Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 1549 [Eleven Jewell]

Vermont's words left Felicity stunned. "That's how I usually sleep,' she said and defended herself.

"Oh, really?" Vermont did not believe her. "I remember you answering the door without a bra on when you didn't live with me. How do you explain wearing one to bed now that we're together? Are you putting up your guard against me? I can't even get a boner. What in the world can I do to you?"

"I-I'm not guarding against you," Felicity denied stubbornly. "I wear a bra because... because I read online that sleeping with a bra on prevents your boobs from sagging and spreading apart. Why would you think that I'm putting my guard up?"

Vermont stole a glance at her chest and said, "Cant you just put it on after you've stimulated me?"

Felicity blushed. "You don't even get a reaction when you watch explicit videos. How can I possibly help you?"

"I feel stuff when I lie in bed with you. Plus, the doctor suggested you to do it."

Even though their voices were very low, Stella was sitting next to them and could hear every word of their spicy conversation.

'I can't believe this shameless asshole has completely fooled my best friend!'

Stella inexplicably thought of a viral image online where a big golden retriever was holding an innocent and adorable little kitten in its mouth. To her, Felicity was that defenseless little kitten, while Vermont was that big shameless golden retriever.

'No, wait. He's a big bad wolf!'

Stella had asked Keegan to advise Vermont to come clean sooner, but it seemed that Vermont did not hear a single word that Keegan had said to him.

Just as Felicity was blushing and feeling conflicted, Stella suddenly spoke up. "Felicity, Dr. Quinn will be coming to Rivera in a couple of days. You want to consult him, right? Do you want me to accompany you?"

'Dr. Quinn? Isn't that the miracle doctor who cured Keegan?'

Felicity immediately nodded. "Yes," she agreed. She then turned to Vermont and said, "Don't go to work when the time comes. I want you to come with me instead."

Vermont had no idea who Dr. Quinn was and asked, "Are you not feeling well?"

Felicity whispered, "I'm fine. We're consulting the doctor for you. Stella said that Keegan had some issues with his private parts before, and it was Dr. Quinn who helped him. So, I asked her to recommend Dr. Quinn to me. He doesn't work in this city and only comes occasionally to give lectures. It's really hard to get an appointment with him. I had help from Stella to make one. I didn't expect that he would come to Rivera so soon. You're really lucky."

Vermont was petrified. 'I don't feel lucky at all.' He grabbed Felicity, gritted his teeth, and said, "Why did you tell others about this?!"

"Stella is very discreet. She wouldn't blabber this to anyone. Plus... She told me about Keegan's issue. We're both in the same boat. There's no judgment here. Stop being so reserved."

Vermont could not believe it. 'If Keegan had any issues, the entire circle would know within three days. He's clearly fine!

Why did Stella lie to Miss Bandit?'

Vermont's mind immediately started working, and he quickly figured out two possibilities.

'She deliberately said this to either create a common topic and entertain Miss Bandit, or she knows I'm faking it and was testing me.'

Vermont became mad when he recalled the herbal soup he drank for a whole week. 'I knew Stella was up to no good.'

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 1550 [Eleven Jewell]

Vermont had assumed that Corbin was the biggest hurdle in his relationship with Felicity. However, little did he know that her resentful best friend was the real impediment.

He knew his lies would be exposed if he consulted Luke. He tried looking for a way to dissuade his eager girlfriend from actively seeking medical attention for him. "Baby, we just consulted a doctor a few days ago. Let's finish one course of treatment to see the results before deciding if we should consult Dr. Quinn. Each doctor has their own approach, and I can't follow both. What if their methods conflict with each other? It might worsen my condition."

Felicity hesitated upon hearing this.

"Dr. Quinn will be around for a while. Seeing him a few days later won't hurt," Stella casually added.

Vermont wanted to shut Stella's mouth right then and there. He found her to be just as annoying as Keegan.

Completely unaware of the turmoil beneath the surface, Felicity happily said, "Alright, let's finish this course of treatment first."

Vermont forced a smile. "Whatever you say, baby."

After saying that, he glanced at Stella. She appeared calm. She lifted her hand to make a zipping motion at her mouth, which signified that she would keep quiet. However, Vermont did not fully trust her. He had a feeling that she had something planned.

Vermont knew he needed to come clean soon. Otherwise, his budding relationship with Felicity would face a major test when Luke was involved.

The new product launch went smoothly. The designs from the creative team were well-received, and after the event, many customers stayed to inquire further.

When Stella was bidding farewell to the guests, she unexpectedly spotted Kayla. It was unclear when she arrived, but she was not dressed extravagantly like before. Instead, she wore a set of sportswear from a reputable brand. Her hair was pulled back into a ponytail, presenting a simple, elegant look that almost made Stella fail to recognize her.

Stella approached her and greeted, "Ms. Wilson, I didn't know you were here."

Kayla paused and raised her chin slightly. "I was just passing by, so I thought I'd come and take a look," she said indifferently.

Stella smiled when she noticed that Kayla was wearing a pair of running shoes. 'I guess I had misunderstood the situation.'

Just as she was thinking that, Jaylene walked over. "Kayla? I called you this morning, and you said you couldn't make it."

"I was just passing by," Kayla replied.

Jaylene glanced at her attire and did not press the matter further. "Would you like to take a peek at the new designs that were just released? Stella put a lot of effort into them, and they look pretty good. But, they're different from the styles you bought before."

"I..." Kayla glanced at Stella.

She thought that Stella would be as enthusiastic as before, guiding her to take a look and giving her an introduction.

However, Stella did not do that.

Instead, Stella was looking at her phone and said, "Ms. Wilson, there's a resting area with tea service by the seats. You can rest there if you feel tired. I have something to attend to, so I'll take my leave." After nodding slightly to the two of them, she turned and left.

Kayla was momentarily stunned. 'She's just going to leave? Isn't she eager to make some sales? Isn't she going to try and persuade me?'

"Kayla, let's go and take a look," Jaylene said, grabbing her hand.

Kayla agreed with a nod and let Jaylene lead the way.

Meanwhile, Stella did have something to attend to. The police were here.
