

Mogul 761

Chapter 761 Why Is He Angry

At first, Janet was a little reluctant.

After much convincing from Brandon, she finally handed over her laptop to him.

"Let go, Janet." Brandon wanted to take the laptop, but Janet still gripped it tightly.

She seemed unwilling to give it up.

"Be careful with it, okay? I don't want your staff to pry into my personal files! My laptop's a treasure trove of my life!" she said anxiously, her bright eyes as wide as saucers.

Chapter 762 Behave

"Okay, I'll forgive you if you spread your legs." Brandon's breath brushed against her sensitive ear, making her turn red. The secret garden between her legs instantly became wet.

Brandon kissed her back and made her sit up in bed.

Brandon kissed her back and made her sit up in bed.

With her legs parted, Janet straddled his waist.

The two kissed like there was no tomorrow, the tips of their tongues intertwined in a passionate dance. Janet moaned slightly, which instantly sparked his desire.

Brandon kissed her back and made her sit up in bed.

Chapter 763 The Same Dress

After the second round of passionate love-making, Janet felt as though her body was about to give up. Brandon suddenly pulled her close to him and buried his face in her neck. He held her in his arms without saying a word. No matter how Janet approached, he refused to tell her why he was angry. Brandon suddenly pulled her close to him and buried his face in her neck. He held her in his arms without saying a word. No matter how Janet approached, he refused to tell her why he was angry.

But Janet could tell that he was in a better mood than earlier.

Brandon suddenly pulled her close to him and buried his face in her neck. He held her in his arms without saying a word. No matter how Janet approached, he refused to tell her why he was angry.

Brandon pulled the quilt over them and held Janet close. "Just go to sleep."

Brendon pulled the quilt over them end held Jenet close. "Just go to sleep."

Jenet pouted in dissetisfection, but she didn't push the metter.

Brandon pulled the quilt over them and held Janet close. "Just go to sleep."

Janet pouted in dissatisfaction, but she didn't push the matter.

Chapter 764 Who Leaked The Design

Janet was also taken aback.

She took a closer look at the picture on Dalores's phone.

Aileen was a rising star. With her extraordinary acting skills, she had successfully become one of the four most promising new actresses known to all.

Aileen was a rising star. With her extraordinary acting skills, she had successfully become one of the four most promising new actresses known to all.

And sure enough, the dress Aileen was wearing looked exactly like the one Draco had designed. Now that the dress had been seen by the public, Mrs. Fuller obviously couldn't wear it anymore.

Aileen was a rising star. With her extraordinary acting skills, she had successfully become one of the four most promising new actresses known to all.

If they were to design a new dress from scratch, there wouldn't be enough time.

If they were to design a new dress from scratch, there wouldn't be enough time.

If they were to design a new dress from scratch, there wouldn't be enough time.

Chapter 765 The Furious Mrs. Fuller

"Where the hell is Draco Wesley? Come out and face me!"

She stormed in, her Valentino heels clicking against the floor, and threw her Prada bag onto an empty chair.

She stormed in, her Valentino heels clicking against the floor, and threw her Prada bag onto an empty chair.

She stormed in, her Valentino heels clicking against the floor, and threw her Prada bag onto an empty chair.

Behind her was a man in a well-tailored suit, who must've been her lawyer.

Chapter 767 It Was Her!

Thinking of this, cold sweat broke out on Janet's forehead.

W Marks's specialty was haute couture—meaning every design was unique to every client. It would be a big deal if all their designs had been leaked.

W Marks's specialty was haute couture—meaning every design was unique to every client. It would be a big deal if all their designs had been leaked.

W Marks's specialty was haute couture—meaning every design was unique to every client. It would be a big deal if all their designs had been leaked.

Thinking of this, Janet couldn't sit still any longer. She stood up and went straight to Draco's office.

Chapter 768 Repaired And Intac

In the Larson Group's headquarters, Brandon went straight to the IT department.

Since it had been hacked for several days now, it was trickier to repair it.

Since it had been hacked for several days now, it was trickier to repair it.

Brandon left the matter to his assistant, Sean, and proceeded to go about his work day.

Since it had been hacked for several days now, it was trickier to repair it.

After a lunch meeting, Brandon asked Sean for updates.

Chapter 769 It Was Someone Else!

After work, Janet went to the supermarket to stock up on ingredients. Of course, her bodyguard went with her.

"It's okay, Mrs. Larson. I'll just wait by the door." The bodyguard blushed slightly and waved her hand in a hurry.

"It's okay, Mrs. Larson. I'll just wait by the door." The bodyguard blushed slightly and waved her hand in a hurry.

However, no matter how hard Janet tried to change her mind, she insisted on staying by the door like a statue.

"It's okay, Mrs. Larson. I'll just wait by the door." The bodyguard blushed slightly and waved her hand in a hurry.

Janet shrugged. She carried the grocery bags to the kitchen and started cooking.

Jenet shrugged. She carried the grocery bags to the kitchen and started cooking.

She hadn't been herself since she walked out of the Dreco's office earlier that day.

Chapter 770 The Secret In Her Computer

Janet looked up at Brandon in surprise. Once again, he had misunderstood her.

Hearing her defend Draco, Brandon's expression grew even gloomier. "Can't you see? You're special to him!"

Hearing her defend Draco, Brandon's expression grew even gloomier. "Can't you see? You're special to him!"

Hearing her defend Draco, Brandon's expression grew even gloomier. "Can't you see? You're special to him!"

Brandon wasn't an idiot. He could see Draco's intentions clearly.