Star Struck~

Ooooo I cannot wait for these next few chapters. There's gonna be plot freaking twists, and honestly a couple main deaths so uhhh. Prepare yourselves because with me, nobody is safe. I'm just kidding...Or am I? Anyways please VOTE AND COMMENT.

It was yet another cold day in December, where one could find me sitting at the edge of the frozen lake, trying to figure out what it meant—If it even meant anything. For all I knew, the Moon Goddess could've just wanted to put me upside down in the lake for laughs.

But I knew better.

I knew that she was back to her riddles, and that the lake played a major part in unlocking the answer—Now the answer to what? I had no clue what answer I was even looking for. The Moon Goddess only said that there was trouble to come. She didn't even tell me what trouble.

So I was practically trying to find a needle in a haystack—And in this case, the needle was the size of a flea.

I placed my head in my hands, frustrated that I wasn't figuring anything out. I mean, I had been visiting the lake for a few days now, and still nothing turned up.

I was about ready to leave and call it a day, when I felt someone's presence beside me. I looked to see Ethan, and immediately my stomach dropped. My mood darkened, and as much as I didn't want to admit it, I had been avoiding my brother for days now.

I wasn't ready to talk to him.

But I guess he was ready to talk to me.

"You know, when I found you I expected you to be a bit more eager to see me."

I looked down, feeling guilty for avoiding my brother. It wasn't that I wanted to avoid him, it's that I didn't know what to say to him, nor did I trust him. But still, he was right, I definitely wasn't as excited to see him as I should have been.

"I know," I replied, "I'm sorry."

I gave him a sympathetic smile, one which I hoped seemed genuine and not fake. The last thing I needed was for him to think that I was fake.

Thankfully, he returned the smile.

"It's understandable. Trust must be pretty di icult for you, seeing as though you were dead."

Oh no. I was hoping that this wouldn't be brought up. Unfortunately, I knew that fate wasn't on my side today.

"How are you alive?"

The way he asked that question was filled with scrutiny. Before death, I was used to my brother talking to me this way. I mean a er all we are siblings, siblings fight. But now, it was weird for him to talk to me in almost a suspicious tone. He was talking to me as if I had done something wrong.

This only made my lack of trust towards him stronger. And no matter how hard I tried to lower my guard, I couldn't.

Ethan stared at me, waiting for an explanation. How could I explain to him that I was alive because the Moon Goddess needed me to come down to Earth, to love an emotionally damaged alpha? I mean was I supposed to tell him that? Was I weird for not wanting him to know that.

Maybe.

But I wasn't ready for him to know the truth yet.

"I...I guess I was just given a second chance."

"A second chance? Estrella, you were dead for four years. Your body was in the ground, decaying for four years. I don't understand how it's possible for you to just come back. I mean, that goes against nature."

Was he actually mad that I was alive?

"Are you mad that I'm living?"

"No," He shouted, "I'm creeped out by the fact that everything about you goes against nature."

I was silent and stunned. A few days ago he was hugging me, and now he was yelling at me for something that I couldn't control?

"Ethan-" I went to speak, but he cut me o .

"No, just leave it," He hissed, "It was always you and mom who managed to defy the laws of nature."

What did my mom have to do with this?

"Ethan don't bring mom into this," I snapped, "She's dead. There's no reason to disrespect the dead."

He laughed, but not a laugh of humor. This was a laugh of anger. Something had made him really angry, and I had a feeling that part of the truth was about to come out.

"If you truly believe mom's dead, then you are a bigger idiot than you were when you were young."_____

And with that, he ran, leaving me absolutely dumbfounded. Everything that had happened between the uncalled for anger, and the revelation that he believed my mom was alive, it was all so much.

I stared out at the lake again, tears forming in my eyes. I didn't want to allow myself to cry, but between my interaction with the moon goddess, and the hostility from my brother, I really couldn't handle my emotions.

I began to cry, my heart heavy with information that I didn't want to know. I didn't want to know that we were going to be in danger again. I didn't want to know that my own brother thought I was a mutant. I didn't want to know that my mom was possibly alive.

I didn't want to know any of that.

I just wanted to live my life in peace.

As if he could sense I was crying, I heard the mate link open.

Why are you crying Xailen asked, concerned.

Just...A lot's going on right now.responded, knowing that I still had yet to tell Kailen about the incident with the Moon Goddess. It was definitely something that he needed to know.

Can you meet me at the house? asked, standing up and wiping my tears. I knew that seeing my mate would help me feel better, and right now I just really needed him to hold me.

Of course. I'm on my way.

A few minutes later I arrived back at the house, tears still flowing freely down my face. I really needed some comfort, and thankfully, I could sense that my mate was already inside.

Without hesitation, I opened the door and went in. And when I saw Kailen sitting on the couch, with a look of worry, that's when I lost it.

I released a loud cry as I walked over to him, and immediately he pulled me down on him. His arms wrapped around me, holding me close to him. I clutched onto him as I cried, and that's when the words started flowing out.

Everything that I'd been holding in since I'd met him was now gonna spill.

"I'm sorry that I've been a terrible mate." I sobbed, fully aware that my tears had now soaked through his shirt. I could sense his confusion when I said this, but instead of letting him question me further, I spoke again.

"I'm so..." I choked on a sob, "Sorry."

And even though me being a terrible mate didn't even cross my mind until the Moon Goddess called me out, it was now heavy on my mind. In fact out of everything that was happening, the thing that bothered me the most was how I was still selfish with Kailen.

I was still the same selfish wolf he'd met in the beginning—No matter how much I thought I changed. And what made matters worse, I still didn't want to change. I was comfortable with staying the selfish little girl I had always been.

Kailen gently pulled my face back to stare at me, confused and distraught.

"Estrella," He whispered, "Whatever you think you've done to be a bad mate, you haven't. You are an amazing mate—The only mate I would ever ask for."

I shook my head, squeezing my eyes shut as more tears came from them.

"You're w-wrong, Kailen," I said, "I'm so...so selfish. And not only that. But I'm an abomination."

"An abomination—What? What the hell are you talking about?"

I stared at him, wishing that I could be the mate that he deserved, as well as the sister that my brother wanted.

"My brother, he h-hates me. He said I go against the l-laws of nature."

I couldn't control how scattered my thoughts were. One second I was thinking about what a horrible mate I was, the next I was thinking about what a horrible sister I was. And no matter how hard I tried to focus on just one thought, I couldn't. My mind was everywhere.

"Estrella," He grabbed my chin, "Without you, my life would mean nothing. If you didn't go against nature, who knows where I'd be now, but it definitely wouldn't be good."

He paused to run his thumb over my lip.

"You are not an abomination or a freak," He whispered, "You are a gi from the Moon Goddess—My little moonflower."

And like he'd done many times before, he pressed his lips to mine.

a

And like every time before, every bad thought seemed to fade away. My mate was the only thing I cared about right now.

I grabbed his hair as we kissed, pulling on it gently, and smiling when I felt his hands resting on my waist.

Something about his hands being on me made me all giddy inside, and I honestly never wanted his hands to leave.

But his hands le, only for a second though, as he flipped us over and climbed on top of me.

I had to say that I much rather preferred him on top. Being under him just made me feel safe, like he was gonna protect us from everything that would hurt us. It was also hot to have him in control.

He pulled away from kissing me, and began to gently bite my neck. His so love nips sent tingles up and down my spine, and with each bite came memories of him marking me.

God I wish he could mark me again and again, just so I could feel the sting, the burn, and the pleasure. But I knew that there were other pleasures that he could give me, other pleasures that would feel ten times better than being marked.

His mouth came back up to mine, placing hot, open mouthed kisses on my lips. While his lips were on mine, his hands began to move downwards, and when I knew were they were going, I felt a sudden burst of excitement.

I knew what was about to come with the excitement—the happiness. So when a so , purple light began to radiate o of my skin, I wasn't caught o guard this time. I welcomed the gi that the Moon Goddess gave me.

When Kailen noticed I was glowing again, his hand froze, and he pulled back to look at me. And in his eyes, I saw nothing but utter fascination and love. I couldn't help but smile—My heart felt full.

"Fuck," He spoke, "I love you. I love your fucking beautiful ass."

His head dropped down on my chest, but I didn't want this. I didn't want him to stop. I wanted him to go further. So I decided to be bold, and for the first time I did something completely out of my comfort zone.

I grabbed his dick.

ส์

This caught him by surprise, and his head quickly jerked up. His eyes which were once blue, were now gold, as he stared at me with wide eyes. I knew that he didn't expect me to do this, and while I didn't have any clue what I was doing, I wanted to please him.

So I began to gently stroke him, trying to do what I had heard so many shewolves talking about, and like magic, he began to get harder.

I knew that I had started something that there was no going back from, and even if there was, I didn't want to. I wanted to feel as close to Kailen as I could. I needed my mate to make me feel satisfied.

I continued to stare at Kailen, who stared down at me with a mouth slightly opened. He looked as if he was in a trance as I did this, snapping out when I brought my other hand up to his face.

I had his full attention now.

"Kailen," I said, "I want..."

I swallowed hard, and before I said the words I was about to say, it felt as if my heart would explode out of my chest.

But I was tough, I wasn't a coward. Plus, I wanted this badly.

"I want you to fuck me."

Time seemed to freeze as I said this, and Kailen's golden eyes stared deeply into mine. I was still stroking his manhood as he stared at me, waiting for him to reply.

ส์

I wasn't going to tell him, but I was quite nervous. He was big, and even though I hadn't really ever done anything before, I knew that he was bigger than most.

But I knew that if I wanted him to be gentle, then Kailen would be gentle. And if I wanted him to be rough, then he would be rough.

He watched me for just a second more, before what I said fully hit him.

I let out a startled shriek when he suddenly hoisted me up, and ran at wolf speed up the stairs. I could feel his heart beating quickly as he gently set me down on the bed, and grabbed a condom out of the drawer.

And as he grabbed it, he looked at me. I was still fully clothed, and I honestly didn't know if I was supposed to undress or if he would do it for me.

But he seemed to read my mind, as he came over to me and began to remove everything I was wearing—Rather quickly I had to say. I could feel his excitement, as well as mine, as the so purple light was growing brighter and brighter.

I prayed that it wouldn't become blinding at any point, and ruin the moment. However, when Kailen climbed on top of me, and stared at me, I forgot about the damn light. I was too focused on him.

"You sure you want this?" He asked, "I'm not going to be upset if you wanna wait."

I nodded. And while I was absolutely touched by how respectful he was, I knew what I wanted. I knew that I wanted Kailen. I didn't wanna wait a minute longer.

Thankfully, I didn't have to.

He positioned himself, looking at me the entire time. And for a few seconds, he hesitated so he could say something. Something that he deemed necessary.

"I want you to know that I love you more than I love myself. Estrella, beautiful. I would die for you."

And with those words fresh in my mind, he began, leaving me absolutely fucking breathless, and absolutely star struck. He made me feel things that I had never felt before, and he made my body do things that it had never done before.

Kailen made me feel something that I had never felt for anyone. He made me feel complete, like the broken pieces that I came in, could be repaired.

And he did just that.

Kailen saved me.

Hehehe, well what did you think?? Finally got a s*x chapter. Please vote and comment!

a

Continue reading next part 🗆