

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 401-405

Chapter 401

In fact, what Jenny said was right. It was very annoying to have this going on and on. Lily thought that her relationship with Nathaniel was over, but he was still very connected to her.

She could understand if it was work-related, but what was he trying to do now?

Calling the police to take him away was just a temporary solution. Since it was not a major crime, he would, at most, be fined and released afterward. Then what? What if he came back the next day?

“Anything on your mind?” Alexander hugged Lily from behind.

He had been reading a book but saw her holding a watering can and watering the same pot of flowers for a long time. That poor pot of flowers was about to drown but she had no intention of stopping.

“Huh?” Lily finally came to her senses and saw the flower pots in front of her overflowing, “Yeah!”

She hurriedly stopped what she was doing and turned to go to water another pot, but he grabbed the watering can from her hand and put it aside, “Okay, don’t harm them yet.”

With her hands empty, she tightened her lips, “Do you think I’m a scourge?”

Alexander was quiet. What’s life without the freedom to express emotions?

“If you want to harm someone, I’ll keep you at home and only harm myself!” He said softly as he kissed her hand.

That was the most beautiful thing Alexander had ever said, and it also amused Lily.

Looking into his eyes, she thought for a while before replying, “I was thinking, should we make our relationship public?”

“Why? You finally want to announce our relationship?” He took her by the hand, turned, and walked into the house. He then helped her sit on the sofa and got a clean towel to wipe her hands.

He wiped very carefully, cleaning her finger one at a time.

Even though her hands were often used for experiments and testing chemicals, they were still well-maintained.

In addition, Lily was naturally quite fair, so her small hands were also velvety smooth. It was delicate and soft to hold.

"I..." She hesitated and did not know what to say.

"Does it have something to do with the balloons at your company today?" he asked casually.

Lily glanced at him in surprise, but it was only for a moment. She did not want to exaggerate her reaction.

Rebirth was a subsidiary of La Beaute Group, so it was also his company. Besides, it was impossible for him not to know about it since it caused such a commotion. Lily was still hesitant to explain and did not know where to start.

Lily sighed and said, "I thought I had made it very clear, but he doesn't seem to understand. I don't understand what he wants by creating such a big scene."

"It's simple. Meet him and find out," Alexander replied casually as if it wasn't a big deal.

"You don't mind?" Lily asked cautiously.

After all, Nathaniel was her ex. Alexander knew about their past. How could he mind?

After asking that question, he stopped wiping her fingers and looked up at her, "Do you still like him?"

There was no jealousy or doubt. It was just a simple question asked in a very level tone.

Lily hurriedly shook her head, her head shaking like a rattle.

What a joke! After exposing the true face of that douche and after being smeared with many rumors, how could she still like him? She would probably need to dig out her brains and bury them if she did!

"That's right." Alexander smiled, "If you no longer have him in your mind, and you no longer like him, then you're just meeting a stranger to settle things. Why would I mind?"

Chapter 402

"If you want to settle this yourself, I don't have an issue with that. If you feel annoyed and don't want to come forward, I can help you solve it," he threw the towel aside, took her hand, and kneeled in front of her. He said gently, "You have to know that no matter how you decide, I'll respect your opinion."

Lily suddenly felt very touched and wanted to cry. She wrapped her arms around his neck while pouting, "Honey, you are so kind!" She meant that from the bottom of her heart, as she was fortunate to have him.

Alexander trembled as if he did not hear clearly, "What did you say? Could you repeat it?"

"You're the best!" Lily whispered as she buried herself in his shoulders.

“Not this sentence, the previous one! Say it again!” He pulled away some distance and looked into her eyes.

After being married for so long, she never changed how she addressed him. She always called him by his name and occasionally called him Mr. Russell. She did not change her ways, and he did not force her to. Since it was just a name, he continued to be patient and allowed her to accept it herself slowly.

However, he did not expect happiness to come so suddenly. The way she called him struck his heart.

Looking into his eyes, Lily pursed her lips and smiled. Her cheeks were flushed, but she could not repeat it, “ I’m not repeating it!”

Avoiding his gaze, she giggled.

Alexander was not letting her escape so easily after finally being able to hold her in his arms. He caressed her face to prevent her from dodging, “Come, babe, say it again!”

“Nope!” She could not turn her face away, so she rolled her eyes and avoided eye contact again.

“If you don’t say anything, I’ll kiss you!”

“Go ahead! It’s not like you’ve never kissed me before!”

“You...”He held her helplessly as he could not threaten her now. Alexander sighed but felt a sudden warmth on his lips.

Lily took the initiative to kiss him, her lips incredibly warm and clingy. It was not just touching but also going deeper. It was not just touching, but it also went deeper. She learned to make the opening move even if she was not particularly adept.

Stunned for a while, Alexander quickly reacted. He went along with the flow and guided her along.

After the kiss, they were both out of breath, and Alexander no longer asked about what she had said.

Since Lily said it once, she would most likely repeat it in the future. All it took was some patience and time.

However...

While she gently kissed his lips and pressed against the tip of his nose, Lily looked into his eyes.

At such a close distance, she could almost count the number of his eyelashes. She could see his sincerity, love, and affection from the bottom of his eyes.

“I love you, honey!” She said every word, and her words were so clear that he could hear every syllable.

Alexander was in shock, opening his eyes wide. Just when he thought he would not hear it again today, she gave him another great surprise.

He hugged her tightly and kissed her repeatedly, "I love you too, babe!"

Chapter 403

The most famous five-star hotel in the city was sixty-six floors tall. It overlooked the entire city. Still, Nathaniel rarely went there, even with his financial resources. He had probably only gone there twice because of a customer's invitation.

However, he had invited Lily there, even though he was slightly apprehensive. Nathaniel was not quite sure what Lily had in mind. 'Will she be willing to give me a chance, or will she want to test me? Maybe Lily still resents me.'

No matter what it was, Nathaniel thought he still had a chance with Lily as long as he was persistent, especially after spending all those years together.

Nathaniel wore a more formal suit. It was not pure white like the one from yesterday, but off-white, which added a bit of a gentleman's demeanor. He looked elegant and handsome; if he dressed up more, he would seem very attractive.

Nathaniel arrived very early, and the seats there focused on customers' privacy. In addition, he did not know whether it was too early or there were no customers today. He did not seem to see other people there.

'Never mind, this is fine. Now I can have a quiet meal with Lily and create a romantic atmosphere.'

Yesterday's plan failed because of the authorities that took him away. It was not very pleasant since he did not even see Lily. He wanted today's dinner to make up for yesterday's loss.

Nathaniel waited for about an hour, looking at his watch anxiously from time to time for fear that Lily would not come. Just when he wanted to call to ask where she was, he heard the footsteps of high heels.

Nathaniel raised his head but choked on his words. He lost his voice and felt startled because he had never seen Lily dressed like that. She no longer tied up her hair but let it flow naturally. Her slightly curled hair was casually draped over her shoulders, and her knitted dress had a plunging neckline.

The dress shaped her silhouette very beautifully. Lily had a beige cashmere coat on as well. Nathaniel could tell at a glance Lily was wearing the latest fashion collection from that season.

A simple and casual collocation could not hide her beauty at all. The pearl earrings and necklace were a set, and the lustrous color made Lily's skin more fair and translucent. Nathaniel and Lily had been together for many years, but he had never seen her so beautiful.

“Y-You...” Nathaniel did not know what to say for a while, but when he saw Lily stretch out her hand to pull the chair, he quickly got up, walked around, and hunched over to help her pull the chair attentively. He also waved to stop the water from coming over. Then he took the coat she removed, hung it behind the chair, and returned to his seat.

“You are so beautiful today!” Nathaniel could not wait to praise.

Lily smiled, “Yeah, I’ve never been beautiful before.”

Nathaniel kept quiet. He felt embarrassed and replied, “I didn’t mean that. You were beautiful before, but I didn’t notice it carefully. I didn’t cherish you well. What happened in the past was all my fault.”

Raising her eyebrows, Lily looked at him like he was a clown. Was this the topic of discussion? She knew he was going to start with some phony greeting.

Seeing that she did not say anything to him, he carefully found a topic and asked with concern, “How’ve you been, Lily?”

“Good. Things are well, except for the occasional interruption by some pests.” Lily waved her hand as if the pests were in front of her.

Nathaniel knew she was referring to himself, but he had mentally prepared for her ridicule, so it did not matter. He did not care if Lily mocked him as long as she was willing to change her mind. He could endure the humiliation.

“I know I’ve hurt you in the past. I did a lot of wrong things, and I was deceived. Hurting you was my biggest regret. I honestly want to apologize to you!” He said earnestly and sincerely.

Chapter 404

“Do you honestly mean that?” Lily laughed, “I don’t think so.”

Nathaniel replied desperately, “Then what else do you want me to do? Just name it. I’ll do whatever you want!”

“Really?” Lily smirked wickedly. She looked like a siren that could lure any man to her. Nathaniel was captivated by her beauty, but then he noticed she had lifted her slender finger and pointed toward the window. Her lips uttered, “Jump out the window!”

“What?!” Nathaniel thought he had misheard.

“Didn’t you say that you meant it? I’m giving you a chance. If you jump, I’ll forgive you immediately,” Lily looked at Nathaniel and sneered. She was smiling, but her eyes were cold. They look like icy pools, staring into Nathaniel’s soul and freezing him.

“I-1...” Nathaniel peaked outside the window. They were on the sixty-sixth floor, and the view was breathtaking, but when he looked down, he felt dizzy.

'How can I jump from this height?! I'll die!'

"Lily, stop joking. I sincerely apologize for my past mistakes, but you're being..." He looked at Lily with a pained expression, obviously not going to jump.

"You're not willing to do it, huh? Then say so. Why are you even talking about being sincere?" Lily laughed at Nathaniel's foolishness. Of course, he would not jump. She was just amazed by the fact that he would not even try to pretend to do it. She could not help but look down at him.

'What a coward.'

"I-I..." Nathaniel was already sweating as he could no longer hold a decent conversation with Lily. He had never noticed that Lily had such a sharp tongue, and it suffocated him.

"Have you ordered?" Lily glanced at Nathaniel and asked.

"N-Notyet!" After changing the subject, Nathaniel could speak again. He smiled and continued, "I was waiting for you. What would you like to have? Go ahead and order." He waved for the waiter to bring the menu over.

Lily accepted the menu and glanced at him while studying the menu, "Anything? Are you buying?"

'Of course!' Nathaniel gritted his teeth and announced. He knew what kind of restaurant he had invited Lily to. Even though this place was expensive, it was still within his means. It was nothing as long as he could have her back and gain help from the Lodge family. He was willing to go all out.

Lily smirked, 'Such irony! He always claimed that outside food was not clean and lacked the taste of home, so he always insisted that I should cook whenever I suggested eating out. Yet now, Nate is being so generous?)

Lily pointed at a few dishes the server recommended without asking Nathaniel what he wanted and returned the menu to the waiter. Then she stared straight at Nathaniel's face and asked seriously, "Get straight to the point. What are you planning? You've been on to something the past two days."

Nathaniel immediately regained his composure when he heard her question. He cleared his throat and looked at Lily with loving eyes, "Lily, can you give me a second chance? We can start over."

Chapter 405

"You want to start over?" Lily looked at Nathaniel like he was a joke.

Nathaniel thought Lily was still interested in getting back together, so he continued to put up his act, "I know I made many mistakes in the past. I never appreciated you, and it was all my fault. I promise to make it up to you if you give me a chance!"

The more Lily listened to what he had to say, the more ridiculous it became. Lily changed her seating position to get a better look at Nathaniel, saying, "Let me hear it then. How are you planning to make it up to me? What could you possibly give me that I don't already have?"

Nathaniel had no idea that Lily was messing with him. He thought she would feel tempted to take him back, so he continued persuading her, "If you're willing to come back to me and MN Inc., I'll listen to everything you say. I'll use all my connections and everything I can to make you the best perfumer in the country and abroad!"

"Didn't you say I wasn't good enough and shouldn't embarrass myself in public to avoid being their target if I make mistakes?" Lily drawled as she tapped the table continuously, reminding Nathaniel of what he had said to her in the past.

"I-I..."

"You've also called me inexperienced. You said even if people knew me in Sapphire, it wouldn't mean people would know me in Hyderland and that I shouldn't even consider succeeding internationally. So, you're saying I'm suddenly good enough after just a few months?" Lily spoke.

"Lily, I..." Nathaniel tried to interject.

"You also said I should focus on being in the background, properly researching my perfume formulas, and not care about external factors like fame and fortune. That I should be humble and not blinded by vanity, correct?" Lily did not even allow Nathaniel the chance to speak.

She continued reminding Nathaniel of everything he had said in the past when they were together. Lily's words were like sharp arrows, shooting Nathaniel continuously. Lily wanted to ask him if he felt embarrassed by how contradicting he sounded.

Nathaniel was rather shameless. He looked at Lily with slight redness on his cheeks but continued, "Lily, why don't we let bygones be bygones?"

"You want bygones to be bygones? Do you think we should start fresh just because you want to? Just because you don't want to bring it up, then we shouldn't? Why should I even listen to you?" Lily moved away from Nathaniel's hand that was trying to touch her. She added, "Are you cowardly to even admit that those were your words?"

"I'm not trying to deny anything, and I admitted it was all my fault! Aren't I already apologizing to you now? Mel ...Melanie's lies blinded me in the past, so I apologize for treating you so poorly. Now that I think about it, I realize how terrible I was. You can yell or even hit me, do anything you want as long as I can ultimately get your forgiveness, please?"

Nathaniel was a shameless man, but it was true that Melanie was not a kind woman. Still, Nathaniel was the same. He also used to call Melanie "Mel." However, he was pushing every mistake he had made onto Melanie. How pathetic was he?

“Lily, I regret my past actions. Can’t you forgive me? Tell me, then, what more can I do to earn your forgiveness?” Nathaniel started to feel nervous as Lily’s demeanor became increasingly colder. He was willing to go all out, but why was she still unwavering? Was it because she had a change of heart?

Before Nathaniel asked Lily out for dinner, he had employed a private detective to do a background search on her. However, the private detective was still unable to find out much private information about her, such as information about the Lodge family.

There was a piece of valuable information that Nathaniel was most apprehensive about. The information he had received exposed that Lily had strong support from someone influential but not from the Lodge family; it was someone from La Beaute Group.
