

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 706

Lily performed worse than the previous perfumer and would have been better off saying that she was bragging or joking. Instead, she was admitting it seriously. Did she think she was heroic and majestic by doing so? What was Lily thinking?

Looking at Mr. Russell again, he had no intention of stopping her. His eyes were always on that woman as if she was his whole world.

'Crazy! The world was crazy! Mr. Russell is crazy too!'

Rose looked at the ceiling speechlessly as she did not know how the press conference would end today. Since they had already reached this point, she might as well continue to listen.

"Ms. Christian, do you mean that the recording was edited? That means that it's not what we heard?" The reporters were smart as they quickly concluded the key points.

like it was edited. However, Ms. Christian's words were clear and have not been edited," and nodded. "You must've listened and analyzed it is extensive and profound, and words could have the same pronunciation but different meanings. These words may express different was about to do. She know what she was going to do, so they were

saw that she wrote one shocked. What was Lily

his act of choosing beauty over power. Rose looked at Alexander sadly. He did word when you see it, and what do you think it means?" Lily asked, turning around and pointing at

"Ms. Christian,

admit that you were the one who poisoned the candles? That means it's possible