

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 857

Zachary was furious inside the study room. He grabbed the ashtray and threw it.

Bang! The ashtray flew to the wall and instantly turned into flying shards.

Ben's forehead and neck were injured because of it, and he was bleeding.

However, he kept his head down. He didn't dare say a word.

Zachary's meeting with Cynthia on the previous night had turned into global news.

All sorts of ridiculous titles were trending on the media sites.

Cynthia was half-naked. She looked so terrified that she was pale and trembling. Zachary, on the other hand, was hovering over her and keeping her safe from above. The two of them seemed passionate and the images on the internet got countless people intrigued. It was one of the trending topics.

Some netizens even got their hands on the "wedding photos" that Cynthia and Zachary took earlier. They claimed that Cynthia and Zachary were the most romantic couple.

The netizens went as far as writing the love story between them. It was the most ridiculous story ever.

It said that Cynthia got pregnant before she got married and gave birth to triplets. She later took the kids to the countryside and lived there for a while.

Four years later, she met Zachary again in H City, and they fell for each other once again. A breathtaking love story ensued...

The two of them had a low-profile wedding where the triplets were their flower children and handed their wedding rings to them.

Two years later, the married couple wanted to try something new, so they secretly went to a hotel room without telling anyone.

The media had endlessly shared those stories and paired the stories with the photos and videos between the two of them.

The mindless netizens had pretty much assumed that those were the truths.

That was especially true for the ladies. They started fantasizing about marrying into a rich family and pictured themselves as Cynthia. They wanted to meet an amazing guy like Zachary and spend the rest of their lives in happiness.

The news looked like nothing but rumors, but anyone with inside knowledge knew just how bad it was for Nacht Group.

Synder Group had offended Lindberg Corporation, and Lindberg Corporation was attacking Synder Group. Everyone in the corporate world knew about that.

Synder Group was on the verge of declaring bankruptcy, and there was no saving it. Then came the rumor about how the eldest daughter of Synder Group's president was in a relationship with Zachary. It even went as far as saying that the wedding was from two years ago. That got everyone to assume that the two of them got married in secret.

If Zachary still refused to help Synder Group out, he would be targeted by the public!

The public would see Zachary as the asshole who sat idly by as his arch-enemy attacked his father-in-law's company. They would call Zachary an irresponsible coward, who was afraid of Lindberg Corporation.

The weight of those social and moral chains would crush the Nacht family's reputation, which they had spent generations building.

They would be known as cowardly and heartless individuals.

However, if Zachary helped Synder Group out, he would effectively be declaring war against Lindberg Corporation.

From a professional stance, Nacht Group was not ready to tackle on a task that huge. Henry was still sick, and Zara was fighting for more power within the corporation. Zachary was burdened by internal and external threats, so that was not the time to fight a powerful enemy.

From a personal stance, there was no way Zachary would go against Charlotte for Cynthia's sake. He had always loved Charlotte, and what he felt for Cynthia was just pity.

Hence, there was no way he would change his position just because there was a misunderstanding between them.

"Please don't be angry, Mr. Nacht. I will deal with it right away. No matter what I have to do, I will settle the matter," promised Bruce.

“It’s too late...” said Zachary while frowning deeply, “I don’t care how the entire world sees me. All I care about is what she thinks!”

The incident from last night had already caused a misunderstanding, and I haven’t had a chance to explain myself to her. Now, things turned for the worse and everyone knows about it. This thing has spiraled out of control and now involves her pride and Lindberg Corporation’s reputation. It’s no longer just about whether she is willing to forgive me...
