Chapter 2321

However, the paediatrician at the hospital said that it was a miracle that the mother and foetus had physical defects and that the three children were born prematurely.

All three children were now very weak, especially Zero, and doctor's afraid he will be a regular visitor to the hospital, coming in for weekly injections to stay alive.

Francesca said thank you, didn't say much, and left directly with the children.

The doctor was not wrong, but now that her body had recovered, she was confident that she would be able to cure her child.

Francesca and Anthony returned to the small mid-levels building in Phoenix with One, Two and Zero, with the Granny still following to look after them.

At first Anthony just wanted a helper, after all this time he had become a family with them and had taken care of Francesca and the children exceptionally well.

When they returned home, Granny also called in her partner to help with grocery shopping and other things because she was busy, and the family became lively, happy and warm again.

Francesca began to treat the children at ease, study the art of medicine, and also let Anthony get a small wooden hut in the back of the mountain for her to use as a laboratory so that she could research new concealed weapons and medicines.

Anthony asked uneasily, "Why do you need to get all this, now we have a solid life."

"It's always right to take precautions."

Francesca always kept in mind auntie Layla's teaching that she should learn to protect herself and her family.

"Well, that's also right." Anthony was always a little uneasy, "Strange, the Lindberg family's people had already found the mountain last time, but they didn't actually search it? If they keep searching, we won't be able to escape at all."

"Danrique probably knows that the Lindberg Family isn't a good place to be." Francesca sneered, "Besides, what can I do if they find me? Couldn't they just kidnap me back?"

"That's also true." Anthony sighed, "When you left in the first place, he didn't stop you either."

“Don’t mention this person in the future.” Francesca was angry just thinking about it.

“Fine, fine, don’t mention it... don’t mention it.” Anthony hurriedly changed the subject, “I’m going to check on the three little babies, it’s time for them to have milk.”

Francesca didn’t have breast milk, the children had to eat milk powder since they were born, and because they were allergic to milk, they also had to eat goat’s milk.

Anthony originally wanted to buy imported goat milk powder, but Granny said that the family raised a lot of goats and that it would be more nutritious to milk them yourself and then refine them.

Anthony originally thought this was unscientific, but Francesca agreed, and she personally refined goat milk for the children every day, and the children drank it quite well.

Time passed day by day.

In the blink of an eye, another three months had passed and the children were already half a year old. This day, Anthony took the tablet to Francesca and said, “I have received news that the Lindberg family is searching for famous doctors everywhere and has even sent someone to Phoenix City, as if they are going to find your master.”

“What’s wrong?” Francesca’s face changed greatly, “Danrique was injured?”

“That’s not really clear.” Anthony frowned, “I see the situation is very tense, I’m afraid it’s really a matter of life and death.”

Francesca didn’t say anything, but her eyes were already in disarray.

In fact, there were many powerful doctors in this world, general injuries or conditions, looking for other doctors could also be treated.

Moreover, the Lindberg family was openly looking for a famous doctor despite the eyes of the president and the Nacht family side of the tiger, Probably the situation was really very dangerous and couldn’t hold on anymore.

The situation was so serious, it must be Danrique, it must be him.

“You go and ask around, who is sick? What kind of illness is it?” Francesca urged Anthony.

“Good

Anthony was about to go and investigate when the general called, he answered in a hurry, “Hello, General! Yes, the news has been received, Francesca already knows, who exactly is sick? You don’t know either? Is the Lindberg family doing such a good job of keeping secrets? So, do you know what kind of illness it is? Huh? Oh

Hanging up the phone, Anthony relayed to Francesca, "I don't know who is sick, but this time the Lindberg family is looking for a doctor and has sent someone to Phoenix to find it. I heard, the other party is suffering from a severe poison."

Chapter 2322

"A severe poison?" Francesca was shocked, "Could it be Danrique?"

"It doesn't say, but it should be him." Anthony looked grave, "Why else would they be looking for a famous doctor with such fanfare? Apart from Danrique, who is that important?"

"They can't find Master", Francesca frowned, "These are the months when he's in seclusion."

Master Felch would go to the mountains every once in a while to study medicine in seclusion and not see anyone, in this case, unless he was his disciple or a close friend, it would be impossible for anyone else to find him.

"Then what should I do?" Anthony looked at her weakly, "Do you want to take care of this matter?"

Francesca was silent, when the struggle between Danrique and the President had caused the tragic deaths of her auntie Layla and Uncle Lincoln, since then, she vowed never to get involved in it or meddle in the matter again.

And she really did.

For more than a year, she and Anthony lived in seclusion in the mountains with their children, not asking questions about the world, and not paying any more attention to anyone's grudge struggles.

However, it was only a year ago that something happened to Danrique again.

Could she really manage to ignore it?

Francesca looked at her three lovely children and was very conflicted in her heart.

If they grew up in the future, would they hate her if they knew that she didn't save their father from death?

However, if they did save him, they would start to be entangled again.

Francesca covered her forehead, caught in a tangle and distress.

“You should not be too anxious, maybe things are not what we think.” Anthony gently reassured, “Maybe the one who is sick is someone else.”

“The Lindberg family is dying out, who else would it be but him?” Francesca shot back.

“Uh

“Forget it, don’t care about him, love to die or not, what’s it to me?”

Francesca said under her breath and continued to pound the herbs.

“Right, right, leave it alone, let’s just live our own lives.” Anthony hurriedly followed her words, “I’ll go and see if Granny’s dinner is ready, she’s made chicken stew tonight.”

With that, Anthony went to work.

But Francesca did not care to do anything, she looked at the message in the computer, imagining Danrique’s dying from a severe poison, and her heart was tearing with pain.

Although she hated him and she was still worried and anxious knowing that something had happened to him.

Just as she was thinking, the sound of a car came from outside, Anthony ran out with a thud to check, and then rushed in with a fervor, “Francesca, the Lindberg family is here!”

“???” Francesca froze for a moment and asked, “Who is it?”

“I just took a look through the door, it’s Sean, Mylo and a few of them.” Anthony asked anxiously, “What should we do? Should we run?”

“Watch the kids.”

Francesca dropped these words, took the bag of medicine and tied it around her waist, and walked out in stride.

Opening the wooden door of the courtyard and seeing the scene in front of her, Francesca froze.

There were three cars parked outside, and a familiar entourage of Sean, Mylo and others stood in two neat and orderly rows, waiting quietly, not daring to knock on the door or make a ruckus.

When they saw Francesca coming, all of them lowered their heads and shouted in unison, "Ms.Felch!"

"Ms.Felch, long time no see."

Sean walked over and looked at Francesca with a smile.

It had been a year, Francesca's hair had grown longer, her skin was fairer, and she was a little more mature and stable than before, but those eyes were still full of spirit.

"How did you guys know I was here?"

Francesca's words were asked, and then she felt she had asked in vain.

If the Lindberg family wanted to find someone, they would find them, and besides, this place of hers was not that hidden.

"Actually, I always knew you were here, but I was afraid of disturbing you, so I didn't dare to come to pay my respects." Sean's expression was grave and his eyes were complicated, "This time, I also came because I had no choice but to come, I had something to ask."

Chapter 2323

"What's happened? What's wrong with Danrique?" At this moment, Francesca forgot all the grudges and feuds and only wanted to know what happened to Danrique.

"He was struck by the Nacht Family's severe poison." Sean lowered his head and said sadly, "We've hired the most powerful team of doctors, and after treating him for over a month without any improvement, Gordon went up the mountain to ask Master Felch, but his old man has already left the building, so there's really nothing we can do but to come and beg you!"

Saying that, Sean knelt down on one knee and humbly prayed, "I beg Ms.Felch to come to my rescue, the Lindberg family will definitely be grateful and remember it!"

"I beg Ms.Felch to come to my rescue!"

All the attendants followed suit and knelt down to beg.

Seeing this scene, Francesca's heart instantly softened, it seemed that Danrique was really on the verge of death, if she didn't help, he would be dead.

However, once she went back, She's afraid she would have to fall into the mire again.

It was so hard for her to get rid of the past and start a new life, she didn't want to live that life of fear and deception again.

The first thing she wanted peace and quiet, especially now that she's a mother and had three children.

But

Was she really going to see death through?

She couldn't seem to do it.

"Ms.Felch, you said that saving a life is better than creating a seven-level pagoda, you are a doctor who saves lives and helps the injured, Mr.Lindberg has such a deep bond with you, he is in trouble now, you can't just see death and not save him!!!" Sean seemed to see Francesca's hesitation, and hurriedly begged while the iron was hot.

"I" Francesca was once again torn.

At this time, Anthony in the house heard the commotion outside and hurried over to check, he wanted to stop Francesca, they were so easily away from the past and starting over, this would be entangled again if they went back.

But at this time, the sound of the children's cries suddenly came, Anthony was startled, hurriedly closed the door, gestured to Granny, signaling her to carry the children inside, did not let anyone hear.

In case the people of the Lindberg family knew that Francesca had given birth to Danrique's child, they would surely come to snatch it, right?

Outside, Francesca sensed the commotion inside and wanted Sean and the others to leave quickly, or else they would be in trouble if they found out about the baby.

So she hurriedly said, "You guys should go first, let me think about it."

"If Ms.Felch doesn't agree, we will kneel down for a long time." Sean and the others were still kneeling in front of the door, with no intention of getting up.

"You guys" Francesca was speechless, these guys were really difficult to deal with, but she could not drive them away, if she stayed any longer, it would be troublesome if they saw the children.

"Ms.Felch, sir has said that you are going back this time to cure the sick and save the people, after the cure, if you are willing to stay in the Lindberg family, of course it is good, but if you want to leave, I will send you back and will never force you to do anything." Sean was still pleading bitterly.

"These words came from Danrique?" Francesca asked in surprise, "Didn't he fall ill? And still able to speak?"

Sean froze for a moment, his eyes flickering, then he quickly calmed down, "Yes, sir said it before he collapsed."

Hearing these words, Francesca's heart clenched. Danrique, who had always been an iron-boned emperor and never begged, was now actually humbled to pray to her.

Maybe it was his desire to live that made him put down his dignity, maybe he wanted to see her before he died, either way it was good, since he had made this promise, she would help him one more time.

Thinking of this, Francesca said, "I have to come back after he's cured, I can't delay, can you promise?"

"Promise promise, absolutely promise." Sean hurriedly said, "I guarantee with my personality, after the cure you can go wherever you want, I will personally send you."

"Alright, you guys wait down the mountain first, I'll come as soon as I get settled." Francesca instructed.

"Yes." Sean got Francesca's promise and hurriedly led the men down the mountain.

Chapter 2324

Francesca watched their car drive away, then she let out a sigh of relief, closed the courtyard door and went back inside.

"All gone?" Anthony asked hastily.

"Gone." Francesca looked at the children on the bed and her expression became gloomy, the children were only a few month old and still not well, what would happen to the children if she left like this?

"You didn't promise them, did you?" Anthony frowned at her.

"I don't want to promise, but I can't just see it through." Francesca sighed, "After all, he's the babies's father."

"That's true", Anthony was able to understand her, "but what about the children when you're gone? Shouldn't they get Danrique here for treatment?"

“No way.” Francesca decisively refused, “Getting it here is even more troublesome, all those enemies of his are going to be invoked.”

“That too.” Anthony nodded his head.

“I’ll go over and take a look, come back as soon as possible.” Francesca looked at the children reluctantly, “The children don’t eat breast milk anyway, so you can take care of them.”

“I’ll go with you.” Anthony wanted to say he would go with her like before, but changed his mind when he thought of the children, “Well, I’ll have to stay and look after the children.”

“Right.” Francesca tenderly kissed the children, “Luckily their bodies are fine now, I’ll leave some common medicine at home, if there’s a cold or fever or diarrhea or something, you just feed some medicine, call me if there’s something big, I’ll be right back.”

“I know.” Anthony nodded, “Since you decided to go, go and come back quickly, I’m here at home, don’t worry.”

“Good.” Francesca packed the medical kit and needle bag and hugged the children separately, “I’m leaving, I’ll leave the family to you.”

“Don’t worry.” Anthony looked at her worriedly and admonished, “When you go over there, don’t invite trouble, and hurry back once you’ve saved him.”

“Francesca, wait a minute.” Granny chased her out and handed her a packet of food, “You didn’t even eat dinner, it’s two hours down the mountain, don’t get hungry.”

“Thank you, Granny!”

Francesca hugged Granny and left quickly, just a kilometre out of the courtyard when she found Sean on the side of the road, an empty car parked next to her.

It was evident that everyone else had already gone down the hill, and Sean was the only one here waiting for her.

“It is not convenient to go down the mountain, I am waiting here for you, nothing else.”

Sean opened the car door and respectfully invited her to get in.

Francesca got into the car, still looking at the wooden house behind her in the rear-view mirror, somewhat relieved.

"I'll arrange for Mylo and the others to covertly protect it, you can rest assured." Sean could see what she was thinking, "Nothing will happen to Mr. Anthony and the children during your treatment."

"You know about the children?" Francesca's eyes widened in shock.

"We all know about your pregnancy, even though it was hidden, but we all know about it." Sean felt very guilty, "Speaking of which, I should apologize to you."

"No need to apologize, it's good to hide it from others." Francesca said indifferently, "Save him from coming to snatch the children."

"You've worked hard this year." Sean said apologetically, "In fact, I wanted to tell Mr.Lindberg countless times about the children, but as long as the president did not step down, Lindbergs was unstable, and if Mr.Lindberg had a soft spot, something could easily happen, so I thought twice about it and wanted to wait until Lindbergs was stable, I just didn't expect it to suddenly come back now."

The words came here, Sean paused, did not continue to say.

"Your consideration is right." Francesca said appreciatively, "If he knew I was pregnant, I'm afraid he wouldn't have let me go so easily in the first place, I would have been more miserable if I continued to stay in the Lindberg family, and he wouldn't have had much of a good time."

"I thought the same thing at the time", Sean looked at her weakly, "that's why I didn't say anything, I was worried that you blamed me."
