

Spoiled by Mr. Russell by Luminous Night Chapter 582-586

Chapter 582

The man was surprised because Lily was supposed to be in the courtyard. The gate was locked, and the walls were nearly five meters high. 'Did she fly out of there?'

On the other hand, Lily was so focused on the raw material before her that she did not notice the others.

"Here's the deposit if you don't believe me." Lily took out her purse and a small stack of cash, stuffing it into Kasey's hand. "You can give me your address, and I will drop by one day. Let's sign an agreement."

When the youngsters noticed Lily's seriousness, they could not hide their surprise. However, they still found it ridiculous.

"Congratulations, Kasey! You found someone that appreciates your little grass!" The girl next to Kasey patted her on the shoulder with a hint of mockery in her voice.

However, Lily could not care less. If everyone could identify raw goods so quickly, there would not be so few perfumers around, and if others easily recognized raw materials like these, they wouldn't be considered rare.

In any case, this was a rewarding trip for Lily. She carefully put away the box, and just as she turned to leave, Kasey stopped her.

"Wait!" Kasey stood in her way and urged, "Tell them! Tell them how rare this type of grass is. They just don't know anything, do they?" Still, this high-spirited young girl did not want to admit defeat.

When Lily looked up and scanned the room, she noticed everyone's eyes were on her. After realizing she was the center of attention, she began feeling uneasy.

Lily let out a light cough and said, "I believe everyone has their preferences. I think this smells good, so I'd like to buy it. If you think it's good, why should you care what others think?"

"What do you mean?!" Kasey did not want to back off. "Only professionals will know how to appreciate what this grass can provide. They don't, but you do! Didn't you say you're a perfumer? Tell them how ridiculous they are for not knowing this!"

Lily felt helpless. She was only there to buy the raw material from Kasey. Lily did not want to teach anyone or give any professional opinions.

"As I said, everyone has their preferences. You can't make everyone like what you like. It's like how some people prefer the sweetness of osmanthus, while some prefer the freshness of citrus. Some even enjoy the coolness of mint. I bought your grass because we both enjoy this smell and because you want to sell it. That's all."

Lily felt that this was a straightforward exchange. She did not understand why Kasey had to complicate it.

However, not everyone would think like her, especially this stubborn girl. Kasey shoved the money back into Lily's hands and snatched the box back. "If that's the case, I'm not selling it!"

Lily was stunned. 'What?! How can she do that? Where's the integrity in this?!

"All right, I think I understand what's going on. You brought this woman here to be your support!"

"You're so committed that you'd go to the extent of hiring someone to help you, huh? However, your actress doesn't seem very good, and she's not cooperating with you."

Kasey's eyes began to twitch in anger when she heard that. "That's bullsh*t! I don't need any support! I didn't hire her!"

"Really?" One of the boys from the group sneered and scanned Lily from head to toe. "You said you're a perfumer, aren't you? Will you dare to compete with me?"

These 18- and 19-year-olds were children in Lily's eyes. Why would she compete with children?

"I'm here to buy things, not to compete." She did not want to waste more time here and turned to Kasey again. "Little girl, you promised to sell it to me. You must keep your word when it comes to business. You can't just go back on your words like that."

"I am retracting my offer! I don't want to sell it!" Kasey exclaimed. Then she looked around and continued, "I will only sell it to you if you can prove to them that I did not pay you and that you're a real perfumer. Once they admit defeat, I'll sell it to you!"

Chapter 583

"This girl is so bizarre. She's young and competitive, but what's the point of arguing about who's the winner in this sort of thing? How uninteresting!"

When Lily did not speak, they assumed she was afraid and laughed. "It's so obvious that she got caught. Are you throwing in the towel already?"

"What should we compete with?" Lily's statement was so sudden that they all froze and could not react for a while.

"We'll see who knows their scents better," The girl who mocked Kasey spoke up. Although she was not tall, she still looked imposing. It was apparent she was the ringleader.

"Am I competing with you?" Lily asked in surprise. Hearing this, the group burst into laughter. "Are you looking down on her? Do you know who she is? It's time you get humbled!"

"Kasey, shouldn't you keep your actress up to date before bringing her here? How dare she look down on Rachel like that? Now you're just digging your own grave!"

"Everyone knows Rachel is the queen of scents. She has her uncle's nose. Do you even know who her uncle is? He..."

“Enough!” Rachel probably had enough of the compliments and hushed them with a wave. Then she said, “I’m afraid you might think I’m bullying you if we compete. You’ll compete with him!” She pointed at the boy who just spoke.

“How are we competing?” Lily did not want to bully this group of children, so it did not matter who she competed with. However, she was reluctant to let this species of grass go. If she brought it back, she could make good use of it, and the final product would be incredible.

‘Forget it. I’ll just see this as a warm-up. I’m not doing anything now anyway.’

“We’re all wearing perfumes. You have 30 minutes. Whoever writes the smell and notes of the perfume on everyone first will win. If you two have the same points, we will compare the time,

Rachel explained the rules after pondering for a moment.

”

Before Lily could speak, Kasey protested, “No! He knows what perfume you all use. It’s not fair!”

“It doesn’t matter...” Initially, Lily wanted to brush it off since it was child’s play for her.

However, there was no room for her to speak as Rachel interjected, “He doesn’t. To make things fair, we will spray three different types of perfumes on our bodies right now, and Eric won’t know what we used. Is that okay?”

“Three?!” Eric could not help but shout, but when Rachel shot him a stern look, he did not open his mouth again.

“So, is that fair?” Rachel directed the question at Lily.

“Sure. However...” Lily turned to look at Kasey. “...if I win, you can’t go back on your words. I’m buying all two acres of your grassland!”

“Fine, but your victory has to be convincing. You have to make them admit that I won!” “Ha! Do you honestly think she’ll win?” someone from the side called. “We’ll see how it ends!”

Chapter 584

Lily knew this game was difficult for beginners like them but a piece of cake for her. However, it was not her fault that she was bullying kids here. She never wanted to participate in such a childish game but wanted that raw material.

The results of the game were indisputable. Lily had won by a mile. At that time, the faces of the people around her darkened. They were in utter shock, as they had never expected Lily to win in such a dominant manner.

On the other hand, Lily did not care about the game, as she took the box back from Kasey.” Remember your promise. I will pick up the goods in two days.”

The little girl was completely stunned!

Although Kasey felt that Lily was knowledgeable enough to appreciate the grass she brought, Kasey did not expect Lily to win with such ease. Even Kasey herself was not confident that Lily could win it. Now, she was beginning to look at Lily in a different light.

While Kasey was still in a daze of admiration, Rachel exclaimed, "Hold up!"

After all, she was the apparent ringleader, so someone blocked Lily's way as soon as she spoke.

"What's wrong? Are you going back on your words?" Lily asked as she turned around to look at them. Lily did not fear them at all. If the other party remained respectful, she would too. However, if they crossed the line, Lily wouldn't shy away from it herself.

"Of course not." Rachel walked over to Lily and looked at her.

That was the first time Rachel took a good look at Lily; she had no idea who Lily was. Although Rachel did not know everyone in the perfume industry, she could recognize the more famous perfumers. However, Lily was a stranger to Rachel.

"Are you not from Kingsland?" she asked.

Lily laughed. "Why? What does that have to do with anything?"

"It doesn't. But..." Rachel paused before she added, "He's not a match for you. Do you have the courage to compete with me instead?"

"Rachel..." Someone from the side tried to intervene. "Your grandma doesn't let you..."

“Shush!” Rachel silenced the boy with a sideways glance, and he dared not make a sound after. After being studied by Rachel, Lily smiled disapprovingly. “Why should I compete with you?” “What’s wrong? Are you scared?” Rachel sneered. “Here I thought, this woman was so brave and capable. It seems like you’re a coward, after all.”

“If you say so.” Lily found it meaningless to compete with a little girl and was more interested in using the fresh ingredient she had just acquired. Rather than playing this useless game, she would rather rush home and study this grass.

“Stop right there!” Rachel yelled. She was not going to allow Lily to leave so easily. It did not matter if Eric lost. She had to keep her pride. The reason behind her proposed rematch was not only to keep her pride but also to boost her self-confidence.

Chapter 585

“We met before in Westwood” He tried to remind her, but Lily still could not recall who he was.

He confirmed that she was not pretending and gave up trying to help her recall him. He said, You performed slightly better than me in the sampling competition. My name is Noah Richards.”

He gestured with his finger that he was just slightly worse than her. He then stretched out his hand to express his friendliness. 1

Lily glanced at his hand and nodded as a greeting, “Noted.”

Noted? What kind of an answer was that? Was this woman always so arrogant?

”

“I was just testing the waters in Westwood and hadn’t thought I would receive something unexpected. I wonder when I could have the honor to compete with you again officially?”

Lily looked at the man in front of her. He seemed unconvinced of his loss even though his words remained polite. He was obviously implying that he lost because he was careless and did not try his best in the previous competition. Therefore, he would like to compete again and win against her.

“Then... we’ll talk about it when we get the chance,” she replied casually and gave him a polite smile before leaving the store with the box.

The man beside Noah saw her leaving and couldn’t help asking, “Sir, are we letting her go just like that?”

“If she escaped, this proves that we can’t stop her even if we wanted to. Aren’t you curious. how she got out? Why are your subordinates so useless?” Noah gave him a side look.

The person beside him shuddered, “I’m sorry, sir. I’ll check it immediately!”

Noah raised his hand to stop him and said, “Don’t act rashly and alert the enemy. She was able to get out today, and the same would likely happen again. What’s the thing they were competing for earlier?”

“What do you mean...” He hesitantly looked at Noah and instantly understood his meaning, “I understand. I’ll go do it now!”

They saw and heard what had happened earlier. It was not important what raw materials that little girl was selling. What mattered was that Lily liked it very much and wanted it.

She also agreed to pick it up the next day. She would need to come out of the house as she had made a promise. They just needed to wait for her to step into their trap.

Noah kept silent and smirked. He let the man leave to arrange things. His words earlier were not mere courtesy. He did gain something in his visit to Westwood. This little lady had piqued his interest.

Lily took a cab back to the house. She had gained a general idea of the surroundings when she went out earlier. This was probably a private courtyard. All of the buildings were designed according to personal liking. The surrounding housing had courtyards, but they were ordinary private homes and different from the ones with many equipments installed. Moreover, regular private homes would not have a five-meter high wall. It was not an exaggeration to say that this was a small prison.

Lily was standing in front of the main gate of the courtyard with a backpack. Within the bag were her procures for the night. She was about to walk forward when she suddenly felt an unusual movement beside her. Lily immediately hit it with her elbow and spun around.

In the next instant, she was pulled into a hug. She smelled a familiar scent and heard a familiar voice saying, "It's me."

Lily widened her eyes and was pleasantly surprised, "Why are you here?"

Chapter 586

"We met before in Westwood" He tried to remind her, but Lily still could not recall who he was.

He confirmed that she was not pretending and gave up trying to help her recall him. He said, "You performed slightly better than me in the sampling competition. My name is Noah Richards."

He gestured with his finger that he was just slightly worse than her. He then stretched out his hand to express his friendliness. 1

Lily glanced at his hand and nodded as a greeting, "Noted."

Noted? What kind of an answer was that? Was this woman always so arrogant?

"

"I was just testing the waters in Westwood and hadn't thought I would receive something unexpected. I wonder when I could have the honor to compete with you again officially?"

Lily looked at the man in front of her. He seemed unconvinced of his loss even though his words remained polite. He was obviously implying that he lost because he was careless and did not try his best in the previous competition. Therefore, he would like to compete again and win against her.

"Then... we'll talk about it when we get the chance," she replied casually and gave him a polite smile before leaving the store with the box.

The man beside Noah saw her leaving and couldn't help asking, "Sir, are we letting her go just like that?"

"If she escaped, this proves that we can't stop her even if we wanted to. Aren't you curious. how she got out? Why are your subordinates so useless?" Noah gave him a side look.

The person beside him shuddered, "I'm sorry, sir. I'll check it immediately!"

Noah raised his hand to stop him and said, "Don't act rashly and alert the enemy. She was able to get out today, and the same would likely happen again. What's the thing they were competing for earlier?"

"What do you mean..." He hesitantly looked at Noah and instantly understood his meaning, "I understand. I'll go do it now!"

They saw and heard what had happened earlier. It was not important what raw materials that little girl was selling. What mattered was that Lily liked it very much and wanted it.

She also agreed to pick it up the next day. She would need to come out of the house as she had. made a promise. They just needed to wait for her to step into their trap.

Noah kept silent and smirked. He let the man leave to arrange things. His words earlier were not mere courtesy. He did gain something in his visit to Westwood. This little lady had piqued his interest.

Lily took a cab back to the house. She had gained a general idea of the surroundings when she went out earlier. This was probably a private courtyard. All of the buildings were designed according to personal liking. The surrounding housing had courtyards, but they were ordinary private homes and different from the ones with many equipments installed. Moreover, regular private homes would not have a five-meter high wall. It was not an exaggeration to say that this was a small prison.

(hapter 557

Lily was standing in front of the main gate of the courtyard with a backpack. Within the bag were her procures for the night. She was about to walk forward when she suddenly felt an unusual movement beside her. Lily immediately hit it with her elbow and spun around.

In the next instant, she was pulled into a hug. She smelled a familiar scent and heard a familiar voice saying, "It's me."

Lily widened her eyes and was pleasantly surprised, "Why are you here?"