Lily froze for a moment before nodding. "Yes, this is her."

The caller responded straightforwardly, "I'm calling to inquire about the perfume one of the models from Aisha Agency used in Bryxton City's fashion show. You were the one who devised and developed the themed series, am I right?"

Lily asked, "Where did you get that information?"

Hearing her vigilance, the caller laughed and said, "Ms. Christian, please don't misunderstand. We have no malicious intentions. We're from Grandeur. We're very interested in your perfume and want to discuss a collaboration with you. Do you have some free time?"
