The Alpha's Moon Child by Nocturnes Moon

Chapter 17

Protecting My Mate Ren's POV I am not proud that I had lost control. Saphira's Uncle kept pushing and pushing me to my breaking point, I growled, and it seemed only to amuse him. "O look. I made the Dog angry. Listen here when I get out. of here, not you or anyone else will be able to keep her from me. She belongs to me, and I will come for what's mine. "That was all it took. I didn't care anymore. NO ONE would threaten my MATE. I ripped the cell door off its hinges, fully intending on doing the same to his head. I was in such a rage that I didn't see him pull the syringe out until it was too late. He was mere inches from me when something hit my chest, pushing me back. I glanced down and realized it was Saphira. How in the hell had she gotten between us so fast? It felt like a dream as I flew backward through the air. How.. how had she pushed me back with enough force to send me flying back over 20 feet. I hit the table with a heavy thud. The pain was instant and intense. The edge of the table was jagged, and it had sliced into my side like butter. I mind-linked my Father for help. "I am on my way; Ren, hold on!" I rolled over to my side and got to my knees. Within seconds my Father was down the stairs and by my side. "Go to Saphira, forget me help her" "Son, I think she has it handled" I looked to my Father and then to my Mate. She was standing directly in front of her Uncle. Somehow she had taken the syringe from him and had it in her hand. "GIVE THAT BACK TO ME NOW, you little freak," he yelled. "No." "What did you just say to me?" "You heard me." She said. I have never felt so proud in my life. Sharing my little Mate face her fear and stand up to that ae made me feel a deep sense of pride. "That belongs to me. Give it back now, he commanded." "She held the syringe up, Actually, It is my blood you took from me without my consent, so it belongs to me. I was about to go to her when my approach her now. She may not realize it is you. Within seconds the syringe in her hand exploded and disappeared into thin air. "What the hell did you just do, you useless h?" Her Uncle yelled. He lunged for her, SIT DOWN NOW. DOG! We froze in our tracks, "did Saphira just give an Alpha command?" My Father asked me." I… I think she" did I replied. By this time, Dante had arrived and help my Father pull me to my feet. "What in the world just happened?" Dante asked. "Who gave that command? My wolf wanted to turn tail and drag us back up the stairs when we heard it. Who else is down here?" "Saphira did." I said. "Wow" was all he could reply. Saphira turned around and came to me, looking at my side. "Did I do that? O I am so sorry I wasn't trying to hurt you?" Shhhh, it's ok. I know you weren't trying to hurt me." I said, "You saved my life, Baby. When you pushed me back, I hit the side of the table, and it cut me. It's not bad and will be healed completely in a few days "Let me see it, please." she said. "Why sweetheart, it is ok it will heal." "Please just let me see it. "She asked again. I smiled and moved my hand. She examined it for a moment and then placed her hand over the wound. Within seconds my side began to heat up, and I could feel a slight amount of pain. It caused me to draw a sharp breath in, but as soon as it started, it was gone. She removed her hand and backed away. I looked down to my side only to find what looked like a freshly healed scar." How did you do that?" I asked her." I have no idea, she replied." "I just knew I could; I don't understand any of it."
