

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 936

Heather turned around and walked toward the door after finishing what she had intended to say.

Noticing that she had made up her mind, Ralph decided not to press the matter and just followed behind her all the way to the car park.

He called out to her, "Heather!"

He placed his hand on the car door and trapped her between his body and the car. He looked at her lovingly and said, "Do you have something against me?"

"No, no, I don't,"

Heather shook her head and looked slightly flustered.

Ralph saw her expression and could hardly believe his eyes.

The eldest daughter of the Riggs family was known to be fierce and unwavering.

There was widespread recognition of her and her henchmen, the Light-Shadow killers.

How was it possible that such a scary person could reveal such an innocent expression? However, as Ralph thought about it, just because she was scary in some ways did not mean that she was experienced in relationships.

possible that she had not spent much time being involved in relationships because she was so outstanding at running the

explain why she was so girl may very well be flustered when faced with such a charming man like

causing such a colossal

she had fallen deeply in love with him. She was just a shy little thing! Ralph's ego was immediately inflated after he came to that and combed his hair back in a

have nothing against me, does this mean that you're...very

"N-No," She swallowed nervously

had a fair

she was not the most beautiful woman he had seen, something about

I fell in love with you. Even if you weren't from the Riggs

her with adoring

tense, as she protectively placed her arms in front of her chest and balled up both

you stand further

softly,

"You can't breathe?"

then lowered his lips onto her

Heather was taken aback.