

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 678

"I'm asking you if you did it!"

Lily reached out and lifted Henry's collar, pulling him off the ground. She glared fiercely at him.

Justin watched beside her, stunned, as he did not expect her to have such great strength. When he was about to say something, his phone suddenly rang.

Justin looked for the source of the sound as his phone fell in the courtyard during the fight. He walked over to pick it up. Although the screen cracked, it was still working.

Justin was unsure who was calling but answered, "Hello?"

While listening to the other end of the phone, he seemed distracted. He raised his eyes to look at Lily.

Henry was almost breathless, saying, "I didn't expect that my plan that I've been working on for so long would fail because of you. If I had known earlier, I should've..."

Henry could finish speaking, down his phone, walked to Lily quickly, and said, "The deep breath staring at him, and said forensic examination is that grandpa died of illness. In other words, it was a natural death instead statements stunned not just Lily

to the sky and laughed

Lily had unconsciously let go of her hand as Henry

We can

had not anticipated this

All of them had suspicions about who killed not been poisoned. There was no murderer. That meant all this was a farce?! Was it just

"Hahaha...natural death...hahaha..."