Chapter 29 She is very angry

Amelia Spencer was quick to be sent to the hospital. Blake walked up to Layla and handed her his jacket. Layla looked down at her clothes, she pulled at it so that it didn't stick to her skin and take the jacket Blake offered.

She looked at Blake coldly and said, "I want to go back now."

She was very angry.....

Blake followed right behind her and called her, "Wifey....."

"Thank you for the jacket, I will return it to you another day. And please stop calling me 'wifey'." Layla said coldly.

"Are you angry because I pushed her into the water? I didn't mean to do it, I just....."

He wanted to leave the pavilion just now but Amelia pulled onto his arm. Blake tried to get her hand off his arm but he accidentally pushed her into the water.

"You don't have to explain. I am just your doctor. I just couldn't believe that you would be so coldblooded. She would die if I wasn't here today."

Blake froze in his spot.

Layla looked at all the workers that stood behind Blake. They didn't save Amelia, they didn't even try to save her, and that Layla felt scary. The old Blake Spencer trained them like this.

"I know they are your workers, but what I didn't know is that they would be so 'loyal' to you that they don't give a darn about a life, Mr. Spencer."

George stood beside and all of them didn't dare to talk.

The reason why they are able to work for Blake is because they would do everything Blake told them to without protesting. They would have helped Blake kill a person without a blink of an eye.

That's the life of the old Blake Spencer.

"I won't work for you anymore."

And with that, Layla walked away.

George knew how important Layla is for Blake so he was very worried, "Mr. Spencer, I can bring Doctor Layla back."

Layla could never leave the residence if Blake Spencer doesn't agree.

Blake stopped George and said, "Didn't you see that she is very angry?"

"Doctor Layla would come back if you talk to her, just like last time."

"It's different this time." She was very angry that Blake Spencer didn't think that she would forgive him so easily this time.

"Prepare a car for her." Blake said.

Layla couldn't believe that Blake Spencer didn't want to help Amelia just now.

How could he?

It scared her that Blake Spencer would be this coldblooded.

That was the woman he used to love so much and now he just let her die like that.

Layla couldn't imagine what Blake Spencer would do after he remembered everything. Would he kill Layla too?

She doesn't want to get involved in his world.

Just when Layla was walking, a car stopped beside her.

"Doctor Layla." George greeted.

"What? Did Blake Spencer tell you to come and lure me back?" Layla looked at George cautiously.

"Mr. Spencer wants me to send you back." George explained.

Layla looked around and she didn't see Blake Spencer so she decided to get in the car.

Layal didn't go back home, she went to her friend's house.

George left after he saw Layla walking into the apartment.

"Layla?" The person who opened the door is Layla's best friend, Jean. They grew up together and they know each other very well.

Jean let her in and Layla said she needed to take a shower.

"Do you know that the news of you and William Jones are everywhere in Georgia. You mom was so angry that she fell sick. My mom went visit her this morning. You should go check out your mom." Jean said from outside the bathroom.

Layla has been in Spencer's mansion for the past few days and she didn't pay much attention to the outside world. Now things had become more complicated and that's the last thing Layla wanted.

After she was done showering, she walked out of the bathroom with Jean's pyjamas on and asked, "Is my mom okay?"

"Yes, I think so. She got discharged this afternoon. By the way, what happened to you and William Jones?" Jean asked while scrolling through her Instagram.

"Nora is back." Layla sighed.

"What?! He divorced you because Nora is back? You shouldn't have agreed to divorce! Let Nora Alexander be the third wheeler forever!" Jean said angrily.

"There is no use regretting my decision now." Layla smiled.
