

Spoiled by Mr. Russell by Luminous Night Chapter 572-576

Chapter 572

"You still dare mention him?!" Brandon was angry and pointed his finger at his sister. This is not over yet. Don't blame me for not reminding you about this. You need to bear the consequences of your actions!" Brittany said nothing—instead, she pursed her lips and shrugged.

Things would have been fine if she had succeeded. However, why did Alexander go along with her when he already knew what she was planning? Why did he not confront her? Moreover, Brittany watched him drink that glass of wine, so why?

Arianna closed the door and dusted off her hand. She opened the bathroom door and pulled the shower curtain. A shirtless man sat awkwardly in the bathtub with his head tilted to the side. He had obviously sainted.

She coldly looked at him before she turned around to face the sink, carefully washed her hands, and looked at her reflection in the mirror. Her soft hair was messy, and one side of her cheek was slightly red. The man had injured her earlier when he caught her by surprise.

She lightly touched her reddened cheek, then slowly squatted in front of the bathtub and slapped both sides of the man's cheeks. She slapped so hard that his cheek swelled up immediately after. He grunted in a low tone but remained asleep as if he did not notice anything.

Arianna probably felt satisfied after slapping him as she straightened up and walked out of the bathroom. She picked up her jacket, put it on, and neatly tidied herself.

Brandon had picked his sister up, meaning Alexander was not in Brittany's room. Arianna had arranged everything, so the playboy, Colton, should have gone to Brittany's room 1808, while the supposedly drugged Alexander should have gone into Arianna's room.

However, Brittany was unharmed, and Brandon escorted her home while Arianna almost got raped by Colton instead. What went wrong?

Arianna could only guess that this was the missing man's doing. She wondered if Alexander knew about the whole thing from the beginning. It turned out Alexander was not as straightforward as Arianna had thought.

She turned off the light and walked out of the room. The cold moonlight shone on half of her face, making her whole person appear gloomy. Arianna took out her mobile phone. "Get someone to clean up room 1806."

The following day, there was one unusual news report in Insider Gossip Magazine, which had always covered idle gossip.

Colton Zetter, the president of Zetter Group and the Zettlers' second son, was Sapphire's infamous playboy. It was unsure who he had offended, but he was found naked and covered in bruises on the street.

Although the reporters should have reported matters like this to the police, no one took further action against the perpetrator. His infamous playboy name, his fooling around, and his incompetence had attracted much hatred to the point that even Colton's family no longer cared about him.

Alexander was on board the plane flying toward Kingsland at the moment. He was not interested in the subsequent event to the matter.

"Mr. Russell." Edward came to report the news he received from the ground. "What is it?" Alexander asked. He remained seated and closed his eyes to rest.

"I've passed your message to Brandon Oakley. He said he would send his sister abroad and ensured she would never show up before you and madam again." Edward heard Brandon promise with gritted teeth but did not care much as Alexander had given Brandon much leeway. Had it not been for their past relationships, Brittany would have gotten killed many times for what she did.

Edward lamented on the matter. He could not understand how the typically delicate Brittany found the courage to drug Mr. Russell.

Chapter 573

This punishment was more severe than any physical punishment to Brittany. "Mom..." She had cried and begged, but it was clear from her parent's attitude that there was no room for negotiation. "Tanny..." Sydney Oakley sighed. She wanted to say something but kept silent when she saw her son's face when she turned around. She could only look away and cry.

Brandon put away his carefree attitude and said sternly, "It's useless for you to ask for anyone's help now! Weren't you fearless when you provoked him? Why hadn't you considered the consequences you would face now? Stop pampering her, mother. We over-pampered her and ended up harming her instead! Oakley's family business will likely collapse if we don't send her abroad. It will be the end for us!"

Sydney paled and said cautiously, "N-No. it won't! After all, our family had connections for a long time and I even watched Alexander as he grew up. Tanny made a mistake in a moment of confusion. She had liked Alex since young and he knows about it. Moreover, this is not a big mistake. Even if it did happen, Tanny was the one at a disadvantage. How could he..." "Mom!" Brandon shouted at her. He had a nasty headache. It was because of their mother's over-indulgent parenting that resulted in his sister becoming like this. She never considered the consequences before doing anything. "What are you saying?! It was Brittany who tried to drug him. Do you know how bad her actions were? Did you consider her reputation if this news was spread out? Did you know what would happen to her if the person sent to her room was some unknown guy instead? Had it ration of our family's relationship, who knows what would happen?"

Both of them shuddered when they heard what Brandon was yelling at them. Brittany felt cold all over. She had only felt dissatisfied that her plan had failed and did not think much about anything else. After being yelled at by Brandon, she felt like she was hit on the head. He was right. If the person in the room at that time was not Brandon but some other unknown guy, then...

She felt a chill on her spine. It was too scary to think about it.

"Tanny, you should be clear about the situation right now. He let you go twice. It won't be the same the third time. If there's a third time, it won't just be you, but Mother, Father, me, and everyone else in the Oakley family will probably have to pay for it. Do you understand?!"

Brittany did not say anything, but her pale complexion said it all.

"This is your last chance. You should go abroad, and it's best if you never come back. We can go overseas to visit you anyway. You should also retire from the entertainment industry and say you're going abroad to further your studies. This will ensure your reputation." Brandon's tone softened when he saw her appearance. After all, she was his sister. He also felt sad.

Brittany kept silent for a moment and asked, "If so...can I see him again before I leave?" "No!" He decisively refused her request. Before she could speak, he continued, "Do you think he's willing to see you after what you've done? He's not in Sapphire City right now, anyway. I want to remind you that he had likely blocked all your contacts. Don't you understand that he never wants to see you again? It's time you give up, Tanny!"

His words were the last straw for her. Brittany could barely stand straight, and her body swayed. Sydney was sorrowful when she saw her daughter's devastated and despairing look.

She hurriedly hugged her daughter, "Don't say it anymore, Brandon! Tanny, it's fine even if he did not contact you. There are many good men in this world. It's his loss that he didn't choose you. It's not worth it to waste your tears on such a person. Do you understand?"

Brittany bit her lower lip. She opened her eyes wide but managed to keep her tears from falling. She did not say anything and let her mother hug her. After a while, she took a deep breath and said, "If so... I want to meet someone before I leave."

Chapter 574

"Who are you looking for?" Brandon asked, frowning.

The car slowly drove into the yard and parked. Even before entering the house, conversations from within the living room could be heard. It sounded pleasant, with occasional chuckles.

Upon entering the house, Arianna was startled to see her mother sitting on the sofa with Brittany beside her.

After a bit of hesitation, Arianna changed out of her shoes and walked over with a smile. "Mom, I'm home. I didn't know Brittany was here!"

The way she greeted Brittany was warm and natural, as if nothing was wrong.

Eloise nodded with a smile. "Brittany has been here a while. She was just chatting with me. She's such a wonderful girl. Look at you. God knows what you're doing all day that you don't even have time to talk to your own mother."

"I've been occupied with all the things happening in the company recently. You know how busy Uncle Derrick has been. I'm just doing what I can to help ease his burden!" She said playfully. "Yeah, yeah, You're the only capable one here!" Eloise mocked and stood up. "Now that you're here, entertain Brittany while I prepare some desserts for the two of you."

"Thanks, Mom!" Arianna leaned over to peck Eloise on the cheek before she sat down and looked at Brittany with a smile. "Why didn't you call me if you were free?"

Brittany took a sip from the teacup and chuckled. "If I did, would you have welcomed me?"

Although Arianna's eyes narrowed slightly when she heard this, she still had a smile. "What are you talking about? Of course I'd welcome you. It'll be great if you can come over every day!"

"Really?" Brittany slowly put down her cup and looked up at Arianna. "It's a pity then because I'm afraid I won't be able to come again anymore."

"Huh? Why not?"

Arianna looked genuinely surprised, with disbelief written all over her face. It was as if she knew nothing about it at all. Looking at Arianna's face, Brittany was suddenly reminded of what Brandon had said and how he was right. She was naive. The person she called her friend was not as genuine as Brittany thought she was.

"Do you really have no idea?" Brittany tilted her head, and her fingers gently caressed the arm of the chair. "I'll be going abroad in two days, and I may not be coming back."

"You're not coming back? Why? Where are you going? What's with the sudden decision?" Arianna blurted a series of questions, seemingly worried about Brittany's situation.

Brittany questioned with a mocking laugh, "Shouldn't you ask if I succeeded that day and what happened after? Aren't you curious if there's any good news?"

At this moment, the anxiety on Arianna's face faded a little as she pitifully said, "I was about to get to that. What happened the other day? Why were you with your brother? Did he ruin your plans? It's okay, don't be too discouraged by it. There's always another chance!"

Chapter 575

"Arianna, where were you that night?" Brittany asked calmly. "Oh, that night. I drank a little too much and was tired, so I went to rest. Besides, I wanted to make sure you had a good time. I didn't expect to fall asleep." Arianna scratched her head. "I'm sorry about that! What happened that night?" Brittany did not answer straight away. Instead, she studied Arianna's face, trying to see if she would slip up. However, even under Brittany's scrutiny, Arianna was calm and did not falter. She even blinked innocently, looking puzzled.

"I wanted to ask why the paparazzi were there at half past nine when they were supposed to come at ten. Now, it seems like I didn't even need to ask," Brittany said lightly after a moment of silence.

"Huh? What?" Arianna exclaimed as her eyes widened. "Did they come at half past nine? Why were they so early?" "Exactly. Why were they so early?" With a slight smile, Brittany lowered her head and said, Maybe it's providence, or maybe it's a punishment for my ignorance." Arianna reached out to grab Brittany's hands and asked worriedly, "Brittany, what's wrong with you?"

Brittany looked at the pair of hands that held hers and slowly withdrew her hands. Then, she shook her head and said, "Nothing, Arianna. Today, I learned how clever you are. You're smarter than the Arianna Tanner that I used to know Spoiled by Mr. Russell by Luminous Night Chapter 575w. You really are."

"What do you mean smarter than the Arianna Tanner you used to know? Brittany, I don't understand anything you're saying today." Arianna's eyes were as wide as saucers and were even a little watery. Her gaze would immediately give off an innocent appearance. She looked dazed and confused as she blinked at Brittany.

However, Brittany didn't seem to buy any of it as she sighed. "Well, it doesn't matter if you understand what I'm saying. I already have the answer I wanted. Seeing that I'll be leaving this place, I'm of no value to you anymore. You're on your own now! Although he let me go this once, I also decided to brush it off. However, it's hard to say whether he'll go easy on you."

After saying that, Brittany stood up and was about to leave. "Brittany, 1..." Arianna reached out to grab Brittany's wrist and looked at her. "What are you talking about? What's this about letting go? What's wrong with you? Are you okay? I'm worried about you!" "Enough, Arianna!"

Brittany finally couldn't take it anymore and shoved Arianna away in annoyance. "We've already reached this point. Is there still the need for you to pretend? Don't think too highly of yourself and think you've got everything under control. I'm telling you, he knows about everything we did. He'd seen through it. We're no match for him at all. I'm in no way his opponent, and neither are you!"

"Brittany, why are you saying such a thing? Aren't we friends?" By this time, Arianna had also stood up and still looked very sincere. “Friends?” Brittany sneered. “From now on, we’re not friends anymore.” With that, she strode out. Eloise seemed to have overheard the argument in the kitchen and came out to see Brittany walking away. “Brittany, why are you leaving? Why not stay here a while longer? Brittany?” However, Brittany nodded slightly and left without looking back. “Hey!” Seeing that she couldn’t stop her, Eloise turned to look at Arianna hesitantly. “What happened between the two of you?”

Night Chapter 576

“Nothing. I think she’s just in a bad mood.” With a shrug, Arianna turned to grin at Eloise. Mom, didn’t you say that you were preparing desserts?”

“You’re still a little pig, aren’t you? Aren’t you worried about gaining weight?” Eloise lectured.

However, she still beckoned a housekeeper to bring over the desserts she had prepared. Speaking of which, didn’t you say you have a boyfriend now? Who is it? Why didn’t you bring him home for me to see?”

||

“We broke up,” Arianna replied nonchalantly.

Eloise was stunned. “Broke up? Why did you two break up out of nowhere? Didn’t you just say that you wanted to bring him-”

“Oh, you know how we young people are, Mom. It’s normal for us to fall in and out of love. If we don’t feel like we’re fit, we’ll break it off,” Arianna said with a wave of her hand. “Mom, don’t worry. I’ll ensure the guy I bring home will be the best son-in-law you’ll ever have.”

Seeing how unconcerned she was, Eloise sighed. "How can I not worry? Your dad is going to marry that woman..." she trailed off.

It was frustrating even to think about it.

At this moment, Arianna stopped eating and turned to look at her mother. "Is he really marrying her? Did Uncle Derrick agree to this? Does he not bear us in mind?!"

"You know how your father is. Once he has his mind set on something, no one can change it." When Eloise said this, her stern face was now replaced with a hint of sadness. "At the end of the day, I didn't give birth to a son, so..."

"I

"What does it matter if you don't have a son?!" Arianna was furious. "Uncle Derrick has a son, but can that son take over the family business? I've done so many things for the company all these years, yet I am still inferior to a guy? Which part of me is incomparable to that sc*mbag my dad had with some other woman? I..."

"Arianna!" Eloise called out to her. She was taken aback as she had never seen Arianna like this.

before.

Hearing her name, Arianna quickly came back to her senses and cleared her throat. "What I'm saying is, this is not your fault. This is all dad's fault. He has wronged you."

Eloise looked deeply at her daughter before reaching out and pulling Arianna into her arms. Then, Eloise gently stroked her hair with one hand. "I know how capable and sensible you are. I blame myself that you're not a son. If you are, everything in the Tanner family will fall onto your lap."

"Mom, why can't I do it as a woman? Why is it that just because I am a woman, the livelihood of the Tanner family must be borne by some outsider? Why?" When Arianna looked up at Eloise, Eloise noticed a light in Arianna's eyes that she had never seen before.

Although Eloise was a little startled by this side of her daughter, she was also moved by what Arianna said. "You're right. However, your dad..."

"Mom, how would dad act if he didn't have a son outside?" Arianna suddenly asked.

"Arianna, what are you talking about?!" A chill ran down Eloise's spine when she looked at the daughter, who now seemed like someone she didn't recognize.

"Nothing. I'm just asking. What can I do? I'm just a girl, after all."

Arianna stuck her tongue out before she pulled herself away from Eloise and continued eating. Eloise watched Arianna eat unhurriedly. There was nothing out of the ordinary. However, Arianna suddenly stopped eating and thought out loud. "I read a book the other day about how people die unexpectedly every day. I've also learned that the rate of accidental deaths is very high. Do you think something might happen to that woman and her son?"