Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 1266 [Eleven Jewell]

"I said you could stay for a few days until the kindergarten matter is resolved. Who said you could move in permanently?"

She saw more people entering her home carrying a desk, computers, and other equipment, as she spoke. The corner of her eye twitched involuntarily. "Are you here to settle down for good?"

Keegan said in a low voice, "You need another person to share the rent with since Ms. Thompson moved out."

"Hmph," Stella scoffed. "This place belongs to my brother. Why do I have to pay rent?"

Keegan added persuasively, "Although you don't have to pay rent, it would be a waste for you to live in such a big place alone. You always want to get the best deal out of everything, right? Rent the unit to me and I'll pay you three times the market price for the rent. How does that sound?"

Stella glanced at him. "I own Vinci Rivera. Why would I care about such a tiny amount of money?"

Keegan kept quiet.

"You have to be mine first before Vinci Rivera can be yours."

"Don't try to be smart!" Stella glowered at him. "This is my brother's place. What will other people think of you moving in so conspicuously? You're making yourself look like someone who depends on a woman."

Keegan pursed his lips. 'I'll just consider it as an experience of being a freeloading son-in-law.

His response left Stella utterly speechless.

Aldor then came out of the guest room. "Mrs. Kane, would you come and try the sound card?"

Stella was taken aback. 'What sound card?"

"Mr. Kane has bought a set of professional voice-over equipment for you, so you can record your work and even do live broadcasts for your fans at home."

Stella paused, as she shifted her gaze to Keegan. "That computer wasn't for you?"

Keegan smirked. "I can bring mine over if you want to use it."

Stella kept quiet.

The men that came with Aldor proceeded to set up the recording studio for Stella.

They installed soundproofing panels, cables, and other necessary components in the room. The room that was initially just a storage space quickly transformed into a decent recording studio.

Then, the technician asked her to try out the audio.

With the addition of the professional equipment, the quality of her voice had significantly improved compared to using her phone.

Keegan leaned on the door with his arms crossed, as he watched her test the new setup.

The technician praised her, "Good job.'

However, Stella pretended to be nonchalant, as she humbly responded, "It's nothing."

However, her sparkling eyes and red ears revealed her true emotions of being praised.

Keegan had always thought that he knew Stella very well, but he just found out that his wife was a legendary figure in the voice-acting scene. Stella was not merely someone who loved luxury goods, but she also had her own interests and pursuits.

He had almost gone through all her previous works recently, including the recordings made by her fans during the live streams in her early career.

He was impressed and felt somewhat proud while listening to her using various tones to portray different characters.

He even heard a conversation between her and one of her fans on the livestream.

The fan asked, "What do you want the most right now?"

Stella kept quiet for a while before she said softly, "I want my partner to understand me. If that's not possible, then I'll want a recording studio of my own. That way, I don't have to secretly stream online."

'I want my partner to understand me.'

Keegan looked at the person from afar, as tears welled up in his eyes.

It turned out that the person he longed for was already his.

Stella put down the headphone and opened her arms in front of Keegan.

Keegan hugged her and asked in a deep voice, "Why are you asking for a hug in front of so many people?"

Stella was taken aback.

The edge of her lips twitched, as she gritted her teeth and said, "I wasn't asking for a hug! I wanted you to take off my coat because my hands are covered in dust after touching the boxes!"

Her response left not only Keegan but also everyone else in the room speechless.
