

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2131-The young man hugged Grace's arm. 'That was his fault. He rode against traffic in the tunnel and went up to a hundred and sixty miles. I've never rode faster than a hundred and twenty.'

Grace raised her voice. "Is one hundred and twenty not fast enough already?"

"It is, it is. Mom, please forgive me. I just couldn't resist myself. Please don't tell Dad. I won't ride ever again in the future."

Before Grace could say anything, he added, "Mom, did you change skincare products recently? Your skin looks a little... strange."

Grace became nervous upon hearing that, and she immediately touched her face. "I didn't. I'm still using the same brands. What's wrong with my face? What do you mean strange?"

The man widened his gaze, looked carefully at Grace's face, and said,

Strangely beautiful."

Grace could not help but smile as she pushed him away. "You cheeky boy.

Stop teasing me!"

He then hugged Grace's arm. "I mean it. While other moms are getting older, my mom is actually looking younger. When you came to pass me something at school last time, my classmates thought you were my sister.

"My roommate even asked for your number, saying he wants to be my brother in-law. I thought about it and refused him because Dad would surely disallow it."

Although Grace scolded him, there was no trace of anger on her face." Okay, stop messing around. You said you were going to choose the perfume for me, right? Hurry up, choose one, and let's go home.

"Your dad will be back from work soon. If we can't be home before dinner, he's going to be upset again."

Her son nodded and turned to Stella. "Ste-"

He then held his tongue and asked Grace, "Mom, how should I address this lady?" "She's the Vice President of Caline, Stella Hall." Grace then briefly introduced them to each other, "Ms. Hall, this is my youngest son, Joe Esper.

Please let him try both 'Cloud Nine' and 'Dream Weaver."

Stella nodded. ' Nice to meet you, Mr. Esper. Please come with me."

Joe felt somewhat uncomfortable as he cleared his throat and said, "Nice to meet you too, Ms. Hall."

Then, he followed behind Stella.

Stella grabbed two fragrance strips and let him try the two perfumes.

Her brows were tightly furrowed as she held the fragrance strips in front of Joe.

She was so nervous that she did not notice his flushed ears at all.

"What do you think?" Stella asked.

For the first time, this gentle voice was not coming from the TV screen but right in front of him. This caused him to feel extremely nervous.

He stuttered. "I-It's okay."

Stella was taken aback.

She had him try 'Cloud Nine' first. The fact that Joe only said that it was okay surprised her.

Joe nodded.

When Stella asked for his opinion again after the top and base notes had diffused, Joe said, "Just let me try the other one now." So, she did as he said. This time, even before he could smell the base note, he said to Grace, 'Mom, choose this one. The first one is not nice at all."

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2132-other perfumes. You should explain it more to Mr. Esper.”

Stella said truthfully, “It’s not that I don’t want to explain it, but I just don’t know much about it. I only found out about the existence of this perfume when Mrs.

Esper wanted to try it.

“All I know is that it uses a rare essential oil that can’t be easily found in the market. As for other details, you know I’m not a professional perfumer, so I have limited knowledge about it. I don’t want to give him any false information.

“However, when it comes to perfume, I believe personal preference is the only measure of its worth. Even if it’s expensive, it’s worthless if the person doesn’t like it.”

Joe exclaimed, “Well said! There is no price on what one truly desires.’ Dream Weaver’ is the one I want.” Then, he shifted his gaze to Jaylene and said coldly, “Why do I feel like you’re just manipulating my mom to buy’ Cloud Nine’ by blabbering a bunch of nonsense?”

“What’s up with you? Are you simply looking for a stupid person to sell this to because no one wants to buy it? What do you take my mom for?”

Stella was surprised by how assertive Joe sounded. Impressed by what Gen z could do, she realized that they were not afraid of anyone and would do anything they thought was right.

Jaylene could not hold her anger back any longer and blurted out angrily,”

Keep your mouth shut if you don’t know anything! If ‘Cloud Nine’ is not good, how could we use it to sign an exclusive contract with someone? Only the best perfumes in Caline will be considered for such an important deal!”

Joe paused and turned to Grace, asking, “Mom, what’s an exclusive contract?”

Grace initially thought her son was speaking a little too bluntly, but upon hearing what Jaylene said, her expression immediately turned ugly.

An exclusive contract referred to when a product could only be sold directly to specific people during the contract period. The contract would be breached if it was sold to others.

Grace herself was an exclusive client for another top-tier perfume from Caline.

One could imagine how furious she was upon hearing what Jaylene said.

“Ms. Hall, if ‘Cloud Nine’ is an exclusive product, why did you bring it for me to try? Did you also use the same method and secretly sell the perfume I customized here to others? You charge such high prices, yet you don’t take the exclusive agreement seriously at all! This is outrageous!”

Jaylene recollected herself and suddenly realized that she had said the wrong things.

If one had to tell Grace that ‘Cloud Nine’ could not be sold to others, it should have been Stella, not her!

‘Dumbass,’ Stella cursed inwardly as her face instantly turned pale. “Is ‘Cloud Nine’ an exclusive product of our company? Ms. Saun, why didn’t you tell me about it earlier?”

Jaylene immediately tried to shift the blame back to Stella. “Stella Hall, you’re the Vice President of Caline. This is your responsibility. What does this have to do with me?”

“Mrs. Esper specifically asked for ‘Cloud Nine’ right when she arrived, so it means that she already knew about it before that. If it can’t be sold, how did she find out about ‘Cloud Nine’?”

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2133-“You didn’t remember it?” Stella looked displeased. “Mrs. Esper spent the whole afternoon testing perfumes, and she could accurately identify all of them. As one of the group leaders in the Perfume Blending Department, identifying scents is one of your essential skills.

“It seems you completely forgot about the scent until Mr. Esper mentioned that it didn’t smell good. Is your ear responsible for discerning scents for you?”

Jaylene anxiously clenched her hands as she looked at Aubrey for help. Aubrey realized that they had gotten into trouble and quietly went outside to call Darcie.

By speaking slowly and calmly, Stella managed to make the whole situation clear for everyone in the room.

Grace came from a wealthy family and had seen a lot of things in life; she was not that naive. She immediately understood that someone was using her to plot against Stella.

She became even angrier upon coming to that realization. She wanted no part in Caline's internal conflicts, but she would never tolerate anyone trying to take advantage of her.

She said in a deep voice, "What do you mean by that? Are you saying that I stole your company's secrets? It was your people who called me, boasting about this perfume. That person said that it's one of a kind and insisted I try it!

That is why I came here!"

Grace then took out her phone and showed Stella her call log. "It was this number that contacted me. They even knew what I had ordered from Caline before. It's someone from your company!"

Stella glanced at the number and said, "Xavier, take note of this number on Mrs. Esper's phone and report it to the police. Let's find out who leaked the company's products. We've got to give Mrs. Esper an explanation for what happened today."

With a tense face, Grace said, "I don't need an explanation from you! You wasted my entire afternoon just because of your company's mistake! I've been to so many fragrance companies, but I've never seen such outrageous behavior like yours!

"I want to cancel my membership now. I'll never use anything from your company ever again!"

Jaylene was still thinking of how to defend herself, but upon hearing what Grace said, she instantly panicked.

Sure enough, Grace exploded with rage, grabbed the cup on the table, and threw it on the floor.

Grace cut her off as she said sternly, "Well, shut up then! I want to cancel my membership now!"

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2134-Jaylene had been spoiled for over twenty years and had never been treated so poorly like this before. With just a few harsh words from Grace, tears welled up in her eyes as if she would burst out crying anytime.

Her comfortable bubble had finally burst, and she was forced to confront the real world.

Stella had experienced worse when she worked part-time as a waitress during college. Grace was not even being unreasonable, yet Jaylene still could not take it.

Aubrey came back soon after and said to Grace while holding her phone, "Mrs.

Esper, Mrs. Saun would like to speak to you."

Grace was still angry and said coldly, "Who does she think she is? If she wants to speak to me, tell her to come here right now!"

Of course, Darcie could not come over at this moment because she was more than a thousand miles away.

So, Aubrey quickly put the phone on speaker, and Darcie's voice came through.

"Mrs. Esper, it's me. Aubrey has told me about the situation. I can't believe the two girls made such a mistake. It's outrageous."

Stella's eyelid abruptly twitched as she thought inwardly, 'Well, now I know where Jaylene's character came from. Like mother like daughter.' Even though it was clearly Jaylene's fault, Darcie made it sound like Stella also played a part in it.

However, Joe spoke loudly, “Mrs. Saun, your daughter is the only person to blame here. Ms. Hall has spent the whole afternoon attending to my mom. You can’t possibly let her take the fall for what happened, right?”

Stella looked at Joe in surprise.

‘Wow, he’s just as good at picking up on bitchy vibes as Leighton is,’ Stella said to herself.

The other end of the phone fell silent for a moment before Darcie spoke again, “It’s our company’s mistake no matter what. Mrs. Esper, you’ve been our client for so many years, and you know how I do things.

“I can guarantee you that what happened was purely unintentional. She just started working and isn’t very good at expressing herself yet. Could you please tell me how you would like to resolve this matter? I’ll do my best to make it happen.”

Darcie sounded very polite and even somewhat humble. However, Grace was not buying it at all.

As a wealthy lady like herself, she did not care about the money at all.

What irritated her was being used as a pawn in their company’s internal conflicts.

“When I return, I’ll personally visit you and understand the situation to help you resolve it. Would that be okay with you?”

“Let me ask you one last time: can I cancel my membership now or not?”

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2135-This time, before Darcie could speak, Stella stepped forward and said gently, “Mrs. Esper, I apologize for your unpleasant perfume testing experience with US today. Not only did we take up your afternoon, but we also did not manage to get you a perfume you liked. I’m truly sorry for what happened.”

She took a deep bow and said, “Thank you for supporting Caline over the years.

It's our fault for not meeting your expectations today. Please take this bottle of 'Dream Weaver' as our apology to you. I hope you can accept it.

"I'll help you process the cancelation right away. Of course, after this, any after sales-related issues with the products you purchase from US will still be entertained, and you'll still be treated as our VIP client. This is the least we can do."

Grace paused, and she looked at Stella from head to toe. She was somewhat surprised that Stella did not try to persuade her or even please her. Everyone in the company, including Darcie, had been trying to subtly flatter her in their conversations with her.

Shopping was supposed to be happy, and all Grace wanted was a clear and firm apology.

Clearly, neither Darcie nor Jaylene had given her that. Although they both talked about compensating her, neither of them directly admitted their mistake and even added "no matter what" while speaking to her, as if she was making a fuss for no reason.

It was their fault. Grace just could not figure out why it was so difficult for them to admit it.

However, the fact that Stella did not dodge responsibility made her feel a lot better about the situation.

Stella also noticed that she had a keen eye for 'Dream Weaver.' Although Grace could easily afford it, she was still impressed by Stella's willingness to spend such a huge amount of money to uphold Caline's reputation.

Darcie's heart skipped a beat. Although she was not there, she could sense Grace's mood turning better from the relaxed tension. She gripped her phone tightly, pursed her lips, and remained silent.

Although she was angry at Stella for making that decision without consulting her, she was willing to suppress her anger if Stella's plan could retain Grace as a client.

However, Jaylene could not hold herself back. "What? Do you know how much effort we put into developing 'Dream Weaver?' Do you know how much it costs?"

You didn't contribute anything to it; who are you to give it away just like that?"

Grace was taken aback. 'Darcie is such a sharp-witted person, yet her daughter is nothing like her! Have she taught her nothing?' Stella lifted her cold gaze at Jaylene. "Regardless of its price, I'll pay for it! Mrs.

Esper had such a bad experience with US during my reception, so I'll take full responsibility for it. I'm just doing whatever I can for her. Don't worry; the company will not spend a penny on this!"

Then, she turned to Grace and said, "Mrs. Esper, please come with me."

Darcie still wanted to defend Jaylene, but Grace had already stood up and said flatly, "At least there's still someone who can handle things in the company. Let's go."

Jaylene took the phone and said nervously, "Mom, why didn't you say anything just now? Stella is already bringing them downstairs!"

Darcie closed her eyes and said irritably, "To use their restroom!"

Jaylene was speechless

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2136-In the elevator, Joe, who was standing next to Grace, stole a glance at Stella.

Stella stood upright as she stared at the changing floor numbers on the display screen.

She looked even fairer than when she appeared on TV, as if she was glowing with whiteness. Her face without makeup looked more natural with a hint of vulnerability, making her even more striking.

Joe secretly took out his phone, snapped a side profile of Stella, and sent it to someone with the nickname "Stella's Ex-Husband." The text said: [Hey, I got a new girlfriend.] In the General Manager's office at Vinci Rivera, Keegan rested his chin on his hand as he scanned through the data on the computer screen. However, his mind was elsewhere.

He wondered if things went smoothly on Stella's side. From what he knew about her, she could probably handle the situation well. With that young man's help on her side and the fact that she was always able to put up a front, he figured that she would be fine.

Humans are truly strange creatures. When they were married, and Stella was a devoted stay-at-home wife, Keegan thought it would be good for her to have a job so that she could interact more with the outside world, regardless of her income.

However, he always said the opposite of what he meant, and things between them always ended badly.

Now that Stella had started working, Keegan started to worry about her, feeling like a father worried about sending his daughter to school and fearing that she would be bullied.

As he was deep in his thoughts, his phone vibrated with a message from someone with the contact name "Stella's Current Boyfriend."

He tapped it open, and his expression immediately darkened.

Joe texted him again: [When she talked to me just now, I already decided what to name our child. She's gorgeous in person! Old man, how did you know she's working at Caline?] The text continued: [She didn't even show up at the premiere of "Motives for Murder," and the production crew didn't reveal where she went at that time. I thought she retired and got married, but it turns out she's running her billion-dollar family business now!"] Keegan replied: [What did you just call me?] Joe texted again: [Bro! She and I are such a perfect match!] Keegan replied nonchalantly: [Do you know what's the scariest thing in the world?] [A dying phone?] Keegan was speechless.

[Bro, can you just be more straightforward? What are you trying to tell me?] Keegan continued: [Someone who's not aware of how they look.] Joe was taken aback. Then, he texted back: [Are you suggesting that she and you would be a better match then? Bro, do you realize how old you are?

Keegan replied: [Because I'm her husband.] Joe then sent a meme of an elderly person on the subway looking at a phone:

[Bro, are you a stalker or something?] Keegan replied: [I'm her number one fan... A legally obligated one.] Joe inquired: [What's that?] Keegan responded: [A fan who's also her family. She's my wife.] .

Without saying anything else, Keegan took a screenshot of Stella's contact on his phone, blurred out the number, and sent it to Joe.

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2137-After a brief moment of silence, Joe spammed and replied to Keegan: [Please forgive me.] Keegan asked: [Do you want it?] Joe replied: (Yes, please!) As they were texting each other, they arrived at Stella's office.

Keegan called Joe, causing Grace to turn to her son when she heard his phone ringing. Joe coughed and said, "Mom, I need to take this call."

Then, he quickly walked away while holding his phone.

"Brother, my dear brother. If you give me Stella's number, I'll treat you like my real brother from now on. I'll do whatever you tell me to-"

Keegan cut him off. "What's going on over there now?" "My mom is going to cancel her membership," Joe said.

Then, he briefly explained what happened to Keegan, emphasizing the heroic scene of him rescuing Stella. He boasted, Bro, youthful and energetic young men like me are the hottest in the market right now. You're too old to compete with me."

Keegan flatly said, "Take a guess. Would Stella still talk to you after your mother canceled her membership in Caline?"

Joe was left utterly speechless.

He then turned his head and shouted, "Mommy!"

Stella had already taken out the agreement for Grace to sign and cancel her membership. However, Joe suddenly pushed the door open and shouted, "Mom!"

Grace was startled, and her hand trembled, making a squiggly mark on the document. She put her hand over her chest and glared at him. "Stupid brat, what's up with you?"

Joe said, "Mom, are you really going to cancel your membership?" "I'm going to sign the document now. What do you think?" "Mom, are you sure this is what you want to do? You've used so many perfumes, and Caline has always been your favorite brand, no? With their cooperation in fragrance blending, we also launched a series of perfumes, and they set record sales.

"This proves how good your taste is. If you were to cancel your membership here, aren't you afraid of not finding such a fitting partner again?"

Grace looked at Joe, surprised. "When did you start caring about the company?" "I've always cared, okay?" He then pulled Grace aside and whispered a few words to her.

Her expression turned somewhat strange. After a moment of silence, she said, "Fine. I'll listen to you this time and think about it before making the final decision."

Then, Grace shifted her gaze to Stella and said flatly, "Let's put the cancelation on hold for now. In the future, when I come to your company, I only want to see you. If you can meet my expectations, you'll be the only person responsible for our company's business with Caline."

Stella clenched her fists and said seriously, "I'll do my best to serve you." "You'd better have the ability to do so. If something like today happens again, I'll never set foot in your company again."

Stella agreed solemnly, feeling as if she was dreaming. 'Did I just secure my first client in Caline?' Then, she had someone help Grace draft a new contract, securing her as an exclusive client under Stella's management.

As Grace signed the agreement, she said, "I'll pay for 'Dream Weaver'."

Stella was taken aback. Then she shook her head and said, "Whether you cancel the membership or not, I'll still gift you 'Dream Weaver' as an apology from my side. You don't need to pay for it."

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2138-Stella secretly took note of what Grace said and promptly updated her customer file.

Grace insisted on paying for 'Dream Weaver.' Stella could not care less about what others might say about her, but Grace would never let anyone think she had changed her mind about canceling her membership because of a perfume bottle.

As they walked out of the office, Joe looked back multiple times.

Sensing his gaze, Stella followed it to a diffuser bottle on the desk behind her.

She remembered the things Joe said that helped her, even though he might not have meant to.

So, she grabbed that diffuser bottle, walked up to Joe, and said, “This diffuser helps one focus. Mr. Esper, if you don’t mind, you can put this in your study, and it’ll enhance your reading productivity.”

Grace chimed in, “My son doesn’t like diff-“

Before she could finish speaking, Joe took the bottle from Stella and said with flushed ears, “Thank you, Ms. Hall.”

Grace was taken aback.

Joe gripped his phone, wanting to ask for Stella’s number, but he felt shy every time he looked into her eyes.

‘I’m her biggest fan! Why am I acting like a coward? I can’t even bring myself to ask for an autograph!’ Joe scolded himself inwardly.

After Stella sent them off, Joe still could not manage to start a proper conversation with her.

He held the diffuser bottle and belatedly remembered to take a photo of it. After that, he sent it to “Stella’s Ex-Husband” with a text that said: [Stella gave this to me!] After a few seconds, Keegan replied with his marriage photo with Stella: [She came to my office and gave me this.] Joe tapped it open, and his gaze widened in shock. He replied: [Damn, you’re so good at photoshopping! This looks so real. I can’t even tell that it’s fake. Can you do a similar one for me?] He then sent a few handsome photos of himself to Keegan and texted: [I’ll pay you a thousand for each edit. Do as many as you can!] Keegan’s eyelid twitched as he typed: [No.] No matter how many times Joe begged him, Keegan only replied with one word No.

Realizing that there was no way Keegan would help him with that, he went back to their first deal: [Then give me Stella's phone number.] Keegan asked: [Why didn't you ask her directly when you were at Caline just now?] Joe replied with a shy emoji: [I was shy.] Keegan was speechless.

[How could someone so shameless like you ever be shy?]

[My friend cried the whole time while singing and even got his snot on the idol's shirt. He's probably banned from the idol's concerts now.] Keegan ignored him.

After typing such a long reply and not getting any response from Keegan, Joe wanted to call him. However, he suddenly received Stella's contact number from Keegan.

Joe got excited and immediately saved the number to his phone, with a remark saying, "Ms. Hall, I'd like to discuss a filming opportunity with you. Please respond."

Meanwhile, Keegan picked up another phone and saved Joe's number.

He immediately took a screenshot of it and sent it to Keegan: [Do you think I'm stupid?]

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2139-Keegan replied: [Do you think actors would use their ID to register a phone number for work?] 'Well... he's not wrong,' Joe thought to himself.

With that phone number, he found "Stella's" Twitter account, where there were indeed photos of Stella that he had not seen online before, and he immediately believed it.

After all, he was still an innocent kid.

'You want to be with Stella, huh? Dream on!' Keegan mocked him inwardly.

Suddenly, Keegan received a message from Stella. It was a screenshot of Grace's profile on her computer along with the text: [Look at who I stole from Darcie! Impressive, right?]

He chuckled and replied: [utterly impressive! How did you do it?] Stella smiled: [Let's buy some ingredients tonight and go to Clouditude International to celebrate with Felicity and Vermont. I'll tell you the details later.]

Keegan texted back: (Looking forward to it.) Stella paused before she typed: [You sound too submissive. Be more arrogant.] Keegan replied: [Hmph, is this really something to boast about?] Stella responded: [I already took a screenshot of this. If you bully me again, I'll post this online and show everyone how badly you treat me.] Her reply left Keegan utterly speechless.

As Stella imagined his expression, she typed: [Why are you not replying?

Are you giving me the silent treatment?] Keegan texted back: [I'm reflecting.] [On what?] Keegan replied: [During lunch just now, I overheard my colleagues discussing how much pocket money their wives give them every month. Some of them get two thousand, and some of them get three thousand. I got very confused and couldn't figure out why you gave me five thousand.

[Do you think I am a big spender? Why do you give me so much money?

There's no way I can spend it all.] Stella could not help but spurt out the water in her mouth.

[Have you been learning from Vermont lately? Your tongue is getting sweeter every day!] Keegan lowered his eyes, his expression soft: (The doctor said that pregnancy is not easy, and hormonal changes can affect your mood. I just want you to be happy.) Stella paused and suddenly remembered how she got mad at Keegan last night for misplacing her things when she could not find her favorite hairband after showering.

Keegan was not someone with a good temper either, but he did not talk back at all last night. He even apologized in a gentle tone, even though he did not touch her hairband at all. She had just forgotten that she left it in the bathroom downstairs.

She felt inexplicably annoyed when she could not find her things. But when she lay back on the bed and calmed herself down, she snuggled up to Keegan and apologized.

Keegan had the contact information of Stella's doctor, so he had probably sought advice from them.

Stella had heard others say that one's mood would change during pregnancy, but she did not really believe it until she experienced it herself. Hormones could be terrifying.

She then sent Keegan a sticker of two kittens hugging each other to thank him.

Stella could not help but laugh: [Your stickers are so out-of-date. Let me send you some new ones later.] Keegan replied: [Sure.] "Bang-"

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 2140-Jaylene felt guilty for a moment but regained confidence shortly after thinking that Stella must have felt the same. "Those are two different things! Of course, I'll find out who leaked 'Cloud Nine.'" "What I'm asking now is why you let Mrs.

Esper try it when you already knew it couldn't be sold. Don't you think you're responsible for what happened earlier?"

Stella chuckled. "What else could I do? Directly tell Mrs. Esper that she can't try 'Cloud Nine' and upset her? Should I just let Caline lose this client because of me? Are you mad because the story didn't unfold as you expected?"

Jaylene got exposed, and her expression turned extremely unpleasant." "What are you trying to say? What does the leak have to do with me? You'd better not accuse me without any evidence!" Stella glanced at her. "Did I say that you have anything to do with the leak?"

Jaylene was taken aback as her expression turned even uglier. "You're so sharp-tongued and unreasonable! I have no idea why Keegan would ever like someone like you!"

Stella looked at her. "It seems like you don't understand your dear Keegan at all.

He likes someone like me who has beauty, talent, and character. Do you think he's someone who won't be attracted by a woman's appearance?

"Even you like someone with good looks. What makes you think he'd choose to be with someone solely based on character?"

Jaylene not only did not get anything she wanted from Stella but was also humiliated. Her face turned red in anger as she turned to leave.

However, Stella stopped her. "Ms. Saun, remember to knock when you come to my office next time. There are rules to follow. You can do anything you want with Mrs. Saun because she's your mother, but I'm not.

"If this happens again, you'll have to write a self-reflecting report like Aubrey and recite it during the meeting."

Jaylene was humiliated by Stella right after getting scolded by Darcie. Her expression looked extremely displeased as she swung the door open and left.

What happened to Jaylene in Stella's office quickly spread through the entire company.

Although Jaylene and Stella joined Caline around the same time, the employees in Caline were very familiar with Jaylene because Darcie often brought her to meetings with Caline's senior executives.

Everyone assumed that Darcie was training her to become Caline's successor, so they were somewhat accommodating and flattering toward her.

None of them had expected the newly appointed Vice President to be so feisty and immediately deflate the aura of this little princess just a week after joining the company. During lunchtime, everyone in the company began gossiping about these two potential heiresses.

"Did you guys see it? Jaylene entered her office looking so fierce, but when she came out, her face was as pale as paper, and her eyes were red. She looked completely defeated. I wondered what Ms. Hall said to her to make her so upset." "She and Julia were plotting something to set Ms. Hall up. However, they found that not only did Ms. Hall not fall into their trap, but she also stole Mrs.

Saun's client for herself. How could the little princess not be upset?" "I'm very impressed by Ms. Hall. I thought she was just going to be another princess."

"Mrs. Saun is so capable. How did she end up raising such a giant baby?"

One of the employees recognized him as Stella's driver and immediately volunteered to help him with the water.

Larry thanked them and left after refilling his thermos.

Larry went upstairs to Stella's office. After looking around, he knocked on the door.

Soon, Stella's voice came from inside. "Please come in."
