

Mogul 1061

Chapter 1061 A Gift To Destroy The Larson Group

"What... Why are you back?" Vivian asked shakily. Her legs grew weak, and she was frightened. She couldn't believe that Jeremy would suddenly come back.

Jeremy ignored her question. Instead, he changed the topic and asked casually, "Do you have time now? It's too cold outside. How about we warm up with a cup of coffee? My treat."

Despite Vivian's fear of Jeremy, she couldn't refuse his invitation. He was behaving so kindly towards her, and he sounded so warm and courteous. She doubted that the Jeremy she was looking at now was the same one from the ruthless and cunning Jeremy over the phone.

Chapter 1062 Secret Document

Jeremy looked at Vivian with a somber expression. Slowly averting his eyes, he produced a document from his briefcase.

The document's content was shocking. It contained details and research about Brandon's condition. Vivian went through it quickly. Suddenly, her eyes stopped moving.

"What is this? When did Brandon lose his memory? Is this some kind of joke?" Vivian didn't know what to feel or think. She felt like she was in a dream as a sense of shock came over her. Surely, this must be nothing more than a stupid prank.

Chapter 1063 I Won't Disturb You Anymore

"Derek, stop it!" Janet said as she tried to match Derek's pace. "My husband is still recovering. Don't disturb him."

Derek was behaving like a spoiled child throwing a tantrum. "Really? Why can't I visit him? Why is the CEO of Larson Group so narrow-minded?"

When he saw that Janet looked like she was going to lose her temper, Derek hurriedly added, "Please, don't get mad. That was a joke. I just came to express my gratitude to Brandon for saving my life. I even brought my girlfriend with me. I'm definitely not going to pester you like I did before."

Chapter 1064 Derek Visited Brandon

Derek entered the ward, parading the fruits and flowers in his hands. Meanwhile, Gilda decided to wait for him in the corridor just outside the ward.

Derek discretely reminded Janet he had to discuss something important with Brandon alone. Janet did what she was asked and went out first.

What could they be talking about?

Janet almost pressed her face against the door in an attempt to see what was going on inside through a gap in the door.

"Mrs. Larson, eavesdropping is impolite," Gilda suddenly said from behind Janet.

Janet sprung to her full height, desperate to explain herself but unaware of how to as she blushed in embarrassment.

Gilda let out a chuckle. "I won't tell anyone."

Chapter 1065 Take Good Care Of Her For Me

"It's a snake pit with the Turner Group." Brandon put the document on the table and his eyes hardened like steel.

Derek's eyes sparkled with curiosity as he asked, "Are the Turners the ones pulling the strings against Janet before?"

This was Derek's educated guess. Last time, while they were in danger, he had asked Janet about it. At that time, Janet had told him that she would reveal all when they were out of danger. He smiled bitterly and thought that perhaps he would never have the chance to know the truth even though they were both safe and sound now.

"This is between us and the Turners. Stop stressing about it." Brandon didn't want to drag Derek into the quagmire.

Chapter 1066 A New Beginning

Derek dragged Gilda out of the hospital angrily to somewhere that was quieter. He then let go of her hand and complained, "How dare Brandon vent his anger at me! I have never been treated like that by anyone before!"

Although the sun shone brightly in Barnes today, the chilly winter winds could still make people shiver.

Gilda was slender, and her dress was blown wildly against the wind. She held herself tightly to keep herself warm as her body shivered slightly from the piercing cold wind.

Derek saw her shivering and quickly took off his coat, wrapping it around her thin shoulders. "Wilder should be arriving soon. Let's just wait a little longer," he assured her.

Gilda smiled at Derek's graciousness. She then glanced towards the door of the in-patient department and tugged Derek's sleeve. "Aren't you going to say goodbye to Janet? Are you just going to leave like this?" she asked in confusion.

Wasn't he here to see Janet?

Chapter 1067 Suspecting The Turner family

Janet gasped as she recalled the exhilarating details of the car accident that day. The fruit knife in her palm slid from her grasp and to the floor as her fingers shook.

Brandon picked up the sharp fruit knife and placed it on the table. As he carefully examined Janet's fingers, he didn't hide his nervous expression until no wound was found on her hand.

"You should be careful." Brandon put his arms around her shoulder and asked worriedly, "What's wrong? Is there something on your mind?"

Staring at the photo on the table, Janet asked with a frown, "Have you found the man yet?"

Brandon took a look at the photo and said, "I still haven't found him. The man has vanished, but he was last seen in the position depicted in the photograph."

Chapter 1068 The Whites Were Back

"Wait..." Janet jumped out of bed and rushed to put on her shoes, but the door was pushed open from the outside again before she could.

"See? I've told you that the patient in this ward is my daughter," Johanna emphasized once more, looking impatient. She pushed the care worker who tried to stop her and barged into the room with Beal.

When Janet looked Johanna in the eyes, she felt extremely awkward. "Mom, when did you and Dad return?" Her face flushed red as she asked.

Beal and Johanna had just recently embarked on a long-delayed round-the-world tour. Ever since they were reunited with their daughter Janet, they had been able to really enjoy their retired life.

As such, Janet did not expect to see them back so soon.

Chapter 1069 Johanna Is Furious

"You should have told us about it right away." Johanna rushed to Janet, clasping both her shoulders as she examined her from head to toe. "Were you hurt? You scared me."

Janet took a deep breath. "Mom, don't worry. I'm here, aren't I?"

"But what if the person who did it actually poisoned you? We wouldn't know until the effects are visible and what if by that time it's already too late? You need to be carefully and thoroughly checked. Wait a minute, I'll call the family doctor over now." Beal was ready to call their family doctor.

Chapter 1070 A Strange Condition

Frank clutched the examination report in his hand and pushed the door open. "Sorry for keeping you waiting. I have the result now."

Janet hurried to her feet and showered him with questions. "How was it? There shouldn't be any other problems, right?"

An unreadable look flashed on his face as Frank scanned the report. The way he pinched his chin didn't suggest anything good. "Well... It's hard to say."