

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 873

"What do you mean, Eloise?" Elizabeth asked as she picked up the phone again. She was a bit skeptical of what Eloise wanted to relay, but since it involved her son, Elizabeth decided to continue listening.

"Nothing. If you get Joseph to answer the call, I'll talk to him. I won't say anything if you choose not to pass him the phone. Your son has confessed he was responsible for everything, and I've spoken to my lawyer. You'd probably have to wait till he's 40 for him to get out of prison!"

Elizabeth was frightened by what Eloise had just said. She yelled angrily, "Stop trying to scare me! My son did nothing wrong! You and your daughter are the ones who framed him!" Even though Elizabeth tried to sound harsh, she still passed the phone over to Joseph, saying, "Take it! If she calls again, I'll throw your phone out the window!"

"What do you want, Eloise?!" Joseph asked impatiently.
