

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 727

After rushing home, Elizabeth went berserk and began smashing and tearing everything in the house, including photos of her and Joseph.

When Joseph entered the house, a mess met him.

"Are you done?"

"No!"

She howled hysterically and began to throw anything she could grab at him.

"Get out! Get out! I don't want to see you!"

Kicking away the trash on the ground, Joseph walked toward Elizabeth and stood there with a darkened expression.

"I know you're angry that I embarrassed you in front of the media, but did you ever think of my reputation when you spoke?"

"How is it my fault?! How did I ruin your reputation? Did I scold you, trample all over you, or make you look bad in front of the reporters? Did you have to humiliate me like that in front of a crowd?!"

thought he would say such things in you insinuated things." Joseph loosened his tie and crossed were? Did you forget who you are? It's already an exception for me to take you there, and you promised you'd behave. Yet, look at what you've done! "you run around like a maniac, afraid that people won't know who you are to me. Also, didn't we agree on a 6 million dollar budget before we left? When you called out a 10 million dollar bid, did you ever stop and more Joseph talked, the angrier

to

to have hit Elizabeth's heartstrings as stopped crying as embarrassment

give in and mumbled, "T-That's not what I meant. Someone kept trying to one-up me, so in

You've decided to drop 10 million dollars in the heat of

Joseph to think about spending 10

be mocking him, thinking

get me the necklace no

Elizabeth retorted with dissatisfaction.

I also tell you I'd get you whatever you want as long as it is auctions. She would always calculate her budget at home, look at what she was interested in, and put an estimated value on the items. She only bought things that would stay within the

there was never a