

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 1053

Ralph got up and said confidently, "I think you won't be able to find a better candidate than me."

He was not utterly confident, but he knew Heather could not find a better candidate for the task than him. Ralph also knew she would not have made such an offer if she had options. He now felt that 30% of the shares was insufficient.

'If Heather can make such an offer just like that, it means the secret handbook is worth much more. However, there's no hurry in making a counteroffer. Once I get my hands on it, I'll be in a good position to negotiate the price. I'll get even with her for the injuries and humiliation she has given me today!

Ralph turned to leave but remembered something and looked over his shoulder at Heather. He looked her up and down and fixed his gaze on her cup-holding hand.

grew slightly upset. "What to buy. Seeing that she was not wearing the ring, he could not help but think she was tough a lump-the one Hannah had treasured so dearly. She said indifferently, "It was too low-priced for me, and I dropped it accidentally. Why? You're not so petty, aren't you? Or his teeth and balled his hands into fists. He said gravely," There's no need! Indeed it did not cost me much, and if you've thrown it and walked her finger. She should feel more relaxed now that they had discussed the matter openly, but for some unknown it affected my mood!' With that thought in mind, she got up and walked toward the

It was unlocked, as Hannah would not dare to leave the room once

Some light that came through the window lit the room, but since the window was small, the