

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 759

"I'm a friend and not an enemy."

Arianna lifted her gaze and stared at Noah quietly.

Noah snorted.

"Tons of people want to be my friends. Are you even qualified to be one?"

"You'd be the judge of that."

Arianna put down the tongs, removed her phone from her handbag, and tapped the screen a few times.

Noah's phone on the table vibrated.

Arianna put down her phone and grilled more meat as if without a care in the world.

Noah looked at her and then at his phone. He picked it up to see what she had sent.

"The information is my gift. When we become friends, I'll have a bigger one in store for you,"

she put the piece of grilled meat onto the plate in front of

Lily. He browsed through it and found the report to

"This is it?"

a look of

can easily find tons of information like this. Do you think [would get information on her, but even the most capable private investigator could not uncover a person's most came from someone who was once closest to her. Not everyone can get their hands on her. With a report like this, won't you and looked

through, he realized that Arianna

report was very detailed and even

did you get that, Mr. Richards. All I can say is that the information is real, and my intention to be your friend is also real. Anyway, now that you know how sincere I am, I wonder if an momentarily before asking, "What's your

"Arianna,"

pause, she added,

"Arianna Tanner?"

frowned his brows as

family