Chapter 06: Only For Me!

"Fuck!...at least, they let me go." I let out a tired sigh, walking out of the den. I never thought that Ember and Luna would be this...This hungry. They milked me for two hours! And from both sides.

They teamed up on me attacking me simultaneously, one would take my nipples, drinking my milk while the other would take my cock, sucking and licking until she swallowed my delicious cum. Then they would switch, their hunger for my body seemingly insatiable. I was both their mother and their mate, a role that was as confusing as it was exhilarating.

I looked down seeing that my whole body was covered in their love juices, my cum, and their saliva. I couldn't help but feel a sense of pride and satisfaction. My daughters were growing up, and they were already leaving their mark on me. Fortunately, I resisted my urge to breed...barely! That is.

At one point I flipped Luna onto her back, positioning my cock to her love entrance, only to stop short. I didn't want to impregnate her just yet; I wanted them to mature a little more before taking on the responsibilities of motherhood themselves.

With a quick dip in the lake to wash away the remnants of our passion, I stole a few hours for myself while Ember and Luna slept peacefully in the den. Their bellies were full, and with the effects of my cum and milk, I expected them to reach full maturity within a couple of days.

Letting my skin dry for a few minutes under the sun, I entered my cabin, stuffing a loaf of bread in my mouth and taking two more in hand. I walked back outside, sitting on the grass beside the lake, taking a bite of the loaf in my hand, chewing slowly, savoring the taste of the freshly baked bread—at least it tasted like that.

I opened the shop, browsing casually, and that's when I saw something I failed to notice before. I can buy planting fields and seeds.

Well, technically I don't buy the fields, I just select a piece of my land and buy the right to plant anything in it. Buying eight slots for planting will cost me 320 BP. I didn't hesitate to buy them, selecting the farming area to be on the right corner of my house close to the lake, which makes it easier to water the plants.

As for seeds, only two were available to me. Onion and tomato. 50 BP for a package of ten seeds.

Since I only had 80 BP left I chose tomato seeds, the thought of fresh, juicy tomatoes growing in my own backyard was an enticing one. The transaction was swift, and the seeds appeared in my inventory, ready to be planted.

"Nice!"

With the remaining bread in hand, I made my way to the selected farming area. The land was fertile, rich with nutrients from the proximity to the lake, and the soil was soft and pliable. I knelt down, fingers digging into the earth, feeling the cool, damp soil against my skin. It was a grounding sensation, a reminder of the cycle of life that I was now a part of.

Carefully, I took the tomato seeds and pressed them into the freshly tilled soil, spacing them out evenly across the eight slots I had purchased. I covered them gently with dirt, whispering a silent wish for their growth and prosperity. With each seed I planted, I felt a growing sense of anticipation for the harvest to come.

Watering them was the tricky part since I didn't have anything to collect water with. The only thing I had that could be used was the bread sack.

The bread sack, made of a sturdy and surprisingly waterproof material, proved to be an effective tool for watering my fledgling tomato plants. I filled it with water from the lake, careful not to spill a drop, and gently poured the cool liquid over the seeds, offering them their first taste of nourishment.

"Good," I nodded, satisfied with my work. With nothing else to do at the moment, and my daughters sleeping safely, I decided to venture into the forest again. But before I left the protective barrier I checked on my 'Return' skill first. Seeing that I could use it again I sighed in relief.

"The last thing I want is to face danger with no way to escape."

Stepping out into the forest, I felt a sense of trepidation mixed with excitement. The last time I ventured beyond the safety of my barrier, I got fucked hard by that wolf woman who successfully planted two beautiful pups in my womb.

"I wonder If I could meet her again?" I pondered a hint of anticipation in my voice.

Armed with a pointed stick for protection and utility, I cautiously navigated the forest, searching for sustenance in the form of fruit or game. I'm dying for some meat.

After some time, I sensed movement coming from my right side. I panicked for a second before quickly regaining my composure, jumping into a thick bush, and hiding.

Crouched in the thick bush, my heart pounded in my chest as I held my breath, hoping that whatever was approaching would pass by without noticing me. I could hear the rustling of leaves and the soft padding of footsteps drawing closer.

Through a small gap in the foliage, I caught a glimpse of a figure moving silently through the forest. Two figures actually. When they approached I managed to see what they were.

'A bunny?' I asked myself, confused.

My eyes widened in fascination as I realized these were not ordinary rabbits but rabbit-like women, their humanoid forms accentuated by fluffy tails and elongated, pointed ears. They moved with graceful agility, hopping with ease.

As the bunny women drew closer, I could make out more of their distinctive features. Their arms and legs were covered in soft fur, their fingers ending in delicate claws. Other than that, the rest of their body was completely human, and they were completely naked, and I could see that both of them were females. Not futas.

It seemed apparent that they were fleeing from something, their panicked expressions and frequent glances over their shoulders telling of their urgency.

'What could they be running from?' I wondered. If some formidable monster was in pursuit, I knew I must be prepared to flee as well. I was keenly aware of my own limitations and understood that any attempt to aid them could be futile.

The two bunny girls halted a few feet away from my hiding place. The first girl quickly approached a massive tree nearby and placed her palm on its trunk, moving her hand in a circular motion.

'What's she doing?' I wondered, curious about her actions.

When the other bunny girl stood beside her, I quickly noticed how similar they were in appearance. Milky skin, long light-blue hair, and big round green eyes. Probably sisters. The one who was moving her palm against the tree was smaller than her sister in every way. And the other bunny girl was....well. She was thick as fuck. Damn, I want to eat that ass.

Her ass was BIG, plump, and juicy. I felt my cock hardening as my imagination ran wild with thoughts of how I would savor every inch of her.

I only managed to snap from my dreams when I heard some wild growls emanating from the direction the two bunny girls had come.

Immediately the bunny girls tensed up, and the smaller one increased her rubbing speed against the tree trunk, suddenly her palm glowed in a faint green. The green light quickly gathered around the trunk forming a magical circle.

Quickly the smallest one stood up nodding to her sister, before diving head first inside this magical circle.

"An escape portal?...clever"

The thick bunny followed her suit, diving head first into the portal, or at least she tried.

"Seriously!"

I facepalmed when I saw that she got herself stuck. Her generous ass was too big to fit through the portal, and she was struggling to squeeze through.

"Oh dear," I muttered, suppressing a chuckle. "Her sister must have created the portal with her own size in mind."

I was tempted to go and help her, but I hesitated when I spotted two small green creatures emerging from the side.

'Goblins?' for some reason I recognized the green creatures. They were goblins, small green ugly little devils.

When they spotted the stuck bunny, they exploded in mad laughter, their high-pitched cackles echoing through the forest. They clearly found the bunny girl's predicament amusing. When they approached her, I got a good look at them, or actually their low half.

"My, that's impressive," I remarked, a hint of surprise in my voice.

Their dicks were too big for their small frame; the goblins' cackles turned into greedy grins as they eyed the thick bunny girl's plump ass. Their eyes gleamed with lust, and I could tell that they intended to take advantage of her vulnerable state. They stood close to her, stroking their dicks, their eyes glued to her plump ass.

"Oh no, you don't," I muttered, a surge of protectiveness washing over me. Instantly, I activated my Wolf Form, emerging from the bush with newfound strength and agility. In a flash, I was behind them, my makeshift spear piercing the neck of one goblin with deadly force.

A notification dinged in my head as the first goblin fell, but I paid it no mind. The second goblin, stunned by the swiftness of my attack, turned to face me, wide-eyed and fearful.

Feeling the adrenaline pumping hard inside me I lunged at him, he tried to run, but I swiftly seized his neck with both hands and choked the life from him.

"You cannot touch her," I growled, my voice deep and menacing. "That ass is mine to eat."

The goblin clawed at my arms in a futile attempt to escape, but I held firm, my eyes cold and unwavering.

"Die, filth," I snarled, ending his life.

I dropped on the ground breathing heavily, everything inside me was beating hard and wild. I quickly retired to my human form. Even though my wolf form doesn't consume mana and has no time limit, it somehow affected my mind.

Turning my attention to the bunny girl, I found her still stuck in the portal, her struggles having ceased. Perhaps she sensed the danger had passed. I approached her, my gaze taking in her unique features.

Her rabbit-like legs and light-blue fur that reached her thighs were soft and silky, accentuated by her fluffy, round tail and generous buttocks. My cock twitched in response.

"It's okay," I said gently, placing my hands on her hips. I felt her tremble at my touch, her fear palpable.

She didn't reply, so I guess that she can't talk either. Feeling her soft skin against my palm, her fur, and her plump buttocks facing me. I felt my cock twitching even more.

"Relax," I whispered, my breath hot against her skin "I'll be gentle"

With a deep breath, I began kissing her buttcheeks gently. The sensations coursing through my body were indescribable as my lips brushed against the soft fur and skin of the bunny girl's plump buttocks. I felt her shivering beneath my touch, her fear and arousal mixing together in a heady cocktail. I wanted her, and I knew that I would have her, right there in the middle of the forest.

Gently, I kissed and nibbled at her fur, my hands roaming her hips and thighs. I could feel her tensing beneath my touch, her breath coming in short, rapid gasps. I wanted to ease her fears, to show her that I meant her no harm, only pleasure.

Slowly, I trailed my kisses down her thighs, my tongue flicking out to taste her soft fur. Her scent filled my nostrils, a mix of fear and desire, and it only served to fuel my own arousal. I felt my cock twitching, hard and eager against my leg.

The bunny girl let out a soft whimper as my tongue found the sensitive skin between her thighs. I could sense her hesitation and her uncertainty, but I also felt her desire, a burning need that matched my own. I wanted to give her pleasure, to show her that not all encounters in the forest had to end in violence and fear.

With gentle fingers, I parted her thighs, exposing her most intimate folds to my gaze. Her pink, swollen lips glistened with her arousal, and I felt a surge of satisfaction at the sight. I wanted to taste her, to drink in her essence, and bring her to the heights of ecstasy.

My tongue flicked out, teasing her clit gently. I felt her shuddering, her breath catching in her throat as I lapped at her folds, tasting her sweetness. She tasted like honey and wildflowers, a flavor that only served to heighten my desire.

"You taste divine," I murmured.

The bunny girl's whimpers turned to soft moans as my tongue continued its exploration, flicking and swirling with increasing intensity. I wanted to drive her wild, to show her the depths of pleasure that could be found in the forest. My own arousal was building, my cock throbbing with each flick of my tongue.

As I delved deeper, my tongue found her entrance, tasting her sweetness as I teased the sensitive bundle of nerves hidden within. I felt her tensing, her breath coming in short, rapid gasps. I wanted to ease her fears, to show her that the pleasure was worth any uncertainty she felt.

"Damn!...This is hot" I thought. With gentle fingers, I parted her folds, exposing her most intimate core to my gaze. Her pink, swollen flesh glistened with her arousal, and I felt a surge of lust at the sight. I wanted to take her, to feel her tightness around me as I claimed her as my own.

"I can't hold back any longer," I thought, my desire overwhelming.

Slowly, I positioned myself at her entrance, my cock throbbing with anticipation. I wanted to be gentle, to ensure I didn't cause her pain. I rubbed the tip of cock against her wet, inviting opening, teasing her for a few seconds before slowly entering her.

"Ahhhh!~...Shit!"

As I gently penetrated the bunny girl's soft, moist folds, I felt her tightness enveloping me, her heat scorching my sensitive flesh. I groaned, my eyes closing as I savored the sensation of being enveloped by her warmth. She was deliciously tight, her muscles clenching around me as if reluctant to let me in.

I paused, giving her a moment to adjust to my size, before establishing a slow, steady rhythm. I wanted to take my time with her. My hips moved gently, my cock sliding in and out of her with a slow, deliberate pace.

"You're safe now," I whispered, my voice hoarse with desire. "I won't hurt you."
