Chapter 41: I Don't Intend To Stand Out

"Whoa! Take him down quick!"

Jiang Fei did not know when the boss would gain another stack, and he definitely did not want to know. A second stack might already be too much. This was bad news!

"Ouwg!"

A minute later, at 22% Health Points, the boss gobbled down another cadaver.

27% Health Points!

Flesh Heap (2 stacks): Attack increased by 10%! Defense increased by 10%!

Bang!

-1,478! (Great Smash!)

Jiang Fei's Health Points plummeted sharply!

"Cutie, you can't take too many of those hits. We can't keep up with the healing!"
Rosette Miaomiao called out.

"Damn it! If I had been more prepared, I would have hammered together some metal shield!"

Jiang Fei helplessly stared at his Health Points that was leaking out like water. He regretted taking things for granted. He had originally gone out to the field for some light grinding, and had dressed lightly. All he had on was a full set of Level 10 Green Tier equipment. A shield was just slightly out of budget, but with it, he would not be so close to death!

"Ding! Moliere the Demon Lord is gazing upon Rosette Fox!"

“Fox, retreat. Healers, try to keep me in range of your healing. Let’s wipe those Rotten Meat out!” Jiang Fei called out.

The boss’ combination attack was Jiang Fei’s current lifeline. If its onslaught had gone on uninterrupted, Jiang Fei would have already fallen. At that moment, the boss’ Health Points had dropped to 20%. The combination skill was once again triggered. The boss stopped hammering on the little blacksmith, giving the three healers the room to catch up.

Bang!

-1,000!

Everyone had grown accustomed to the Rotten Meat situation by then, but in that case, a Magician had been rooted to the spot, while the Priests and the Knight were busy healing up Jiang Fei’s Health Points. The drop in damage output had been enough for one Rotten Meat to make it to its target. Rosette Fox received 1,000 damage, but Jiang Fei was back to full health!

“Full power, all out, no holds barred!” Jiang Fei barked. The boss had run out of skills to save itself!

“Owgh...”

The boss activated Consume for the third time. 23% Health Points! Another Flesh Heap stack!

Flesh Heap (3 stacks): Attack increased by 20%! Defense increased by 20%!

The boss’s Attack and Defense had increased once again. Jiang Fei’s Health Points rose and fall like a spasmic rollercoaster ride. It was mind-blowing!

“Everything you got!”

Jiang Fei was at the end of his rope. He was out of options, and could only try taking down the boss before it took him down.

“Ow...”

Finally, after a final Great Smash, the powerful Demon Lord let its arms hang loosely by its sides. It had been thoroughly defeated, its Health Points completely emptied out. On the other hand, Jiang Fei did not even have 300 Health Points left. One more Great Smash would have taken him out, even if the Healers worked over time.

“Rumble...”

The boss fell, like the mountain of meat that it was. The girls behind jumped and cheered for joy.

“Yay! We’ve won!” Rosette Miaomiao was as active as ever.

“Ding! Your party is the first team to clear the dungeon “Deep in the Night Forest” in Elite Mode. Please name your party!”

The system notification announced their victory, making it official.

“We did it? We actually achieved a First Clear?”

Rosette Rose did not even seem to believe her own words. She was stumbling about in a dream-like state. It was precisely what she fought for, but she was having trouble believing it.

“Hoho! I’ll name our party!” said Jiang Fei with a grin. He had already been fooled by the system announcement once. Jiang Fei was not going let the system to announce his name.

“Okay!” Rosette Rose had not yet recovered from the shock, and had nodded subconsciously to his request.

“Ding! Citywide announcement: The party “I don’t intend to stand out” has cleared the dungeon “Deep in the Night Forest” in Elite Mode. Please cheer for the party members, Verdure Glider, Rosette Rose, Rosette Dragoness, Rosette Miaomiao... Rosette Narcissus!”

“Ding! Citywide announcement: The party “I don’t intend to stand out” has cleared the dungeon “Deep in the Night Forest” in Elite Mode. Please cheer for the party members, Verdure Glider, Rosette Rose, Rosette Dragoness, Rosette Miaomiao... Rosette Narcissus!”

“Ding! Citywide announcement: The party “I don’t intend to stand out” has cleared the dungeon “Deep in the Night Forest” in Elite Mode. Please cheer for the party members, Verdure Glider, Rosette Rose, Rosette Dragoness, Rosette Miaomiao... Rosette Narcissus!”

The system announcement rang out like morning church bells throughout the sky of Dawnlight City. Jiang Fei and the Rosette Knighthood girls received a reward of 100,000 Experience Points and 10 Silver Coins. At the same time, the City almost tore itself apart in alarm.

“F*ck them! The f*ck do you mean “don’t f*cking intend to stand out!” How the f*ck do you call that “not standing out?!”

“F*ck me! The Normal Mode is already f*cking my brains out, and someone actually cleared the Elite Mode?”

“F*ck you! They must have exploited a bug! Those monsters are f*cking broken!”

“Ahhh, f*ck me sideways! I’m reporting the f*ck outta them!”

As the normal players continued cursing each other out, the big four were standing motionlessly. Happy Drunk, the self-proclaimed leader of the entire server had turned into a statue. It was as if the system’s announcement had stared down on them like Medusa herself!

Happy Drunk had been most smug about his own progress. Of the big four, only he had taken down the first boss. His party had struggled with the Bearmen minion, and when they came in groups of six, Happy Drunk had to switch things up in his team. He finally settled for a weird combination of four healers and three tanks to slowly bulldoze their way through the dungeon

Without a tough tank like Jiang Fei, three Bearmen easily overwhelmed a regular tank. Happy Drunk had been forced to roll in several tanks, at the cost of a highly weakened damage output. It prolonged fights to an extent that left the healers exhausted.

Even so, Happy Drunk was proud of getting that far. After all, even the biggest guild throughout Dawnlight City, “Magithieves” was still stuck at the first Tigermen’s boss. Slow and steady wins the race, and it’s not stupid if it works, so he saw no reason to change tactics.

But before he even got to meet the second boss, the system had sent a thunderbolt upon him. Broken was his beautiful dream. Loss, despair, humiliation all came crashing down on him.

“What the?! Who are these guys?”

Southern Azuresword could not believe his senses, but the system was impartial.

“How is that possible?!”

Daemon’s Grimace could barely speak. If anyone could clear the dungeon, only the big four could do it. But to have some unknown clear it by such a huge gap? They had not even broken through the first boss, yet these guys have already cleared the dungeon. What a slap to the face!

“It’s that Verdure Glider guy again! He must have caught on to a major exploit!” Lady Casanova mumbled furiously.

Chapter 42: Three Ascended Equipment!

In Jiang Fei’s buddy list, the profile pictures of four big Guildmasters were flickering. They were peppering him with endless streams of questions. Sadly, Jiang Fei had bigger things to look at.

A golden treasure chest had taken the place of the boss’ massive corpse.

“Brother Glider! What kind of party name is that?!”

Rosette Rose truly regretted her decision. She had just recovered from her shock, but it was too late. Jiang Fei had decided on a lousy excuse of a name, wasting such a great advertising opportunity. If this announcement had been used to propagate the Rosette Knighthood, that would have been perfect!

“I’m a big-time introvert. Introverts put introverted names,” said Jiang Fei, pretending to be the meekest, closeted geek ever.

“Pfft...” The girls all rolled their eyes at him.

“Cutie, just open the damn treasure chest!”

Rosette Miaomiao was clearly more interested in the gleaming treasure chest!

“Ahhhh... The damage has already been done. Brother Glider, go do your thing... Let’s better hope that something good comes out of this!”

Rosette Rose was still disgruntled about the whole party name thing, but the system announcement had already been sent. Nothing more could be said.

“Swish!”

The heavy, golden lid flicked open at a speed and lightness that belied its appearance. A dazzling blue light flashed by!

As expected from the Final boss. Three Ascended Blue tier equipment dropped at once. Although there were no more smithing Recipes, Jiang Fei had no complaints about it!

The Leather Bracelet was almost immediately set aside. Within the entire party, Rosette Phantom was the only player who utilized Leather Armor. The bracelet was hers by default. She had to be ridiculously lucky to obtain two special equipment from one dungeon run!

The ring went to Jiang Fei. After all, he was Rosette Knighthood's trump card tank. Even the Defense-oriented Rosette Dazzledance had no qualms about him taking the ring. After all, no girl enjoyed standing on the front row to take the beating for everyone else. Her build had been a result of necessity, not choice. Now, this Jiang Fei had popped out of nowhere, so she could rest easy!

When it was time to distribute the staff, the four girls turned towards Jiang Fei. The two Priests and the Magician Rosette Fox had not even obtained a single piece of equipment. Their eyes spoke of a million tales!

"Oh please, Priests, back off! This staff doesn't have Spirit attribute, it's clearly meant for Magicians!" snapped Rosette Rose.

"Alright..." Rosette Miaomiao and Rosette Peach could not hide their disappointment, but they said no more.

"Narcissus, you've already had one. Let's give this staff to Fox!"

Rosette Rose had turned to Rosette Narcissus.

"Okay!" Rosette Narcissus nodded. After all, she was not the only Magician. It would be too much for her to hog it all to herself.

"Yay! Thank you, Cutie!" Rosette Fox tugged the staff out of Jiang Fei's hands. At the same time, she had pounced up and kissed him on the cheek!

"Hey! You're such a flirt. I'm the one who decided to distribute the staff to you, alright?" Rosette Rose rolled her eyes. She despised those who placed misters before sisters.

"I don't care! Anyway, I'm kissing whoever who gave me the staff! Am I right, Cutie?" Even with the staff in her hands, Rosette Fox did not neglect to assault Jiang Fei's cheek with her lips.

"Let's... Just get back to the city!" Jiang Fei coughed.

"Alright!" After all, they had barely scraped through the Elite Mode. At their current level, the Heroic Mode would be suicide!

Besides, Rosette Rose was currently too busy to focus in combat. As Jiang Fei had not replied the masters of the four big guilds, they had turned to the Guildmaster instead. She did not have the guts to blatantly ignore them like Jiang Fei.

After all, Rosette Rose's earnest wish was to develop Rosette Knighthood into a first-class big guild. To achieve this goal, she could not afford to offend the existing big guilds. She was currently busy building relationships with those few Guildmasters. One thing was certain. She most certainly would not disclose Jiang Fei's secret to anyone else. Jiang Fei was the key to achieving her goals. If other guilds actually poached Jiang Fei, she might just break down and cry.

Upon returning to the city, Jiang Fei brought the girls to the cathedral at the center of Dawnlight City. After all, Moliere had entrusted a report to him before his corruption, asking him to deliver it to Bishop Phillip in person!

"Dear Adventurer, may I inquire as to why you've come to the cathedral?" a low-level priest asked.

"It's an emergency concerning the military. We need to see Bishop Phillip, stat!"

"I see! Please wait!"

The alarmed priest had immediately headed into the cathedral.

"Young man, I've heard something about an emergency?" Soon after, an old priest hobbled out. The green words "Bishop Phillip" hovered over his head.

"Yes! Your Eminence!" said Jiang Fei, handing the scroll over.

"Ding! The quest "The Variant Forest" (Dungeon) has been completed. Obtained 50,000 Experience Points. Obtained 10 Silver Coins!"

The moment the scroll made contact with the Bishop's fingers, Jiang Fei and the girls within the Knighthood received the quest rewards altogether. With 50,000 Experience Points shoved into the pocket, Jiang Fei's Experience Bar shot up. Once again, he was close to leveling up!

"Sigh! May the Lord comfort their souls! Alright! I'll deal with this matter! Thank you very much!" said Bishop Phillip, turning and walked back into the cathedral. It looked like that was the end of it! No more follow-up quests!

Jiang Fei and the girls parted ways. It was high time for some major equipment upgrades. After all, he had a Green tier Recipe now. It should be enough for him to produce Blue tier breastplates. He even had a Blue tier Recipe that might actually produce Violet tier Legendary Shoulder Armor. The prospect almost got him weak at the knees!

Of course, the higher quality the Recipe, the more materials required, and the higher the cost. Although Jiang Fei almost had 400 gold coins on his person, he could not mass-produce the armor like before!

Chapter 43: Secret Disclosure

An ordinary player would be plenty pleased with a Blue tier equipment, let alone a Legendary Tier. But Jiang Fei was not ordinary. He was a crafting class. Without the support of stronger equipment, he would fall behind in combat!

Jiang Fei's skills came solely from his equipment. Therefore, his only way of going forward was with better equipment. His combat skills were literally tailor-made. And to do that, he needed more materials, which were in grossly scarce supply!

"Hey, Bro. May I know what you're equipped with?"

While Jiang Fei was still worrying about where to outsource for more materials, the great victim had flung himself on the doorstep. Southern Azuresword himself had taken the initiative to reach out to Jiang Fei!

The man had been left without a choice. Let alone clearing the dungeon, he could not even break through the first boss. The first person he had reached out to was that enigmatic Verdure Glider, but he had been promptly ignored. His second option had been Rosette Rose, But this beautiful girl was the only daughter of a business family. She had been brought up as a businesswoman, along with the tight defense and light-footed negotiation capabilities. He had not been able to get anything useful from her, other than get increasingly frustrated at her illusive omission of key details. At most, she only said that the first boss was just the beginning. The latter stages of the dungeon would make the first boss look like a baby's toy. If the first boss was already giving you this much trouble, prepare to be wiped out by the subsequent monsters!

At first, Southern Azuresword and the rest had thought that Rosette Rose was just playing some mental games to increase the gap. But Happy Drunk had made himself a personal example as an effective means of convincing others. The Bearmen monsters that came in ten had toyed with them like infants. Even their formation of four tanks and five healers was unable to hold out! When Happy Drunk was done speaking, the other three guilds were utterly dumbfounded!

As one, the four Guildmasters unanimously realized their actual obstacle was the fact their tanks were made of paper! So, how do we reinforce paper? Put them in a hardcover file! However, they first needed to kill a boss to get some hardcovers! The Blacksmith players within the guild would only waste materials producing White tier equipments. Jiang Fei was the only alternative left!

"Equipment? Of course! Level 15 Blue and Green tier Platemail Breastplates, Blue tier Platemail Shoulders, I have them all!"

Jiang Fei pounced upon the opportunity. This big fat sheep had delivered itself to his door. He would feel sorry for himself if he spared it!

“How about the price?”

When Southern Azuresword heard that Jiang Fei had some actual Blue tier equipment, he was just as shocked as he thought himself fortunate. He would not be the first party to clear the dungeon, but he could still organize two parties, three parties, four parties, five, six, seven, eight parties to attempt sending a tsunami through the Elite Mode dungeon. The glory was no longer there, but the Experience Points and equipment from the dungeon were just as crucial towards the early development of his guild!

“5 gold coins for each Level 15 Green tier Breastplate. 50 Gold coins for Blue tier equipment!” said Jiang Fei, demanding an exorbitant price.

“Uh, isn’t that pretty steep...?” asked Southern Azuresword. He had a huge guild, but the game was just in its infantile stages. The landlord had no surplus grains!

“My equipment all come with extra skills!” said Jiang Fei, making sure to enunciate each word.

“What?!”

Southern Azuresword would have tipped over a chair if he had been sitting on one. Jiang Fei had once sold more than seventy equipment with additional skills, but he had claimed them to be hand-picked and binned. Were all these samples also hand-picked? They even had Level 15 Green tier and Blue tier equipment crafted? These guys were filthy rich, weren’t they?

“I have lots of equipment. It may be impossible for your guild to swallow them all. Spread the word to the other guilds, saying that I want to sell Green and Blue tier equipment en masse!”

This time, Jiang Fei’s greed had blinded his better judgment! While attempting to mercilessly slaughter these big guilds, he had also exposed his little secret!

“What? Mass-produced blue tier equipment with extra skills?”

Even the smug and arrogant Happy Drunk had opened his slit-eyes wide at that!

“That’s right! I’ve sent someone to investigate. This guy is a member of some small group named Rosette Knighthood. They seem to be a group of pub-level rich ladies. None of them show any promise. Besides, before joining the Rosette Knighthood, this Verdure Glider had been playing solo!”

Lady Casanova marched right in, slamming a pile of documents on the table.

“If that’s so, he’s producing all these miracles by himself?” Southern Azuresword had grown weary of being surprised. He knew that Jiang Fei had a massive amount of Blue tier equipment, but there was too much to go around. Therefore, he had to find someplace to offload them.

“That’s perfectly plausible. After my team put their heads together, their best hypothesis is that he must have encountered a secret quest, secret item, secret NPC, secret skill, secret whatever. Point being, he has to have found something that gives Crafting classes a massive boost. There’s no better reason for a solo player to pick a crafting class,” said Lady Casanova.

The advisers of these big guilds were indeed no ordinary beings. They had ended up on the same conclusion as what Jiang Fei told Rosette Rose. Overlooking Jiang Fei’s cheat ring was to be expected, but it was some solid detective work, nevertheless!

“He’s ours!” When Lady Casanova was finished talking, the other three Guildmasters spoke simultaneously. Evidently, all of them wanted this walking treasure trove for themselves. To hell with Rosette Knighthood and their wealth. Only the big four were worthy of competing with each other. If they intended to poach someone, a small clan like Rosette Knighthood was only bound to be trampled upon!

“Hey! That’s enough, you guys!”

Lady Casanova rolled her eyes. In her mind, she went, “You guys intend to poach him? You think I haven’t already taken action upon receiving the intel firsthand?”

The power balance of Dawnlight City was now in a fragile state. “Magithieves” held the majority monopoly. No one else could be mentioned in the same breath. But if the other three big guilds were brought together, “Magithieves” might find itself at the bottom rung. Now, Jiang Fei’s existence could most possibly tip the scales. If Lady Casanova poached Jiang Fei, that would mean real trouble for the other three guilds. They would most definitely unite to declare war against “Magithieves.” If they gave Jiang Fei the breathing space to bolster “Magithieves’s” firepower, they would solidify their monopoly!

Therefore, in the end, “Magithieves’s” advisory team had come up with a solid plan. Have Jiang Fei, the “variable” remain within this tiny Rosette Knighthood. This small group of gals was not a threat to any guild. Besides, they severely lacked manpower. Jiang Fei’s equipment would have to stand against the entirety of Dawnlight City. Either that, or he would have to sell it all to them. That way, as long as the four of them maintained equal access to his equipment, the city could develop in peace!

After Lady Casanova announced her plans, Southern Azuresword and the rest had nodded in unison. Jiang Fei's value had clouded their visions. All they could think of was his conscription. When Lady Casanova's level-headed analysis got to them, they saw the benefits of her plan. If any one guild won Jiang Fei over, that guild would immediately become the common enemy of Dawnlight City. At the early stages of the game, everyone needed room to grow. A city-wide guild battle royale this early in the game would have devastating consequences. It was in everyone's best interests to keep Jiang Fei neutral, whether they knew it or otherwise!

Chapter 44: Saving Someone From a Car Accident!

In the end, the four big guilds headed for Jiang Fei together. They intended to purchase some equipment from him!

"I don't have any in stock yet. Come back tomorrow night, and you can take whatever you can. But I don't take payment in the form of gold coins. I only ask for materials!" said Jiang Fei.

"No problem!"

The four Guildmasters asked no questions, for they were all well aware of Jiang Fei's background. If they gave Jiang Fei money and let him buy materials after that, someone else was going to profit from it. Besides, they had no much cash on hand. Jiang Fei's request for materials sang to their tune. After all, they had their entire Storage of materials and no way of using them swiftly enough. Instead of letting those useless Blacksmiths in their guilds put them to waste, it was far more worthwhile providing the minerals to Jiang Fei, the unanimously neutral Blacksmith!

"Well, uh, if you guys trust me, I hope that you'll let me have the materials first! Advanced payment... If you would!" Jiang Fei sheepishly added. After all, he was unable to start smithing without materials!

"No problem!" the four Guildmasters' replies were as simple and direct as usual. From their perspective, Jiang Fei would never possibly give up on a long-term, mutually beneficial partnership to cheat them of some early stage materials!

Jiang Fei had offered extremely unreasonable prices to the four big guilds. On average, it was approximately five material sets of Raider's Breastplate for each Green grade Raider's Breastplate. On the other hand, 15 sets of materials were required for each Blue grade. An equal amount of material sets for each Blue grade Shoulder Armor!

Even so, Jiang Fei was already a model of honesty and reliability in the eyes of the four Guildmasters. After all, they did not know that Jiang Fei's success rate was almost 50%. His probability of producing an Ascended equipment was also around 10%. The few Guildmasters had been making calculations according to the success rate of their guild's Crafters. According to their algorithms, not only had Jiang Fei not earned any money, he had to be deep in debt!

After taking in all the materials sent by the four big guilds and shoving them into the bank, Jiang Fei leaned back and did some calculations. Altogether, he had obtained almost 1,000 material sets for Breastplates and 500 material sets for Shoulder Armors. With these materials, he could produce at least 500 Breastplates and 200 Shoulder Armors. But he only had to give the few big guilds about 100 to 200 Breastplates mixed with Blue and Green grade, and dozens of Blue grade Shoulder Armors. The heavens had thrown him a giant bone!

The servers were about to shut down. Jiang Fei knew better than to start rushing through his commissions. He started wandering aimlessly within Dawnlight City, waiting for the servers to go offline!

By 6 in the morning, Jiang Fei automatically got up from sleep. Jiang Fei's mom was busy in the kitchen as usual, preparing breakfast. It was the dawn of a new day!

Winter in the North of China was bizarre. Not only did the sky start turning in early, it was also slow to rise. When the poor high school students went to school, the sky was still dark. There were almost no pedestrians along the road!

"Vroom... Vroom..."

As Jiang Fei dragged his feet through the ground, a sharp engine roar assaulted his eardrums.

"Whiz..." A sports car sped by past Jiang Fei at lightning speed. Although there was a six-lane distance between them, the chilling draft was no gentler on Jiang Fei's cheeks!

"Holy f*ck! Suicidal maniac! I can hardly see shit in this darkness!" Jiang Fei swore. Although Jiang Fei came from a rather well-off family himself, he was nothing like these second-generation tycoons who drag raced in the middle of the night. These guys were at it almost every night. But he had not expected to see them going at it after dawn!

"Vroom... Vroom..."

Just as Jiang Fei fell silent again, a second car sped past him. Another wall of chilly winter air slapped him in the face. This time, his eardrums were positively ringing.

"Just crash and burn already, will you!" Jiang Fei screamed at its tail lights.

“Bang!”

No sooner, a loud bang came from not far ahead, followed by flames springing up to the sky.

“Oh, shit! Did I just become f*cking psychic?”

Jiang Fei jogged a few steps and found that there had indeed been a car accident ahead!

A Lamborghini had slammed into the concrete guardrail. One look told him that it was a total loss. The fuel tank had ruptured, and a fire was quickly spreading. Approaching the wreck was impossible.

“Help me... Help me...”

Just as Jiang Fei started to turn around and gain some distance from the danger, he saw that the driver had survived, if just barely. Instead, he had been flung out of the car. He was lying on the ground not far away from the burning vehicle. Blood was all over his face.

“Ah, what the hell!”

Jiang Fei ran up to the fallen man at his enhanced speed and dragged him as much as he could away from the car.

“Bang!” Just in the nick of time, the Lamborghini blew up. The hot gust of wind sent the both of them flying. Fortunately, they had their thick, winter clothes on. Any less, and they would already be suffering severe burns!

“Puff...”

The young lad was already so weak to begin with. The explosion had not helped one bit. He spat out a mouthful of blood.

“Hey! Are you alright?”

Jiang Fei tapped the guy’s face.

“Help... me...”

More blood was spat out.

“Whoa hang in there, I’m calling the ambulance right away!”

Jiang Fei laid the guy on the ground. He whipped out his phone and got dialing.

“Stay with me, alright!”

This young guy was a complete stranger to Jiang Fei. Besides, he had even cursed this guy to die in a car crash. But he had not meant any of that. No one would wish ill upon another so ruthlessly!

“Puff...” Yet another mouthful of blood. This was bad!

“Where the f*ck is the ambulance?!” Jiang Fei started anxiously rubbing his thighs.

“Hmm?!” All of a sudden, Jiang Fei felt a bump.

Jiang Fei had previously taken out a small bottle of Health Points potion from the game. That potion was still in his pocket! This tiny, perfumed-sized bottle seemed inconspicuous, but Jiang Fei was suddenly more hopeful than ever.

“Drink this up!”

Jiang Fei lifted the young guy’s head slightly, before pouring it into the guy’s mouth!

“Phew...”

A mouthful of potion that overflowed with fragrance was poured into the guy’s mouth. He had truly been a step away from death. Suddenly, he felt much better.

If he was in an X-ray machine right now, one would see his broken ribcage miraculously moving back into its original position. Even the crack lines were vanishing, and his muscles and tendons were mending themselves!

“Ooogah... Ooogah...”

After the few breaths, the man was almost even able to talk to Jiang Fei. At the same time, an ambulance pulled over.

“Move up, help the man!” A team of medics brought a stretcher down and quickly got to work.

“Hey... Don’t go! You’re the one who called the ambulance, didn’t you? You need to come with us!”

Jiang Fei had intended to leave, seeing that he had done everything in his power. After all, he still had school. But a medic had grabbed his shoulder.

“Ah! Alright, alright!”

Jiang Fei figured it out immediately. After all, he was the sole witness. They might have questions for him later, and it might help in the young man's treatment. Class was important, but another's well-being was priceless. He got on the ambulance without another word.
