Chapter 382

Alexander looked at her back with his brow raised as he asked in a cold voice,

"Do you think I should remove her from my blacklist then?"

"of course, you should!" Lily thought that was the right thing to do and nodded.

While working, she continued, "You said that both your families had been family friends for decades, so it's impossible for you to cut her off just like this, right? If you blocked her, so what?

Are you not going to meet her anymore? Are you not going to meet her family anymore? It's better to talk things out. Blocking her is really..."

"What is it?" His voice became colder. He got up from his seat and was now standing behind her.

"It's nothing!"

Lily poked the Marseille soap with her finger, feeling its smoothness. Looking at her fingertip, she laughed.

"I just think it's a little childish."

'The girl just cried in front of him for a while, and he blacklisted her phone number and blocked her on every possible social media. Could they really not meet forever? That's impossible!' Lily had lived with the Lodge family for a few years, so she knew how family friends, especially wealthy ones, worked and all the social connections that led to their relationship. Since they had known one another's families for so long, there was much overlap in their professional and personal lives.

Relationships with them could not be severed so lightly based on one's personal feelings.

Moreover, it had nothing to do with any conflict of interest this time.

Brittany just simply threw a tantrum.

That was it.

Lily spoke objectively and told Alexander her opinions on this matter.

However, she did not realize that his expression had turned terrible.

"You're calling me childish?"

Finally, she realized something was off, and the voice sounded close to her.

'He's behind me?' She turned around, and sure enough, he was behind her.

His expression was terrible.

'Is he...mad??

"Uh, I'm not saying that you're childish. I just say that the young lady..."

Before she finished her words, he had already pulled her into his embrace and locked lips with her, stopping her from continuing with whatever she was about to say.

At this moment, he did not want to hear anything she said!

"Mmm..."

Lily widened her eyes, not understanding what was happening at the moment.

'Weren't we discussing the question seriously earlier? Why is he suddenly kissing me? Okay, fine, he can kiss me if he wants to, but why does he make it seem like I forced this kiss on him? He looks so angry"

Until Alexander released her and allowed her to breathe, she could only guess the reason behind his anger.

"Are you...too embarrassed to talk to her again because you blocked her first?"

‘That’s probably it. He blocked her first, so if he initiated a conversation with her, it would be too embarrassing for him! Why are men like this?’ Alexander did not know what to say. Just as he was about to punish her for not reading the situation, his phone rang again. This was a video call, and the ringtone had a hint of urgency.

"you unblocked her already?" Lily thought it was Brittany.

‘She’s a stubborn one!’ Alexander frowned because he knew that he had not unblocked her yet. However, it was rare for anyone to video call him, so he moved to get his phone.
