Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 961 [Eleven Jewell]

The bride said in a low voice, 'Fortunately, I stopped you from talking to Yara about it that time. Can you imagine how awkward things would be?'

Duncan smiled. "How wise of my wife."

The bride hit him, and Duncan stopped being cheeky. He chatted with everyone for a while before going to entertain other guests.

Then, somebody came over and said a few words to Marshall as soon as they left. Marshall turned to Stella and said, "They need my help with something. I'll be back in a while."

Stella nodded and touched her face confusedly.

She wondered if the reason why so many people looked at her strangely was due to the makeup on her face.

However, that did not stop her from teasing Keegan.

Everyone started eating after the toast. Keegan had been on the road for the whole day, and he was starving.

So, he did not speak much when others at the table were chatting. Instead, he picked up his utensils and dug in.

He was about to pick up a piece of spare rib with his fork, but he saw another fork going for the same piece.

Keegan frowned.

On the other hand, Stella pretended to be surprised. "I'm sorry."

Keegan did not say anything. He moved his fork away and went for another dish.

Stella put that piece of spare rib on Keegan's plate. "You can have it first."

Keegan stared at her fork. He brought his brows so close together that they could have squeezed a fly to death.

'What is wrong with this person? Did she just put a piece of spare rib on my plate with her own fork?'

Keegan did not touch the spare rib. Instead, he ate a different dish.

Felicity glared at Stella and thought to herself, 'Where did this bitch come from? How dare she seduce my bestie's man? Does she have a death wish? I

She wanted to inform Stella about it. But, she realized that she had left her phone outside when she searched for it in her bag.

So, she could only pout and glower at Stella with an expression that seemed to say, "You better stop being so flirty."

Vermont's gaze wandered between the two of them as a playful smile appeared on his face.

'This woman is something else. She came with Marshall, yet she dared to flirt with another man in front of everyone. Marshall has always been smart, but he made a mistake this time.'

Most women would have backed up if they kept getting pushed away like this.

However, this woman did not.

Stella tried to initiate another conversation after Keegan ignored her. "Mr. Kane, you're such an outstanding man. I simply can't believe that you're still single at this age. How surprising."

Vermont almost sputtered out the water in his mouth.

'At this age...

'Stella is the only person who dares to make fun of Keegan like this. Is this woman crazy? Does she really think Keegan is a gentleman?'

Keegan swept his gaze across her. "How old are you?"

"Twenty-five," Stella answered.

Keegan said flatly, "You're still not married at this age. Can't you find a man who wants you? Did you choose a man who's five years older than you because you can't attract men your age?"

Stella was speechless.

Vermont put on an “I knew it” face.

‘He’s the last person you’d want to mess with.’

Stella suddenly realized that Keegan was actually holding himself back when he would mock her. She was impressed by how mean he could be when talking to a person of the opposite sex other than her.

She had completely forgotten that Keegan only acted so ungentlemanly because she was the one who provoked and annoyed him. Even though Keegan could be a very sarcastic person, he would not intentionally embarrass other people.

“Mr. Kane, you’re overthinking. I just like men who are a little more mature since older men tend to be better at taking care of their partners. By the way, do you prefer your partner to be a wild kitten or a very obedient one?”

Keegan paused. “Even though I don’t discriminate against others who have strange sexual orientations, I prefer to be with a human myself.”

Carter’s cheeks hurt while trying to hold back his laughter.

He looked at Lena and asked with his gaze, “Look, I told you he wouldn’t recognize her, didn’t I?”

Lena took a sip of her tea and said in a low voice, “Keegan is nearsighted. The lighting here is so dim and he’s sitting so far away from her. That’s probably why he can’t get a good look at her.’

Then, she added, “Stella disguised herself well too.”

Stella was so good at changing the way she spoke that it was simply difficult for a normal person to tell that it was actually her.

In fact, Lena was right. Keegan was nearsighted and he could not see clearly.

He did not look at Stella carefully at all. Everything that his eyes told him was a woman with really heavy makeup on well-defined features that somehow looked familiar to him. All he cared about was whether Marshall had regained his memory, and he just did not have the mood to pay so much attention to Stella’s face.

Stella was annoyed as it had been so long, yet that idiot Keegan still could not recognize her!

She was still feeling a little playful before, but she began to feel her blood boiling.

'He said that he would recognize me no matter what! What a liar!'

Stella swept his gaze across the man who was eating with his head down. Then, she suddenly hooked her foot onto Keegan's leg.

Keegan immediately stood up as if he was electrified.

He moved so abruptly that even the table shook.

Stella looked at him innocently.

Keegan started at her with an ugly expression on his face as if he was angry, yet he had no idea how to express it. Then, he said coldly, "I'm going to the washroom."

He pushed his chair away and strode away from the table.

Stella looked at him before standing up and said, "Excuse me."

After that, she left her seat too.

Felicity immediately stood up, but Vermont grabbed her wrist before she could walk away. "Come with me. I have questions for you."

Felicity wanted to pull her hand back instinctively.

However, Vermont tightened his grip and wrapped his arm around her shoulder as he said in a threatening tone, "You're going to work for a new company. Do you still want me to boost your resume?"

Felicity paused and stared at him. "You have no dignity!"

Vermont smirked. "Dignity doesn't earn you money."

Corbin asked after he saw them whispering and holding each other like that, "Felicity, are you okay?"

Vermont spoke before Felicity could say anything. "This is a private conversation between cousins. Stay out of this, outsider."

Then, he grabbed Felicity, who was grumbling, and left.

On the other side, Keegan bumped right into Stella in the hallway as soon as he came out of the washroom.

He frowned and wanted to walk past her.

Stella moved quickly and stood in his way.

“Mr. Kane, it’s not right for you to just walk away like this, isn’t it?”

Keegan did not even bother to look at her. “Step aside!”

Stella remained still and even leaned toward him. “My feet are sore. Would you please help me?”

Keegan could not suppress his anger anymore as he shoved her away.” Please behave yourself!”

“Ouch!” Stella knocked herself into the wall and groaned in pain, exposing her disguise.

Keegan paused and looked at her in disbelief.

Stella rubbed her arm. She did not notice the look on Keegan’s face as she continued to speak in the same tone as she did earlier. “Mr. Kane, are you always this rough with women?”

Mr. Kane Got Blacklisted Chapter 963 [Eleven Jewell]

Keegan scrunched his face and finally took a closer look at that face.

Stella had heavy makeup on, eyeliner that extended from the ends of her eyes, highlights on both sides of her nose bridge to make her cheekbone stand out, and she applied an obviously thicker layer of foundation on her lower jaw compared to other parts of her face, especially... the mole on her earlobe! It was exactly at the same spot as Stella’s mole.

The cunningness in Stella’s eyes seemed to be telling him how she was planning to mess with him.

Keegan pursed his lips and swept his gaze across her. “How long have you been with Marshall?”

Stella was yet to realize that her disguise was exposed as she answered naturally, "One to two months."

"Hmph." Keegan scoffed.

Stella froze. 'Why do I feel like he's sneering at me?'

Indeed, Keegan was sneering at her, as he had only been dating Stella for less than a month!

Even a lie that Stella made up upset him!

However, he immediately concealed his expression and put on a straight face as soon as Stella looked over.

He lifted his brows. "One to two months... It looks like you're not very deeply in love with him. Otherwise, you wouldn't have kept trying to seduce me.'

Stella continued to push her luck on the knife's edge. "Mr. Kane, you're one in a million, and you have such an attractive face. I'm just a normal woman, so it's perfectly normal that I find it hard to suppress my interest in you." She then continued to speak softer. "Besides, don't you find it more exciting by doing this behind your best friend's back?"

Keegan was speechless.

He took a risky look at her before putting on a different face and attitude. Then, he started talking shamelessly.

His eyes looked deep. "What do you want?"

Stella squinted. "Mr. Kane, why do you act like a fool?" She went closer to him and whispered beside his ear, "I want to sleep with you."

Stella was waiting for Keegan to get angry and push her away before telling him the truth. However, Keegan grabbed her wrist instead and said, "I've never done it in the washroom. You wouldn't mind, right?"

"What?"

Stella paused, and she was dragged into the washroom before she realized it. "Bang!" The door was slammed shut.

Keegan clasped both of her wrists and put her hands over her head. He stared at her with a gloomy expression as he loosened his tie with another hand.

Stella was shocked!

'I've gone too far... No! I know I teased him, but how could he have such little self-control? Does this scumbag want a breakup?!

Keegan pinched her chin as she was still lost in her thoughts. "Even though you're not my cup of tea, I just can't find a reason to reject what's already been offered to my mouth."

He went forward and kissed Stella with his tongue before Stella could realize what was happening.

Stella widened her gaze, and her eyes were about to pop out.

She could not play along anymore as she struggled to push him away.

However, Keegan grabbed her wrists so tightly that she could not break free at all.

His kiss was so provocative that it left Stella feeling weak all over her body after just a few moments.

Keegan pinched her ear lobe. "Have you been wanting to do this with me in the washroom for a long time? Look at how you're reacting after just a kiss, n

Stella responded with a blush. "Bullshit!"

Keegan kept quiet. 'As vulgar as always.'

Stella then finally realized it. "W-When did you recognize me?"

Keegan got angry when he heard that. "Did you really want me to kiss somebody else?"

He continued to pinch her chin, and he wiped off the lipstick on her lips with his thumb. "What's with all this makeup? What are you up to?" "Ouch. Don't be so rough. You're going to ruin my makeup!"

Stella smacked the back of his hand and glared at him. "I texted you on WhatsApp. Didn't you check your phone?"

"You asked me to take a good rest, right?"

Stella paused. 'I sent you a few messages. I told you I needed to do a favor for Marshall, and I was going to see you after your rest.'

Keegan frowned. "I only read the message about resting."

The other messages were probably erased or delayed because he had to switch off his phone.

Then, Stella repeated everything that was happening to him. "He said that others had introduced him to several girls, and he thought it would be inappropriate to keep rejecting them. So, he lied about having a girlfriend. But, Duncan asked him to bring his girlfriend along to attend his wedding. He couldn't find a girl, so he came to me and asked for my help. I was afraid that you'd misunderstand anything, so I called you. But, your phone was switched off.

'Can't find a girl?'

Keegan scoffed.

"Do you have no principles? You're a married woman. How could you do a favor like this?"

"You're just my boyfriend on probation.' Stella corrected him. She paused for a moment before she continued, "Marshall was the one who handled my mother's funeral arrangement. I just couldn't refuse him."

Stella noticed that Keegan still looked a little unhappy after she said that. So, she stretched her pinky out and hooked his palm before she softly said, "Besides, I didn't want to hide this from you. I called and texted you."

However, Keegan was not mad at her.

He was only angry because Marshall was the reason why she had to put so much makeup on her face, and she only had to help him because she owed him a favor.

He regretted everything that he did before and after the divorce. He figured that Marshall would never have an opportunity to make Stella owe him a favor if he would just control his temper and communicate more with Stella. He just could not accept the fact that Marshall guilt trip Stella into doing such a thing to repay him.

Keegan took a deep breath to suppress his emotions. Then, he pinched her earlobe and asked softly, 'Who made you look like this?'

Stella answered, "A makeup artist that Marshall hired. He claimed that no one would recognize me with this makeup."

Then, she paused before she complained, 'I thought you'd recognize me with just a glance!'

Keegan kept quiet.

"I didn't wear my glasses."

Stella was speechless.

'How could I forget that?

'Keegan is nearsighted.'

Keegan would not normally wear spectacles or contact lenses unless it was for an important occasion.

"Do you want to go home?" Keegan held her in his arms. "Do you want me to drive you back?"

He did not want to see Stella standing next to Marshall, even if it was just for the show.

"I don't think so," Stella said softly. "I'm going to be alone at home since you'll still be here. I don't want to go back."

Keegan's heart immediately softened after hearing what Stella said.

However, he said this anyway, "Then, you better not hold his hand. Stay away from him."

Stella said, 'I was planning to leave right after meeting the bride and groom anyway. I didn't expect that you'd show up.'

She chuckled after she said that. "So, that's how you look when somebody else teases you. You're so hostile." She paused for a moment before leaning into his ear. "Are you really not into wild kittens?"

Keegan's gaze turned deep. "Do you want to finish what we started?"

Stella quickly shut up.

When they were tidying up in the washroom, Stella suddenly said while looking in the mirror, "Did you feel like you were cheating with someone else when you were kissing me just now?"

Keegan was speechless.

He then said, "It's okay to keep quiet when you have nothing to say, baby."

Stella paused. "What did you call me?"

Keegan pretended that he did not hear Stella's question as he turned around and said, "Let's get out of here."

However, Stella went after him. "Say it again."

Keegan acted like he did not hear anything again.

Stella held his arm, and she just would not give up. "Would you say it again, please?"

Keegan would rarely say anything cheesy, especially those cheesy nicknames between couples.

For example, he would only call Stella by her name and never once as 'wife', let alone 'baby' or "darling".

So, Stella was very surprised to hear him calling her that as that was something she had never heard before.

When she saw male online celebrities calling their viewers "babies" in a cute voice while browsing short videos on the internet, she would get goosebumps. It was just not her thing.

However, she did not feel like that at all when Keegan did the same thing. It even made her feel a little flustered.

Her heart even melted because Keegan said that unintentionally.

That was when she realized that it all depended on the person who said it.

But, Keegan just would not say it again as if his mouth was sealed shut no matter how she persuaded him.

"Are you going to repeat it or not?" Stella pretended to be mad. "Your probation will be terminated if you don't say it now! I'm going to fire you!"

Keegan glanced at her. "I said it a lot of times that day."

Stella paused. 'Which day?'

'Did he?'

'How come I don't remember at all?'

Stella frowned and looked at him curiously. "Are you lying to me?"

Keegan went closer to her and whispered, "In the hotel, when we did it several times. I kept calling you that. Don't you remember?"

Stella kept quiet.

She pushed him away with reddened ears as she glared at him. It took her several moments before she said, "Shut up!"

Then, she opened the door and stormed out.

Keegan chuckled and quickly went after her.

Stella went around a corner and saw Vermont pinning a girl against the corner while kissing her.

Stella was shocked, and she wanted to walk away. However, her curiosity took over, and she tilted her head to take a glimpse.

Her eyes almost popped out. She was about to yell at him, but Keegan put his hand over her mouth before she could make a sound. Then, Keegan dragged her aside.

Stella stared at him and patted the back of his hand, telling him to take his hand off her.

Keegan said in a low voice, "Do you want to attract everyone's attention?"

Stella paused. Obviously, she was not trying to do that. However, what she saw was just too shocking for her to not shout. Vermont was actually kissing Felicity!

She could not figure out when they started dating and why she did not notice anything at all.

She patted Keegan's arm again, signaling him to let go as she was not going to shout anymore.

Keegan finally let go of his hand after making sure that she was not lying to him.

Stella poked her head out and continued peeking at them.

Keegan took a peek from above Stella's head.

Vermont held and kissed the person who was almost a head shorter than him for some time before finally letting go of her.

Felicity's face was extremely red. She raised her hand up and slapped Vermont.

Stella knew Felicity very well, and she could tell that Felicity did not use her full strength in that slap. Otherwise, Vermont would be screaming in pain if the slap did not make him bleed.

Vermont turned his face sideways and pressed his tongue against his cheek that Felicity slapped. He looked at Felicity and said mischievously, "I've touched your lips too. Are you going to rip it off as well?"

Felicity wiped her lips with her elbow and scolded Vermont with red eyes. "You scum! I treated you like my brother, yet to you, I'm a toy that you can play with just whenever you want?"

"Brother?" Vermont chuckled. "You kept avoiding me like I'm a ghost. Is this how you treat your brother? You asked for my help, but you don't even want to see me. You're not that much of a saint yourself, isn't it?"

Felicity froze and said while gritting her teeth, "When did I treat you like that?"

"You'd run a thousand miles away from me every time I grabbed your arm, and you'd even stick yourself to the wall when we met in the elevator. Do you really think that I'm blind?"

Vermont got angrier as he spoke. The negative emotions that he accumulated peaked when he saw how good she and Corbin looked together earlier.

"You'd be so polite when you need my help, but you'll treat me worse than a pile of dirt when you don't. I guess you don't need me anymore now that you have Corbin, huh? Do you really think Corbin is interested in you? I'll tell you what, he's only here with you because he wants to get in your—"

Slap!

Felicity used her full strength this time.

The side of Vermont's face immediately felt numb.

He was fuming. Nobody had ever slapped his face like this since he became an adult. He turned around and was just about to lash out at Felicity. However, he found that tears were already rolling down from her eyes.

Her eyes were huge and so were her tear droplets. They fell from her face like beads from a broken string.

Vermont's rage immediately went away. Suddenly, he was at a loss as he looked at her tears.

"W-Why are you crying?" A person who was always so good with words had no idea what to do, and he even reached out to catch her tears. "I didn't even hit you back. Why are you crying when I'm the one who got slapped?"

Felicity kept crying as she pushed him away. "Go away! You scum, rotten egg, stinky cucumber... Why did I avoid you? Can I even spend time with you now? I didn't have anything to worry about when I played games with you and asked for your help because you were single. But, you have a girlfriend now, and what would your girlfriend think if I keep doing the same thing? What are the others going to say about me? A third party who interferes in your relationship with her? I'm not that shameless, okay?"

Vermont paused. "Who told you that I have a girlfriend?"

Felicity got angrier when she heard that. She stomped on his foot. "What a playboy! Nicole is living in your house, and she even left her bra on your couch! I can't believe you're like this!"

Vermont lifted his foot in pain and shook it. "What are you talking about? I have nothing going on with her at all! She came to sleep at my place that day because she got into a fight with her team, and she didn't want to go to work."

Obviously, Felicity did not trust him. "It's just impossible for me to believe that you didn't do anything to her when she's already in your house."

Vermont got so angry that he laughed. "What do you think I am? Am I that desperate of a man? I'm not interested in someone like her."

Felicity put on a ridiculed look on her face. "Why did you date her if you're not interested in her? Besides, she's one of the best actresses. Who do you think you are?!"

Vermont was speechless.

The look on his face seemed a little strange. He gritted his teeth and said after a while, "I've never dated her!"

“Did you really think that I didn’t read the news back then? You drove a car filled with flowers and confessed to her on the set. You were on the trending page for a few days.”

Vermont kept quiet.

“I only did that because I lost a bet, and she was the one who asked me to send her flowers. I wasn’t dating her.” Vermont paused before he continued, “She did try to seduce me. But, I was not swayed because I’m a man of principles.”

Felicity put on a forceful smile.

Vermont sighed. “I’ve never dated her, but we did have something going on with each other.”

Felicity sniffed and glanced at him. Then, she said in a quavering voice, “What thing?”

Vermont paused as if he had something difficult for him to talk about. Then, he said after some time, “I used to have a girlfriend who was a model. She showed interest in me first, and she looked kind of pretty. So, I dated her for a while.”

Felicity paused. “You mean you slept with her for a while, huh?”

Vermont was speechless.

“I didn’t!” Vermont glared at her. “I only wanted to be in a relationship because I enjoyed the process of it, okay? Who told you I slept with every girlfriend I had? Besides, she was the one who chased after me. I only dated her because I thought she looked kind of cute, and she was fun to hang around with. But—”

His tone changed as he gritted his teeth, “But, that model was Nicole’s exgirlfriend! Nicole thought that I stole her girlfriend, and she got so angry that she tried so hard to be with me just so I would break up with her exgirlfriend. Not only that she could take revenge on her ex-girlfriend by doing that, but she could also hurt my feelings.”

Felicity was confused.

She could not process what she had been told. “Nicole’s ex-girlfriend? Isn’t Nicole a girl? Her girlfriend... I-is she...”

Felicity widened her gaze.

Vermont put on a look on his face that said, "It's exactly what you're thinking."

Felicity was speechless. 'What I wrote is already cliché enough. I can't believe the reality is even more cliché.'<sup>1</sup>

Vermont said in a low voice, "Only a few people know about this. I'm only telling you this because I trust you. So, you better not speak a word about it. The people in our country are not that open-minded yet."

"I know." Felicity's voice sounded a lot softer too. "I'm not stupid."

Then, she asked, "Why did you send her flowers and confess to her then?"

Vermont answered, "She wanted to be with me, but I already had a girlfriend back then. Besides, I didn't have any romantic feelings for her, so I kept ignoring her. But, she'd come looking for me at the snooker club. She just wouldn't leave no matter how hard I tried to chase her away. She wanted to play a game with me. She said that she'd never appear in front of me again if I won, but I'd have to visit her at the set with flowers and tell everyone that we're dating for a day if I lost."

"So, you lost?"

Felicity looked at him as if her eyes were saying, "How could you lose to a woman? You're so useless."

Vermont gritted his teeth as he tried to defend himself. "Nicole is a bitch. She had been playing snooker since she was a kid. She even won a few competitions. None of us in the snooker club could beat her at all! I wouldn't have agreed to that if I had known about it earlier."

"I see." Felicity said before she continued, "What happened after that? Did your ex-girlfriend break up with you after you confessed to Nicole?"

"It got on the news, and of course, she saw it too. She thought that I had betrayed her and fallen in love with Nicole. Then, she told me that Nicole didn't like men, and she only wanted to date me to take revenge on her."

Felicity kept quiet.

She bowed her head down as her shoulders shook.

Vermont then angrily said, ' Just go ahead and laugh if you want. There's no need for you to hide.'

Felicity burst into laughter right after hearing that. 'Hahaha!' She laughed and mocked Vermont, "Even a playboy like you was once played by somebody else!"

Vermont was speechless.

“How am I a playboy? I treated each and every one of my relationships with all my heart. Would a playboy do that? You can't call me a playboy just because I'm inexperienced with love. A playboy is someone who thinks with his lower body. How can I find someone suitable for me without being in a few relationships?”

Felicity scoffed. “Then, would you mind if your future girlfriend had been in as many relationships as you did?”

Vermont said, “Of course. I'm not the kind of person who messes around with different women before marriage and would only choose to marry a young and innocent girl. Compatibility is what matters most in a relationship. There's no use if a person as pretty as a fairy is placed before me, but we're not compatible.”

Vermont looked at her. Then, he coughed and asked, “What about you?

Would you mind if your future boyfriend dated plenty of girls?’

Felicity thought for a moment.

“To be honest, I do mind.” Vermont's heart sank.

“But...”

Vermont immediately felt better as his ears perked up.

“But, I think it would be okay if both parties truly love each other. What matters is the present and the future. As for the past... I wouldn't mind as long as he didn't commit any crime or if he cut ties completely with his exes. I never want to be with a bad person even if he's a virgin!” Vermont got curious.

“Did you have any bad experiences with virgins?”

“One of my friends did!”

Keegan panicked a little as he looked down at Stella, who got very excited over their conversation.

'Did she complain about me to Felicity?' However, Keegan was proven wrong.

Felicity was not talking about Stella.

"My friend's husband was her first love and he had never been with anybody else before. They started dating each other in school, but so what? Her husband hooked up with his female boss less than two years after their marriage. My friend was six months pregnant, and she had to get an abortion because that scumbag wanted a divorce.

"He was still a virgin when he married my friend back then. But, that didn't stop him from cheating. After what happened to her, I realized that the number of a man's past relationships has absolutely nothing to do with his faithfulness." Vermont strongly agreed with her.

"It's true that great minds think alike."

Felicity continued to complain without holding herself back at all."

There's really nothing good about some virgins, and my friend's ex-husband is the perfect example. He doesn't know what to do in bed at all.

Not only that he couldn't last long, but he also caused her pain.

Even worse, she had to pretend that she was enjoying it very much to not hurt that scumbag's feelings and self-esteem.

People like him are the worst.

They're literally nothing but virgins.

Vermont's eyelids twitched. He looked at the person who got so excited talking smack about another person.

Then, he coughed and agreed with her.

"It's true that experienced men can be more enjoyable for both parties." Felicity paused.

"You're an exception." Vermont was speechless.

Meanwhile, Stella was shocked! 'what are they talking about? Besides, how did Felicity know that Vermont is an exception? 'What exactly are they doing behind my back?' Before Stella could figure it out, a waiter who was offering drinks walked by.

He saw how weird they were standing behind the wall and asked out of curiosity, "Is there anything I can help you with?"

The waiter's voice immediately caught Vermont and Felicity's attention.

They turned around and saw Marshall's "girlfriend" and Keegan standing very intimately together while staring at them.

Felicity suddenly realized that she had something more important to do. She glowered at Stella, as she walked toward her and aggressively said, "What are you two doing?"

"I—"

Stella was about to speak, but she realized that she was still another person to Felicity. So, she decided to pull another prank on her good friend after doing so to Keegan. She quickly changed her voice and innocently said, "Nothing. What's wrong, Miss Thompson?"

Felicity's eyes were burning with fire.

"Why are you holding his arm then?"

Stella looked down at her own hand.

"Oh."

Then, she asked without letting go, "Can't I do this?"

Felicity's eyelid twitched.

'I'm surprised by how shameless this woman can be'

"Don't you have a boyfriend? Why are you holding another man's arm if you already have one?" Stella said softly, "What's the big deal about this? Miss Thompson, you're overthinking. Am I right, Mr. Kane?"

Keegan glanced at her and agreed.

"Yeah."

He had no choice but to play along with his playful wife.

Felicity was furious. She would never dare to confront Keegan face-to-face, but she was too angry to be scared.

Then, she started scolding him without holding back.

Keegan Kane, are you blind? Can't you see that this woman is seducing you? I'm so stupid for believing that you were different from other men! You're so disappointing! Men are all trash! All of you would do anything for a beautiful woman. A person like you can never get Stella back! Never in your life, or your next life—ugh—”

Vermont covered her mouth and dragged her aside before she could finish talking.

“She's just talking nonsense because she had too much to drink. Please don't mind her,” He looked at Keegan and said before walking away.

“You better watch out. I can't control her mouth.”

Then, he picked up Felicity, who was struggling to break free, and left.

“Traitor! Let go of me!”

Felicity made a lot of noise, and Vermont put her down after walking for a short distance. She retorted, “Why did you pull me away?! I was just about to smack that filthy couple!”

Vermont then said, “She was just holding his arm. It's not like what you think at all. Keegan knows his boundaries very well. I'm sure that he was just doing it out of courtesy.”

“Why would he treat such a flirty woman with courtesy? He's clearly interested in her! No way, I've got to call Stella now and tell her to stay away from this scumbag!”

Vermont wrapped his arm around her waist and pulled her back.

“You haven't even found out what's really happening. You're just going to make everyone's life difficult if you were wrong.”

Felicity glowered at him.

“I saw everything with my own eyes. There's something wrong with you. Are you just trying to get your best friend out of trouble?” Vermont replied in a serious manner.

“You're overthinking. I'm only interested in making things worse for him.”

Felicity paused and yelled at him.

“What a troublemaker!”

She turned around and was about to walk away.

Then, Vermont stopped her.

“Where are you going?”

“Where can I go? To eat, of course!”

Felicity said angrily, “I brought them a thousand-dollar worth of gift!”

Vermont was shocked.

“I thought you came here for free food!”

The edge of Felicity’s mouth twitched.

“Speak for yourself! The bride was my classmate and she invited me here. Did you think I came here empty-handed? How shameless do you think I am?” Vermont thought of something.

“Did you come here alone?”

Felicity was getting impatient.

“Duh! Did you want to drive me?”

Vermont smirked and wrapped his arm around her shoulder.

“I can drive you back.”

Felicity shrugged him off.

“I’m good. You just humiliated me, and I haven’t dealt with you about it yet!”

“You already slapped me twice. Isn’t that enough?”

Felicity glared at her.

“No! You deserve more than that!”

Vermont was very sincere in admitting his mistake.

“Give me another slap to make yourself feel better then.”

Then, he leaned forward.

Felicity immediately raised her hand.

However, she started hesitating when she saw the slap mark on his face. She poked the shallow fingerprint on Vermont's face and softly asked, "Does it hurt?"

Vermont was touched.

"Yeah, but my heart hurts even more. I just can't believe that you ignored me for a ridiculous reason like that."

"Can you blame me?" Felicity pouted.

"You didn't make yourself clear. I was just avoiding you for your sake."

"Yeah. It's all my fault."

"It has always been!"

Felicity wanted to say that he deserved to be slapped for kissing her without even saying hi to her.

However, she hesitated and gave up the idea. It was because he was not supposed to kiss her even if he did greet her earlier. She felt weird as if she was getting mad over the wrong thing.

'Why am I angry at what he said more than the fact that he actually kissed me? 'Is it because I don't take him as a man, so I didn't mind him kissing me?' Felicity's head turned into a mess, but she felt somewhat happy. She thought to herself.

'I guess I'm happy because I found out that Vermont is single, and I can finally ask for his help without having to avoid him anymore...'

"Yeah. You're right."

Vermont was in a good mood and his words made Felicity feel very good.

Felicity looked at his face again before she said softly, 'I should probably put some ice on it. It looks so ugly.' Vermont replied with a serious face.

"It's okay. Didn't you say that Thave thick skin?" Felicity kept quiet.

However, she could not hold it in and laughed out loud.

Vermont smiled.

Then, he leaned forward and asked, "Miss Bandit, can we talk about something?"

Felicity looked at him.

"What is it?"

"I feel like eating galantine this weekend."

Felicity's eyelid twitched.

"Did you think that I'm a master chef who knows how to cook everything?"

Vermont laughed and said, "To me, you're better than a master chef. You're literally the goddess of cooking."

His words flattered Felicity very much, but she humbly said, "Galantine has too many steps to make and it takes a lot of ingredients. It's probably going to take me a few days to prepare it."

"That's why I said I want to eat it on the weekend. I'll take care of the ingredients and all you have to do is cook."

He turned his face to the side as he spoke.

"Look at my face. All I want is to be your friend, yet I had to be thrown over your shoulder and slapped by you. You have to cook something nice for me to heal me, or I won't be able to get up the next time you hurt me again."

Felicity kept quiet.

"This guy would say just anything to get fed"

However, his words successfully made Felicity feel guilty.

Even though galantine was very difficult to make, she agreed without hesitating for too long.

"I'll list out the ingredients for you to buy then." Vermont smiled.

"No problem."

“Did you meet Corbin on the way here?”

Vermont pretended to ask unintentionally after talking about that.

Felicity answered honestly without thinking too much, “We met downstairs and came up together.”

Vermont immediately felt relieved.

‘It turns out that she didn’t purposely dress up for Corbin.’

On the other side, Stella turned around and saw the dark expression on Keegan’s face as soon as they left.

“Pfft.”

She laughed.

Keegan glanced at her angrily.

“How could you laugh?”

Stella grabbed his arm and softly said, “I had to do that, so they would forget about us eavesdropping on their conversation.”

Then, she patted his chest.

“I’m very sorry you had to go through that.” Keegan scoffed.

“How are you going to make up to me?”

Stella leaned in and whispered beside his ear, “I’ll do everything that the doctor said tonight. How about that?”

Keegan immediately felt like all that scolding was worth it, and he even wanted to instantly make her words come true.

“Then, let’s leave now.”
