

Mr. President's Sweet Wife Novel

Chapter 22 Kiss me

Actually, Blake Spencer wasn't sleepwalking last night. He purposely sneaked into Layla's room and slept with her even though Layla doesn't like the idea of sleeping in the same bed with him. Sleepwalking was just an excuse, he never thought that she would be so good to him.

He didn't need her as his doctor, he just wanted to make her stay by his side.

Blake couldn't contain his smile looking at Layla.

He didn't know why he liked Layla Alexander so much, but there is one thing he knew and sure about. He only wants Layla Alexander.

Layla's phone suddenly rang. And she was quick to pick up the phone.

"Layla." A familiar sweet voice echoed through the phone.

"Mom?" Layla said after a few seconds of surprise.

It's William Jones mother, Mrs. Jones.

Layla didn't have to think much about the reason why Mrs. Jones called her. Mrs. Jones probably called her because of the divorce incident.

William's parents weren't always in Georgia, they would travel around for their business.

"I will be in Georgia for a while taking care of something. Let's meet for dinner at home tonight? I haven't seen you in a while." Mrs. Jones said.

Layla recalled Mrs. Jones didn't like her when William and her first married. It was because she isn't as beautiful and talented as Nora, she isn't good with words compared to Nora too.

But after a few years of hard working, Mrs. Jones finally start to like her,

"I am a bit busy now, Mom." Layla said.

She doesn't want to reject Mrs. Jones invitation but she knew where her place was, William has already divorced her.

"Are you that busy?"

"William and I have already divorced so I won't go to Jones' mansion anymore. I really appreciate your invitation, Mrs. Jones." Layla said calmly but she really isn't calm inside, she wanted to cry so much.

"You silly girl, Layla." Mrs. Jones knew how she was feeling. "Divorce doesn't mean that you are not one of our family members. So, come tonight, I will see you at 7. Don't be late."

With that, Mrs. Jones hung up.

Layla froze in her spot after the phone call ended.

She couldn't just ignore her invitation. Alexander's businesses depended on Jones' family.

She decided to go because Mrs. Jones is being kind to her, although she knew she would meet William Jones there.

Layla realized that Blake has been staring at Layla all the time when she tilted her head up.

"I have dinner with my family tonight. I need to leave for a while."

She knew that she wouldn't be able to leave Spencer's mansion without his permission.

After hearing what Layla said, he smiled at her sweetly and said, "You know I wouldn't agree."

"It's a very important dinner. You promised me before that you won't control me." Layla protested.

Blake nodded at her and said, "Kiss me and I will let you leave for one hour."

Layla's jaw dropped when she heard what Blake Spencer said, "Why would I kiss you?!"

He was daydreaming!

"If you think you can't do that, you can't leave then." Blake shrugged.

"You really won't let me go?" Layla asked.

"Tell me then, who are you going to meet tonight." He asked.

"I will meet anyone I want. I don't have to tell you."

Layla didn't know what Blake Spencer would say if she told him that she was going to meet William's mother.

"Then don't think about leaving this residence."

"I am meeting my mom." Layla sighed and said.

"Great. I will go with you. I recall seeing her in the hospital last time, I didn't get to say hi."

Blake isn't a friendly person, the reason why he would want to say hi is because she is Layla's mother.

Layla couldn't stop herself from imagining Blake called her mother 'mom'.

Her mom would faint out of anger if she knew that Layla was working for Blake Spencer, and he even thought that she was his wife.

"Do not say hi when you see my mom next time." Layla warned.

"Why?" Blake thought that it was impolite to not greet her family members if he sees one.

"If you don't do as I said, I will never talk to you again!" Layla warned again.

Caroline Alexander wouldn't let her have a relationship with people like Blake Spencer, right? Even though he is rich and powerful.

So, she really wished that Blake wouldn't do anything irrational.

Comments

Gift