vacantly and saw a cart selling sweet dumplings lying unclaimed on the side of the street.

There was a slight noise in her ears, but she could not tell which direction it was from. She looked around blankly and saw a car with a sickbed.

She wondered if there was people who injured seriously. No wonder there was a smell of blood in the air.

After standing for some time, she decided not to waste any more time. "Maybe I will see Jingyan standing in my ward when I go back." Yiyao thought.

With this thought, Yiyao turned and entered the lift. There was a girl in the lift, her hands covered with blood, who watched Yiyao vacantly as Yiyao got into the lift.

Yiyao was taken aback and she took a defensive stance. As the girl's hands were covered with blood, but she wasn't hurt, she must have done something.

The lift stopped at the floor where the girl was about to go and she walked out of the lift in a trance. Inattentively, the girl bumped to Yiyao next to her.

Yiyao's white short sleeves were instantly stained with blood.

"I'm sorry. I'm sorry." The girl said.

Before Yiyao got angry at the girl, the girl apologized. At that moment, the door of the elevator was about to close.

Yiyao waved her hands and said, "It's doesn't matter."

The girl gave Yiyao a gentle smile. Through the crack between the doors of the lift, Yiyao saw the "emergency room" written in English, and her heart skipped a beat.

When Yiyao returned to the ward, Jingyan was not there. She sat on the edge of the bed for a while, and the words "emergency room" were always in her head.

She had a sense of premonition and her eyelids had been beating irregularly.

She felt restless. A bold idea popped into her head. Did something bad happen to Jingyan?

"That's impossible!" Yiyao shook her head and thought, "How could something bad happen to him as he went out to buy something to eat?"

But...

She contradicted herself again in her mind. As there was a rush of traffic on the road, it's possible that he got hit if he was careless.

Yiyao was helpless. "Why I always think something bad happened to him? Do I hate him so much?" Yiyao thought.

The more Yiyao thought, the more she felt something's wrong. She decided to ask Louis next door. Judging by the relationship of Louis and Jingyan, they should have known each other long ago,

Louis was busy with his work in the office. Hearing the footsteps, Louis looked up and saw Yiyao smiling at him warmly.

“Jingyan hasn’t come back yet. Where did he go?” Yiyao came straight to the point and asked.

Louis shrugged and said, “I don’t know.”

This is the answer Yiyao expected. She had no great mood swings, because she had thought of that before she came.

She wanted Louis to help her check on new patients, or her heart would be in a state of uneasiness. The words “emergency room” kept emerging in her head.

“Louis, I need you to check on the new emergency patient for me.” Yiyao was uncharacteristically calm and said.

“What are you checking this for?” Louis said in surprise.

“I suspect the new patient in the emergency room may be Jingyan.” Yiyao said.

She didn’t hesitate to tell Louis what she thought.

What Yiyao made Louis feel at a loss. Louis took a look at Yiyao seriously. Seeing that she did not seem to be joking, he repressed what he was going to say.

Then Louis stood up and said, “I will go to have a check.”

Although he had agreed, he still found it inconceivable. “A few minutes ago Jingyan was standing in front of me. How could he suddenly enter the emergency room?” Louis thought.

Louis went to the place where the emergency room patients’ records were kept. “Show me the list of the most recent patient admitted to the emergency room.” Louis said.

The man who was sorting the list turned to look at Louis in surprise. Seeing Louis, the dean, the man hesitated for a moment and handed Louis the list in his hand.

As soon as Louis took it and opened it, a familiar name came into his view.

Jingyan Ye!

Louis felt it’s unbelievable that Jingyan’s name was really on the list. “We were separated for less than an hour. How did he end up in the emergency room?” Louis thought.

Louis closed the notebook and turned around, finding himself face to face with Yiyao. Louis had no idea when Yiyao had stood behind him. Her expression was as calm as ever.

But Louis knew she must have seen the list.

With a sad facial expression, Yiyao asked calmly, "Which ward is he in?"

Louis cleared his throat and said to Yiyao loudly, "He's still in the emergency room. I'll tell you about it when he gets transferred to the ward."

"Where is Jingyan?" Yiyao asked as if she hadn't heard what Louis said.

Chapter 365 A Game of Cat And Mouse (the whole chapter)

Louis sighed and walked ahead, saying: "Follow me."

Yiyao Duan walked behind him, who was quite weak and faltered several times. But when she thought that Jingyan Ye was waiting for her in the emergency room, she gritted her teeth and held the wall and kept walking.

The floor of the hospital was actually very flat, but Yiyao felt like she had been walking for years. The light in the emergency room was still on, and she was standing opposite the emergency room and did not move at all, as if she had become a statue.

"Miss Duan?" Louis was behind her, being quite worried.

Yiyao turned around and raised her right hand to touch her forehead, then she said after being stunned for a second, "I'm fine."

She looked so pale that Louis was quite worried for her and he tried to persuade her to leave after holding back a few times.

But Yiyao had already known that Jingyan was in the emergency room, so there was no way she could just leave at ease.

Louis shook his head and sat down in a waiting chair beside her. An hour later, the light in the emergency room went out.

Yiyao immediately stared at the room, and then the door opened and the doctor pushed the hospital bed out from inside.

The man sleeping on the hospital bed was clearly the one who Yiyao had been thinking about day and night. His masculine facial features were fascinating, but at the moment, his eyes were tightly closed.

"Jingyan Ye!"

Yiyao felt that she could no longer stand and she reached out to hold the wall beside her. Then Louis stood up from his chair, feeling incredulous as well when he saw the familiar man.

Before he saw Jingyan, he had been thinking that maybe their names just happened to be the same, and it wasn't until the moment the hospital bed was rolled out that he truly believed the record.

"What's wrong with him?" Louis glanced at Yiyao and repeated the words in English, being afraid that the attending doctor would say something that she could not understand.

The doctor froze and replied, "He was attacked with a beer bottle and had a huge wound, and I gave him a dozen of stitches for his wound."

Though Yiyao knew that they were talking to each other, she could not understand the content of their talking. Besides, because she was hard of hearing and she could only hear faint sounds, she had no idea what they were saying at all.

She then came closer to the hospital bed and became quite panic after seeing that Jingyan was immobile, asking, "Doctor, what's.....what's wrong with him?"

The doctor in front of Louis turned to Yiyao and was quite bewildered after seeing that Yiyao was looking at him anxiously. And he had to shrug his shoulder and shake his head at her since he could not understand what she was saying.

But Yiyao mistook his meaning and thought that Jingyan was beyond remedy and had to wait for death. Then she was so sad that she was about cry, and she touched Jingyan's arm with quivering fingers.

Louis didn't understand her sudden sadness and didn't know how to explain to her, so he called the nurse to push Jingyan into the ward.

"No don't!" Yiyao stopped them, shouting hysterically.

Jingyan was lying on the bed, and it seemed that he was not going to wake up, so Yiyao thought she knew where they were going to push him now.

"You have much time later, now please let me say goodbye to him!"

Then Louis was even more bewildered, who looked at Yiyao questioningly and was waving his hand to hint them not to go for the moment.

Why did she have to say goodbye to him now that they were only pushing him into the ward? Did she already know that Jingyan had talked to him later?

However, Yiyao, being careless about those people who looked at her with strange expression, couldn't stop crying, "It's only been an hour, and you've become like this, what the hell happened?"

Her hand were put on Jingyan's side as she cried even more helplessly.

"He should have his difficulties, and he will tell you when he....."

Before Louis finished saying his words, he was interrupted by Yiyao, "What are the difficulties? Do you want me to forgive you just by lying in a hospital bed like this?"

Her voice was so harsh that Louis did not know what to say at all after hearing that, who was poor at speech originally, so he had to stop talking.

Yiyao lay on top of Jingyan and said more words, while the doctors and nurses beside them looked at her inexplicably, looking a little impatient.

There were also several patients gathered around, and when they saw this petite girl crying hysterically, they all thought something had happened and watched her.

After a long time, Jingyan opened his eyes after feeling a cold drop of liquid on his face.

What he saw at once was the crying Yiyao. And before he realized what happened, he reached out his hand to gently wipe away her tears.

"What's wrong?"

When Yiyao saw that Jingyan had woken up, she was stunned for a while before she asked, "Are you alright?"

"I'm fine! Well....." Jingyan lifted his other hand to rub her hair, and then a burst of pain came through.

He frowned and checked his arm, which was cradled in gauze and the blood was seeping out, he then remembered that he seemed to have gotten into a fight outside earlier.

"I'm fine, Yiyao."

Although he was still painful, he forced himself to pretend to be okay and comforted Yiyao.

Yiyao then broke into tears and reached out her hands to hit his chest, "Then why did you lie to me, I thought"

I thought you were dead.....

Jingyan smiled tenderly and held back the pain to place his palm on top of her head.

Neither of them knew what had happened and they both looked up at Louis, who had an innocent expression, and then Louis explained to them at once.

It turned out that Jingyan was not seriously hurt. They sent him to the emergency ward because someone called their emergency number and they found that Jingyan had collapsed in a pool of blood after they arrived, so they thought Jingyan was badly hurt.

After being sent out of the emergency room, he did not wake up because of the anesthetic, causing Yiyao to mistakenly believe that he was seriously injured or even..... dead.

“Sir!”

A startled cry interrupted their thinking, and Jingyan and Yiyao both looked at the direction of the voice.

Jingyan only felt that the girl was familiar, but he didn't know how to call her, so he just said: “You called me just now?”

“Yes, thank you for saving me!” The girl selling the sweet dumplings hurriedly came closer to Jingyan and Yiyao, and shook the food in her hands at them, “These are the sweet dumplings I just cooked, hurry up and eat them!”

“Well” Before Jingyan say anything, he was fed a sweet dumpling by her, stopping him from saying, and all he could do was just chewing it.

“Sir, thank you very much, if it wasn't for you, I”

With the sweet dumpling in his mouth, Jingyan could not speak, so he had to wave his hand repeatedly, indicating that it was no big deal.

The girl selling the sweet dumplings shook her head, saying: “No, no, sir, you were even badly hurt because of me, so I must repay you!”

Her words surprised Jingyan so much that he didn't know how to reply, so he had to turn his head tentatively, and he really saw that Yiyao was staring at him angrily.

Jingyan immediately turned his head around and glanced at Louis, then he blinked at him for help.

Louis immediately understood what he meant and he stroked his white beard, saying: “Everyone, please go! Don't block the aisle.”

And then, he asked the nurse to push Jingyan's hospital bed away, which gave the three people to have enough room to ease the tension.

In the ward, they looked at each other, but none of them spoke first.

Finally, Jingyan, who couldn't stand Yiyao's sharp gaze, was the first to break the silence by saying, "Well, Yiyao"

"Give me an explanation."

Yiyao held her arms and the noise coming from her hearing aid made her frown slightly, which made Jingyan think that she was angry with him.

So he said at once: "On my way to buy you food, I met.....ah? What's your name?" Then he asked the name of the girl selling the sweet dumplings.

"Annan Xia."

"Yes, I met Annan, who was surrounded by a group of black people. Of course I couldn't just walk away and not save her, so I went up to help her, unfortunately..... I alone could not beat those people, so I just became like this now."

He talked very loudly with great momentum because he was worried that Yiyao could not hear him.

Yiyao was still skeptical, asking: "Really?"

"Of course, you can ask her if you don't believe me!"

Then Yiyao looked at Annan, who nodded timidly and then looked at Jingyan again.

Her subtle movement made Yiyao feel very uncomfortable, so she was again full of suspicion and alarm though she had just dropped her guard.

Jingyan knew it would be difficult for him to be believed without making some actions, so he turned to Annan and said, "I really just did what was righteous at that time, and you don't have to return the favor. You can go back now."

"Sir....." Annan was full of grievance and did not move at all.

Seeing that Yiyao was about to leave, Jingyan hurriedly sat up from the hospital bed and tugged her hand.

"Yiyao, don't go."

They had gone through so much, and he didn't want to waste time because of this little misunderstanding. Then he said: "You are Annan Xia, right? Let me state it to you once again: I only saved you out of my conscience, and if I had known that I would be badly hurt, I probably wouldn't have saved you at that time."

Annan felt his words quite unbelievable, "But you were injured for that"

"That was because of my own lack of caution, but not you."

He said the words so decisively that he believed that Annan would not misunderstand him anymore. Therefore, he did not say anything but turn to stare at Yiyao.

The two looked at each other and both saw themselves through each other's pupils, and for a moment, all of Yiyao's dissatisfaction vanished into thin air.

Annan watched them for a while, realizing that she really had no chance before she left angrily.

While neither Jingyan nor Yiyao had time to care about her, because they were still staring at each other and they only treated Annan as a trivial event.

"Yiyao, I'm hungry."

Jingyan looked at Yiyao pitifully, who had been already hungry when he went to buy food for her. And after all he had gone through, he was really starving to death, especially after he took a bite of a delicious sweet dumpling.

However, after he said the words, Yiyao's stomach started to growl and she realized that she was quite hungry as well because she hadn't eaten anything since she entered the hospital.

And when she learned that Jingyan was in the emergency room, she was too worried to have time to eat.

"I'll go to the hospital canteen and see if there's any food left."

As soon as she turned around, Jingyan pulled her hand, saying: "I'm not eating."

He didn't want Yiyao to leave for fear that something unpredictable would happen again, so he would rather be hungry than let her leave.

But Yiyao turned around helplessly, saying: "I still have to eat even if you don't."

"Indeed, you haven't eaten either, I'll go help you....." Jingyan then jumped up from the bed and accidentally moved his arm, so he grimaced in pain, "Ouch"

Yiyao held his arm and helped him to lie down, saying: "Just calm down and lie down, I'll go buy you food."

"Be back soon....."

Jingyan reluctantly watched her leave and lied on the bed, staring at the ceiling in boredom.

Yiyao walked to the door and looked back at him, and could not help but laugh after seeing him lying on the bed, like a dissatisfied housewife.

Then she shook her head helplessly and walked towards the elevator. The moment she just entered the elevator, a woman came out at the staircase, who was Annan.

She carried the sweet dumplings and glared at the elevator which Yiyao just took, then she calmed herself down and stepped into Jingyan's ward.

Jingyan was lying on the bed when he heard the sound at the door, and he thought it was Yiyao who just returned, so he immediately turned his head with a joyful smile, saying: "Yiyao, you're back?"

"Sir." Annan showed an innocent expression deliberately and timidly looked at him.

Jingyan became frustrated at once: "Why are you here?"

"I thought you might be hungry, so I came back to bring you this."

Annan held the vacuum cup in her hand, which made Jingyan feel quite familiar, and after a few seconds, he began to realize that inside the vacuum cup were the sweet dumplings she had asked him to eat before.

"I'm not hungry, take it away!"

But Annan walked in as if she hadn't hear him, and then she opened the vacuum cup, and the smell inside the cup immediately made Jingyan feel even more hungry.

He had really been hungry for too long and he could hardly restrain himself from eating that, but once he thought that Yiyao had already gone downstairs to buy him food, he forced himself to turn his head, saying: "I have told you to take it away."

"Sir, why are you seeking trouble for oneself?"

At the moment, Jingyan felt like a Tang-Monk(A character from Journey to the West, one of the four great Classical Novels of China), and a demon spirit was making every effort to force him to break his religious precept.

He then turned his head to face the wall, not turning his head to her no matter how she tempted him.

“Oops!”

Jingyan heard a startled cry from Annan behind him and hurriedly turned his head, asking: “What happened?”

“I’m sorry, sir, the juice of the sweet dumplings is spilled.”

Annan looked at Jingyan in embarrassment. There was a small patch of moist on the bed sheet and a trace of juice on her hand.

Although the sweet dumplings had been kept for a long time, the juice inside was still quite hot because the sweet dumplings were kept in the vacuum cup. Then Jingyan helplessly took the cup and let her draw some tissues to wipe the juice.

“Just eat some, consider it as my way of thanking you for saving my life.”

“It’s not that serious!” Jingyan was quite awkward.

“Of course it is, if I were r.aped by those bastards today…… I would ……I would not live anymore!”

Jingyan looked at her hesitantly, thinking that it was indeed very serious for a girl to encounter such a thing, so he accepted her food, lest she came back to badger with him later.

“Okay, don’t cry, I’ll eat.”

Jingyan held the vacuum cup in one hand and tried to use a spoon to scoop the sweet dumplings with the other, but his hand could not exert any strength though he had tried to scoop for a long time.

“Let me do it.”

Annan then took the spoon and stopped Jingyan from trying to refuse her, “You are injured now, what kind of repayment do I have if I don’t even have this sincerity in repaying my kindness?”

Jingyan knew that if he didn’t give her a chance, she would haunt him for a long time, besides, the thought that Yiyao might return at any moment made him fearful.

“Alright, then hurry up!”

Annan smiled without saying anything and used a spoon to scoop up a sweet dumpling and held it to Jingyan's mouth.

Jingyan glanced at her and uncomfortably opened his mouth, but the sweet dumpling was still so hot that even tears came out of the corners of his eyes.

“Ah! Sir, I'm sorry! I'll definitely pay attention!”

Annan was full of panic, which made Jingyan feel a little awkward, then he said: “It's alright, it's not very hot.”

Annan was still suspicious with Jingyan's words, because he still had tears hanging on the corners of his eyes, and she paid more attention when she scooped the sweet dumpling this time, and she even blew on it herself to cool it down before feeding it into his mouth.

This made Jingyan feel even more embarrassed, and he hesitated for a long time before opening his mouth to eat it. However, he still couldn't help but feel uncomfortable.

After all, she wasn't Yiyao, and he felt very guilty to being treated so intimately by a strange woman.

But he didn't know that all this had been seen by Yiyao, who was now outside the ward with the food she had bought in the hospital canteen in her hand, and through the glass in the middle of the door, she just saw this scene that Annan blew the sweet dumplings and fed them to him.

They were talking in a low voice, so Yiyao could not hear their conversation, but she could still see Jingyan's smiling face.

She couldn't help but clench her hands, wanting to rush in and ask him what was going on, but she was also afraid he would tell her the truth that she didn't want to hear.

While the two people inside still did not know that Yiyao was staring at them, and Annan was still feeding the sweet dumplings to Jingyan one by one. But Jingyan felt something was wrong after checking the time.

He thought: Could something have happened to her now that Yiyao still does not come back after such a long time?

As he thought this, she again fed a sweet dumpling to him, and Jingyan really could not force himself to swallow it this time.

His head slightly stepped back and he smiled gently, “I can't eat anymore, I'm really full, thank you!”

“How....., it’s only the fifth.....”

“The fifth.....”

Jingyan felt quite speechless, wondering whether he would be stuffed or not now that he had swallowed so many.

“I guess the sweet dumplings have satiety, and I’m really quite full now.”

Jingyan looked at her sincerely, showing that he was not lying to her.

“Sir, do you dislike me?”

“No, no!” Jingyan hurriedly waved his hands, explaining: “I don’t dislike you, it’s just that I already have a girlfriend and I’m going to marry her in the future, so I think we should keep a little distance so that she can also feel rest assured and not have unnecessary misunderstandings.”

“Do you love her?” Annan continued to ask.

“I love her!” This time, Jingyan replied seriously instead of kidding.

He loved her so much that he even wanted the people in the whole world to know, so how could he hide it?

“How?” It seemed that Annan had suffered a big blow after hearing his words: “If you love her, why are you so afraid of her?”

“I’m not afraid.....”

Jingyan was helpless. He then thought: She looks like a young girl, who perhaps still goes to college. And she might sell the sweet dumplings as a way of part-time-work and part-time-study.

So he said: “Little girl, loving a person is not being afraid of her, but is that you are willing to be controlled by her, and you will make an explanation to her if there is a misunderstanding, because you do not want her to feel aggrieved.”

“I still don’t understand

Annan bowed her head, who felt quite sad, as if a blender was stirring in her heart haphazardly.

“You will understand my words later.”

Jingyan sat against the wall, "I won't eat the sweet dumplings, you should better find someone you love and feed them to him later."

Annan didn't say anything, and a dull ache appeared in her chest with every breath she took.

Jingyan closed his eyes, who did not intend to continue to spend any more time with her, with a look of estrangement.

Then they were at a standstill for a while, but Annan finally couldn't stand it anymore, who was still in the stage of the first awakening of love. And she felt quite frustrated when she endured such indifference of Jingyan.

She turned around and put the vacuum cap away. But then she saw the figure at the door and a thought suddenly came to her mind.

"Sir."

"Hmm?" Jingyan opened his eyes, wondering what else she wanted to ask him.

"You've got dirt on your face, come closer to me for a second, and I'll clean it up for you."

Jingyan touched his face, "Dirt?"

He then thought of the black sesame seeds in the sweet dumplings.....

He didn't suspect and moved a little closer to Annan, then asked her to help him wipe it off because he was afraid that Yiyao would see it on his face and be unhappy when she came back.

Annan held a napkin and moved closer to him. When the two were less than a fist's length apart, she suddenly kissed his lips.

Jingyan was incomparably shocked and immediately moved backward, asking: "What are you doing?"

"Consider this as the last step for me to repay your kindness, and I won't owe you anything after that!"

Annan clapped her hands with a strange and bright smile.

Jingyan was speechless and did not know whether to laugh or cry after hearing her explanation, but he still had to be quite serious and educated her until she repeatedly promised that it would not happen again, and then he let her go.

Inside the ward, they got along happily, but outside, Yiyao was not calm and quite angry because she saw her man being taken advantage, who was still quite happy instead of being angry.

Thisthis.....

She thought: What else can not be tolerated, if this can be?

Then she pushed the door open and went in, breaking the delightful atmosphere in the ward, and her tall shadow cast onto his bed.

“Yi..... Yiyao?”

“It’s me.” Yiyao said seriously, “I have bought you what you wanted to eat, but unfortunately, it seems that you are quite full and can’t eat it now.”

She then walked over to the bin and threw all the several portions of packed food in it.

“Yiyao!” Jingyan wanted to stop her, but he was far away from her and there was Annan in the way in front of the bed, so he just watched that all the food was thrown into the bin and could not do anything.

“What’s wrong with you?”

“Huh?” Yiyao sneered, who was quite sad in her heart, “You are very happy with your flirting, right? But I went to buy you food hungrily and saw the scene of you two being intensely affectionate as soon as I came back!”

“What can I do?”

Jingyan knew that she had misunderstood him, but how could he explain to her about their kiss now that it did happen?

“Yiyao, listen to my explanation!”

But Yiyao didn’t give him a chance, who turned around and went straight to the door to leave, because she did not want to see their intimacy!

Jingyan immediately understood her intention and he lifted the quilt to get out of bed, but Annan wouldn’t let him go.

“Sir, your arm isn’t healed yet and you can’t get out of bed!”

“Get out of the way!”

“Sir.....”

"I have told you to get out of the way, do you hear me!" Jingyan growled at her.

If he let Yiyao leave this time, he didn't know where he could find her again. Because of his luck, the first few times he had been able to find her, but this time he didn't want to rely on luck, and he wanted to keep her before she left!

Annan had never seen him lose his temper, who felt very scared, as if the cold air had poured from her head to her feet, so she hesitantly moved her position to let him go. And Jingyan got out of bed at once without even looking at her.

When he left the ward, there was no one in the hallway. And Jingyan felt desperate as he looked around to find her, thinking: She left again.....

Am I going to find her again?

It was like they were playing a game of cat and mouse, never knowing when they would be tired. But what if he got tired one day.....

Or she got tired one day.....

Wouldn't they be disconnected from each other and live their own lives in different places?

No!

Jingyan shook his head, thinking: I have to find her, I must find her!

Chapter 366 I Want to Be with You (the whole chapter)

A loud noise came from the elevator, wrenching Jingyan Ye away from his grief. He immediately had hope, stood up and ran out.

The number above showed the first floor, which meant that Yiyao had also just gotten off the elevator. He didn't think much, turned around and went into the safe passage.

Since there were no windows in the elevator, he couldn't see where Yiyao was, so he ran for the stairs. There were windows there so he could see which way she was downstairs.

The hospital stairs were steep, and Jingyan didn't have the patience to go down the stairs one step at a time. He ran down the stairs as fast as he could.

His hand started to bleed again due to the violent swing. He frowned at it and left it alone.

Through the window of the building, Jingyan saw Yiyao stopped at the intersection which happened to have a red light. Then Jingyan sighed with relief.

He walked faster and faster, while the blood from his arm began to drip non-stop. The pain was so intense that he gritted his teeth, but when he thought of Yiyao down there, he cared less about the pain in his arm.

The red light at the intersection had turned green and Yiyao was walking across the intersection, Jingyan tried to call out to her, but he was too far away for her. She may not be able to hear his shout.

Finally Jingyan reached the first floor. He hurriedly ran across the intersection, but was surrounded by crowds of people. He couldn't find where Yiyao was at all.

"Yiyao!" Jingyan shouted loudly.

Then he followed the direction of the crowd and moved his steps. There were people all in front of him. He didn't know where the person he was looking for was, so he could only walk and shout all the way. Then he squatted on the ground, head down, hiding his sorrow. At this point the wound on his arm was completely split open, but at the moment he seemed to feel no pain.

He crouched on the ground for a while before he calmed down and stood up.

He looked up against the flow of people and suddenly saw Yiyao who was standing at a distance of one meter looking at him.

He hurriedly ran over and embraced her. "Yiyao, you're back."

Yiyao put her hand slowly on his arm. "Your arm is bleeding. Doesn't it hurt you?"

"As long as you don't leave me, it doesn't hurt." Jingyan said.

"You let go of me first. Come back to the hospital with me to dress the wound."

"No, I want to hold you a little longer."

Yiyao patted his back and then said, "Are you still a child? Why don't you take care of your body?"

"It hurts!" Jingyan screamed. In fact, he didn't feel his back hurt. He just wanted to say it to get Yiyao's attention .

“Sorry, I hit your wound.” Yiyao immediately looked at his wound with concern. The gauze on his arm was already soaked with blood.

“Your wound is very severe now. We have to hurry back to the hospital.” Yiyao said seriously. She pulled Jingyan and headed back the way she came.

Jingyan followed behind her. He was very happy that Yiyao was not angry with him anymore.

Pushing open the door of the ward, Yiyao saw that Annan Xia was still inside. She stopped at the door.

“What’s wrong? Why don’t you go in?” Jingyan asked. Then he saw Annan sitting on the edge of the hospital bed.

“Your lover is still waiting for you. I should leave.” said Yiyao. She turned around and was ready to leave. Jingyan pulled her wrist in time.

“Yiyao ...she is not my lover. I only like you.”

Yiyao sneered, “She just fed you. You were so intimate. And you still don’t admit that she is your lover?”

“You know that was not my intention.I...”

Yiyao interrupted him. “You mean she forced you? I see that you are enjoying it.”

Jingyan had nothing to say. He had indeed been forced, but he didn’t want to explain it in front of Annan.

“Why are you silent?” Yiyao said, and then prepared to leave. But Jingyan held her wrist firmly.

“Sorry, I I shouldn’t stay here. I’ll leave.” Annan suddenly said.

“Please don’t go now.” Jingyan stopped her.

If she left now, he was really unable to explain this matter clearly. He wanted Annan to leave after she made this matter clear. However, Yiyao mistook Jingyan for not being able to let her go. She snorted coldly and turned her head not wanting to see his face.

“Mr. Ye, is there anything else?” Annan asked suspiciously.

“Please help me explain this.” Jingyan said.

“Explain what?” Annan didn’t understand.

Jingyan didn't know whether she was saying that on purpose or not

"Don't force her to explain it for you. It's nothing to explain at all." Yiyao held back her anger.

"What the hell is wrong with you? Say something." Jingyan said to Annan anxiously. He was a little angry.

"I I, " Annan stammered. She had never encountered anything like this. She was going to cry straight away.

Jingyan didn't know what to do. He was afraid that she would cry out, and he was also afraid that Yiyao would leave. So they all stood at the door.

He felt the pain in his arm. Suddenly he got an idea. He planned to pretend to faint due to blood loss. Then all problems would be solved.

Suddenly Jingyan let go of Yiyao's hand. He touched his forehead and collapsed down the wall.

"Jingyan, are you okay?" Yiyao wanted to leave, but seeing him faint, she was anxious.

"What should we do?" Annan also panicked.

"Go get a doctor!" said Yiyao.

Then Annan hurriedly ran to the corridor.

Yiyao used all her strength to help him up and walk to the hospital bed.

When Jingyan was lying on the bed with his eyes closed, he moved his body slightly. He let the mattress cover his eyes, and then he looked around through a gap.

At this moment Yiyao's back was turned to him. She was fiddling with something on the table, as if she had completely forgotten him. A moment later, Yiyao approached the hospital bed with a bottle of medicine.

"It is mixed with several kinds of medicine for fainting. Hope it works for fainting." Yiyao murmured.

Jingyan trembled. "Several kinds of medicine for fainting mix together? Is this medicine okay to take?" he thought.

He wanted to refuse the medicine she handed him, but he was faking fainting and couldn't move at all.

Yiyao slowly approached him with the medicine. Suddenly the door was opened and the doctor came in. Jingyan finally calmed down. Thank goodness, the doctor came.

The doctor hurried in with his stethoscope. As soon as he approached the bed, Yiyao moved a few steps out of the way.

He looked all over Jingyan's body while Jingyan opened his eyes and blinked at him. The doctor then understood what he meant.

"He lost too much blood. That's why he fainted. He needs a blood transfusion." said he.

"Then give him a blood transfusion." Yiyao was relieved to hear that he was okay.

The doctor gave Jingyan a glance. "There's no blood bag here. I'll go out and prepare it."

Yiyao waited in the same place. The medicine in her hand had been put somewhere, which was exactly what Jingyan expected. He didn't want to take Yiyao's medicine lest he would really faint after taking it.

For a long time, he did not hear any movement. He was curious about what she was doing. Through the cover of the blanket, Jingyan opened his eyes and peeked around the ward. At this moment, Annan and Yiyao were standing face to face.

"Girl, I think you should leave here now." Yiyao said coldly.

Hearing her words, Annan, who originally had a smile on her face, immediately became serious.

"What do I have to leave here?" Annan asked, "You have no right to kick me out."

Yiyao laughed. "Then who have the right to let you go?"

"No one can order me!" Annan said.

"This is not the place for you to stay. Mr. Ye told me that he doesn't love you. He's only with you for fun." Annan continued.

Yiyao snickered, "I won't believe your words."

"Why? Everything I said is true!"

"It's not that I don't believe you, but I know him."

"The person he likes is me!" Annan suddenly said.

Jingyan, who was lying on the bed, was angry. He had never said those words.

“Whoever he likes has nothing to do with me. I will leave when he wakes up.” Yiyao smiled.

Jingyan felt sad. She said she knew him, but actually she still didn’t believe him.

“Then why don’t you leave now?” Annan looked at her warily.

“I will leave, but I won’t be driven away by you.” Yiyao said coldly.

Her tone was sarcastic, but Annan didn’t care. As long as Yiyao could leave, she would have a chance to be with him.

Yiyao stopped talking to her and turned back to Jingyan. Then Jingyan hastily closed his eyes.

However, Annan still said, “If you leave now, he won’t find you again. When he wakes up, you may not have a chance to leave”

“So what?”

“Don’t you want to leave him?”

“I don’t want to leave just yet.”” said Yiyao.

“You lied!”

“Why would I lie to you? I have legs. I can leave when I want to. It has nothing to do with you.”

Annan looked at Yiyao with indignant look.

Yiyao pulled the quilt toward Jingyan. “Don’t pretend to be dizzy. Do you like watching people fight for fun?”

Jingyan had to open his eyes. He smiled, “Yiyao, you are so smart.”

“A fainted person won’t pull at the quilt.” Yiyao said. Then she sat down and looked at Annan, as if she was saying, “I’ll see how you explain. Jingyany has woken up, how can you continue to lie?”

“Mr. Ye, you’re awake, I” said Annan awkwardly.

Annan did not expect Jingyan to pretend to be dizzy. She knew what she just said should all be heard by him.

“Shut your mouth. Just leave here!” Jingyan said to Annan. Then he looked at Yiyao with love in his eyes.

Now as soon as he heard Annan speak, he got a headache. He didn't expect that she was so calculating that she cheated his girlfriend.

Annan stood there and did not leave. In the past, her pitiful appearance made Jingyan could not bear to be cold to her, but now he knew her true nature and had no pity for her.

“Mr. Ye, I'm sorry. I didn't mean what I just said.” Annan explained. “I just wanted to test her love for you.”

“You are simply ridiculous.” Yiyao said coldly.

Jingyan would no longer believe such a skimpy excuse. “Just leave here.”

But Annan bowed her head or didn't move.

“Yiyao, my wound hurts.” Jingyan said deliberately in order to divert attention.

“Now you're feeling the pain. How did you hold back the pain when you pretended to be dizzy just now?” Yiyao teased.

Yiyao and Jingyan no longer paid attention to Annan who was standing aside. Their actions made Annan very embarrassed, but she was not willing to leave now. She was standing there, making Yiyao and Jingyan a little uncomfortable as well.

“Miss Xia, I am very sorry for making you misunderstand my relationship with you. But the truth is what I have explained to you.” Jingyan said it bluntly.

Hearing him, Annan ran out of the door. But she bumped into the doctor with the blood bags.

“I'm sorry!” Annan hurriedly apologized, then ran away.

The doctor pushed open the door of the ward and saw Jingyan happily talking to Yiyao.

“Madam, please move over.”

Yiyao did not hear the doctor's words too well, but she hurriedly stepped aside a little.

The doctor disinfected the syringe and inserted it into Jingyan's vein. Yiyao only blinked once and he had done everything.

“Mr. Ye, your arm is still bleeding. It needs to be stopped and then re-bandaged.”

Jingyan nodded. "Just stop the bleeding here."

The doctor did not say anything. He looked at Yiyao. Girls usually scream or faint when they see a bloody scene. If she fainted, it was really hard for him to take care of her alone.

"It's okay. Just remove the stitches." Jingyan could see his hesitation. He glanced at Yiyao and said.

Hearing his words, the doctor picked up the scissors and began to remove the stitches. The gauze on his wound was attached to the flesh. Every slight movement of the doctor intensified the pain of his wound, making him frown constantly.

After the gauze was half removed, Jingyan's forehead was already covered in cold sweat.

Yiyao watched the wound and felt it was a little scary. Even if a soldier had such a wound, they would have moaned from the pain, but Jingyan did not make a sound from the beginning to the end.

Since the gauze in the middle was attached to the flesh, the doctor applied iodine around it before proceeding to remove the stitches. The iodine irritated the wound, which made Jingyan feel more pain.

Jingyan gritted his teeth to keep himself from making a sound, his face covered in sweat.

After ten minutes, the gauze was finally removed. Jingyan leaned back against the wall behind him, weak.

When Yiyao saw this, she hurriedly went over to him, "Are you okay?"

"I'm fine!" Jingyan barely smiled. His face was pale.

The wound on his arm was deep, and the bones inside were clearly visible.

The doctor wiped a handful of sweat and looked up to see Yiyao's calm expression. He was curious that she was so calm and still staring at the wound.

After the gauze was removed from his wound, the next steps were much easier. The doctor only needed to sterilize his wound, sprinkle it with medicine to stop the bleeding, and then wrap him in gauze.

His wound was originally stitched with a dozen stitches, but he ran to find Yiyao, causing the wound to have split open.

“You need to rest more. You can’t do any more strenuous exercise.” The doctor instructed.

Yiyao also said to Jingyan seriously, “If you don’t take care of your body, I won’t come back after I leave.”

Hearing that she was leaving, Jingyan hurriedly assured, “I promise I will take care of myself.”

Looking at both of them with only each other in their eyes, the doctor awkwardly touched his nose, and then silently left the ward.

Chapter 367 Let’s Go on a Trip (the whole chapter)

To ease the awkward atmosphere between the two, Jingyan let out a laugh. “I want to eat an apple. Yiyao, can you feed me?”

“Here you go.” Yiyao took an apple and gave it to him.

“But my hand

She had to pick up the fruit knife and began to peel it.

“Yiyao, do you like it here?” Jingyan suddenly asked.

“Where?”

“This city.”

Yiyao recalled the coldness of the city and their cold look when she was helpless.

She shook her head. “I don’t like it.”

“I don’t like it either.” Jingyan said. “When my arm gets better, let’s leave here!”

“I’ll take you on a trip.” He continued.

Yiyao was concentrating on peeling an apple, nodding casually.

They came here to buy hearing aids. Now they got it. There was something unhappy that happened after that, which made her want to leave here early.

Jingyan closed his eyes in satisfaction with a smile on the corner of his mouth.

He wanted to take her out of the city in a hurry, not because he didn't like the place, but because he wanted Louis to prepare for the surgery.

Louis had clearly told him that if she underwent surgery after the baby was born, she might lose her hearing, whereas her hearing could be cured if the surgery was adequately prepared now.

While he was thinking, Yiyao had already peeled an apple. She peeled half of it from the middle, removed the core, and handed it to Jingyan.

Jingyan only took a piece, "Please eat some, otherwise I feel unhappy to eat alone."

Yiyao took back the other half and put it in her mouth.

"This blood bag is running out of blood. After you finish eating the apple, I'll go call the doctor."

Jingyan's attention was obviously not on this. He stared at Yiyao, surprised, "Are you wearing makeup?"

Yiyao turned her head. She chose the lightest lipstick and foundation, but she didn't expect him to find out that she was wearing makeup anyway.

When she saw Annan Xia feeding Jingyan, she was angry inside. She thought Jingyan liked Annan because of the delicate makeup on her face. So she took out all the cosmetics she had been carrying in her bag but hadn't used. Then she carefully applied her lipstick in the bathroom.

Earlier, Jingyan had been busy explaining to her, so he hadn't paid attention to the makeup on her face. Now he could see at once that her face was different from the usual.

Jingyan stared at Yiyao and finally said, "I think it's better for you not to wear makeup."

What he meant was that Yiyao's makeup technique was bad, but Yiyao thought he was complimenting her for looking good without it.

Then she held her head high and said, "I also just wanted to know how good this makeup technique is. But I found it just so-so."

"Maybe other people make themselves look good through makeup, but the makeup you're wearing is simply disfiguring."

Her makeup skills were bad, and then she was sweating and didn't touch up her makeup in time. Now the makeup on her face was smudged.

Yiyao finally knew that Jingyan was saying that her makeup technique was bad. She angrily picked up her phone and looked at her face in the phone, and then she took her bag and ran outside.

In the restroom, she immediately felt much fresher after she removed all her foundation.

Facing the makeup scattered on the washstand, Yiyao was instantly angry. Others could use cosmetics to make themselves look better, while she made herself look so ugly with makeup. When she thought of this, she decided to put on her makeup again.

“Give it up. Some skills are natural.”

Yiyao heard a voice that was familiar. When she turned her head, she found Annan standing at the restroom exit, looking at her.

“Are you talking to me?” Yiyao asked. She didn’t want to ask her why she hadn’t left the hospital yet.

“Is your hearing already so bad? You can’t even hear my words anymore.” Annan snickered

Yiyao ignored her. She collected her things, adjusted her hair in the mirror, and left with her bag.

The moment she passed Annan, Annan pulled her arm, “I’m talking to you.”

Yiyao frowned, “Stay away from me.”

Annan was angry. She raised her other hand and tried to slap Yiyao with all her strength.

But Annan underestimated Yiyao. No one dared to hit her except her father who had hit her.

Yiyao did not even look at her. She directly reached out and clutched her wrist.

“Remember whenever you want to hit someone, you have to know that person’s background first.”

Annan’s wrist was held by Yiyao. She panicked, “What do you you want to do?”

“Don’t worry. Now I won’t hit you. You’re too weak.”

Yiyao let go of her hand and walked straight past her.

Annan rubbed her wrist and called out, “Wait, I have something to tell you.”

Yiyao already knew her nature well. No matter what she said, Yiyao would not believe her. The reason she waited for her to finish was to give her a final respect.

Seeing her stop, Annan walked up to her.

“Just now I saw your attending doctor and Mr. Ye’s attending doctor talking. I vaguely heard them talking about surgery. Maybe Mr. Ye’s injury isn’t recovering as well as you think.”

Seeing Yiyao’s impatient look, Annan was afraid she would interrupt her, so she said it all. To her surprise, Yiyao acted calmly.

“Mr. Ye loves you so much, but you are so calm when you hear this news.”

“It’s none of your business.” Yiyao said and walked out of the restroom.

However, she was not so calm. She wouldn’t be as stupid as Annan who thought Jingyan’s arm still needed surgery. All she could think of was her ears. Since it was Louis who was talking about the surgery, the surgery might be related to her.

Yiyao pushed open the door, and saw Jingyan crossing his legs and whistling. When he saw her, he turned his head and looked at her with a smirk.

“You look pretty without makeup.”

“Tell me, why do you want to leave here suddenly?” Yiyao asked directly.

“I’ve always wanted to take you out on a trip.” Jingyan explained

“Why don’t you wait until the baby is born?”

“The hospital environment is too depressing .I don’t want you to be unhappy.”

Yiyao smiled coldly. “You have someone prepare the surgery for me, right?”

“No. Who told you that?” Jingyan was apprehensive, but pretended to be calm. “Since I promised you, I certainly won’t go back on my word.”

His sincerity made Yiyao believe him somewhat. She said tentatively, “I overheard Louis talking to other doctors.”

Jingyan knew she was obviously testing him. Louis spoke English, and Yiyao could not have understood him completely.

“Louis may have been talking about someone else’s surgery. I’m really not lying to you.”

Yiyao saw that Jingyan was speaking seriously, and she couldn’t help but doubt Annan’s words.

“I’m sorry, I

“Trust me!” Jingyan interrupted her.

“Sorry, I shouldn’t have listened to other people’s words to question you.” Yiyao said guiltily.

“Who told you this?” Jingyan asked again. He knew with Yiyao’s hearing there was no way she could overhear someone’s conversation.

Yiyao rubbed her forehead. She was so agitated that she now had a headache.

“I met Annan Xia when I came out of the restroom just now. She told me this.” Yiyao replied.

She said it lightly, but Jingyan guessed that the two of them must have fought against each other, and then Annan deliberately told her about it. Thankfully, Annan might not have listened completely and only conveyed one-sided information. Otherwise he couldn’t have convinced Yiyao of his words so easily.

Yiyao, of course, did not know that he thought so much. She thought that her meeting with Annan had made him a little unhappy.

“I was wrong. What she said certainly can’t be believed.” she said apologetically.

“Thank you for believing in me.” Jingyan’s voice was low. At this moment, he had another thought. He can’t let Yiyao meet up with Annan again, otherwise Annan told her more, his plan would definitely be ruined.

Then the two fell silent.

Yiyao regretted that she shouldn’t have mentioned Annan. Otherwise the current atmosphere wouldn’t be so awkward.

Suddenly the phone rang, breaking the silence between the two.

Jingyan looked up and saw his phone vibrating on the table. Then Yiyao held the phone out to him. The caller shown on it was Chuxue Ye.

“Brother, where are you? We can’t even find you.” Chuxue asked.

He let out a sigh. "I'm in the hospital. Are you guys finished already?"

"Yeah, we're just waiting for you to come back." Chuxue said, and then she hurriedly shut her mouth. Now their vacation was over, and then she called him. It was obvious that they had exceeded their expenses in advance.

"How much do you want?" asked Jingyan.

"Brother I don't mean that." Chuxue explained.

"I know that's what you mean. I just ask casually." Jingyan said. "If there's nothing, I'll hang up now."

Then Jingyan prepared to hang up the phone.

"Brother, please wait. We... we are still short of half a million." said Chuxue.

Jingyan was not shocked by this figure.

"I'll ask someone to go over and settle the bill later. I'm going to hang up now."

"Wait a minute!" Chuxue said.

Jingyan frowned, "What's wrong?"

"I" Chuxue hadn't finished when Ziying Duan took her call, "Jingyan, where are you?"

Jingyan froze, "I'm abroad. You let Yuqi send you back."

"No. I want to wait for you to come back!" Ziying said firmly.

"I won't go back." said Jingyan coldly. Then he hung up the phone. When he looked up, he saw Yiyao looking at him.

"Is this Ziying Duan calling?"

Hearing her ask, Jingyan stiffen. "No, Chuxue called me."

Yiyao did not ask him again; otherwise the atmosphere just eased would become awkward again.

.....

After a few days in the hospital, Jingyan's arm had its stitches removed. The long wound had healed, but it still looked horrible.

Yiyao stroked his wound. "Your wound must hurt when you were injured."

Jingyan shook his head "It doesn't hurt."

He tenderly rubbed her hair. As long as she could return to his side, he would not feel pain no matter what kind of wound.

Yiyao was silent. She had always thought she was self-reliant, but in front of Jingyan, she seemed a little too willful.

"I can be discharged from the hospital now. Let's go out for a trip today. I've already planned it."

Jingyan looked at her sad and deliberately changed the topic.

"Where are we going?" Yiyao asked..

"Saipan. It's quiet there. It's also good for your health and the baby."

Thinking of the baby, Yiyao said happily. "Okay, then let's go there."

Jingyan smiled gently and looked down to hide his thoughtful look. It was easy to get her out of here, but bringing her back was another problem.

He chose to go to Saipan also because it was closer to here. If Yiyao did not want to come back, he would have to choose to get hurt again.

Yiyao was packing up her things in her room. In fact, they hadn't brought anything here, so they didn't need to take anything with them when they left. They were just packing up the trash in the room and bringing it downstairs by the way.

Seeing the spoiled meal in the garbage can, Yiyao covered her nose and frowned. She recalled her attitude that day, which was indeed particularly bad due to jealousy.

At this time Jingyan also changed his clothes and pulled open the curtain. He was a little surprised to see the garbage on the floor, "Why didn't the cleaners come to clean it up?"

"You ordered others not to enter this room. Did you forget it?"

Jingyan thought for a moment and then remembered something. That day he had just kissed Yiyao on the lips when he was disturbed by the cleaners who came in to clean up, and then he angrily threw them out.

Jingyan didn't think they really had to come in to clean up the trash.

The two stayed in the room for a while longer then went downstairs.

“Mr. Ye!”

Jingyan turned his head and saw that Louis was chasing after him from the building.

He couldn't help but frown and subconsciously put his arm around Yiyao. “What's up?”

“I forgot to tell you that this hearing aid is still in the experimental stage. You must be careful not to let it get into water and not to hit it hard, otherwise it will shorten the life of the hearing aid.”

Jingyan sighed with relief. He thought Louis was here to discuss the surgery with him.

“Thanks. We'll take care of it.” Jingyan said.

After he finished, Louis hesitated to leave.

Jingyan soon understood him. He whispered to Yiyao in his arms, “Yiyao, I'm a little thirsty. Can you give?”

“Then I'll go get you water!” Yiyao said promptly. She knew it was an excuse to get her to leave for a while. She also happened to use this as a reason to leave and then eavesdropped on what they were talking about.

She readily agreed, which surprised Jingyan a little.

Watching her go away, Louis said to Jingyan, “You can only go out for half a month. After half a month”

“Say it in English.” Jingyan interrupted him.

Louis froze slightly, and then understood his intention. He continued in English, “I will call you when the instruments arrive from headquarters.”

Jingyan nodded.

“Make sure to keep her in a good mood, otherwise the surgery will be troublesome.” Louis said as he left.

Not long after, Yiyao came out from the corner with two bottles of water.

“What did you say to him?” asked she casually.

She had tried to eavesdrop on their conversation, but they were communicating in English. This left her not fully understanding what they were talking about.

“He asked something about my parents.”

Jingyan took the mineral water, twisted it open and took a big sip. He answered naturally and casually.

“I hope you’re not lying to me!” Yiyao said.

“How can I lie to you?” Jingyan smiled and wrapped his arm around her waist, “Let’s start. If we’re late we’ll miss our flight.”

Raising her wrist, Yiyao glanced at the time and did not pursue the conversation he had just had.

.....

This time the flight went very well. The sky was clear all the way. Two hours later, they arrived at their destination.

As soon as they stepped off the plane, a wave of heat hit them head-on. Yiyao covered her face and coughed.

“What’s wrong?” Jingyan frowned.

“Nothing, I guess I’m not quite used to the climate here.” said she. Then she gently stroked her belly.

Seeing her subconsciously covering her belly, Jingyan couldn’t help but feel a little sad. She loved this child so much, but he had to give up this child in order to cure her hearing. He was looking forward to the arrival of his child, but if he had to choose between the two, he would definitely choose Yiyao.

“The hotel has been arranged. Let’s go.” Jingyan said. Then he took Yiyao’s hand.

He had been worrying about the baby, but Louis told him not to worry too much about the baby. Right now he wanted to cherish the time with his beloved more than worrying about the future.

Soon they arrived at the hotel. It was a villa-like accommodation with the beach in front.

They lived on the second floor and could see the sea when they opened the window. The balcony was large and the bathtub was placed in the middle. The sun was not shining in at this time

Chapter 368 You're Not Allowed to Think About Other Man

The sunshine here made people feel good. Jingyan opened the window and took a deep breath.

"Yiyao, let's wait until the baby is born and then leave, what do you think?" asked him.

Yiyao was also very satisfied with this place and nodded happily.

Then Jingyan turned around and faced her with a smile. Behind him was the azure sky. In Yiyao's eyes, he and the sky formed a beautiful picture.

It took them a little time to pack up. Then they walked out of the hotel hand in hand. Enjoying the exotic scenery, they were relaxed all over without the boredom in the hospital.

But soon Yiyao's stomach rumbled, breaking the romantic atmosphere.

"You're hungry?" Jingyan asked her gently.

Yiyao nodded her head. Ever since she got off the plane, she hadn't eaten anything. Even if she was not hungry, her child should be hungry.

"I know a seafood restaurant. Let's go there!" Jingyan said.

Seeing how happy he was, Yiyao didn't say no. In fact, she would prefer to eat Chinese food, but they were now traveling overseas, she also knew that such a request seemed somewhat impossible.

When they arrived at the restaurant, to Yiyao's surprise, the store was decorated in a Chinese style. On the walls were Chinese landscape paintings.

"Jingyan, are you sure this is the place for seafood?" asked she.

Jingyan smiled and patted her hand. "The owner of this restaurant is Chinese. He loves seafood, so he combines Chinese food with seafood."

Seeing that Yiyao was surprised, Jingyan smiled. "Come on, there's more to amaze you inside."

Yiyao followed behind Jingyan and went inside. As soon as they entered, someone greeted them warmly.

"Mr. Ye, nice to see you again." The waitress greeted. "Your private room is already reserved."

Jingyan nodded, and then he led Yiyao upstairs.

The waitress led the way. They turned a few corners and finally stopped at a private room.

Yiyao found this room was modeled after an ancient architectural design.

Once inside, it was as if they had arrived at an ancient Chinese inn with carved window and seats, all of which made Yiyao feel like falling into a dream.

“May I ask what you would like to eat?” The waiter took out a menu and handed it to them. It was a bamboo slip used in ancient times.

Yiyao thought the menu was interesting, so she looked at it carefully. Jingyan also took the menu handed over by the waitress, but put it aside.

“Where’s your boss?” asked he.

“He went out for something. He should probably be back today. Do you need me to tell him you’re here?” The waitress replied.

Jingyan waved his hand, “No, thank you. Please serve the food quickly.”

The waitress didn’t say anything else. She was ready to leave the room, but Yiyao was still concentrating on the menu.

Jingyan turned his head, stared at her for a moment, and then said to the waitress, “Can we keep the menu longer?”

The waiter nodded, then went out.

“Does it appeal to you that much?” Jingyan asked with a smile.

Yiyao was quiet, as if she didn’t hear him.

He noticed that she had been looking at the first page of the menu, describing the origin of the restaurant.

“Did you find anything interesting?” Jingyan asked. He didn’t notice anything wrong with the menu.

Yiyao looked up, met Jingyan’s eyes, and smiled, “No nothing.”

But he still stared at her, puzzled.

Yiyao had to voice her doubts. "This sign is so peculiar."

Jingyan followed where she pointed it. He saw a small sign in the bottom right corner of the menu. He didn't expect that such a small logo would attract her to look at it for so long.

"The owner designed it himself." Jingyan replied.

Yiyao could not help but have some curiosity about the owner whom she had never met. She was wondering what kind of person the owner would be.

"You're not allowed to think about other man." Jingyan teased suddenly.

"I'm not thinking about him. I'm just wondering what kind of man he is." Yiyao explained.

"That's not allowed either." Jingyan emphasized. "I'll get jealous."

"Okay." Yiyao said.

As the two were talking, there was a knock at the door and Jingyan looked up. "Please come in."

The door opened from outside and a group of people entered with plates of dishes. All kinds of seafood were laid out in front of her.

"Yiyao, do you like crabs? I can help you peel them." Jingyan picked up a crab and said with a smile. He quickly peeled a crab and then brought it to Yiyao's bowl.

Yiyao picked up a piece of crab meat and put it into her mouth, and she immediately exclaimed, "Wow, it's yummy."

Jingyan was also happy to see her smile. He hoped that what he liked to eat would also be liked by her. That way, the delicious food would become even more delicious.

Then these seafood made Yiyao praise. In all her life, she had never eaten such delicious seafood.

Yiyao ate with gusto, making Jingyan, who was helping to shell it, also satisfied.

Suddenly there was a knock at the door again.

Jingyan looked at the table and found that the dishes he had ordered were already served. He didn't know what the person outside the door was knocking for.

"Please come in." said he.

The man outside did not come in so quickly, but stood there for a long time. He obviously knew Jingyan's temper and waited until Jingyan was about to lose his patience before he pushed the door in.

Yiyao turned his head just in time to see him walk in.

"Jingyan, long time no see. I miss you so much." the man said as he walked in outside the door. He was wearing the ancient robe.

"You're always like that. Please don't be so pretentious next time." Jingyan said.

"If I don't do so, how will I get this beautiful lady's attention?" said he. Then he walked over to Yiyao and smiled gently at her, and pulled out a chair and sitting next to her.

"Tiancheng Yi, please stay away from her." Jingyan was already upset, but was still trying his best to restrain himself.

Instead, Tiancheng Yi looked at Yiyao with interest and continued to ask Jingyan, "May I ask who this beautiful lady is? I've never seen her before."

"She is my girlfriend." Jingyan said seriously. At the same time, he put an arm around Yiyao's shoulders.

Tiancheng laughed, "You still get angry easily. It's much more fun to tease you than to do business."

"You hang around all day. I don't think you can sustain this restaurant for long." Jingyan stared at him.

"Then you want to buy my restaurant?" Tiancheng asked suspiciously.

"I will consider it if it is necessary."

"Mr. Ye, it's really an honor for me that you like my restaurant." Tiancheng teased again.

Then Jingyan sat between him and Yiyao.

Tiancheng liked to say something out of place on purpose. Jingyan had long been used to his style of doing things.

"I can't breathe." Yiya suddenly whispered to Jingyan.

Hearing her, Jingyan took his hand away from her shoulder.

At this time Tiancheng then began to look up Yiya. He found that she was very ordinary and did not understand why Jingyan liked her so much.

In the room, since Tiancheng came, the atmosphere was a little awkward. Yiyao was uncomfortable by his stare, turned her head to look at Jingyan.

“What the hell is wrong with you? Why are you always staring at my girlfriend? If you don’t eat, get out.” Jingyan said to Tiancheng with displeasure.

“Aren’t you going to introduce this lady to me?” Tiancheng said casually.

Jingyan looked at him coldly and said, “This is Yiyao. We’re getting married.”

“Hello, my name is Tiancheng Yi. I am the owner of this restaurant.” Tiancheng extended his right hand in a friendly manner.

Yiyao also extended her own hand and shook his hands.

However, Tiancheng hesitated to let go of her hand, smiling at her with a special meaning.

Jingyan on the side was a little angry. “Tiancheng, what are you doing?”

“I just want to see what she looks like.”

“Then why haven’t you let go of her hand?”

“It’s etiquette.” Tiancheng said rightfully. “In China, friends meet with a handshake, while in foreign countries it’s cheek kissing. I’m pondering whether I should kiss her to show my greetings, but I’m also afraid you will cripple me if I kiss her.”

“Nonsense. If you don’t let go of her hand, I’ll get really angry.”

Jingyan stared at him. Tiancheng hurriedly let go of his hand. This made Yiyao breathe a sigh of relief. She immediately turned her head, but still smiled politely at Tiancheng.

“Where did you go just now?” Jingyan asked Tiancheng.

Hearing what he asked, Tiancheng suddenly became serious. “My dad’s company has a problem.”

“A problem that’s troublesome?” Jingyan asked.

“Yeah. My stepmother has transferred most of the company’s assets. Maybe the company is running out of cash soon.”

Hearing him, Jingyan couldn’t help but frown. The transfer of most of the assets could indeed make a company go bankrupt in an instant.

“My father also had a heart attack due to the angry. I come today just to consider whether to sell this restaurant or not.”

“If that’s the case, selling this restaurant is just a drop in the bucket. It won’t help you much.” Jingyan shook his head disapprovingly.

Tiancheng’s brow furrowed and he stopped joking like he did just now.

“If you’re really short of money, then it’s not without a solution.” said Jingyan.

Chapter 369 If Only This Moment Could Last Forever

“How?” Said Tiancheng as he rose to his feet, eyes blinked with hope again.

“Even the greatest dam in the world would have at least one defect on it.”

“You mean...but I don’t think it’s possible.” Uttered Tiancheng, thinking that his stepmother wouldn’t be that careless to leave them anything that may drag her down.

“True it’s hard for us to catch her off-guard, but, the defect, we can create one.”

“We?” Tiancheng seemed shocked, “Are you serious?”

Jingyan nodded, and soon Tiancheng realized what Jingyan meant: his stepmother would surely be on alert and desperate to look for every opportunity to keep the money safe. Yiyao was listening all the time though hardly had her caught up with them while Jingyan never stopped handing her food on the table.

“Would you like some more?” Asked Jingyan as he cleaned his hand with a towel after nearly all the meals on the table was gone.

“Nah, thanks, I’m good.” Nodded Yiyao timidly.

“Let’s go then.” Said Jingyan as he rose to his feet and took Yiyao’s hand.

“Wait!” Said Tiancheng, “Could you help me with this? You came up with this idea!”

“Sure I did, but it’s better to let you take it from here.”

“Come on, man!” Moaned Tiancheng, he never had much confidence in himself.

“I’m here on a vacation, not a business trip to solve anyone’s problem.” Said Jingyan after which he left with Yiyao.

“Are you really not going to help him?” Murmured Yiyao as she turned around and glanced at Tiancheng, who seized the chance and kept nodding as hard as possible.

“Jingyan?”

“What?” Exclaimed Jingyan, quite irritated since Yiyao called his name all because of another man.

“Let’s help him!”

“Seriously?”

“Sure!” Nodded Yiyao, thinking that Jingyan was the only one that could get Tiancheng out of his misery.

“What about our vacation?”

“We can make it up some other days, but he doesn’t have much time left to deal with the trouble.”

“Damn...”Murmured Jingyan after a long while of silence, “Fine!”

“Thank you, thank you so much, Yiyao!” Tiancheng jumped from the ground out of joy, sending his clothes waving in the air.

“You’re welcome.” Said Yiyao, timidly still.

“Man...it’s me that will help, okay?” Sneered Jingyan.

“Oh, my apology, Jingyan, thank you!” Tiancheng acted like like a domestic servant of Jingyan and Yiyao, well, of course he would.

“Let’s go, Yiyao.”

“Wait, Jingyan!” Tiancheng stopped them again, “Shouldn’t we be working on it today?”

“Today?”

“Yeah, soon as possible.”

“I just came up with this idea, and I’ve got no plan so far. Alright?”

“So when can we start?”

“Not today!”

Jingyan quickly walked away without leaving Yiyao any chance of begging for Tiancheng, who was both confused and irritated since he knew that Jingyan held a grudge to him after what Tiancheng did to Yiyao. Well, what happened stays happened, Tiancheng could only wait.

“Where are we going?” Asked Yiyao, she was also quite confused.

“A walk on the beach.” Said Jingyan, he stopped as he noticed that Yiyao still got Tiancheng on her mind, “And kick that man out of your mind, understand?”

“Fine...”

Clearly Jingyan was not okay with such answer, they just stayed there in the middle of the road, until Yiyao heard a car coming near and grabbed Jingyan to the side of the road.

“What are you doing? This is dangerous!” Shouted Yiyao as she shook Jingyan’s hand off her.

“I said, kick that man out of your mind!”

“I wasn’t...okay.” Yiyao’s anger immediately dispersed.

“That’s my girl.” Smiled Jingyan, though Yiyao didn’t know that he was crying inside. Jingyan would have to take Yiyao back for her surgery a month later, and she would definitely blame everything on him no matter how the surgery would go. He just wanted to spend every day as it was his last when Yiyao was still around him, but Yiyao had no idea of all of these things.

No more grudge between them, soon they made to the beach. The setting sun set the ocean on fire and everything was covered with a shining golden blanket. There were quite many people around, visitors and food stalls owners. Yiyao got tired and quickly, then she felt the baby inside kicking her belly.

“Let’s take a break.” Said Jingyan, then they both said down on the beach, leaving their feet being greeted by the waves of ocean.

“We were still in the hospital this morning, and now here we are...” Uttered Yiyao, looking lost.

“Back into reality now, is it?” Said Jingyan. He threw his arm around Yiyao and had her leaned on his shoulder, a place of warmth and soothe to Yiyao wherever they are. The wind came and sent shivers down Yiyao’s spine, she cuddled herself closer to Jingyan.

“What’s up?” Asked Jingyan.

“Kinda cold here.”

“Let’s head back then.” Said Jingyan as he took his coat off and put it on Yiyao.

“Sure...” Yiyao nodded, as much as she wanted to stay with Jingyan, she had a baby in her belly to take care of. And soon they got back to the hotel.

“You look sleepy, Yiyao.” Said Jingyan, who still seemed to be quite energetic.

“Yeah...” Uttered Yiyao, but soon she noticed the subtle look on Jingyan’s face, “What’s up, Jingyan?”

“Actually I have a surprise for you...well, it’s not in a hurry anyway, just go to sleep now.” Said Jingyan as the joy in his eyes faded away.

“Really? I want to see it now!” Yiyao looked up to him, trying her best to look lively.

“Okay then...” Said Yiyao as she took a yawn and laid down on the only bed in the room.

He watched her fell down on the bed, cuddled herself under the quilt and eventually fell asleep, at which moment the smile on his face was gone as well. He took a ring out of his pocket and fixed his eyes on the diamond he chose by himself: the Heart of Stars. He could’ve placed it on her finger had her noticed what he wanted.

Jingyan shook his head and smiled, wondering what was really going on in Yiyao’s mind. There was only one Heart of Stars in the world, just like his only love to Yiyao. Meanwhile, Yiyao wasn’t asleep as well, she could feel how Jingyan stared at her, she just didn’t know how to react and chose to ignore it eventually until she really fell asleep.

Well, Jingyan would have to keep the ring on him for a few more days.

The next day morning when Yiyao and Jingyan stepped outside the hotel, Tiacheng was already there waiting.

“Finally!”

Jinyan just ignored him and asked Yiyao:”What would you like for breakfast?”

“Breakfast? I’ve got it prepared for you!” Exclaimed Tiacheng.

Jingyan just kept on staring at Yiyao until she sensed the awkwardness and said: "I'm fine with...anything."

"We'll just eat in the hotel, then." Said Jingyan, and Yiyao nodded.

"Wait, guys, didn't you hear me?" Said Tiancheng as he followed Yiyao, knowing that it was her that made all the decisions. But he didn't know that Yiyao would always listen to Jingyan, and just as Yiyao and Jingyan were about to step into a restaurant, he grabbed Yiyao's wrist and said: "Come on, I've been waiting all morning! You guys can have dinner in my place!"

"Hands off her, you fool!" Shouted Jingyan as he pushed Tiancheng away, which drew the attention of everyone in the restaurant.

"Let's just listen to him, Jingyan." Uttered Yiyao, begging for Tiancheng again. She felt quite sorry to Tiancheng, who acted like a stray dog waiting for them.

"That would be the end of our vacation, Yiyao." Uttered Jingyan, but Yiyao just nodded, she had made up her mind.

"Fine, let's go then." Said Jingyan as he glanced over Tiancheng angrily, pissed that he had to delay his proposal because of Tiancheng again while Tiancheng and Yiyao were both happy then he eventually agreed to lend a helping hand.

"This way, please!"

Soon they made to the restaurant Tiancheng ordered, where the first floor was already teemed with people.

"Seriously? Is this what you prepared for us?"

"Of course not! I've booked the second floor, just for us!"

Soon the waitress led them to the second floor, and finally Yiyao got the chance to take a look around and be amazed by all the fancy decorations, statues and work of calligraphy. They grabbed a seat near the window which provided them with a view of a perfect scene outside.

Tiancheng never stopped trying to start a conversation with Yiyao and Jingyan, but both of them seemed to be obsessed with their own thinking and completely ignored Tiancheng until he realized it as well and stayed silent.

Eventually, the meals came. The waitresses all dressed up in clothes of ancient servants of the emperors, after which they greeted everyone with a Bon Appetite.

“What’s going on here?” Yiyao was quite confused, everything made her feel like that she was dining in a palace hundreds of years ago.

“I arranged everything, do you guys like it?” Smiled Tiancheng.

Chapter 370 Why Don't You Try This on

Yiyao Duan touched her nose with an awkward smile and glanced at Jingyan Ye, who was quite serious, then she couldn't help but tug on his sleeve.

“Hmm? What’s wrong?” Jingyan looked at Yiyao with a smile as if he had just come back to his senses.

“I’m hungry, can we start to eat now?”

“Of course!” Jingyan reached out to rub her the top of her head, thinking: There is no need to ask me about such things, it does not matter for you to eat when you are hungry!

Yiyao then picked up the chopsticks aside, thinking it was very awkward to tell them not to eat, but it also was very abrupt to put the chopsticks down.

So she bit the bullet to pick up the food which was the nearest to her.

“Hmm!” After putting it into her mouth and chewing it, Yiyao became delighted at once, thinking that the dishes here really didn't disappoint her!

“It’s good if you like it!” Tiancheng Yi then smiled happily and secretly gave a wink to the waiter standing at the door.

The waiter waiting at the door immediately understood what he meant and hurriedly and quietly walked out, leaving only the one who had entered in the first.

Yiyao was so immersed in the delicious food that she had no attention to notice this matter, while Jingyan was so focused on Yiyao that he naturally didn't pay much attention to other matters as well.

“It’s good that my sister-in-law likes it, because we are having breakfast, so the food prepared are all plain and light, I hope you don't mind it!”

“No, no, no!” Yiyao waved her hand and said, “It’s already hearty enough!”

If the food here were light and plain enough, then the steamed stuffed buns that she usually ate were completely nothing compared to that!

Tiancheng smiled warmly and glanced at Jingyan, saying: "Brother, you should eat some too."

Jingyan took a look at him calmly as he slowly picked up his chopsticks to take a bite of the dish that Yiyao had just eaten.

"How does it taste?"

Both Tiancheng and Yiyao looked at him expectantly.

Not wanting to disappoint Yiyao, he nodded slightly, "Not bad."

This compliment made Tiancheng become quite proud in his heart, as if he had won hundreds of millions dollars in the lottery.

It wasn't easy to get compliments from Jingyan. Although he would come over for dinner every time he came back before, he had never complimented the food here, and they just assumed that he was used to the food and was too lazy to change to another restaurant, but today they finally heard his compliment.

.....

After breakfast, Jingyan and Tincheng made a discussion to go back immediately to see how the Yi family was doing, and then Yiyao stood up with them.

But she didn't pay attention to the dishes placed in front of her, and her clothes tugged at them as she stood, then the dishes all fell to pieces at her feet, and her clothes were also soiled.

"What's wrong?" Jingyan turned around and couldn't help but frown after he saw that she stood in place at a loss.

"Why are you so careless, don't move now!"

The ground was littered with glass scraps, then he strode over and picked up Yiyao, saying: "You go prepare the plane first, I'll take Yiyao to change her clothes."

After saying that, he directly carried Yiyao past Tiancheng without waiting for his response, and rushed towards the nearest clothes shop.

"Jingyan, put me down!"

People all along the way stared at them with a puzzled expression, making Yiyao a little embarrassed, she then uncomfortably twisted her body, wanting to get off of Jingyan's arm, but she was also afraid of falling off, so she had to move slightly.

"Don't move!" Jingyan couldn't help but frown, thinking: She really is not afraid, if she keeps twisting like this, I might not really be able to hold her.

When Yiyao heard his heavy breath, she hurriedly kept her body unmoved, asking, "Are we there yet? How much further is it?"

"Almost there!" Jingyan answered irritably.

He then thought: Just how badly does this woman want to escape from me, now that she has already asked me this question for no less than ten times after we have just even taken a few steps!

"Oh"

But after she answered, they both became very silent, and Jingyan carried her for a long distance before he finally stopped at a clothing shop.

"Welcome!" The waitress said in English and Chinese at the same time.

"Go and pick one you like and put it on!" Jingyan took Yiyao to enter in and sat on a chair for resting.

"Okay." Yiyao was still a little uncomfortable, who casually grabbed a pair of jeans and a T-shirt and went into the fitting room.

Jingyan casually picked up the magazine beside him and read it. Not long after, the door of the fitting room opened from the inside and she walked out of it.

He looked up with anticipation, but when he saw the clothes on her, he couldn't help but frown again.

"Why are you wearing this?"

"Is there something wrong?" Yiyao turned around in front of the mirror, thinking: This is just my usual dressing style!

"Well, it doesn't look good." Jingyan put down the magazine and spoke seriously.

"But I I think it's quite good!"

She fiddled with the hem of her dress, being a little confused, and the waitress beside her took a dress from the other side, who was very good at carefully watching the customers' facial expressions.

"Madam, why don't you try this on?"

"Skirt?" Yiyao was surprised, "No, no, I'm not fit to wear this!"

She was brought up to be a soldier, and wearing T-shirts and trousers were easier for her to move around. Therefore, if she wore a skirt, she might even not be able to walk.

"But this one is the most popular one this year, and a lot of people like it! Now that you have such a good figure, it must look beautiful on you."

The waitress tried her best to sell the dress, while Jingyan held his chin and looked at the dress carefully, which was a sleeveless one with a fluffy snow white hem.

"Take it and try it on." Jingyan said thoughtfully.

This dress had a quite conservative style within his acceptance range.

"Okay" Since Jingyan said so, Yiyao didn't want to waste time and she took the dress and went into the fitting room at once.

Jingyan sat on the sofa, still patiently looking at the newspaper. But this time, it was obvious that she took a longer time to wear the dress.

He checked the time. Ten minutes had passed and Yiyao had not yet come out of the fitting room. It was reasonable to assume that wearing the dress would take much less time than wearing the trousers!

The waitress could see that he was impatient to wait, so she went to the door of the fitting room, asking after knocking on the door, "Madam, is there any problem?"

"No no problem." Yiyao replied in a low voice inside.

"Since there's no problem, then come out." Jingyan walked to the fitting room and said.

Yiyao stayed inside for a long time before the door was opened from the inside and she walked out slowly, following a sound of "click".

This was not the first time she wore a dress, but she was still a little uncomfortable as long as she stood in front of Jingyan.

At his wedding ceremony, Jinyi Bai had chosen a more revealing dress for her, which looked good on her, but now, the thought of standing in front of Jingyan with a dress on made her uncomfortable.

He knew her too well, so wearing the dress made her a little shy.

Jingyan saw Yiyao slowly appearing in front of him as the door opened. She was dressed in a white dress, being quite calm, as if she had been an extraordinary and refined fairy.

“Well?” Yiyao asked apprehensively when she saw that he did not say anything for a long time.

“Good.”

Jingyan tried his best to not be surprised, but he stared at Yiyao fixedly, which was clear to show that he was attracted by her.

The waitress was also stunned by Yiyao, though she had just said the compliment to please her and Jingyan, which was completely perfunctory, since she could not see her figure clearly now that Yiyao had worn a loose T-shirt and big jeans.

But.....

She seemed to a model, and the dress looked like being made for her, which completely revealed her good figure!

“I better go and change it!” Yiyao was so panic that she even did not know where to put her hands and feet, so she had to say what she was thinking in her mind.

But Jingyan yanked her hand, stopping her turning around, “That dress of yours is already dirty, don’t wear it.”

Then he pulled Yiyao to go towards the counter, asking: “How much is it?”

“Three thousand and five hundred dollars.

The waitress then took out a small pair of shears inside the counter, went behind Yiyao and inquired, “Madam, may I cut the price tag for you?”

“Ah! No

Yiyao waved her hands, still being quite surprised with the high price of the dress, but Jingyan interrupted her, “Okay, cut it.”

“Jingyan!”

Yiyao didn't know what to say, how could she accept such an expensive dress, which looked quite normal and seemed to be made with a piece of fabric!

"Take it." Jingyan helped her to smooth her hair and handed the waitress a black card.

The waitress, who had also seen many rich men before, was slightly shocked to see the black card of Jingyan, then she took another look at him before she began to collect the money.

.....

After leaving the shop, Yiyao slowly walked beside Jingyan, "Jingyan, it's not convenient for me to walk in this dress!"

"That is good, so you won't be so careless anymore." Jingyan pursed his lips and smiled lightly.

His words made Yiyao become so angry that she clenched her fist, thinking: Why don't you tell me earlier now that you dislike me dressing like a tomboy!

"I do not despise your dressing style!" Jingyan explained, as if he could hear her thought.

"I just think you should not wrap yourself up in trousers and short sleeves now that you are so beautiful, and you should wear some colorful clothes once in a while. Yiyao, believe me, no matter what you look like, I will always love you!"

Yiyao was quite shy after listening to his confession now that he became quite serious, then she said: "Why are you talking about this all of a sudden!"

"Just want to tell you how I think and all that I haven't say before."

Yiyao then was a little puzzled, feeling something was wrong. And she thought his words sounded like a farewell.

They chatted and walked, and soon arrived at Tiancheng's private airfield, where a plane was parked. And from afar, they saw Tiancheng waving to them at the bottom of the stairs of the plane.

As they walked closer to him, Tiancheng couldn't help but sigh with relief, "Oh I thought you weren't coming!"

Jingyan looked at him and said: "Since I promised you, of course I will come."

But at this time, Tiancheng had already been attracted by Yiyao and he exclaimed: "Wow! My sister-in-law, you're so beautiful!"

“Thanks!” Yiyao lowered her head shyly, trying not to look at his gaze.

“Hurry up and go.” Jingyan unhappily blocked between Yiyao and Tiancheng, whose voice was filled with anger.

“It won’t do anything to look.” Tiancheng curled his lips and smiled brightly at Yiyao, “Isn’t that right, my sister-in-law?”

Yiyao then said in a low voice, “Well

“Now I think you don’t want my help!” Jingyan was so furious that he pulled Yiyao to turn around to leave.

“No, no, I’m wrong, Jingyan! I’m wrong, don’t get angry!”

Tiancheng rushed up and stopped Jingyan, then he guided them towards the plane, but he never dared to glance at Yiyao again.

The three of them got on the plane one by one. Then Jingyan picked a comfortable seat for Yiyao to sit beside him, and took off his suit to cover her good figure.

In his heart, however, he silently agreed with Yiyao’s thought, thinking: I indeed can not ask her to wear a skirt in the future, because I will be quite jealous now that she has such a high rate of second glance!

While Tiancheng saw all the things that Jingyan had done for Yiyao, knowing that Yiyao was Jingyan’s most treasured person, so he gradually became serious and did not kid her any more.

It was okay to joke around, but it would be a problem if he went too far, and if he made Jingyan angry, not only would he not help him anymore, but he might even cause him trouble.

But Yiyao was unaware that in just a few minutes, the two of them had already worked out how to deal with the situation. And she was just paying attention to the fact that her skirt was too short and she didn’t dare to move even if she sat down, making her very uncomfortable.

Just as she moved for the seventh time, Jingyan finally couldn’t help but ask, “What’s wrong?”

“Nothing.”

Yiyao unconsciously denied to pretend that she felt quite alright, but her movements had already betrayed her, and Jingyan knew that she did not feel comfortable .

“Take off your clothes.” Jingyan turned to look at Tiancheng.

Tiancheng, who had been closing his eyes and resting, was stunned for a moment after hearing his words, “Huh? That is not appropriate!”

He had a strange look in his eyes, thinking: Isn’t he just asking me to do him a favor, why does he ask me to take off my clothes now? And even in front of the woman he loves!

“Don’t talk nonsense and take off your clothes.”

Tiancheng stared at him blankly, being a little at a loss, “Can you wait?” He wasn’t even ready now!

“Are you taking it off or not?” Jingyan narrowed his eyes with a harsh expression.

“Fine, fine! I will take it off now!”

Tiancheng pursed his lips, took off his jacket and started to unbutton his shirt, looking at Jingyan with complaint.

Jingyan frowned and asked: “What are you doing?”

“Didn’t you tell me to take my clothes off?” Tiancheng put his hands on the buttons and stared at this unpredictable man inexplicably.

“I told you to take off your jacket.”

“Huh?”

Tiancheng was a little confused, “For what?”

“Just stop taking nonsense, give me your jacket.”

Jingyan impatiently reached out and took the jacket to put it over Yiyao’s legs, saying: “Now you can sleep rest assured!”

Only then did Tiancheng know Jingyan’s intention, and he then pointed at Jingyan, shivering at the same time, “Jingyan, you

Tiancheng thought in his mind: This Jingyan Ye, he really wastes my feelings, I have had a hard time convincing myself, but I did not think that he just wants my jacket, he is he is really infuriating!

But Jingyan, who did not know at all what he had done wrong, was still quite calm, while Yiyao, who was aware of what happened just now, laughed out of the tears.

“What can I do? When I stay with you, I not only have to keep away women, but also have to pay attention to men, in case one day I am careless and will be taken advantage, then I

“That..... that is so funny..... hahaha

Yiyao could no longer hold back and laughed out loud, not finishing her words, and her laughter filled the whole plane.
